NECESSARY FOOD DENIED DEDRICK

ARCTIC EXPLORER'S SURGEON SAYS PEARY REFUSED HIM COFFEE WITHOUT SUGAR.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Sept. 22.—Dr. Thomas Dredrick of Washington, N. J., who had a disagreement with Peary, the Arctic explorer and left the latter's expedition August 17, 1901, has arrived in New York, after an absence of four years in the far North.

Concerning the criticisms of his actions in the Arctic regions, he was inclined to be reticent.

"I will not discuss in any way, any misunderstanding that I may have had with Lieutenant Peary, and that may or may not have been the cause of my leaving the ship."

"What about the intimation that the reason that you left the party was because you were not exactly in a sound state mentally at the time?"

His Mind Is Sound. "The report that I was mentally unsound," he replied, "is a malicious lie."

"Are you going to make a statement in regard to the affair?"

"At the proper time I will make a statement in full of the reasons that led me to pursue the course I did, both as to remaining on the Arctic and as to the charges about my mental status."

"Pending the report that Lieutenant Peary will make about the work and experiences of the expedition, however," said Dr. Dredrick, "I do not think that any person who was identified with the expedition, or who may have been connected with it, should do any talking. It is very hard to be maligned, as I have, and not to talk, but I shall nevertheless adhere to the determination on my part.

Was Denied Food. "Concerning my trouble with Lieutenant Peary and my experiences while living among the Eskimos and the denial of food to me by Lieutenant Peary, even a little coffee without sugar, I shall say nothing at this time."

"The reason I remained in the Arctic was purely one of duty to the expedition and was not for any monetary purpose. When I was a member of the expedition, I contracted not to publish articles, and I shall not act otherwise. There has not been a single day since I left the expedition over a year ago, that I have regretted the step I saw fit to take and the knowledge that I acted in an honorable manner has done much to mitigate the unpleasant experiences I had and the attacks made on me."
