A GOOD DEMOCRAT GONE.

The death of ex-Governor Hoadley of Ohio removes a sterling character from the activities of life, but his example is one that will not soon be effaced.

Perhaps never in the history of politics in this country was there so much corruption of the ballot box as was practiced by the McLean gang of political outlaws.

It required no little courage at that time to publicly accuse the thugs that had the state by the throat and hold them up to the scorn of the world.

THE PRESIDENT AND LABOR.

The United States never had a president who took a more genuine interest in the welfare of the working classes than does the present executive.

"I think it is a noteworthy matter. It is quite significant, for it is a recognition of labor by the president of the United States that we must not lose sight of."

Mr. Arnold is right. The president all his life has been a worker. He is a man who believes in the dignity of labor and who relies upon the intelligence and patriotism of labor to assist in the establishment of good government for the people.

Chairman Walter Cooper of the democratic state committee has issued a call for a meeting at Helena on September 2.

Henry Russell, an Iowa capitalist, has gone to Texas to look into the question of transportation facilities for Beaumont oil, which he considers a serious problem.

great vicissitudes. The spouters will cease to spout and cotton balls will whiten greasy Spindle Top.

THE BITTER ROOT NEW DISEASE.

The Salt Lake Tribune has this interesting special about the so-called "spotted fever" which recently broke out in Ravalli county, this state.

The marine hospital service, in its health report, publishes an interesting report from Surgeon J. O. Cobb on an investigation made by him into the so-called "spotted fever" of the Rocky mountains.

It was found that the gopher of this section is infested with ticks, and it is well known that this animal will not cross water except under extraordinary circumstances.

The gopher of this particular section has in some way become infected with fever organism and has acquired or inherited immunity.

The Washington scientists are probably making more ado over this alleged "spotted fever" than the facts warrant.

CAN'T BEAT THE MISSOURI.

The esteemed Marine Journal of New York endeavors to belittle the eccentricities of our Missouri river by exploiting what it thinks are the greater eccentricities of the Yangtze of China.

From the same source we have the information that one year a passenger steamer found itself aground in a rice field far from the river bank and the water fast subsiding.

We have nothing exactly like this to report from the Missouri chiefly for the reason that where this noble stream is the most freakish there is no occasion for a warship to penetrate.

Mr. Arnold is right. The president all his life has been a worker. He is a man who believes in the dignity of labor and who relies upon the intelligence and patriotism of labor to assist in the establishment of good government for the people.

AS TO FARMERS' TRUSTS.

The creamery trust has gone to pieces and 8,000 farmers were caught in the wreck. They were getting along very well before they went into a combination to control supply and demand.

Henry Russell, an Iowa capitalist, has gone to Texas to look into the question of transportation facilities for Beaumont oil, which he considers a serious problem.

created from $12,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000. In the same period the value of the yearly products of the farms has increased from $2,212,000,000 to $3,764,000,000.

It is not out of purely philanthropic motives that two lawyers and a house decorator go into the business of organizing a big trust and selling $25,000,000 worth of stock to the farmers.

BELGIAN HARE VS. ANGORA GOAT.

The New York Sun sends up a piteous wail to know the present whereabouts of the Belgian hare, which less than a year ago was heralded far and wide as the benefactor of the universe.

It is not surprising that the East, that does not understand these things, wonders what has become of the Belgian hare which recently occupied more newspaper space, especially in Denver.

But there is no reason to doubt that the Angora goat will do all and more that was claimed for the Belgian hare. Already he is peopling our mountain sides and our valleys.

The failure of the rice crop in Japan will be less a hardship to our little friends the Brownies across the Pacific than it would have been some years ago before they learned the many virtues of Yankee wheat and corn.

In Nevada politics make queer bed-fellows. The state convention of the democrats and silver party, after denouncing the republicans for their financial legislation, nominated John Sparks, a gold democrat, for the governorship.

The feeble imitators of the late lamented Tracy are making the public weary.

PEOPLE WE MEET.

"IT HAS occurred to me that there would be more sympathy among the various classes of people if each class would occasionally consider what the other classes are doing, and feel with them in their occupations, and feel with them the rigors of their work and the ardors of their ambitions."

J. M. RHODES.

The literary discussion was started by one of the gentlemen who was sounding the praises of our own Mary MacLane.

Major Scooby, who was present, and who seemed to know something of Mr. Rhodes' early life on the farm, then took up the entertainment.

"One time, and long ago, there was a farmer's boy who was so indolent that his father feared for his future," said the newly-elected chief of the Workmen.

PERSONAL.

Three natives of Norway have been elected governors of South Dakota.

It is said that more babies have been named after President Roosevelt than after any other executive of the nation save Washington and Jefferson.

Mrs. Hannah Sutherland of Malden, Mass., refused to return $10 in change given her by mistake by the conductor of a street car, and has been sentenced to a year's imprisonment in the house of correction.

After a lapse of several weeks Andrew Carnegie has again taken up his British benefactions. He has offered to donate $150,000 for the establishment of free libraries in the borough of Marylebone on condition that the borough provide maintenance.

The only wound ever sustained by Lord Kitchener during his long term of military service was received in the Soudan, where a bullet from an Arab's gun struck him in the cheek.

The centennial anniversary of Louis Kossuth's birth will be celebrated in Hungary on December 17 next.

Lucky Baldwin in Ophir.

When Ophir mining stock was worth about $8 a share Baldwin took all he could get, but so great was the quantity offered that he began to think on him.

The new man struck a valuable ore body, before the news went abroad. He employed James R. Keene to pick up Ophir bargains for him at $60 or thereabouts.

Monday afternoon he was handling the bees according to his usual custom when suddenly the insects rebelled and now Jesse has a lovely face.

Mr. Marsh is in Billings for medical treatment. He will not handle the bees again until he procures another talisman.

Glasgow, August 27.—Evidence in the trial of Hayfield, for the shooting of Palmer, was concluded Monday evening and the case went to the jury after the usual arguments, at 10:30 the same night.

The jury was then discharged and the defendant remanded to the custody of the sheriff, without bail.

Lebanon, Pa., August 27.—The American Iron and Steel factory last night started a set of rolling mills with negro laborers imported from Reading and other places.
