

Doings of Society.

Now that summer is well under way and the evenings balmy, the splendid opportunities of the Country club are being appreciated and taken advantage of with much spirit. Not only do the tired golfers in the "red, red sunset" seek the grateful comforts of the pretty club house, there to sip refreshing tea or sample the club's famous "Hix-Lord" punch, but tuggies, carriages and tal'vols drive up to its doors, and often the occupants alight and enjoy informal dancing and sandwiches.

During the last week, since the epaulettes of society have taken the paper-chase by the forelock and made it an established innovation, the clubhouse has come to be doubly appreciated. After Tuesday's exciting chase, the participants gathered at the gated house on the flat and a most delightful aftermath was enjoyed.

For a while the promoters of the club were disappointed with the apparent lack of appreciation, but of late there has been no cause for regret that the pretty clubhouse was built. It has become the mecca for the devotees of all the wholesome out-of-door sports and the verandas are daily gay with parties of young folks who seek a delightful siesta in hammock or easy chair within the shades of the climbing vines. Entertainers are making it the frequent scene of delightful teas, luncheons and dinners, and the excellent chef who rules supreme in the culinary department, has viands and delicacies at his command that insure surpassing success for the menu, while the beautiful service and dainty appointments provided, together with the possibilities for artistic decoration, make the clubhouse an ideal and attractive place for the entertaining of one's friends. With the natural disadvantages that Butte must suffer, in the way of smothering smoke and the absence of flowers and green things, the country club is an institution to be grateful for. Without it and with Columbia Gardens eliminated, Butte would indeed be dead.

Pathetic in a way, but very complimentary to the beauties of Columbia Gardens, is the story related of a little Butte boy, who in his 9 years had never wandered outside the boundaries of the encircling horizon of mountains that divide the greatest mining camp on earth from the outside world. He fell asleep and dreamed that he was in heaven. In his dream he beheld a great big Columbia Gardens, where not two, but a thousand bears frolicked and waited to be fed peanuts; where the slender shivering aspens stretched away limitless, not bounded by any fence at all, and the tables that waited under every shady tree were laden with cakes and pies as large as turntables; where the mad merry-go-round played "Goo-Goo Eyes" every minute and took all passengers free. Nor was this all. Among the more material of the heavenly visions, there were others, born of Sunday school lessons and reading of fairy tales. Angels flitted about among the trees, or softly alighted on the pansies, which were not barred off by iron rails nor sported signs forbidding the touching of flowers; instead, Mr. Dolph Heilbronner waved his hand and said: "Little boy, pick all you want."

The baseball park was free; kind fairies inviting entrance replaced the guardianship of frowning policemen. The shooting of the chutes was ever so much more swift, and longer, and one got three bounces when the boat was in the water, instead of only one. The hideous Chinese dragons that guard the little summer-house by the lake were converted into smiling, kindly genies, and little boys might wade in the brooks up to their necks without fear of reproach. Peanuts and candy stands were everywhere and one might take all one wanted, and one was privileged to poke the animals with a stick all one pleased. Each boy was provided with a real gun and might shoot, at will, the babbling wench-Chinaman or the flying elephant which grace the shooting gallery. Of such wonders the juvenile dream was full. Columbia Gardens represented to him the nearest material approach to heaven, if he had ever seen, and in peeping it with fairies and angels, and eliminating its drawbacks, it was to him heaven complete. Manager J. R. Wharton may gather from the boy's dream a suggestion. Were the gates but gilded and the genial manager there as St. Peter, to welcome little boys, the institution of a Paradise day for Butte little boys might prove a screaming success.

ENTERTAINS YOUNGER SET.

Miss Bessie Hammer Is Hostess at Afternoon Whist Party.

Miss Bessie Hammer entertained her friends of the younger set delightfully at cards Tuesday afternoon. The spacious double drawing-rooms of the Hammer residence, 314 West Granite street, were artistically decorated with shower bouquets of sweet peas in different colors and clusters of sunflowers and goldenrod.

There were five tables and the bout at whist was a lively one. It was preceded by a paper hunt, the girls searching in every nook and cranny of the house for the cards which named their partners. Miss Dore Shively won the first prize, a pretty souvenir copper spoon, and Miss Grace Campbell scoring second was awarded a pretty souvenir copper match holder.

There was also an impromptu musical program. Miss Erna Charles and Miss Mary Wathey sang and Miss Mae Hamilton delighted the company with a recitation.

Those in attendance were Misses Mary Wathey, Helen and Dore Shively, Lillian Sheehy, Lulu Prentice, Ada Gainer, of Helena; E. Day, of Missoula; Edna Cannon, Julia Horgan, Mae Hamilton, Fulton Evans, Floyd Patterson, Trellis Carter, of Ogden; Clara Hinkle, Grace Campbell, Ruth Seltzer, Erna Charles, Hallie Davis, Jessie Wharton, Sadie Jones and Charles Russel.

A dainty collation of ices and cakes was served after the awarding of the prizes; Miss Hammer being assisted in serving by Miss Lulu Prentice and Miss Erna Charles.

Card Luncheon of Ten Covers.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prentice entertained a company of friends at a delightful card luncheon Monday afternoon. The affair was quite informal. The table was prettily trimmed with sweet peas in pink and white, intermingled with gypsophalia. Luncheon was followed by euchre.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wathey, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Shively, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hammer.

CELEBRATE SIXTH ANNIVERSARY.

Kismet Club Merges Regular Meeting With Buckles Wedding Day Supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Sol Buckles invited a company of friends to assist them in celebrating the sixth anniversary of their wedding at their home, 837 West Broadway, Monday evening. The Buckles home well worth the best efforts of the players. Mrs. Fred Squires secured the first prize, six handsome hand-painted bread and butter plates. Mrs. David Dixon won the lone hand, which was an exquisite Welsh rarebit plate. A pretty hand-painted poster plate, the second prize, was carried away by Mrs. Harry Charles. Mrs. Frank H. Bimrose was awarded the consolation, a hand-painted pin tray of dainty design.

Among those present were: Mesdames

MRS. SOL BUCKLES,

Who Entertained Monday Evening in Celebration of the Sixth Anniversary of Her Wedding.

was artistically decorated in pink and white carnations and dainty sweet peas, and the splendid supper served the guests was spread upon a table beautifully trimmed in the same blossoms, with trailing green tendrils wandering gracefully over the cover.

Cards were the order of the evening's entertainment, the Kismet Euchre club, of which Mrs. Buckles is a member, merging its usual Monday afternoon meeting into the anniversary celebration. The contest was an animated one, and the very all of exquisite hand-painted china,

A. S. Christie, A. H. Wethey, J. Welch, John F. Welmsch, C. E. Ferrill, T. A. Grigg, A. Booth, D. Charles, H. Charles, Hugh Laughlin, D. Reinhardt, D. P. Wortman, P. Mullins, Fred Squires, D. Dixon, J. Ellis, E. Shively, J. W. Gunn, F. Gilbert, J. Hopper, J. McHugh, R. L. Bradley, C. J. Schatzlein, J. Riter, Thomas Jeffries, W. H. Fenton, A. Rochester, J. Ryan, J. Slann, E. Rowe, F. H. Bimrose, J. Ledwidge, L. Daigler, J. Oenburg, J. Slemmons, John McIntyre, J. Mac Nevin and Misses Dorothy Supernant, E. Lange and M. Shannon.

AT ST. LAWRENCE CHURCH.

Patrick Healey and Miss Maggie Lynch Are to Be Married August 19.

St. Lawrence's church at Centerville will be the scene of a brilliant wedding on

MISS MAGGIE LYNCH,

Who Is to Be Married to Patrick Healey August 19.

August 19, when Mr. Patrick Healey of Butte and Miss Maggie Lynch of Centerville will be joined in the holy bonds of wedlock. Rev. Father Battens will perform the marriage rites.

DAINTY LINEN SHOWER.

September Bride Prettily and Serviceably Complimented by Host of Friends.

Delightfully informal, yet artistic in every detail of arrangement, as are all the affairs given by Mrs. Sam Johnstone, was the linen shower tendered Miss Virginia Patton, who is to be the charming bride of early September, Tuesday afternoon, at the Johnstone residence, on the summit of the West Broadway terminus.

Notwithstanding the deluge that poured from the heavens to the accompaniment of deafening thunderclaps, the ladies began to arrive early in the afternoon and presently the drawing rooms were thronged with a buzzing ensemble, each guest bringing with her a mysterious package, the contents a contribution to the "shower" within, which was in dainty contrast to the downpour without.

Mrs. Johnstone's decorations were artistic and dainty. In the drawing room was a pretty confusion of garden flowers falling carelessly from piano forte and bric-a-brac and in dainty clusters decorating the cabinet and tables. In the alcove nook of the spacious drawing room stood a large round table prettily strewn with garden flowers, and in its center, the daintiest blossom of all, sat little Miss "Jim" Lowrey, beautifully arrayed in a gown of point d'esprit of snowy white, with sash, hose and slippers in the daintiest shade of robin's egg blue. This little maiden, one of the prettiest little cherubs of the West Side, sat in happy state, receiving in her lap the contributions of the guests, each package being daintily wrapped in tissue and tied with ribbons. Later, when the company had all arrived, the bride-to-be opened the packages, a dainty confusion of linen in various designs and for every imaginable household purpose falling from her hands. There were drawn-work luncheon cloths, finest table linen, gossies, napkins, towels, throws and personal apparel, the latter including a magnificent set of elaborately trimmed lingerie, the lace being of Paris hand-drawn work. The shower, moreover, was not confined to linen, for there were several elegant presents of silverware and china, a beautiful, ice cream set being one of the handsomest presents.

In the dining room a splendid luncheon was served from a prettily appointed oval table, the central decoration of which was a great shower bouquet of vari-colored carnations rising from a base of autumn fruits, the effect being very pretty and novel.

Mrs. Johnstone was assisted in serving by Misses Mae Sullivan, Allie and Annie Lowrey and Miss Ida Kennedy.

The affair was a complete surprise to Miss Patton, the charming girl in whose honor it was given. She responded to a telephone invitation to be present at an informal gathering to find, upon arriving, that she was the center of interest and the recipient of the shower of favors which expressed the love and esteem of her large circle of friends. Miss Patton is a Montana girl and since babyhood has been a favorite. Those who surprised her so delightfully were nearly all ladies who have known her since she was knee-high to the proverbial quart bottle, and who, in contributing to her dowry of linen, felt a personal pride and delight in so doing.

Among the company were: Mesdames C. W. Clark, Lulu Largey, John Forbes, W. B. Hamilton, Fred Holbrook, W. L. Rennie, C. Leonard, R. H. Paxson, Frank McKinn of Omaha, H. V. Winchell, Frank Boncher, Thomas Lavelle, H. I. Wilson, A. T. Morgan, Anna C. Crowley, Mae Platt, F. T. McBride, Thompson Campbell, W. Quinn, John Gillie, M. L. Cunningham, Leon S. Wild, Bryan Irvin, Walter Lewis, D. J. Hennessy, J. K. Hestlet, J. W. McCrimmon, J. B. Rote, Donald Gillies, Misses Lulu, Eliza and Theo Russell, Louise Winchell of Minneapolis, Madge Marks, Madeline Bartlett of Chicago, Nell Lloyd, Clara Hamilton, Clara Williams of Missouri, Helen Pfouts, Francis Thornton, Cora, Hattie and Julia Sanders, Alice and Annie Lowrey, Eleanor, Viola and Julia Horgan, Daisy Dawson, Margaret Scallon, Hattie Young, Adele Parchon, and the honored guest, Miss Virginia Patton.

MISS HORGAN'S LUNCHEON.

Gay Party of Guests Meet at Delightful Afternoon Party.

Twelve covers were laid at the pretty luncheon given by Miss Eleanor Horgan for Miss Clara Hamilton today. The decorations were in sweet peas, an immense basket of the dainty blossoms, tied with a large bow of pink and white ribbon being the center piece and a tiny basket of sweet peas being placed at each plate.

Miss Horgan's guests were: Miss Clara Hamilton, Mrs. W. Barrie Hamilton, Mrs. Thomas Lavelle, Mrs. D. J. Hennessy, Mrs. Fred Holbrook, Mrs. F. W. McCrimmon, Mrs. Eugene Carroll, Mrs. John Forbes, Miss Lou Guthrie of Helena, Mrs. M. L. Cunningham and Miss Clara Louise Horgan.

Mr. Healey is one of the popular members of Butte's efficient fire department, and Miss Lynch is a Centerville belle. She resides on East La Platte street, and is well-known in Centerville society as charming young lady.

After the wedding at the church there will be a reception and banquet and then the young people will leave on their honeymoon. They will visit the Puget sound

PATRICK HEALEY,

Who Is to Be Married to Miss Maggie Lynch August 19.

cities and other points of interest on the coast while away.

UNIQUE HUNTING MEET.

With Whip and Spur Society Engages in a Mad Paper Chase.

Paper chasing has taken hold of society tenaciously, and so delightful an exercise has the novelty proven itself that it is small wonder that ping-pong, the races and everything else has given way to its popularity.

Tuesday evening the eclipsing paper chase of the season, in which half a hundred equestrians and numerous enthusiasts in carriages participated, was given by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holbrook. Mrs. Holbrook and Mr. Clark led the chase, both on splendid mounts, and Mrs. Clark and Mr. Holbrook led the procession of carriages.

The chase began from the Clark home, the procession leading off down Montana street at a breakneck speed, following the white thread of paper fragments that had been strewn zigzag down to the flat and in intricate windings across it. The chase began in earnest when the equestrians arrived at the flat and the riders vied with each other in much excitement and a pleasurable spirit of rivalry.

The carriages lined up at the edge of the flat and watched the finish of the flying chase. Several times the trail was lost and the rear riders had an opportunity to catch up and re-enter in the chance for the prize. Early in the chase Col. C. F. Lloyd and Miss Frances Thornton took the lead, and although they did not succeed in keeping it throughout the rest of the exciting chase, it was they who arrived first at the "fin" and carried away the prizes. Colonel Lloyd's trophy was a leather watch fob with a gold stirrup, and Miss Thornton's deservedly prized souvenir was a pretty sporting whip mounted with a filigreed stock of gold.

After the chase the company repaired to the golf club and there were served with a splendid country supper. The menu was a most inviting one—game pies, fried game of various kinds, and many other delicacies fresh from the hand of the club's surpassing chef, being among the items.

When the tables were cleared a hidden orchestra began the inspiring measure of a spirited deux-temps and the ladies in their riding habits danced with the gentlemen in riding boots and spurs. The time passed right merrily. The diversity of amusements offered in the evening's program made the paper chase a notable event, one of the season's most delightful and novel affairs.

Among those who enjoyed paper chase, supper and the dance were Mr. and Mrs. F. W. McCrimmon, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Rennie, Mrs. M. L. Cunningham, Mrs. Lou Guthrie of Helena, Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Murray, Dr. and Mrs. I. Freund, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Carroll, Mrs. Mary Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. John Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Johnstone, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hestlet, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lewis, Dr. and Mrs. J. T. McDonald, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hodgins, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Templeman, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Turner, Mrs. J. Cushing of Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hennessy, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kunkle, Mrs. Mary Barclay of Helena, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leggett, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rote, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lavelle; Misses Adele Parchon, Mollie Walker, J. H. Sanders, Trellis Carter, Margaret Scallon, Madge Marks, Nell Lloyd, Fannie Thornton, Madeline Bartlett, Annie and Allie Lowrey; Mrs. Laurence Harris, Miss Minnie Shores, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Leonard, Misses Lela, Theo and Eliza Russell, Daisy Dawson; Messrs. William Scallon, Lee Mantle, Dr. Donald Campbell, Robert Shores, Drs. Ray and Ted Freund, Joe Lowry, D'Gay Stivers, Bert Stephens, Ed. Horgan, C. F. Kelly, William Maughan, Robert Carnahan, Dr. L. Napton, Alf. Kramer, Joe Case, Ed. Blossom, J. Gage, Thomas Markley, Sellers Largey, John Harrington, Bob LeBeau, Fred Slemmons and William Thornton.

WEE ONES MAKE MERRY.

Little Miss Helen Horst Gives Juvenile Party Which is Also a Surprise.

Little Miss Helen Horst, 8 years old, was the graceful mite of a hostess at a juvenile party given Tuesday afternoon in her mother's cosy apartments at No. 23 West Broadway. Although the rain poured and the cobble stones swam in the streets the little guests were all on hand and ready for the merry-making.

Miss Helena had cunningly schemed to surprise her father, whose birthday it was, and as a special honor he was invited at a late moment to be a guest at his own birthday dinner. The surprise was complete and the glee of the small guests unbounded. The repast was a delightful one, the menu being such a giver's joy to the diminutive genus homo, and the table being prettily decorated with sweet peas and carnations.

Games and general merriment entertained the company after they had partaken of the refreshments.

POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE WED.

Steward-Deyatt Wedding a Quiet One—Many Costly Presents.

A quiet but extremely pretty wedding was that of Miss Alma Deyatt and Mr. W. F. Steward Thursday evening at the home of the bride on East Granite street. Only immediate relatives and close friends attended the ceremony. The decorations were in pink and white, roses, smilax and sweet peas being used in profusion.

The happy young pair left shortly after the ceremony by the Oregon Short Line for a trip through the West.

Many elegant presents were received by the popular young people, the present of Mr. John M. Steward, father of the groom, being a $5,000 home.

Royal Italian Marine Band Coming.

Among the attractions of the early theater season and one which will undoubtedly be a brilliant event will be the concert of the Royal Italian Marine band, which will arrive in Butte early in October. Concerts will be given on October 7 and 8, matinee and evening. Tickets are now being sold by subscription, and the outlook is promising for a splendid and fashionable audience on the opening night.

Mrs. Hennessy's Luncheon.

Mrs. J. D. Hennessy entertained Thursday at an eight cover luncheon. The decorations were in sweet peas. A beautiful mound of the blossoms decorated the center of the table, trailing gypsophalia and ferns falling to the cloth. The place cards were bits of pastel hand-painted with designs of oriental maidens. Mrs. Hennessy's guests were Mrs. W. L. Rennie, Mrs. J. A. Lewis of Anaconda, Mrs. F. W. McCrimmon, Mrs. J. J. McHatten, Mrs. Wm. Tuohy and Mrs. George Rockwood.

MISS PRENTICE ENTERTAINS.

Farewell Party to Miss Shively, Who Are to Visit in California.

Misses Helen Shively, who goes to California this week to spend the winter, and Mary Wathey, who leaves with her parents for her home on the coast, were complimented Thursday afternoon by Miss Lulu Prentice, who invited a company of young ladies of the younger set to meet with the two popular young girls at cards.

The pretty rooms of the Prentice residence, 301 North Crystal street, were artistically brightened with garden flowers and sweet peas, and thriving potted plants added to the gaiety of the occasion.

After the round at cards refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by a number of her guests.

The company included: Misses Helen Shively, Mary Wathey, Dore Shively, Grace Campbell, Lillian Sheehy, Annie Holberg, Arley Ryker, Olive Hall, Frances Nuckolls, Ethel Berry, Mae Ham-

GUEST PARTY.

Musicals in Honor of Mrs. Thomas Flavin.

One of the most delightful affairs of the week was given last Wednesday evening by Mrs. R. L. Bradley and Mrs. M. T. Somerville at their pretty home, 732 West Broadway, for Mrs. Flavin, formerly of Butte but now of Portland, Oregon.

The house was beautifully decorated with carnations and palms. Smilax entwined the electroliers, the piano being banked with the same soft green.

The affair took the form of a musicale to which Mrs. Flavin contributed several charming vocal selections, rendered in her characteristic and pleasing manner, which has endeared her to all the music-loving people of Butte.

Miss Margaret Rinehart executed on the piano Liza's Rigoletto in a very brilliant manner. Prof. Henry Amireaux played several very fine instrumental numbers, some of them his own composition, in a masterly manner. Mr. Ernest Harcastle contributed to the humorous side of the program by rendering a couple of comic songs which were very much enjoyed by those present.

Last but not least appreciated was the playing of Miss Irene Somerville of Heller's Slumber song. It was received with delight. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening.

Those present were: Mrs. T. J. Flavin, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cheely, Mr. and Mrs. Grigg, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Barker, Mrs. L. M. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Ben James, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Laughlin, Mrs. Rinehart; the Misses Rinehart, Miss Rose O'Malley, Miss Emma Coy; Messrs. C. W. Cockrell, Frank Carter, Henry Amireaux, Gerald Ronan, Ernest Harcastle and Dr. R. L. Bradley.

SOCIETY PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Curran is visiting in California.

Mrs. William Luxton of South Butte is visiting in Salt Lake.

Miss Mabel Palmer of Hammond, Indiana, is the guest of Mrs. James D. Sloan.

Mrs. Ernest Ebbage of Kendall, Mont., is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Eaton.

Mr. Bert Tower has been touring the Yellowstone with a party of Eastern friends this week.

Mr. A. C. Wilhelm leaves next week for his home in Cleveland, Ohio, to remain permanently.

Mrs. Will Woodward of Divide visited this week with Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Kilroy at the Sherman.

Dr. Grace Wilson Cahoon has returned from Minneapolis, where she has been visiting for two months.

Mrs. J. R. Wharton, who has been visiting for the past six week in Montreal

MISS ELIZABETH GERTRUDE GROENEVELD,

Daughter of Rev. E. J. Groeneveld, Who is Now Enjoying a Coast Outing in California.

ilton, Helen Cutting, Lydia Osenberg, Erna Charles, Bessie Patterson, Grace Noyes, Edna Cannon, Mae Stuart, Ada Gainer, Annie Fitzpatrick, Bessie Hammer, Elma Cobban, Kit Fair, Nell Fair, Dolce Hayden, Ruth Seltzer and Bessie Patterson.

The fortunate winners of the prizes were Miss Dolce Hayden, Miss Lillian Sheehy and Arley Ryker. The first prize was that won by Miss Hayden, a prettily bound volume "Dorothy Vernon of Hayden Hall." The second, won by Miss Sheehy, was a dainty set of collar tips and cuffs, hand-embroidered, and the consolation, which was awarded Miss Ryker, was a handsomely framed photograph of the Countess Potowski.

Miss Wathey and Miss Shively left for California yesterday morning.

and Vancouver, returned Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hammer entertained informally at dinner Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Whately and Mrs. Elva Boardman.

Master Gerald Supernant of Helena is enjoying a visit with his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Supernant of No. 17 West Granite street.

Their Advantages.
(Chicago Record-Herald.)
The clouds float airy all day;
The zephyrs sport upon the sea;
The ripples pass their time at play;
The brooks go singing to the sea;
While I work on—and that's the way
Those things are different from me.

September Number of THE SMART SET Out To-Day A MAGAZINE OF CLEVERNESS