BUTTE WOMEN IN CLUB ASSEMBLED

FIRST MEETING OF THE YEAR HELD IN THE ELKS' HALL—BRAINS AND BEAUTY ATTEND.

PROPOSED NEW CLUBHOUSE CHIEF TOPIC DISCUSSED

Address of the President an Interesting Feature—Money is Needed for the Clubhouse and an Effort Will Be Made to Collect It and Begin Erection in the Immediate Future.

Fashion, beauty and brains are gathered up in Elks' hall, this afternoon, in accord with an invitation from the officers of the Women's club of Butte to help celebrate the opening of the club year.

The affair is an event in the annals of the progressive women of the city, marking the opening of another year's work in what has grown to be the largest club of its kind in Montana. It is an event in which almost every club woman in the city is participating and the comfortable quarters of the men with antlers is crowded with those assembled to give best wishes for a prosperous year and a brilliant future.

The business session began shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon and was concluded with the address of the president, Mrs. W. W. Cheely. In her address the president summarized the remarkable progress made by the club which, she said, now represents the highest ideals of organized effort among club women. A short sketch of the past history of the club was given, and reference was made to the fact that the club was now an organized business body able to transact all necessary business. The president referred to the splendid condition of the club at the beginning of the new year of work and outlined in detail the plans for the future welfare and progress of the organization.

Keep Your Pockets Buttoned!

The principal topic of the social session was the proposed new clubhouse, and it isn't exaggerating in the least to say there were several thousand words spoken anent the subject now dearest to every member.

"We've got money," asserted one of the principal workers in behalf of the new home, "but we want more money—and we're going to get it."

This was the consensus of opinion, and after an hour's discussion of the subject and the consideration of plans for separating wealthy supporters of the project from their rolls adjournment to the luncheon tables was taken.

There were over 100 members and their friends at the hall during the course of the afternoon and the auspicious opening of the club year brought much encouragement to the officers, among whom are the following:

- President, Mrs. W. W. Cheely; first vice president, Mrs. Ignatius Donnelly; second vice president, Mrs. J. R. Russell; recording secretary, Mrs. F. H. Renisch; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. R. Vail; financial secretary, Mrs. S. Buckles; treasurer, Mrs. J. McIntyre; auditor, Mrs. T. J. Jeffries; historian, Mrs. C. C. Rueger; chairman of committees, Mrs. Margaret Cunningham and Mrs. W. B. Hamilton.

SOCIALISM CAN NEVER BE POPULAR WITH AMERICANS

John Maguire Says It is a Foreign Importation, Uncongenial to Our Ideas and Institutions.

"Socialism is a foreign importation and it would never be congenial to America because of its opposition to our ideas of free government and free institutions." This was one of the clinching spikes that John Maguire used in his attempt to build a coffin for the socialistic propaganda at the Grand Opera house last night.

In ringing periods the veteran actor and writer, who has recently turned lecturer, denounced the teachings of Marks and Bellamy before a large and interested audience. A number of Maguire's most attentive listeners were awed followers of the new doctrine and it was plain from their expressions that he made no hit with them.

Mr. Maguire asserted that socialism was directly contrary to all the experiences of history and that any people who would take their chances in this world would have to profit by past experience. He admitted that socialism made nice promises, but from the nature of things, Mr. Maguire felt that these promises could never be realized. He showed how individualism was directly responsible for all of the world's progress and that socialistic leaders were in themselves individualists, in so far as they stood out and preached a new doctrine, whose ultimate hope was socialism.

Mr. Maguire's lecture was convincing and will give him prestige as a scholar and a thinker.

MINERS' BENEFIT AT THE BROADWAY

FOUR BANDS WILL PARADE DOWNTOWN STREETS BEFORE THE MEETING IS HELD.

EXCELLENT PROGRAM FOR THE ENTERTAINMENT

Captain Jack Crawford, in a Monologue, is to Be the Piece de Resistance of the Evening, but a Concert by the Four Bands and Songs by Well Known Local Performers Are Also Promised.

Attired in full scout's regalia, Captain "Jack" Crawford will lead the procession of Butte miners this evening, preparatory to the memorial meeting for the benefit of the suffering Pennsylvania miners at Sutton's Broadway theater. The parade will form at the Miners' Union hall at 7 o'clock and march through the principal streets in the downtown section.

Music will be furnished for the occasion by four bands, the Montana State, under Professor Elijah Stanaway, the Boston and Montana, under Professor Samuel Tealor; the Bates, under Professor Bates; and the Silver City.

The miners and members of the local labor unions, who are co-operating in this benefit, will march to the theater in a body where T. B. O'Brien will preside over the ceremonies.

Those in Charge.

The arrangements for the benefit have been in the hands of the committee consisting of T. B. O'Brien, chairman; Joseph Calloway, Michael McCormick, James Connell, Larry Kerwin, John Murtha, Ed Hughes, William Haggerty and William McGrath and assisted by Messrs. Elliott, Lee, Erler, Godfrey and Jones of the Silver Bow Trades & Labor assembly.

There has been a heavy demand for seats all day and the reservation indicates that the seating capacity will be taxed to its limit. An excellent program has been arranged in addition to Captain "Jack's" number, and a good entertainment is promised to all who attend.

INDORSE HOLLOWAY FOR THE CHIEF JUSTICESHIP

Populists Think Republican Candidate is the Best Man—Labor Party is Also to Indorse Him.

"We have indorsed Judge W. L. Holloway, the republican candidate for associate justice of the supreme court, and we propose to elect him," said Attorney General Donovan, who is in Butte today. "When I say 'we,' I mean the populist party."

"Since 1892 the populist party has named and elected every supreme court judge but two. We nominated and elected W. Y. Pemberton, chief justice. He was also nominated, or indorsed, by the democrats, because they knew that the popular jurist would be elected anyway. Six years later we indorsed the present chief justice, Theodore Brantly, and now we propose to elect Judge Holloway.

"From many populists comes the expression that Judge Holloway is a good, clean, high-minded citizen and an upright, conscientious judge, and that for these reasons he is indorsed.

At the state convention of the populist and labor parties it was agreed that the labor party take the congressman and the populists the associate justice. Committees were then appointed, with full power to act in filling vacancies on the ticket. The labor party nominated Martin Dee of Silver Bow county for congress, and the populists adjourned without making any nomination for associate justice.

Late last night the populist committee met, and after a brief conference, indorsed the republican nominee and the labor committee stood by their agreement and will also place the name of Judge Holloway on their state ticket.

The populists claim that their action means the election of Judge Holloway by an overwhelming majority.

CARPET WAS LOST ON THE WAY OUT TO THE GARDENS

And Now the Owners Are Seeking Nadeau, Who Was to Have Moved Their Goods, for the Price.

In Judge McClerman's court this afternoon there is a jury composed of 12 good and lawful men who are listening to the claims of Daniel Garber and his wife for reimbursement in the sum of $25 for the loss of a carpet. The defendant is J. B. Nadeau, who, the complainants say, was engaged by them to move the household goods from No. 112 Pine street to the vicinity of Columbia Gardens.

It is declared that Nadeau secured another mover, as his teams were busy, and that in transit the carpet was lost.

The case was first tried in the justice courts and taken up on appeal. Busch & Kremer represent the plaintiffs and City Attorney Lamb is for Nadeau.

HAMBURGER WILL OUT EVERY TIME

AT LEAST, THIS IS WHAT THE PROPRIETOR OF "GEM" EATING HOUSE HAS DISCOVERED.

FOR HIS ALLEGED THEFTS HAVE NOW COME TO LIGHT

Slick Game Nels Syers is Said to Have Worked on an Innocent Matron, With the Unnatural Convivance of Her Own Flesh and Blood—Syers is Likely to Be in Bad and Jail Very Soon.

"Obtaining hamburger steak under false pretenses," is rather an unusual charge to put a man behind the bars for, but that is why Nels Syers, who runs a little restaurant, The Gem, near the corner of Park and Wyoming streets, is deprived of his freedom.

Syers is said to have obtained numerous articles under false pretenses, and his mode of procedure constitutes a novel and interesting chapter in criminology. It is not improbable that The Gem will run without Mr. Syers for some months when the officers of the law, as administered in Silver Bow county, get through with him.

Mrs. Maggie Burns, who lives at No. 533 North Franklin street, has a boy, Chester Judd, the son of one of her former husbands. Chester, being a Jew, does not have many conscientious scruples about digging into the Burns treasury, and it was through him that Syers got the hamburger and the trouble that it entails.

A Diabolical Plot.

Mrs. Burns trades at several grocery stores and has never had much trouble in getting all the credit she wanted. This credit, with the cunning of Syers and the connivance of Judd, Jr., put the idea into the mind of the restaurant keeper that he would make Burns pay his bills and give the boy a comfortable commission.

This was how he did it: If you went into The Gem restaurant and ordered hamburger steak, Syers would put on his most complacent smile and retire to the kitchen, where young Judd spent most of his waking hours.

"Thirty cents' worth of hamburger, Chess!" the boniface would yell.

Away on the run to Hennessy's or some other grocery store the boy would scorch.

"My mamma wants 30 cents' worth of hamburger, and she wants it quick!"

The Little Villain!
Back on the run to the restaurant, where Syers was preserving the patience of his patron with tales of Heinz cut hops. Chester would deliver the hamburger, pocket a dime—his share of the steal—and wait for the next customer.

Thus it was that Syers prospered, Mrs. Burns marveled at the magnitude of her grocery bill, and Chester saw every show that came to town.

Hamburger, however, like murder, will out, and the pile of bills on the county attorney's desk shows that the reculations were far-reaching and continued.

This afternoon Assistant County Attorney Lynch had a warrant issued for the arrest of Syers, who, according to the statutes of Montana, is the principal in the crime.

and hisses went up and as it continued, Devery was seen to make his way to the platform. Vainly the chairman rapped for order, vainly the band played.

When he reached the platform steps Devery raised his hands in an effort to stop the pandemonium that reigned. A sergeant-at-arms, with his hand on the big ex-chief's shoulder, tried to force him back to a seat, but he shook him off and started to speak.

He said amid cheers: "Democrats of this convention, Samuel J. Tilden was deprived of his right of franchise as were the people of the United States. We do not want that to occur here today. It was through the work of a clique of this convention that the people of the Ninth district are about to be deprived of a similar right. Mr. Hill, as state leader of the state of New York, we ask justice from you as leader of the democratic party. We do not come here as honest democrats to be deprived of our rights."

As Devery left the platform, not a delegate was in his seat, and the gallery was in a wild state of excitement. A Devery delegate got to the platform and attempted to speak. The chair told him that he could not address the convention. Amidst tremendous uproar he started to speak, but a sergeant-at-arms hustled him down the steps.

Majority Report Sustained.

The majority report was sustained, the counties voting in whole or in part in favor of seating of the Devery delegates being: Queens 7 for, two against; Suffolk 4 for, two against; Wyoming 3 for; Yates 3 for.

All of the other counties voted for the majority report, declaring the seats of the delegates from the Ninth vacant.

When the vote had been announced, Devery left the hall, followed by his delegates and friends.

There was not much trouble or cheering. The committee on permanent organization made its report, naming Martin W. Littleton of Brooklyn for permanent chairman.

Michael Healey Brings Suit Against Sadie Cunningham.

Michael Healey has commenced an action in the district court against Sadie R. Cunningham for the recovery of $600 due on a promissory note executed by the defendant and secured by a mortgage on two lots in the Big Butte addition.

Besides the amount of the note and the interest, amounting to one per cent a month since May, 1901, plaintiff asks for an attorney's fee of $100, to be taken from the proceeds of the sale of the mortgaged property. George M. Bourquin is Healey's attorney.

Associated Charities will hold the regular monthly meeting in the Library building at 2:30 p. m. Important business will be transacted and all members are requested to be present.

SUPREME COURT IS TO DECIDE CASE

plated action of the majority at Helena. On the following morning another convention was organized and delegates selected for the state convention, which met at Helena. The 63 delegates of the Toole, or regular democratic convention, were first seated at the state convention, but later on they did just what it was charged they would do, walked out and took the preliminary steps for the formation of the "Independent Democratic" party.

There were similar controversies before the committee on credentials between contesting delegates from Ravalli and Silver Bow counties, the main point in controversy in each of these counties being the same as in Deer Lodge county. When the Toole delegates had left the convention hall the state democratic convention reconsidered its action in seating the Toole delegation from Deer Lodge county and seated the contesting delegation. The members of the state committee subsequently selected by these delegates so seated from Deer Lodge county were instructed by the convention to call a convention of the supporters of the party principles and candidates of the state convention in the county of Deer Lodge, to select candidates for county officers and to transact such other business as might properly come before the county convention of the democratic party.

Nominated Scharnikow.

In accordance with the custom of all parties in this state the delegates from Deer Lodge and Granite retired from the convention and nominated Edward Scharnikow for judge of the Third judicial district.

The Toole delegates, who had retired from the democratic convention and formed the new party, and the Granite county delegates, who had also retired, met and nominated Welling Napton for judge of the same district.

Thomas S. Hogan, then secretary of state, refused to file the nomination of Edward Scharnikow and original proceedings were commenced in the supreme court to compel him to certify Scharnikow's nomination and place his name on the official ballot.

In a lengthy discussion, Chief Justice Brantly decided that the fact that the state democratic convention seated the Scharnikow delegation and that the nomination of Judge Napton, made by men who had formally left the democratic party, did not matter.

Decision of the Supreme Court.

The decision states: "To what limit courts should go in holding that party disputes should be settled in the judiciary is a question which does not properly arise. The question here, already considered and declared, arises upon the force and meaning of a part of the election law, and involves an inquiry as to whether the requirements of the law have been complied with so as to render the nomination in question a valid one.

"To permit a political convention to determine such a question would be to say that political bodies possess judicial power, and mayoust the courts of jurisdiction in matters which should fall within their cognizance. The statement of this proposition is its own refutation. Nor is any argument needed to support the statement that no action of a state convention can validate a nomination for the office of district judge where the convention making it does not properly represent the electors of the district."

The Gist of It.
The decision is quite lengthy, but the gist of it is that the local organization must be correct and that the action of the state convention in seating or unseating delegates gives the local organization no rights.

It is purely a democratic row and whichever way it is decided cannot help but increase the republican strength in Silver Bow county by thousands of votes.
