"JIMMIE" FINLEN TO BE MARRIED

HIS BRIDE IS MISS MAY IVERS, A LEADING BELLE IN SALT LAKE CITY.

VISITS IN THE EAST AND THEN RETURNS TO BUTTE

Popular Young Man Admits That He Leaves for Salt Lake Tonight and That He Will Be Married There June 18—Is the Daughter of James Ivers, a Prominent Mining Man.

There was something more than ordinary amusement in the smile that played around the corners of "Jimmie" Finlen's mouth this morning. His friends noticed it and not a few of them spoke of it. It had a knowing touch about it and while no one approached him on the subject, it was pretty generally circulated around the store that he was planning some kind of a move.

In a dispatch from Salt Lake this afternoon the cause of the smile was made manifest and in a subsequent interview with Mr. Finlen himself the substance of the telegram was verified.

"Who is Mr. James T. Finlen of your city?" was the dispatch sent out.

"What do you want to know for?" was the dispatch that went back.

"He is going to marry one of the prettiest and best girls in Salt Lake," came back over the wire.

Marries a Belle.

Inquiry revealed the fact that James T. Finlen of Butte, and Miss May Ivers of Salt Lake, will be married in Salt Lake June 18, and that they will live in Butte after making a honeymoon trip to New York and other eastern cities.

Miss Ivers, who is one of the prominent belles of the Sainly City, is the daughter of James Ivers, one of the big mining men of Utah. He is one of the owners of the famous Silver King mine of Park City where he resides.

Pretty, accomplished and refined, she will make a worthy partner for one of Butte's most estimable young men.

It is not necessary to tell who "Jimmie" Finlen is. As a child, a school boy and a young man he is well known in Butte and it may be said that everybody has something kind to say about him.

Everybody Is Happy.

He is the son of Miles Finlen, who is known not alone as one of Butte's prominent citizens, but as a member of the legislature and one of the men who has been identified with the history of the state.

There are hundreds of people in Butte, big and little, great and small, rich and poor, who will join in heartiest congratulations for the happiness of the young couple.

Mr. Finlen left this afternoon for Salt Lake, where he will remain until his wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Finlen will be at home to their friends in Butte after their honeymoon, which will occupy about a month.

GRAND HAS LARGE OPENING

Manhattan Company Pleases Audience in the Remodeled Theater.

Not even John Maguire would have recognized the Grand theater last night when a large and fashionable audience filled the beautiful building to witness the opening performance of "The Butterflies" by the Manhattan company, which has been engaged for the opening week.

Expressions of delight were heard on every hand for the appearance of the building. New scenery, rich new draperies, new carpets and an elaborate coat of paint made the theater look very handsome.

Added to this the fact that the play put on was far above the average and that the players were every one of them excellent, it was an auspicious opening for the new theater.

While the curtain was up the audience enjoyed a first-class play, well put on, excellently staged, and carefully rendered.

When the curtain was down, it enjoyed itself admiring the beautiful design, the rich coloring of the decorations and excellency of the appointments while an orchestra of rare merit played a number of very pleasing selections.

After the performance Messrs. M. A. Marks and J. P. Howe, the joint lessees of the theater, were the recipients of numerous congratulations from their friends and an appreciative public.

The Manhattan company presented "The Butterflies," a comedy that John Drew and Maude Adams made such a success in their latest bill. The company was evenly balanced and gave a fine performance.

The play itself is a pretty romance, in which the lives of two beautiful young ladies are made joyful by a happy ending of a series of complications which good acting made decidedly interesting.

Broughton Green, the son of the wealthy old man, was well played by Homer Guilbault; George Graves, as Haman Green, was very funny; J. Lee Morris, as Coddie, was excellent; B. S. Frank as Nathaniel Bilsler, the tailor, played his part well. Nina Farrell, as Hiram's daughter, was all that could be desired, while Julia Walcott, as Mrs. Stuart Dodge, the designing mother, is a finished artist and gave an admirable interpretation of the part. Lena England, as Mrs. Sophia Ossian, was very good. Miss Gladys Kingsbury was excellent as Miriam Dodge, and appeared to the best advantage. Frank Conley is a fine actor and carried away the premier honors, with his great success as Fred. The Andrew Strong, an Englishman, of Fred Montgomery, was very good.

HOLDS BODY FOR BROTHER

William C. Moen Is Expected Here From Michigan Today.

William C. Moen, brother of John R. Moen, who was killed by an explosion in the Rarus mine last Saturday, is expected to arrive from his home in Michigan this afternoon.

It is not known what disposition will be made of the body but it is likely that it will be shipped to Michigan for burial. Undertaker Richards this morning received a telegram from William C. Moen asking that no steps be taken to bury his dead brother until his arrival.

MANSFIELD TO PRESENT "BEAUCAIRE" IN RUTTE

Will Appear in Sutton's Broadway Theater June 17 in Dramatization of Tarkington's Novel.

Richard Mansfield, the most popular and successful actor on the American stage, will be in Butte June 17 and will appear in the success of his present season, "Beaucaire."

This will be Mr. Mansfield's first visit to Butte in seven years and it is needless to say that his coming here will be the chief event of the theatrical season. He will journey to Butte direct from Spokane where all is excitement in expectation of his visit.

Mansfield has never appeared in a role that suited him as well as the part of Monsieur Beaucaire. Not even when he was playing Cyrano de Bergerac was he as popular as an actor.

Paul Wiltach, Mansfield's representative, arrived in the city this morning to complete the details for the appearance of the actor at Sutton's Broadway theater.

"This is the longest season Mr. Mansfield has ever played. It is a terrible strain on his nerves to go so long without a rest, but he is standing the work remarkably well. He played to weeks in New York, five in Chicago, four each in Philadelphia and Boston and immediately after this season in the East was closed he started out on a spring tour of the West. So you see he has had to rest."

"He drew immense crowds in Vancouver, B. C. In fact the people of Western Canada seem to appreciate good acting more than the theatergoers of many of the cities of the United States."

"Since leaving New York several weeks ago we have traveled something over 17,000 miles. These are the figures made out by a prominent railroad official of Spokane."

"Mr. Mansfield's train consists ordinarily of eight cars and nine when a dining car is attached. These eight cars are Mr. Mansfield's private car, two sleepers for the company and five 60-foot baggage cars for the baggage, scenery, furniture, properties, 80 trunks and two horses."

"Right of way for Mr. Mansfield's train is given on any road in the United States on one hour's notice."

He came to America as a boy, worked in the mines, studied at St. Louis for the priesthood and was ordained nine years ago. CHINAMAN USES A GAS PIPE

Livingston Celestial Whacks Customer Over Head With Iron.

"That the worm will turn, even though the said worm be a Chinaman, was demonstrated in Livingston Saturday morning," said W. B. Graham of Livingston today. "As a result of the turn there's a man with a big gash in his head which is all wound round with a wooden cloth."

"It has been the custom of some men in Livingston to go into a Chinese restaurant and eat a large meal and then run out without paying for it, the supposition being that the Chink wouldn't do anything. There is one Chink, however, who fooled one of the men. He was the worm that turned."

"Saturday morning the man went into the California restaurant and stored away sufficient food to last him a day. The Chinaman was hard by the door, holding in his good right hand a piece of gas pipe about three feet long. All unaware of the calm eyed Celestial was the man. With a well filled stomach he started out of the door on a lope.

"Just as the man reached the door the Chink reached his head with the piece of gas pipe. The man dropped like a log. Then the Chink called a policeman and had the fellow removed. That was a fierce blow. It opened the man's head down to the bone and seven stitches were taken to fix the wound.

"Not a thing was done to the Chink. He wasn't even arrested. It is now believed that no other man will attempt the old-time game. Meanwhile there was a celebration among the Chinese and fireworks were let off. He'll be the mayor of Livingston's Chinatown in a week, even if the present incumbent has to be killed."

ANGELINA IS NOW SORRY SHE DELIVERED A NOTE

Mrs. Williams Slaps Her Face Because Note Explained Why a Bill Was Not Paid.

Mrs. R. J. Williams, a woman who keeps a small store at No. 611 West Iron street, was the subject of a complaint today, charging her with committing an assault in the third degree in slapping and pulling the hair of a little girl named Annie Pawlaski. Deputy County Attorney Lynch drew the complaint, and it was filed in Judge Taylor's court.

Angelina was sent to Mrs. Williams' place with a note in which her mother explained to Mrs. Williams why the family was dilatory in paying its bill. Angelina told the deputy prosecutor that she went into the store and said: "Here is a note from my mother."

Mrs. Williams replied, according to Angelina's story, "I'll note you," and slapped her in the face, and pulled her hair.

Angelina departed in tears, and she did not know whether Mrs. Williams had stopped to read the contents of the note afterward or not. Her mother repaired to the county attorney's office and made the complaint. The Pawlaskis live at No. 430 West Iron street.

Mrs. Williams will be called upon by Judge Taylor to explain what happened between her and Angelina and answer the charge of slapping and hair pulling.

FORCES ON HIM REPENTANCE

Tom Donovan, J. Barleycorn's Friend, Has $5 Worth of Remorse.

An unusually small batch of prisoners filed into the police court this morning to tell their woes to the ever-open ears of Judge Boyle.

Tom Donovan was a threadbare Irishman who had not fully recovered from the effects of Sunday. He swayed before the bar of justice and declared that if dismissed he would never again be guilty of getting drunk.

"But, Tom," said Judge Boyle, "your face denotes that you are well acquainted with John Barleycorn."

"Well, Tom, you can be sorry $5 worth without being overcome with repentance," said Judge Boyle and Tom was led back to his cell with a lengthened face.

Dennis Brown was a 14-year-old boy who was guilty of playing ball in the street to the eminent danger of nearby windows. Judge Boyle dismissed Dennis on the latter's promise to never play ball in the streets again.

BUTTE WORKERS SATISFIED

Union Headquarters Retained, Though the Convention Was Lost.

Tomorrow the delegates from the Denver convention are expected home and they will have reason to be proud of their work for Butte and Butte's interests, as well as those of the working men at large.

While the headquarters were retained at Butte by a very small margin—31 to 30—it was a victory just the same, and one which the delegates will be proud to have won.

Butte lost the meeting for next year by a very small margin, but with the headquarters still here, and Dan McDonald and Secretary Clarence Smith re-elected, Butte got her share of the plums.
