

FACULTY DO NOT FANCY OUR MARY

AUTHORESS IS TURNED DOWN BY THE POWERS THAT BE AT OLD RADCLIFFE COLLEGE.

FEAR SHE IS FAR TOO "ADVANCED" FOR THEM

Her Fudges and Her Liberalism Are Too Far Ahead of the Times for the Blue-Stocking Girls in the Famous College—There Is Doubt Whether Mary Will Have an Easy Time at Any Big School.

Will our Mary secure admission to Radcliffe? Is the bright, shining light of our talented authoress to be diffused over the classic precincts of that ancient school, to enlighten, shall we say, the Gentiles, and to be a glory of our people, Israel and otherwise, forever and ever? In other words, can Mary make it?

Dispatches from the East are to the effect that the learned faculty of Radcliffe look askance at Miss MacLane; that they are not sure she is entitled to a place upon their roster roll, upon which are engraved the names of so many of America's famous women. Not that they do not think she is a proper young person, for against Mary, as a maid, naught can be breathed; but that they fear she is altogether too far "advanced" for the limited scope of their curriculum.

Mary Had No Doubt of It.

When Mary announced, with a calmness astonishing in another young lady, that she meant to enter Radcliffe, some who had been to the effete East expressed doubts as to her having an easy time in securing admission. Radcliffe is beyond the point where the faculty grab at anything to increase the attendance. There are as many as a hundred young ladies enrolled already, it is said, and great as would be the honor for the school to have Mary write of it, in some future effusion, as dear old Alma Mater, some of the parents of the scholars now enrolled might be inclined to doubt the wisdom of Mary's liberal ideas securing circulation among their daughters. If, in the secret recesses of her heart, she cherishes a desire for one little peep at his satanic majesty, she keeps the unallowed emotion to herself. What, then, must have been the consternation of the school to hear that the Butte girl, the genius from the wild and woolly West, was about to be let loose upon their darlings, with the fudges, the liberalism and the rest! No, Mary has little chance to enter Radcliffe.

Where Is Mary to Go.

Nor is it to be presumed that she can get into any of the other big schools without rigid examination. For Mary must pay the penalty of notoriety. She has given birth to sentiments, emotions, and ideas not usually found in young ladies of her age, and in turn must expect to receive different treatment.

Mary, the dispatches have it, bears the rebuke with customary sang froid, and has no doubt that Radcliffe is the loser. Which shall she try next? Wesleyan, perhaps. At all events, the good people of Butte may be certain that Mary is not abashed, and that her good opinion of herself has not been in the least diminished by this open slight from one of the leading educational institutions of the land.

PARAGUAY TO SEND EXHIBIT

President of the Republic Taking an Interest in St. Louis Exposition.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] St. Louis, July 23.—Russell Stanhope, secretary of the committee on foreign relations of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, has received a letter from J. U. Ruffin, United States consul at Assumption, the capital of Paraguay, South America, applying for space for the Paraguayan exhibit.

M. Ruffin states that this is the first time that Paraguay has taken such an interest in a World's Fair and that the president of the republic will soon issue a decree, providing for the exhibit. The executive committee of the exposition has approved the recommendations to grant a building space for the erection on the fair grounds of the house of Hoo-Hoo. The organization of Hoo-Hoos is known throughout the country as being composed of lumbermen and it will be typical of woodcraft. It will not contain exhibits but will be formed to simulate the letter "H," and the room will be finished in different woods as an object lesson of the architectural utility of wood construction and the art of interior finish.

Hypnotist Is Arrested.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Mattoon, Ill., July 23.—Jackson D. Hill, whom Miss Lucy Bush of this city, says hypnotized her into eloping to Charleston and marrying him against her will, and who deserted her four days later, has been captured in Kentucky. Hill had a wife at Delevan when he married Miss Bush and was living with her wife No. 3 when arrested.

International Trust Conference.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, July 23.—Replying to a question in the house of commons today, the premier, A. J. Balfour, said the imperial government was still considering its reply to Russia's suggestion regarding an international trust conference, but it was impossible, as yet, to announce Great Britain's position on the subject.

Asked to Amend Complaint.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, July 23.—When the case of J. Aspinwall Hall and others against the United States Steel Corporation came up for argument before Vice-Chancellor Emery in Newark today, counsel for the complainants asked to amend their bill and defendant consequently asked time to amend their answer. The case then went over to September 5.

WITNESS IN CASE OF LATIMER JURY

PRIVATE DETECTIVE FIRST WITNESS ON THE STAND BEFORE THE CORONER'S JURY.

LATIMER HOPED TO GET DIVORCE FROM HIS WIFE

Hired the Witness to Watch Movements of the Woman and Suspected Man—District Attorney Would Not Let in Any Hearsay Evidence as to What the Deceased Said Before His Death.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, July 23.—Harry J. Parker, an insurance adjuster, who worked also as a private detective, was the first witness today in the coroner's investigation of the shooting of Albert C. Latimer, in his home in Brooklyn on the morning of July 2. Parker testified that on May 1, this year, Latimer visited him and employed him.

"Why did Albert C. Latimer visit you?" asked District Attorney Clarke.

"He told me he wanted to get a divorce from his wife for unfaithfulness with a man whose name was given by Mr. Latimer as 'Tuthill,' Parker replied.

"On May 2, of this year, I went with Mr. Latimer to Tuthill's residence on Vanderbilt avenue and there I was told by Mr. Latimer that it was Tuthill's house and I was to keep a watch on it and report on Tuthill's movements to him. On May 4, I saw Tuthill go to Latimer's house about 5:30 or 6 o'clock. Latimer was accustomed to reach home as late as 6:30 or 7 o'clock."

Parker testified that, on one occasion, Tuthill went to see Mrs. Latimer at her home and remained there until the middle of the afternoon.

Before Parker left the stand, District Attorney Clarke made the following statement:

"I have had no conversation with this witness, but I understand he can testify that the deceased said that in case of his death, he would know the man who killed him, naming two persons. This is hearsay and not admissible under the laws of evidence. It seems to me that if this declaration is to be introduced now it would be illegal, censurable and cruel. As far as I am concerned, I do not propose asking this man to make that declaration."

Maggie Fitzgerald, a servant employed in a house near Latimer's, said that, after the shooting, she saw a man she thought was Latimer go to a window and call for help.

This witness testified also that about the time the police arrived, she saw a man on the roof of the Latimer house.

The case was given to the jury, which brought in a verdict declaring that Latimer was killed by a pistol shot wound. No accusation against anyone was made by the jury.

ANNUAL MEETING PUT-IN-BAY, OHIO

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS MEET AND HEAR THE REPORT OF SECRETARY CELLARIUS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Put-in-Bay, Ohio, July 23.—The tenth annual meeting of the United States League of Building and Loans, began today with a large attendance.

Secretary H. F. Cellarius of Cincinnati, submitted his report, which is as follows: A slight increase in membership with a small decrease in the aggregate assets is the showing made by the local building and loan associations of the United States during the past year. There are now in the United States 5,302 local building and loan associations with a total membership of 1,539,593 and assets amounting to $565,387,966. In most of the states, these associations have about held their own, although the reduction of the interest rate for the past few years has had a tendency to bring back money loaned out by them at higher than existing rates and associations unable to make desirable loans have returned some of the idle accumulated funds to their stockholders, causing a decrease in their assets.

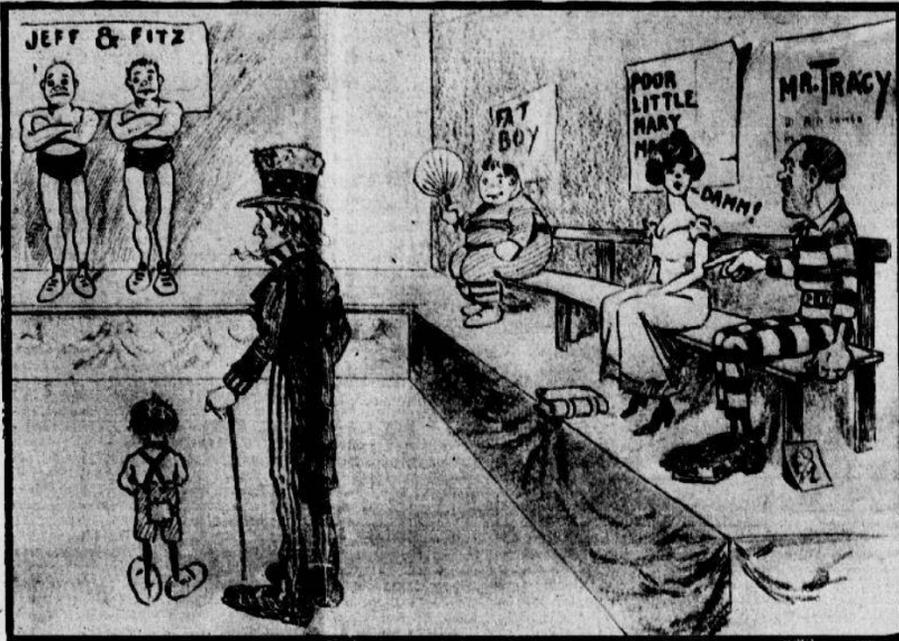

The total expense of operating the associations was a little over $5,000,000, making an expense ratio of less than 1 per cent to assets. The receipts for 1901, including cash on hand January 1, 1901, were $395,087,216, and the disbursements, $368,077,296; the cash on hand January 1, 1902, being $27,909,920.

President Kostmayr, in his address urged the making of efforts to increase the membership of the league and called attention to the saving of $1,000,000 by the exemptions under the war revenue act. If the legislatures of the different states, he said, could see the Building and Loan association in the same light as did congress, they would be convinced of the necessity of the exemption from all taxation for, in his earnest opinion, he could see no reason why the building and loan association should pay taxes in any way, shape or form.

Fashionable Wedding in London.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, July 23.—There was a fashionable gathering at St. George's church this afternoon to witness the marriage of Maj. Charles Hall, of the Oxfordshire Light Infantry, to Mrs. C. Albert Stevens, wife of the late C. Albert Stevens, of New York. Joseph Choate, the United States ambassador, gave the bride away.

FITZ AND BOB THE HEROES OF THE HOUR.

Mr. Tracy—Say, Mollie, de great American people seem to have gone daffy on dese prize-fightin' blokes an' are fergittin' us notables.
Our Mary—You know my sentiments.
Mr. Tracy—Dese bloomin' sluggers have caught de public eye, sure-pop.
Our Mary—You know my sentiments, Mr. Tracy.
Mr. Tracy—But won't you kindly express 'em, me loidy?
Our Mary—Damn, damn, damn!
Mr. Tracy—T'anks, awfully! me loidy.
The Fat Boy—Gee, I wish I could swear like dat!

CUDIHEE IS OFF ON A STILL HUNT FOR TRACY WHO HAS DISAPPEARED

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Seattle, Wash., July 23.—Since Tracy's disappearance last Thursday, not one word has been received as to his whereabouts. Sheriff Cudihee has left Seattle without saying a word as to his destination, and it is presumed that he is on a still hunt. Cudihee went alone last Monday night. Search for Tracy has been formally abandoned. The few remaining members of the various posses scattered over the country are straggling in. Excitement, a week ago at fever heat, is now allayed, and the community has sunk back into its former sense of security.

It is generally believed that Tracy has left this part of the earth for good, and few think he will ever return. His exploits are now only a memory, so fast does the hour-glass run, and unless the redoubtable bandit should bob up serenely and pop over an officer or two, it is likely that he will pass entirely out of the minds of the men who for three weeks have been breathing his name in awe.

His long fight against overwhelming odds, his awful ferocity and unquenchable hatred of the officers of the law will become fireside legends, to be whispered in front of the glowing log when the winter winds are whistling and the snow is sifting, sifting down the huge chimney. Tracy is a memory. There is nothing left to tell, and, as is usual in such cases, comparisons are now the order of the day.

Compared With Younger Brothers.

J. B. Quinn, now practicing law in Seattle, was municipal judge of the town of Fairbault, Minn., when the three Younger brothers—Cole, Jim and Bob—were captured after the raid on the bank of Northfield, and it was he who committed them for trial. The chase for Harry Tracy brings to the mind of Judge Quinn the incidents of the hunt for the outlaws at that time, and he says the pursuit of the Youngers was attended with altogether less difficulties than in the hunt for Tracy, for the reason that there were six men in the Younger party, and they had to travel through an open country.

There were eight men in the party that rode into the little town of Northfield that beautiful fall day. Four of the robbers went to the bank, two of them entering, the other two remaining outside on guard. The other four members of the band rode around the streets shooting into windows, terrorizing the people. Cashier Hayward stubbornly refused to open the vaults and Charley Pitts shot him dead. He also wounded Bunker, a clerk, as he was trying to get away.

Robbers Took Fright.

From a hardware store across the street, Clet Miller, another member of the band, was killed, and Bill Chadwick was killed by a shot from a hotel window. The robbers took fright at the stubborn resistance of the people and made for their horses, pursued by 500 men, nearly all of whom were armed. Nearly all of the desperadoes were wounded. Bob Younger the most seriously. His arm was broken, and it was while seeking relief for him, weeks afterward, that information was gained that ultimately led to the capture of the Youngers.

Three of the horses were killed, which left the robbers with one horse short. Cole Younger lifted Bob on in front of him and rode away with the rest of the band. After running about a mile and a half, the robbers captured a horse from a farmer plowing in a field and put Bob on it. They entered a strip of timber and for 12 days Sheriff Barton and 300 deputies could not get a trace of them. The horses were found, however, nearly starved to death, showing that the robbers had abandoned them some time previously.

Pursuit Was Abandoned.

The pursuit was finally abandoned, but a short time afterward the three Youngers and Pitts showed up at the house of a farmer to have Bob Younger's wound attended to. Cole and Bob Younger absolutely refused to leave Bob, and the two unknown members of the party, supposed to be the James boys, parted company with them. A Scandinavian boy recognized the party as soon as they entered the house and sneaked out of the back door. Mounting a horse, the boy rode to Madella and notified Sheriff Glispin.

The bandits became suspicious of the absence of the boy and retreated to a clump of willows, about half a mile from the house. Here they were surrounded by the sheriff and posse, who began immediately to pour a murderous fire into the willows. Pitts was killed at almost the first fire, and the three Younger boys were severely wounded. Jim Younger was shot through the palate, and for a long time his life was despaired of. Finally a rush was made by the posse, and the three Youngers threw up their hands in token of surrender, standing over the dead body of Pitts.

Brothers Plead Guilty.

The Youngers pleaded guilty to murder in the first degree, and escaped with a sentence of imprisonment for life, because the legislature of Minnesota, at the previous session, had abolished capital punishment. The next session of the legislature, however, restored the old law. Bob Younger died in the penitentiary, and Cole and Jim are now out on parole, though they are not allowed to leave the state.

But the Younger Brothers, despite their long career, cost the authorities in men and blood, far less than this Pacific Coast desperado. Few realize what a run Tracy has made for it.

REGULAR ROUTINE OF THE PRESIDENT

SEVERAL NOTABLES DINE WITH THE ROOSEVELT FAMILY AT THEIR SUMMER HOME.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 23.—The president entertained at luncheon today President Schurman of Cornell university, President Butler of Columbia university, and Capt. Norton A. Goddard of New York, who long has been identified with the president in New York.

President Schurman is passing the summer at his country home near here and came to spend the day with the president. President Roosevelt today received T. B. Maddis, secretary and general agent of the City municipal association of Philadelphia, who called to enter a complaint on behalf of the association against William McCoach, collector of internal revenue, First district of Pennsylvania, who it is stated, also holds a city office. No action upon the case was taken.

The papers in the court-martial case of Maj. Edward F. Glenn of the Fifth infantry, tried for cruelty to the Filipinos, have been received by the president from the war department. He is final review authority. It was not announced whether he will make his indorsement on the papers or not.

Captain C. J. McConnell, chief engineer, U. S. N. (retired), who was fleet engineer of the flagship New York during the Spanish-American war, talked briefly with the president today on technical questions relating to the proposed Isthmian canal.

TRACY EATS MEAL AT LOGGING CAMP

DESPERADO IS NOT WOUNDED AND STILL HAS PLENTY OF AMMUNITION AND HIS GUN.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Tacoma, Wash., July 23.—Tracy, the outlaw, appeared at Miller's logging camp, four miles from Kanaskata, yesterday and ate dinner. When asked why he did not take advantage of the lull and escape from Green river valley, Tracy said: "I have some business to settle with Merrill's brother. I understand that the brother wants to see me."

Tracy is not wounded, and looks fresh and rested. He is wearing a derby hat, but had a slouch hat in his pocket.

He still has his Winchester and two revolvers and a good supply of ammunition.

Scorpion Goes Aground.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Newport, R. I., July 23.—The gunboat Scorpion went aground in the upper harbor today.

Many Persons Are Drowned.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Hamburg, July 23.—It is now announced that 100 persons were drowned by the sinking, Monday morning, of the steamship Prince of this port, after a collision in the River Elbe with the tug Hansa.

LARGE SUMS BEING DONATED STRIKERS

FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS AMOUNT OF ONE CHECK SENT ANTHRACITE COAL WORKERS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, July 23.—Secretary Wilson of the United Mine Workers today received a check for $50,000 from the strike fund of the Illinois organization. The Illinois miners have within four weeks given the national organization $100,000 for strike funds and still have nearly $500,000 in reserve. This donation, it is said, is the largest ever received for a strike.

Wilson has received notice from individuals of checks for as much as $1,000 that are now on their way to headquarters, indicating that the appeal to the public for funds has been effective.

Secretary Wilson says no attempt will be made to pay the anthracite strikers stipulated sums of money weekly.

"Our intention," said he, "is not to pay regular benefits, but merely to take care of the strikers and their families." It is believed that the miners will not attempt to keep the bituminous coal out of the anthracite market, except as a last resort.

Commuted His Sentence.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, July 23.—President Roosevelt has commuted to dishonorable discharge and 15 years' imprisonment the death sentence of Private Guy Stevenson, Troop M, Ninth cavalry. He was convicted by court-martial in Samar, Philippine islands, of rape.

MA ONCE LIVED FERGUS FALLS

DENIED OF LITTLE MINNESOTA HAD T WELL REMEMBER OUR AUTHORESS AS A CHILD.

KNEW HER FATHER AS "FLATBOAT MACLANE"

He Was Associated With James J. Hill and Was Accounted a Leading Citizen of the Little Busting Town—Mary Went to School There but Failed to Evince Evidences of Future Grandeur.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Fergus Falls, Minn., July 22.—The people of this city are taking a good deal of interest in Mary MacLane, the Butte authoress, whose freak book is said to have netted her $15,000 in royalties since its publication about two months ago.

Miss MacLane spent her childhood here, and her family was for years one of the most prominent in this city. "Flatboat MacLane," as her father was called, was one of the rough-and-ready characters of pioneer times, and owned a regular fleet of boats which plied the Red river and made Fort Harry their headquarters in the day when James J. Hill was looking after the river traffic and incidentally planning railroads in the same locality.

Mr. MacLane's boats penetrated as far as this city and carried away the first flour that was ever manufactured here, loading up below the rapids just west of town. With the development of the country and the advent of the railroads, the flatboat business had to be abandoned and Mr. MacLane took up his residence here, platted several additions, which still bear his name, and built a fine brick residence, surrounded by spacious grounds, on Broadway avenue.

Found Fergus Falls Slow.

He soon tired of life in an established community, however, and leaving his family here, went to Montana and engaged in stock ranching there. He contracted mountain fever in the West, came home, and died almost immediately after his arrival. His wife employed H. G. Kleize of Butte to look after his interests in the West and shortly afterwards married him and moved to that city with her family of four children, the youngest of whom was Mary MacLane.

The school records here show that the children were bright students, but those who were well acquainted with the family are not at all surprised that one of them should show tendencies which are, to say the least, peculiar.

POLAND'S GRIEF OVER THE GREAT CARDINAL'S DEATH

Many Telegrams and Letters of Regret Received—Advocated Polish Independence.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rome, July 23.—The remains of Cardinal Ledechowski, who died here yesterday, were laid in state this morning in the Chapel Ardenne of the palace of the propaganda, where they were subsequently visited by all the members of the sacred college. The Chapel Ardenne is now open to the public. The Piazza di Spagna, where the palace of the propandanda stands, is crowded with people, including many American pilgrims eager to obtain admission.

Letters and telegrams of regret are pouring in from all quarters. The grief of Poland, Cardinal Ledechowski's native country, amounts to almost a national demonstration, the dead cardinal having been persona non grata to Russia and Germany on account of his advocacy of Polish independence.

WILL MAKE NO DIFFERENCE

Death of Mr. Mackay Will Not Interfere With the Carrying Out of Plans.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, July 23.—George G. Ward, the vice president and general manager of the Commercial Cable company, was asked today what aspect the death of John Mackay would have on the business of the company. He replied:

"I do not know who will succeed Mr. Mackay as president. That is entirely in the hands of the board. You can say, however, that there will be no change of policy. The progress of the company and particularly Mr. Mackay's plans will be faithfully carried out. The contracts for the Pacific cable have been let and the enterprise will proceed precisely as though Mr. Mackay's death had not occurred."

Progress of Tailors' Strike.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, July 23.—It was reported today that some 4,000 or 5,000 of the 30,000 garment strikers had gone to work after a settlement, but this is contradicted. The manufacturers said they had offered contracts to the central body, which had been accepted as satisfactory, but that the workmen have not returned and that at the various union headquarters they were told that the strikers would not return to work until next week.

Killed by Her Grandson.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paducah, Ky., July 23.—Mrs. Sol. C. Vaughn, aged 64, one of the wealthiest and most prominent women of Paducah, was last night accidentally shot with a small rifle by her grandson, Vaughn Dabney, aged 13, and lived but a short time. The boy was so crazed with grief that he attempted suicide.

Fire at Annapolis.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Annapolis, Md., July 23.—A fire this morning destroyed nine buildings, including St. Martin's German Lutheran church and the large general store of E. J. Jewell and caused a loss estimated at $50,000. Two hundred marine guards from the naval academy did effective work as a bucket brigade.
