HE IS TOO SWEET THIS GULLED MAN

BELLES OF THE AFRICAN WORLD DO FOLLOW ABOUT AND PURSUE ONE C. T. SMITH.

SO HE HAS TO KICK 'EM IN THE FACE, HE SAYS

But One of Them Resents His Peculiar Manner of Receiving Her Attentions and Bisects His Face With a Beer Bottle—Whereupon Charles T. Hies Himself to the Strong Arm of the Law

Charles F. Smith, a saffron colored negro who swelled up with importance as he announced that he was "steward in de Overland club," rushed into the county attorney's office this morning with 40 cents worth of court plaster covering an immense cut on his nose and announced that he wanted a woman arrested or bound over to keep the peace for scattering his features with a beer bottle.

"Which piece did she bite off?" said Deputy County Attorney Jere Lurch, referring facetiously to the large chunk of flesh and gristle which was missing from the olfactory organ of the African.

"Well, it like dis, judge," said the steward. "Dis woman's bin comin' round to my place of business and I want to keep her away."

He's Too Sweet for Anything.

"It's an injunction you want, if the woman is pursuing you," said Mr. Lynch. "I can do nothing to relieve your popularity."

"Well, I'm afraid of her; she's gettin' to kill me and I 'sper to get shot one of these fine evenings," said the coon and his saffron changed to green in patches.

For some time the attorney was unable to get any explanation regarding the affair. All the man would say was that he wanted Anna Saeger, a lady of color, bound over to keep the peace because she bothered him at his place of business and hit him on the nose with a beer bottle.

As he refused at first either to give his own name or that of his place of business, the attorney told him he could take no action in the matter. It was with an earnestness that approached insolence that the complainant ejaculated:

Needn't Mind the Name.

"You jest make out dat warrant; nevah mind my name. You can see dat nose o' mine. Dat's evidence dat I bin 'in-saulted.'"

Mr. Lynch told Smith in plain language that if he wanted anyone bound over to keep the peace he would have to be more definite.

"Den, I'm de steward o' de Overland club and mah name's Charles F. Smith. I thought I could keep dis out of de papers, but ah see dere's no use. Well, pr'aps I c'n fix de papers anyhow."

Then he told a tale of love and jealousy and threatened murder to Mr. Lynch. He confessed with an apologetic smile that the lady in question was moved by the green-eyed monster.

"Jest a little jealous play. I don't like to whip her. That's what she needs. I did knock her down and kick her a couple of times," he added with a chivalric pose, "but it didn't do much good, so I tried silent 'content.'"

Not liking the "content" the rejected one assaulted him with a bottle.

Two Women in the Case.

Smith reminded Mr. Lynch that Miss Saeger was the same of whom Mrs. Nelson and her daughter complained a few days ago for throwing rocks at them and admitted that Mrs. Nelson's daughter was the other "woman in the case."

Mr. Smith seemed to think that not the least part of Miss Saeger's crime was disturbing the dignity and quiet of the club. He spoke bitterly when he referred to her aim with a beer bottle, but he spoke in whispers when he suggested the possibility of her returning and "makin' a fuss in de club."

Mr. Lynch will investigate the matter and if he thinks it necessary, will take measures to restrain the belligerent negro.

WIRES WILL BE CACHED UNDER THE TERRA FIRMA

But as There is a Couple of Years Before This Ordinance Goes Into Effect, Don't Worry.

At the city council meeting last night the most important business to be transacted was the passage of the ordinance providing that all wires shall be placed under ground December 1, 1904, in the district bounded by Arizona, Montana, Mercury and Copper streets.

The judiciary committee reported that the new ordinance had been considered and they recommended its adoption with the following amendment:

"Section 9. Any person, company or corporation using any of the streets, alleys or public grounds of the city of Butte for the purposes hereinbefore enumerated shall construct and reserve for the city of Butte for the purpose of its police and fire alarm systems, a duct in each conduit, the same to be furnished to the city of Butte without cost."

PERSPIRATION POURS OFF COUNCILMEN IN BUCKETS

Chief Reynolds and His Alleged Protection of Criminals Who Happen to Have a Pull is Discussed.

There was a hot time at the city council meeting last night. Alderman Duggan had his weather eye on Chief of Police Reynolds and went so far as to say that if gambling was running wide open at the next council meeting he would request his resignation.

Alderman Cohen said he believed in a wide open town and admitted that he is a gambler. He said, however, that while the council was closing the poolrooms, he thought the gambling halls should be closed also.

Alderman Duggan made a speech in which he said he believed the chief of police was responsible for wide open gambling as well as for other offenses. He read an article from the Inter Mountain which exposed a few of the chief's weaknesses, not the least of which is his leniency towards criminals when the criminals happen to have some influence.

The discussion was finally closed by Mayor Davey, who declared such talk was out of order.

These Cuts Represent the Front and Back of Our New Souvenir Spoon, Which we Call the

"Montana Souvenir"

It Gives a Better Idea of the Chief Industry of Our State

Which every one knows is mining, than any other spoon that has ever been produced in the West. You will notice the miner at the windlass; the hillside with its growth of pine behind him, and the sky above; the ladder, commencing at the platform and reappearing below; the bucket being hoisted; the candles in the wall and the two "partners" working in the shaft. On the back a plain surface is left for engraving. The pick, shovel and candlestick are bound together by the rope, which, running down the handle, forms the word "Montana."

This Is Not An Engraved or Etched Spoon

The dies from which it is struck were many months in preparation, and show an absolute fidelity to detail. All figures stand out in sharp relief; it would be impossible to produce such an effect by any other method. In order to largely increase the sale of this spoon among all classes of buyers we have reduced the price to $2.50 each, thereby making it cheaper than any other spoon of equal merit in the market.

The Spoon is the Exact Size of the Cut; Is Sterling Silver and Very Heavy
