

INTER MOUNTAIN'S ANACONDA DEPARTMENT

ASKS HIS DUCKY AS TO HER HAIR

AND IS LANDED UPON BY HUSKY YOUNG LADY AND GOES TO FLOOR FOR COUNT.

ANACONDA YOUTH WHO IS TOO CURIOUS TO BE GOOD

Down in Mountain View He Meets a Butte Girl Who Looks Good to Him and in Due Time is Recognized as Her Steady, but Gets in Bad by Inquiring if Her Hair is False.

Horrid stories now are going. Touching lovely woman's tresses And, ah, me, it's worth the knowing What it is that one caresses. After such like revelation, Think me not fastidious grown If I ask with trepidation, "Darling are those locks your own?"

Anacoda, Oct. 2.—That was the burden of a tender lay that an Anacoda youth addressed to a fair maiden of Butte with whom he was trying to make himself strong. The story is a brief one, or the unfortunate production cut short an engaging romance that promised to wax in interesting.

He Was Very Young.

But the callow youth of Anacoda was young at the game and his good intentions counted for naught. Though the question might be termed a leading one and in the language of the courts be taboed as "immaterial and irrelevant," the youth meant no real harm; yet the Butte beauty could not see it that way. To tell the plain facts in the case, though in rather inelegant language, she landed on him and now the youth has no one to call him "her own."

Down in Mountain View.

The romance in question had its humble beginning at Mountain View park one Sunday afternoon, so the story goes, and it was there that the Anacoda youth fell a victim to the former cow county belle. During the summer months, while the temperature was ever on the upward run, the passion of the youth grew hotter and hotter. He declared his intentions recently and promised the maid unending happiness, set to the tune of "three squares" a day and the privilege of monopolizing his spare moments.

In the meantime his friends joshed him considerably and insinuated that the girl was not whole in her own right; but that some of her was not really her own. For a long time his true love would have fought to do with such horrid insinuations; yet being a careful youth, he did not want to be disillusioned after the happy day and so he sprung the verified interrogatory given above when he called on her yesterday afternoon to receive her final answer, whether she would or no.

They Have a Way With Them.

It is well known that Butte beauties have a way with them and so this lassie made short work of the inquisitive boy from over the hills. She did not even give him the satisfaction of an answer, but today he is wearing the badge of his battle royal, which must needs be explained to all of his friends. He tells them that he was trying to stop a runaway, which, though not near so bad as dodging a whirlwind, serves for all practical purposes.

The Anacoda youth is a well-known young fellow and his name is not revealed for the reason that his humiliation has already been sufficient. Though people on the West Side in Butte who have seen his constant attentions will know who he meant when they no longer see him call regularly.

Both are among the first rank players of Italy.

MOTHER CRAZED BY HER RUNAWAY BOY

BOISSEVAIN, MANITOBA, LAD HAS COME DOWN TO BUTTE OR TO ANACONDA.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Anacoda, Oct. 2.—Chief of Police Taylor has received a communication from A. S. Barton, editor of the Recorder, published in Boissevain, Manitoba, asking him to be on the lookout for Herbert Arthur Young, a 14-year-old lad who ran away from home the latter part of July and who is thought to be in some Montana city, probably Anacoda or Butte. The young fellow is described as being tall for his age, of fair complexion with blue eyes, and with his right arm slightly crooked and smaller than his left, resulting from a fracture. His father is Constable Joseph Young of Boissevain. The communication states that his mother is ill and well nigh crazed with grief at her son's absence from home.

CANINES WITHOUT TAGS ARE SCARCE

EVERYBODY WHO OWNS A DOG IS GETTING GOOD AND BUYING A LICENSE FOR HIM.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Anacoda, Oct. 2.—It would seem that some of the steps taken by the council and city officials relative to the former superabundance of dogs within the city limits of Anacoda have been most effectual. Not that dogs are scarce. There are plenty of them. But they have all assumed an air of respectability and wear tags. There are not so many of them who apparently have no owners as there used to be.

The treasury of the city shows a corresponding wave of prosperity, and the supply of ammunition at the city hall has had to be replenished. The dog-catcher and his troubles are no longer of interest to the public. In fact, the present condition of affairs makes the office of dog-catcher one to be sought after, and it is said that there are a great many applicants for the position.

"THE LIBERTY BELLES" ARE TO APPEAR TONIGHT

You Don't Want to Miss This Show, as Every One of the Girls is Said to Be a Real Stunner.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Anacoda, Oct. 2.—"Liberty Belles," Harry B. Smith's musical comedy, will be on the boards at the Margaret theater tonight. The cast includes many entertainers noted for their ability as "specialty performers." Many novel numbers will be introduced, it is said.

The plot of the merry little piece concerns a revolt at a young ladies' seminary caused by two stage-struck young women. A cooking school is established to furnish them a means of livelihood, after which they leave the seminary and later, when the two love stories in the plot are worked out, a honeymoon trip to Florida includes everybody concerned in the trouble.

To interpret the piece there has been especially engaged Nevada Heffron, Gertrude Millington, Maybelle Adams, Rita Knight, Marie Toohy, Violette Villers, Clara Isham, Ella Dunbar, Clara Brown Marion, Harry Stuart, Percy Leach, Harry Lyons, Kek Schilling, Joseph Marlowe, Vivian Austin, and others. "The Liberty Belles" bears the distinction of being the only musical comedy organization on the road this season without a chorus. In the generally accepted meaning of the word each of the young women in the cast have lines to speak and songs to sing.

READY TO BEGIN A STRONG CAMPAIGN

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE WILL SET THE BALL TO ROLLING.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Anacoda, Oct. 2.—The republican county central committee meets today for the purposes of organization, and to make arrangements for the vigorous carrying on of the campaign in this city and in Deer Lodge county.

The Lincoln Republican club has already taken steps to assist in the campaign work. At its last meeting the various members of the executive committee were empowered to select three assistants each to push things in their respective precincts under the instructions of the central committee. As to who will be selected chairman of the central committee, nothing can be said as yet, for the members have not decided who they would prefer to occupy that office. They are unanimous in wanting a vigorous campaigner and a man who can devote more or less time to the matter during the next month.

After the organization today the headquarters will be open until after the election in all probability. The Lincoln club has offered the committee the use of their room and while it has not been formally accepted, it is understood that the committee will make their headquarters there after today.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS BREAK RECORD FOR ATTENDANCE

Never Before Have So Many Pupils Been Enrolled — Basketball Team Among the Girls.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Anacoda, Oct. 2.—Anacoda public schools promise to have a larger attendance this year than at any time in their history. At present over 1,600 pupils are enrolled, a larger number than in any previous year at the opening of the season.

The teachers have things running smoothly and there is little probability that there will be any change in the force of instructors during the school year.

Something like 90 students are enrolled in the high school, composed for the most part of young ladies. The graduating class will number about 12. The school now has a fine laboratory and increased facilities for the proper study of all branches of science.

Athletics will come in for their share of attention, and although there is not sufficient material to organize a school football team, the girls have undertaken to form a basketball team that gives promise of being the equal of any in the state.

HEARST FREE LIBRARY IS GROWING IN POPULARITY

Employment of an Assistant Found Necessary, Owing to Increase in Demand for Books.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Anacoda, Oct. 2.—It is more than evident that the Hearst Free Library is daily growing in popularity in this city. Miss Thompson, the librarian, has everything in smooth running order and anticipates a busy season. Owing to the increased demand for books it will be necessary to hire an assistant.

The report for the month of September shows that 2,500 books were taken out of the library, of which number, 2,118 was fiction, the remainder being pretty evenly divided among the sciences and arts. The attendance at the reference department was 1,413, and the number of cards issued up to date has been 8,160.

WORK ON THE CITY HALL

Will Be Pushed Forward to Completion as Rapidly as Possible.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Anacoda, Oct. 2.—D. D. Lyons, who was awarded the contract for building the addition to the city hall by the city council at its meeting Monday night, yesterday signed the papers for the work, to be commenced next Monday and will be pushed to rapid completion.

Mr. Lyons' bid was $7 higher than that of John Roebecke, but the council awarded him the contract by a vote of 5 to 3.

THREE TIMES THE AMOUNT

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Anacoda, Oct. 2.—After a most successful season at his three mining properties, the First Chance, the Phoenix and the French Gulch Dredging company's property, Mr. W. R. Allen is preparing for the fall clean-up, which will be about three times the amount of last year's labor.

Mr. Allen is interested in each of the properties mentioned and will spend most of his time superintending the work until the middle of next month.

PROPERTY IS ON THE BOOM

Anacoda Man Sells Piece for Almost Twice What He Paid for It.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Anacoda, Oct. 2.—That Anacoda property has increased materially in value during the past few years was demonstrated by the sale of the piece of real estate at the corner of Third and Chestnut street, belonging to John Barkovich, to Joseph Brenner for $5,500.

In 1890 Mr. Barkovich bought the same property for $1,700. The lot is 50 by 141 feet and upon it are four good dwellings and a saloon, which have been in constant occupancy since the time of purchase.

"So," said the author's friend, "you built this house with your own hands?" "Yes." "Well, well, well. It's simply wonderful. You ought to have been a carpenter."—Chicago Record-Herald.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.]

Anacoda, Oct. 2.—Owing to the fact that there is no rabbi stationed in this city the Jewish New Year was not publicly celebrated yesterday.

The Jewish families observed the day in their own homes, however. The 10 days' fast ends with the feast of Yom Kippur, which is second in importance only to the New Year.

OPERATORS PLAN TO SUPPLY COAL

ENOUGH FOR USE IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK IS TO BE GOTTEN BY STRENUOUS EFFORT.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Oct. 2.—A plan is said to have been outlined at the meeting of coal road presidents, just held in this city, for the supply of coal, first to the dwellers in the tenement districts; second, to the hospitals, and third, to the transportation companies.

Robert W. DeForest, who is a tenement house commissioner, president of the charity society and general counsel of the Central Railway of New Jersey, represented to the officials the tenement dwellers crying need of fuel in cold weather, and there was not one of the dozen present who did not agree that something must be done.

The plan proposed was in effect, that the companies should unite in forwarding to the city enough coal to serve the desired purpose. Then the sales agents were to have their men, horses and carts ready, and for each cart a route through the lowest sections of the city would be mapped out.

The coal will be sold by the pail or the basket, or at a rate proportionate to the wholesale prices to which the cost of freightage has been added. This will insure to the purchaser who now pays 25 cents for a pail of coal, or 75 cents for a bushel, good coal at a less cost than he had to pay even before the strike began and when coal was at its normal price.

With these wants filled the diminishing bins of the various hospitals will be replenished and the street railways will be supplied.

IOWA REPUBLICANS SEE NOTHING SACRED IN IT

Prominent Politician Says Tariff Will Be Adjusted Whenever Conditions Seem to Demand Changes.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Clarion, Iowa, Oct. 2.—Judge J. P. Birdsell in accepting the republican nomination for congress in the Third district to succeed Speaker Henderson, in his letter of acceptance, made public yesterday, says of the tariff and monopolies:

"The republican party of Iowa does not propose to abate one jot or tittle of its faith in its essential principles or policies of protection. It does believe the question of rates is a practicable one, to be determined and governed by the conditions of time and protection, and that nothing sacred attaches to a mere table of rates, which should be readjusted to meet changed conditions, just as they arise in the industrial progress of the country."

"That monopolies in the form of combinations of capital to control production and prices exist in this country is an admitted fact."

"The republican party of Iowa believes in the greatest good to the greatest number, and will not permit the policy of protection to become a shield for the greed and avarice of man."

"The Iowa republicans propose to destroy such monopoly by applying the principles of reciprocity and by so readjusting the tariff as to force such combines into competition with the world's markets. Whenever revision or readjustment may be made by the republican party it will be made on the lines of protection to American labor."

BUTTE NEWS

WILLIE WINSUM WINSOME INDEED

NAIVE WAY IN WHICH HE ASSEVERATES HE DID NOT SMASH THE HOLY COMMANDMENTS.

FACES HIS HONOR FOR HYPOTHECATING A PAIL

Willie Wilts and Turns Pale at Mention of the Pail and Is Sent for Stealing the Bucket to the Company of Buckets, the Tout, to Whom He Can Toot His Tale to His Heart's Content.

They found him in a big cafe With a missing dinner basket; He swore he didn't steal the pail, But said: "Judge Bile, I tuk it."

There was a large crowd present in police court this morning at 10 o'clock to hear the first act in the morning comedy. The first star before the footlights was Willie Winsum, a darktown product of the genus homo, who looked half scared to death when Clerk Winn called his name.

"Willie Winsum, or I might say Winsome Willie, you are charged in the complaint with petit larceny," said Judge Boyle in the sternest voice at his command. "What have you to say why sentence should not be passed upon you according to law?"

Then Willie Wilted.

At first Willie wilted. Had nature supplied him with a shell like a turtle, it's a cinch he would have crawled in, but not having such a place of retreat, he was forced to stand before the bar of justice and roll his white eyes like marbles in a snuity surface.

"De fac' ob de matter is I use 'cused ob stealin', but I nebber steeled nuttin' in mer whole life, Judge Bile," said the diminutive prisoner with a blush of indignation mantling his countenance.

"Well, what have you to say in contradiction to Policeman Yutz's accusation?" asked Judge Boyle. "He tells me that he caught you in the act of leaving Rippe's cafe on West Broadway and that you had a dinner pail hidden beneath your coat. Now Willie, some folks say that a nigger won't steal, but if that isn't stealing, I don't know."

"I nebber steeled nuttin'," declared the prisoner. "Look out, Willie," said Judge Boyle, "or you'll perjure yourself. You admit coming out of the cafe with the bucket and yet you say you didn't steal."

It Is Like a Sieve.

"Yassah, an' I takes dis hopenerty ter swar dat I nebber steeled. I'd swar on er stack o' bibles ez high ez er tree dat I nebber steeled nuttin' Judge Bile."

"Well, what do you call it?" asked the judge.

"Calls what? de ole bucket what belonged ter de pooh white trash?"

"That's what I mean."

"Judge Bile, 'fore Gased I nebber steeled dat bucket, I jes tuk hit."

"The bucket might have held water, Willie," said Judge Boyle, "but your story will not. You may well turn pale, for stealing a pail is no joke with this court. You stole a circular piece of tin and I'll give you the chance of digging up some circular tin to pay a fine of $5. Otherwise you'll be sent to the city jail where Sol Levy will not allow you to see a bucket unless you wish to talk with Buckets, the tout."

Willie went to jail.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Oct. 2.—Postmaster General Payne has addressed letters to the postmasters of the country regarding the prohibition put by the department on the political activity on the part of employees. The letter says:

"Postmasters or others having unclassified positions are merely prohibited from using their offices to control movements, from neglecting their duties or from causing public scandal by political activity."

"A person in the classified service has an entire right to vote as he pleases and to express privately his opinions on political subjects, but he should take no active part in political management or political campaigns."
