SPECIAL OFFICER FOR HUMANE SOCIETY IS NOW MOUNTED AND ARMED FOR THE FRAY.

UNKNOWN DONOR SENDS CAVALIER A CHARGER

With Spear in Rest and Armor Cap-a-pie, the Knight Will Now Ride for the Goody Cause and Woe to Them Who Do Treat Unkindly the Brute Creation, Feline or Any Kind of Ine.

At the meeting of the Silver Bow County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held last evening, it was decided to postpone the election of officers until the arrival of Mrs. E. Irene Rood, of the national organization, who is expected to be in Butte next week, and who is at present organizing at Livingston, Bozeman and other points in eastern Montana.

President Rosenzweig has been empowered to make the call for the meeting as soon as he deems it advisable. The interest which is being taken in the work of the organization was made manifest last night, when the president announced that a prominent citizen had generously donated a saddle horse for the use of Walter Carns, the recently appointed special officer of the society. The donor modestly refrains from permitting his name to appear.

Alexander Macaulay, the South Butte harnessmaker, announced today that he would donate a saddle for the use of the officer, so that with his fine new horse, new saddle and permanent salary assured, Officer Carns will be in a position to look out for the interests of the society in an effective manner.

Announcement to Public. Last evening the duties of the officer were discussed in a general way, and Secretary W. H. Orr was instructed to give publication to the following notice:

"The Silver Bow County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals wishes to announce that its agent, Walter Carns, a duly authorized deputy sheriff of Silver Bow county, will make his headquarters at the police department in the city hall. His office hours will be from 9 to 10 a. m. and from 5 to 6 p. m. Any calls sent him over phone 305 will be promptly attended to."

After passing a resolution thanking the officials of the Burlington railroad for courtesies extended to Mrs. E. I. Rood, the society adjourned, subject to the call of the president.

TOPER QUILTS TOO SOON FOR HEALTH

THIS LOVELY CASE OF THE JERRIES SHOULD COME AS REMINDER TO W. C. T. U. ADVOCATES.

GENTLEMAN WITH DQSE OF TREMENS IN JAIL

Calls for Cutlery With Which to Do Execution Upon His Enemies, Uttering Such Threats as Make the Stoutest Heart Quail—Colored Gentleman Could Not Get His Rest.

As fast as one delirium patient is discharged from the county jail a new one is brought in. John Kennedy was brought in last night a short time after Gus Dugey was released.

Dugey is the carpenter and cook who was chased by "Old John Devil" around his cell, and who beat satan with a towel. It was decided at the jail last evening that he had recovered from his case of fiends and would do well enough at large. So he was liberated.

Dugey was put in on a charge of insanity, but it developed at the jail, as it so often does, that it was merely a case of temporary lunacy due to over indulgence in drink. The lunacy was real enough while it lasted, but it passed away. A friend of Dugey related to Jailer Dolson that Dugey broke off too suddenly from drink, and stated that that was the reason he became demented.

Awful Warning to W. C. T. U.

The friend said that he noticed that Dugey was getting out of his mind and told him to drink a little and so taper off. Dugey replied that he had no money. The friend arranged with a saloon keeper to provide Dugey with a drink about every other hour, agreeing to pay for the liquor. But Dugey was obstinate and refused to drink a drop, having decided to quit. As a result it was not long till his "Old John Devil" had him. His case is a horrible warning to people not to quit drinking too abruptly. If Dugey had tapered as suggested by his friend, he would not have been plunged into a war with his Satanic Majesty in which he wore out many towels.

Kennedy, the latest unfortunate to arrive pursued by devils, kept the other inmates of the witness department, where he is confined, awake all night with his tantrums. He seemed to have a mania for violence from his talk. He wanted a pistol or a knife, and said that if he had one he would make mincemeat of certain imaginary enemies who were persecuting him.

Had Colored Gentleman Going. A small colored man who is in jail for beating a feminine friend with a bed slat is a trusty and sleeps in the witnesses' ward, and he told the jailer that he did not drop an eyelid until half past six this morning.

"What was the matter with you?" the jailer asked. "Foh de Lo'd boss, I was plumb feard tuh. Dat genny is crazy, an' I was sho he was gwine to git a knife and cut mah throat," he replied.

Kennedy spent the night prancing around the room where he was imprisoned and muttering the dreadful things he would do to his enemies if he could get hold of some cutlery.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK IS EXPERIENCED IN PERSIA

Feared That the Destruction at Kishm Has Been Great—First Shock Lasted Several Minutes.

Bombay, July 18.—A severe earthquake shock was experienced at Bunder Abbas, Persia, at 7:30 on the morning of July 9. It lasted three or four minutes and was followed by lighter shocks. All the chief buildings suffered. The governor's house partly collapsed and the custom house was destroyed.

The whole population was panic-stricken and flocked to the sea beach for safety, but only one fatality was reported.

The shocks are believed to have originated at Kishm island, whence loud detonations were distinctly audible. At Bunder Abbas it is feared that the destruction at Kishm has been heavy. A few years ago an earthquake at Kishm killed hundreds of people.

CORONATION DATE IS SET

Two Rehearsals of the Preparation Took Place—Busy With Preparations.

London, July 18.—An official notification was issued this morning that by the king's command the coronation of King Edward and Queen Alexandra will take place August 9.

Two rehearsals of the procession from Buckingham palace to Westminster Abbey took place this morning and the officials of the various state departments concerned in the abbey ceremony are again busy with preparations for the crowning.

DIRECTORS ARE SENTENCED

Prussian Bank Officials Convicted of Falsifying Balance Sheets.

Berlin, July 18.—After many weeks' trial the directors of the Prussian Mortgage bank and its allied concerns, charged with falsifying balance sheets, were sentenced as follows: Eduard Sanden, to six years' imprisonment and a fine of 15,000 marks; Heinrich Schmidt, nine months and a fine of 2,000 marks; Puch Mueller, 15 months and 4,000 marks.

Encouragement.

When they take the beautiful woman from the wreck she begs to be let to die. "I have nothing to live for!" she cries. "You are mistaken as to that," they argue, gently. "For, see, what a swell shape the collision has battered your hat into!" Now she opens her eyes, and it is plain that new courage has entered her heart.

DAWSON CITY TOO SEND DELEGATES

ALASKAN MINING EXPERTS COMING TO MINING CONGRESS TO EXPLOIT THEIR CLAIMS.

ENTIRE NORTHWEST IS AGOG OVER CONGRESS

Railroads Will Grant All Concessions Within Reasonable Limits and Every Mine Owner Who Wants to Draw the Attention of Capital to His Claim Will Be on Hand With the Dope.

Dawson City, Yukon Territory, has just announced that it will be represented at the meeting of the International Mining congress next September, Dr. Willis E. Everett, a mining expert of that city, having sent word to Secretary Irwin Mahon that he, with others, has been appointed and will attend the congress.

Much interest is evinced in both the British and United States possessions in the Northwest concerning the coming congress. It has been difficult for many owning valuable property in that section to bring capitalists to understand the importance of their holdings, and as they recognize that many will come to the congress with the express purpose of finding out something of the mineral wealth of the Northwest, the Alaska and Yukon delegates will come prepared to interest them in the properties of that part of the world.

Railways to Grant Concessions.

F. C. McDonald, commissioner of the Central Passenger association, has announced that all the railroads connected with that body will grant the concessions asked by the congress for its delegates. They are in general as follows: A rate of one first-class fare, plus $2, for the round trip; tickets to be sold on August 20, 21, 26 and 27, with return limit, to leave Butte not later than September 30, 1902; stop-overs west of, but not including St. Paul and Missouri river points on going trip, within transit limit of 10 days; return trip in same territory within final return limit; same diverse route arrangements to apply as authorized for a one-year tourists' ticket.

In addition to these arrangements, Mr. McDonald announces that he is advised by Chairman McLeod, of the Western Passenger association, that the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Oregon Short Line roads will permit tickets to be sold going via the Oregon Short Line and returning via the Great Northern or Northern Pacific railway or vice versa.

SUM TOTAL OF FINES IS $5

Police Court Has a Very Poor Day from a Financial Standpoint.

Judge Boyle was confronted with a few law breakers today, but the amount of revenue derived from them was not sufficiently large to pay the expense of running the town a month. John Felix paid a fine of $5 for fighting, but if his story is true he had good cause to fight. He told Judge Boyle he was quite nervous and when some smart mug jabbed him with his fingers he leaped a few feet in the air and came down on the smart one.

Richard Ridgeley, a prominent baritone of New York, will give a song recital at Hirschfeld's studio, over Orton's music store tomorrow eve. Tickets on sale at Newbro Drug store.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

ENROOTH—Nels Theodore, the 5-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels P. Enrooth, died this morning. The funeral will take place Sunday at 2 p. m. from the residence, No. 727 South Main street.

Police Prevent a Duel.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 18.—It is now said the police got wind of the proposed duel between Captain Arvid Webster of the staff of the Swedish army and William Casper, an American, manager of the Grand Arena palace, and prevented the meeting.

Judge Knowles a Visitor.

Then the young men went away. It was 2 o'clock when the third delegation arrived in a station cab loaded with gripsacks. This time it was Wilbur Saunders of Helena and Judge Hiram Knowles of Missoula and they left their cards.

"Just to pay our respects," said Mr. Saunders as he bowed his way back to the bag. "No, we have never seen Miss MacLane, but I am from the same state, you know, and we westerners like to look after our own people."

It is altogether probable that Miss MacLane heard nothing of all this. She spent the day down town at the offices of the Stone Publishing company. For one thing she talked business, royalties, etc., with her publisher and for another she wanted to learn something of the business of making-likes.

It pleased her immensely to look over other people's manuscript and she found no one during her search of the copy cupboard who wrote as well as she does. She probably knew this before she began her hunt.

Sometime today, although it has not yet been fully decided when, Miss MacLane will leave for Buffalo, where she will visit Miss Corbin, her anemone lady.

$15—Salt Lake—$15.

The Oregon Short Line will operate second popular excursion from Butte and Anaconda to Salt Lake, Saturday, July 19th.

Tickets good only on 2:05 a. m. and 4:50 p. m. trains that date, available to return any time within 10 days.

MARY THINKS SHE IS NOT A GENIUS

meditatively out of the window. "Genius has laws," she said. "I recognize the laws when I see them, but I can't define them. No, I have never met a genius, but I know what genius is."

Miss MacLane was asked how Chicago compared with her Butte. "I have not formed any impressions of this city," she said in answer to a query. "I don't get impressions; I don't think, I don't do anything but live. Yes, Chicago might be a good place to live in—under some conditions that I'm going to name."

"Doesn't the energy of the city impress you?" "There is more energy in Butte," answered Miss MacLane, quickly. "There are not so many people there, but they are all together, not scattered as they are here. And they are much more energetic."

"Do you like Lake Michigan?" "Like is a word that I don't care to use in connection with the lake. What my thoughts are about the lake I don't know, but it has given me thoughts. The mountains appeal to me and satisfy me more, however. I have never seen the ocean."

Girl's Head Not Turned.

The notice that Miss MacLane has attracted does not seem to have turned her head or even to have raised her opinion of herself; on the contrary, she apparently has found that in the world her qualities are not what she supposed them to be in solitude. The discovery has made her thoughtful and shaken her confidence in herself.

Since she has been in Chicago Miss MacLane has received several offers of editorial employment, but she has declined all of them.

"It would make me inexpensive," she says. "No, I don't mean cheap, but inexpensive; the meaning is different."

One New York daily has asked her to edit its entire issue for one day, but this offer she has also refused. A proposition that has caused much amusement to Miss MacLane and her friends has been that of the manager of a comic opera now being produced in Chicago, who offered her $500 a week merely to appear on the stage, promising her that she need not sing.

Montana Is Proud of Mary.

Montana is proud of Mary MacLane. Since she came to Chicago to be introduced to the literary and the fashionable worlds the genius of Butte has been much honored by travelers from the west. Every day has brought its quota. Yesterday six men from the west called, as they expressed it, to pay their respects.

There is no question that the people of Montana agree with Miss MacLane that she is a genius. They stand on the Monroe doorstep to talk about the MacLane of the MacLanes. The maid at 56 Astor street listens to all this with an amused smile on her face. She is always very sorry that Miss MacLane is not at home. Miss MacLane is "never at home," but the maid will take cards and assure the visitors that Miss MacLane will be sorry to have missed friends from the west.

And when the visitors, in somewhat of a flutter, assure the maid that they are really not friends, but fellow townsmen, perhaps, or from the same state—"We called to show her our respects so that she would not think the state had forgotten her"—the maid smiles benevolently.

Call at Breakfast Hour.

In the morning about 8 o'clock, when Miss MacLane was at breakfast, the first two pilgrims of the day arrived. They were travel-stained and evidently tired—they had but just left the train, they said, and come at once lest Miss MacLane be out if they called later. When they were assured that the young woman was not at leisure they asked her health. They left word that if she cared to go about with them they would be only too glad to serve her. They confessed that they had visited Chicago before and knew some points of interest.

It was not yet noon when a second carriage halted before the door and two young men called.

"We're from Montana," said one of them. "We want to say how-do-you-to to Miss MacLane; she is from Montana, too, you know."

The maid admitted she knew her visitor was from the west; in fact, she had heard Montana mentioned. She asked the strangers if they knew the writer personally.

"Well, no; we've never met her. You see, we live at Great Falls and Miss MacLane lives at Butte, and they are about 100 miles apart. But," and the young man brightened, "we are from the same state and that's enough of an introduction for good westerners. I guess she would understand that. We only wanted to make her feel better satisfied here. We read that she did not like Chicago."

Then the young men went away. It was 2 o'clock when the third delegation arrived in a station cab loaded with gripsacks. This time it was Wilbur Saunders of Helena and Judge Hiram Knowles of Missoula and they left their cards.

"Just to pay our respects," said Mr. Saunders as he bowed his way back to the bag. "No, we have never seen Miss MacLane, but I am from the same state, you know, and we westerners like to look after our own people."

It is altogether probable that Miss MacLane heard nothing of all this. She spent the day down town at the offices of the Stone Publishing company. For one thing she talked business, royalties, etc., with her publisher and for another she wanted to learn something of the business of making-likes.

It pleased her immensely to look over other people's manuscript and she found no one during her search of the copy cupboard who wrote as well as she does. She probably knew this before she began her hunt.
