REPUBLICAN CLUB HOLDS A MEETING

SUB-COMMITTEES IN PRECINCTS TO BE APPOINTED TO HUSTLE DURING THE CAMPAIGN.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Sept. 30.—At last night's meeting of the Lincoln Republican club of Anaconda, the members of the executive committee from each precinct were empowered to appoint three residents of their respective precincts to act on the committee with them in furthering the efforts and helping carry out the plans of the county central committee, once it is organized and in working order.

The central committee will get together and organize this week some time and will commence active campaign operations soon after and then will call the committees appointed from the republican club to assist them to start their work.

During the course of the meeting last evening the club was favored with a detailed account of the doings at the state convention in Great Falls by G. S. E. Wisner, who was present as a delegate. Numerous speeches were made, tending to enthrall the meeting and incite the members of the club to hustle the work for the good of the republican party in the coming campaign. The club rooms have been decorated in a pleasing manner and pictures of several presidents of the United States together with the flag occupy a prominent place on the walls.

LIVELY DEBATE OVER THE CITY FIRE STATION BIDS

D. D. Lyons Is Finally Given Contract Over Lower Offer Made by Chris Roebcke.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Sept. 30.—Eight members of the city council present at the meeting held last night indulged in a lively debate as to who should be awarded the contract for the construction of the city fire station. D. D. Lyons and Chris Roebcke were the two bidders and the former was finally awarded the contract, although his bid was $7 higher than that of Roebcke. A resolution fixing the rate of taxation in sprinkling district No. 1 at 5 cents per foot, which is a cent higher than last year, was passed.

Fire Chief Mentrum announced that he had completed drawings and specifications for the addition to the city. The new addition will be used for a variety of purposes and is expected to fill a long felt want.

THINGS DOING UP IN MINING CAMP

DANIELSVILLE SEEMS TO BE IN FOR A BOOM—MORE MEN BEING PUT TO WORK THERE.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Sept. 30.—Word comes from the mining camp of Danielsville to the effect that things are booming in that vicinity. The new mill is being put up and will soon be in shape to run. Thirty men are working on it at the present time. A large quantity of ore is on the dumps already to be worked, and the starting of the mill will mean a new era of activity for the new camp.

A few miles below Danielsville a large force of men are working on the flume of John S. Cowan which, when completed, will furnish the means of running an immense power plant, from which it is said power will be transmitted to various places in the surrounding country. This enterprise will give employment to a large number of men for many months to come and will materially add to the importance of Danielsville.

JOHN WILLIAM HENRY IS TO BE HELD UNDER BAIL

Witness in Dougal Case Is Said to Have Refrained From Telling the Court the Truth.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Sept. 30.—It was a rather sensational development in the preliminary hearing of Louis Dougal, held yesterday morning by Justice of the Peace Kennedy, when County Attorney Duffy interrupted the proceedings for the purpose of asking that Witness John William Henry be committed to the custody of the sheriff on a charge of perjury in the Dougal case. It is the intention of County Attorney Duffy to prosecute Henry's case in the district court. At the preliminary examination yesterday Henry, who was called as a witness, said that while he had witnessed a portion of the fight between Dougal and Davis, he had not seen the former bite off a portion of Davis' eyebrow or attempt to do so, as he is accused of doing. Other witnesses testified that Henry had said in their hearing that he had to force Dougal's jaws apart with his thumbs in order to keep him from biting Davis' ear off.

The court fixed Henry's bond at $500. CLAUDE S. WILLIAMS IS RAISED BY C. M. & ST. P.

Popular Young Man Is Made Commercial Agent—Knows Business From Top to Bottom.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Sept. 30.—Advices from Salt Lake City confirm the appointment of Claude S. Williams to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of L. L. Downing, the commercial agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. Mr. Williams is a popular young man, not yet having reached his thirtieth year. He has literally learned the railroad business from the bottom up, having started as office boy and filling various positions of authority in the line of promotion. While it is said that his appointment to the important position of commercial agent is but a temporary one it is generally conceded by railroad men that he will ultimately be appointed permanently. Mr. Williams is well known throughout Montana and his friends wish him every success.

PINK PAJAMA GIRLS ARE COMING TO THE MARGARET

Opening Scene in "The Liberty Belles" Is Said to Be Awfully Naughty and Awfully Nice.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Sept. 30.—Thursday night "The Liberty Belles," Henry B. Smith's new musical comedy, will be presented at the Margaret theater by Frank Hennessy's company. The piece is said to be one of the real novelties of the new season in the way of musical comedies, and in fact to be utterly unlike any other musical comedy that was ever constructed. Considerable notoriety attaches to the "pink pajama girl," who makes her appearance in the first act and also the 21 other women who wear night robes in the same act, but the real novelty of the act is of course the scene and not the costumes.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Sept. 30.—In yesterday's condensed report of Rev. Macurdy's last Sunday sermon, some have received the impression that he was criticizing the laboring classes. Such was not the case, however. His sermon dealt with the benefits of Christianity to the laboring people in the past and future. This explanation is made at Rev. Macurdy's request.

COME WHIZZING DOWN WITHOUT WARNING YOU

Those Coasters Are Really a Menace to Life and Limb and Somebody Must Do Things.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Sept. 30.—In the east part of the city the boys are striking terror into the hearts of the good citizens by the reckless manner in which they coast down Spruce street. Their indulgence is dangerous for all pedestrians and already one little girl is suffering from a broken collar bone as the result of a collision with a reckless coaster.

This sort of sport is a violation of the law; but the police seem to take no notice of the infraction, though their attention has been frequently called to the condition. In their desperation the people threaten to take the law in their own hands if something is not done immediately.

DOPE FIEND LETS LOOSE IN BASTILE

GENTLEMAN SUFFERING FROM AN OVERDOSE OF SOMETHING OR OTHER RAISES IT.

SCARES SOL LEVY OUT OF THE GROWTH OF 10 YEARS

Threatens to Blow a Bunch of Policemen Off the Face of the Earth—But When His Hand Comes Out of His Pistol Pocket It Contains Nothing More Harmful Than a Syringe.

Pandemonium reigned for a few minutes in the jailer's office at police headquarters this morning, and but for the prompt arrival on the scene of two policemen serious injury might have been done to Sol Levy.

The trouble was all caused by a wreck of humanity that ordinarily wouldn't harm a grasshopper, and yet when aroused is as dangerous as a carnivorous animal from the African forests.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock that Barney McGillicie sauntered into the jailer's office with James Stanley, a well-known "dope fiend," in custody. Sol Levy was standing in a corner smoking a cigar, while Billy Winn was petting "Jimmy," the pet canine of the police department. "Put a charge of petit larceny opposite this man's name, Sol," said Barney. "I caught him in the act of selling a stolen rug valued at $5."

He Was Loaded. "All right, Barney," said Sol, in his matter-of-fact way. Then turning to Stanley, he said: "It is always customary to search prisoners before locking them up. What have you on your person?"

Then came the fun. "What have I, you ask?" thundered the dope fiend, as he struck a pose a la Hamlet, and reached for his hip pocket. "I have a 44-calibre Colt's revolver, and what's more I shall use it if a single man in this room attempts to move! I also have a dirk, and he who entertains a dread of death by shooting can have his choice between the bullet and cold steel."

The effect of this awful threat was magical. Here, in the midst of the group, stood a frenzied man made wild by the use of drugs. His eyes bulged and were hooded red. With one hand he appeared to be in the act of drawing his gun to deal out wholesale death, and with the other he pointed at Sol Levy, whose hair was slowly rising to an upright position. For an instant no one dared move.

In Breathless Silence. But as the fiend's hand slowly emerged from under his coat-tail and every eye in the room was fixed on an unmistakable gleam of cold steel there was indescribable confusion. Judge Boyle dived headfirst into the telephone closet, Billy Winn made a desperate attempt to crawl into one of the big drawers in Sol Levy's desk, and being unsuccessful in this, was satisfied to hide his head beneath a pile of paper like the African ostrich; Sol Levy made one leap and landed on the sill of the open window that looks out into the alley below, where he perched like a chicken on a roost that has lost its balance. Even "Jimmy," the dog, seemed to realize there was imminent danger, and slunk down stairs to keep company with the city prisoners.

In the Nick of Time. Just what would have followed is hard to guess, but fortunately for Sol Levy, who was in the act of hurling himself to the cruel coldstones below, Policemen Cook and Yutz entered the room at that instant and quickly overpowered Stanley. After peace and order had been restored, Stanley assumed an expression of innocence and voluntarily gave up his weapons, which consisted of—not a terrible revolver—but a small, steel hypermetric syringe, 15 cents in change, some cocaine pills, a half dozen toothpicks and a broken matchbox.

JAIL BREAK DOWN IN DILLON

Jack and Phil O'Brien Saw Their Way Out and Make a Getaway.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Dillon, Sept. 30.—Jack and Bill O'Brien, the men arrested at Silver Bow a few weeks ago for robbing a Dillon barber shop, sawed out of jail at this place yesterday afternoon and made their escape. Henry Boettcheck, city prisoner, serving a short sentence for drunkenness, also escaped. The men had been let out in the corridor to eat dinner and they bent the bars of a window inward and crawled out through the hole. It is evident that the men had help from outside, as the bars show that they were sawed off by some one who stood outside the jail.

O'BRIEN BROTHERS HEADED FOR BUTTE

OFFICIALS THINK DILLON ESCAPES WILL SEEK HIDING PLACE IN THIS CITY.

ACCURATE DESCRIPTION SENT ON TO THE POLICE

Read This and If You See Anybody Who Looks Like He Might Be Either of the Brothers, Let Out a Yell and Barney McGillicie Will Come Around and Haul Them Off to Jail.

Silver Bow county officials are keeping a close watch for two dangerous characters who are supposed to have arrived in the city last night from the south. Jack and Bill O'Brien, two burglars, sawed their way out of the Beaverhead county jail at Dillon last evening and are believed to have come to Butte on a Short Line freight which arrived after midnight. There is good reason to believe that they are in the city and the deputies from the sheriff's office have been instructed to keep an eye out for them during the day.

While they were never permanent residents of the city, they are both well known in Butte and it was a Silver Bow county officer, Dan Quinn, deputy sheriff of Silver Bow Junction, who captured them after their burglary in Dillon.

They are registered on the jail record as brothers, but there is not much similarity between the two men, Jack being of a dark complexion and rather short, while Bill is a pronounced blonde of a light complexion with light hair and a red face.

Description of the Men.

Sheriff Padley of Dillon sent a description of the two men to Sheriff Furey this morning, believing that they had taken the freight out of Dillon for Butte during the night. Jack is described as being about 20 years of age, five feet seven inches tall and wearing a black shirt with white stripes and blue overalls. In the description it is announced that he "talks coarse with a southern brogue" whatever that may be. Probably O'Brien is a "Corkonian." Sheriff Padley also informs Sheriff Furey that O'Brien is a "good singer with a coarse voice," and that he travels with the hobo element.

In the description given of Bill, it appears that he is 25 years old, dressed much as Jack is, but that he laughs and throws his mouth open with a "ha." As he sawed his way out of the Dillon bastille with a 10-cent file it is not improbable that he may have changed the "ha" to a "haha." He certainly has the laugh on Sheriff Padley and his men.

It is believed that the O'Briens have the fortune to have friends out of the prison, as there is evidence that the bars were cut from outside. Emulating the example of their notorious namesake, Tom O'Brien, they have made a successful getaway, however, and the Dillon authorities are mourning their loss.

This is far from being the first jail break from the Dillon prison. Periodically, the Silver Bow authorities are called upon to apprehend some restive boarder who has hit the breeze with the assistance of a corset steel and a piece of clothes line. Meanwhile if you see the O'Brien brothers "let out a holler," as Sheriff Furey says.
