

INTER MOUNTAIN'S ANACONDA DEPARTMENT

JOSEPH M. DIXON WARMLY GREETED

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESSMAN ADDRESSES COURSE OF CITIZENS.

RINGING STATEMENTS ON THE COMING CAMPAIGN

Labor Vote, Which Went Largely for Democracy Two Years Ago, Is Going to Swing to the G. O. P. This Year, for the Toilers Have Had Their Eyes Opened on Many Important Matters.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Oct. 8.—The Margaret theater was well filled last night by residents of Anaconda, the occasion being an address by Hon. Joseph M. Dixon of Missoula, the republican candidate for congress.

Early in the evening the Anaconda band, which had been secured, paraded through the principal streets, and when they brought up in the vicinity of the opera house they were followed by an immense throng. From the republican headquarters on Main street, Mr. Dixon, escorted by a large number of fellow republicans, went to the Margaret. About 60 seats on the stage were occupied by members of the Lincoln Republican club, among them many of the most prominent republicans in Deer Lodge county.

H. F. Ehret as Chairman. H. F. Ehret acted as chairman of the meeting and with a neat address introduced to the audience Mr. G. S. E. Wisner, who spoke for 15 minutes in a most acceptable manner. Mr. Wisner was followed by Mr. William H. McEachran, after which Mr. Ehret, as chairman, introduced Mr. Dixon as the principal speaker of the evening.

In opening his address Mr. Dixon paid a very pretty compliment to the Lincoln Republican club of Anaconda, the work of which is known in all parts of the state. Continuing, Mr. Dixon said: "At the present time there are a great many reasons why the state of Montana should be represented in the lower house by a republican. The national administration is republican, and undoubtedly will be for the next six years, for I do not think that any power on earth can prevent Theodore Roosevelt from being the next president of the United States. (Applause.)

"In the United States Senate Montana is represented by two democrats. No matter how anxious and able they may, it is impossible for them to accomplish the ends which an ordinary man would attain if of the same political party as the administration."

Benefits From Irrigation. Mr. Dixon alluded to the national irrigation scheme with which President Roosevelt and the republican party are wholly in sympathy. He stated that the completion of this scheme for the reclamation of the arid lands of the West means 100,000 more homes east of the mountains in Montana alone, and that, in the next 15 years, would mean an additional population of more than 1,000,000 souls in this state. These statements were heartily applauded. The results of the last national democratic administration, Mr. Dixon stated, are not yet effaced, and those years of misrule and mistakes will long remain vivid in the minds of the citizens of the United States. "Just now," said he, "I do not believe there is a man in the state of Montana, unless he be a cripple or for some other reason unable to work, who cannot secure employment at better wages than was ever paid before."

In heated terms Mr. Dixon spoke of the manner in which the multi-millionaire democratic leaders have dragged the fair name of the state of Montana in the mire, and concluded with the statement that it is now up to the republican party to redeem it. He said this was the general feeling throughout the state and for that reason the ranks of the republicans will be greatly reinforced this fall by men who have formerly voted the democratic ticket.

Two Years Ago. "Two years ago," said Mr. Dixon, "the democrats held out inducements to the laboring man of the state, and the worst of it was that the laboring man believed them. Their eyes are opened this year, however. Notwithstanding the fact that every republican member of the last legislative assembly voted in favor of the eight-hour law and the company store bill, the democrats are trying to make the laboring classes believe that the republicans would repeal the eight-hour law. It is a vain hope. The republican platform indorses the law and pledges the representatives of the party to its support."

In closing Mr. Dixon said: "I believe that Missoula county will, this fall, give the republican party 400 majority. I am told that the Bitter Root valley and Ravalli county will go the same way by a majority of 250. There must be something working. I believe that the citizens of Montana intend to put an end to the hellish condition of affairs that have existed in this state for the past 10 years."

ALEC BURNETT WILL MAKE IDEAL SHERIFF

ALEX BURNETT,

Who is the Nominee on the Republican Ticket and is to be the Next Sheriff of Deer Lodge County.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Oct. 8.—Alice Burnett, the republican candidate for sheriff in Deer Lodge county, is one of the men who by years of permanent residence in and around the Deer Lodge valley have made many friends that are not the friends of a day.

Twenty-two years in Montana, nine of them spent as a cowboy on the range, have given him an experience and an adaptability for the office of sheriff that is invaluable. Alec has never been a bitter partisan, just a plain citizen whose honesty and determination have won him confidence and esteem.

Coming to Anaconda 13 years ago, when the city was still in its swaddling clothes, he has seen the growth of the community, has been a part of it and has become thoroughly familiar with the conditions which exist in this section of the country. Kindly, good-natured, yet strong and fearless, he has been one of the citizens that the county is proud of. Irrespective of party the electors of Deer Lodge county will support him during the coming campaign.

Anaconda people and the residents of the valley generally have become weary of the way in which certain cliques have been attempting to control the democratic party and playing hog with most of the offices. This year marks an era in the history of republicanism in Deer Lodge county. Already many of the leaders of the enemy are beginning to desert the old ship. She has become too rotten for many of them and the result is apparent. The conservative voters of the county are flocking to the republican banner, which will be so ably carried to victory by public spirited citizens of the type of Alec Burnett.

Mr. Burnett is at present the proprietor of an East Park avenue restaurant. He was for many years in the butcher business in this county, previous to which he rode the range in Madison and Beaverhead counties, coming to Montana a lad of 16 some 22 years ago.

His election is confidently expected by his many friends. Workingmen and business men alike join in helping him to roll up a vote that will show summarily the type of men the people of Deer Lodge county want in office for the next two years.

MASS MEETING FOR THE PENNSYLVANIA STRIKERS

Plans Under Consideration by Central Trades Council to Raise Funds for the Strikers.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Oct. 8.—It has been decided by the committee appointed Monday by the Central Trades Council of Anaconda, to hold a mass meeting at Turner hall tomorrow evening, for the benefit of the striking anthracite miners in the East. Addresses will be delivered by some of the most prominent speakers in Anaconda, including the nominees for the office of county attorney, John R. Boarsman, Hiram Rodgers and Joseph McCaffery, as well as Judge W. H. Trippet and J. H. Durston.

The interest manifested in the various moves being made by the labor unions for the benefit of their Eastern brothers, is constantly increasing and it is expected that a large sum will be realized from the dance to be given in Turner hall October 14.

Another idea for raising funds that has been given some attention and which may be laid before the Trades Council at its next meeting is the placing of contribution boxes in public places in order that the residents of the city may give what they please at any time.

THIS COYOTE WAS AS BIG AS THAT FAMOUS GRIZZLY

Big Hole Party Return With Scavenger Shot Down Where His Bearship is Holding Sway.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Oct. 8.—Charles Branscombe and party, who have been camping in the Big Hole region, returned yesterday with the largest coyote ever known to have been killed in this section. The animal was killed at the Mill Creek divide and was alone. The strange part of the occurrence is that the coyote was wandering about at this season of the year, as it is seldom they venture forth until the snow is on the ground.

Mr. Branscombe's party included Hiram McNeill, Joseph Roy and Leon E. Williams. They report good hunting and fishing in the Big Hole valley.

PIONEERS ASSEMBLE TO RECALL THE OLD TIMES

From Deer Lodge, Powell, Silver Bow and Granite They Gather in Anaconda.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Oct. 8.—Once again the Montana pioneers are assembled in annual meeting, and old-time residents of Deer Lodge, Silver Bow, Powell and Granite counties enjoy relating interesting incidents of the days when they paved the way to a higher civilization in the state.

The meeting yesterday in Friendship hall on Commercial avenue marked the third annual session of the Deer Lodge Pioneer association, but there were a number of residents from all parts of the state present, including the wives and daughters of a goodly portion.

The association was formed three years ago and now has a membership of about 150. It is the main division of the state organization which held its annual session recently at Dillon. The next meeting will be held in Deer Lodge.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: R. Cohen, Sr., president; Thomas Elliott, vice president; George Miller, secretary, and William Coleman, treasurer.

Mr. Cohen, in accepting the office, responded with a brief but appropriate speech.

GALLANT DRUMMERS SAVE AGED LADY FROM INJURY

But for Timely Interposition of Two Traveling Men, She Might Have Been Very Badly Hurt.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Anaconda, Oct. 8.—Those who saw the little incident on Main street yesterday will recognize in the person of the two "gallant drummers," who, by their presence of mind, prevented what might have been a serious accident happening to an old lady whose horse became unruly, Joe Thomas and Douglas Lawson.

The trouble occurred in front of the postoffice as the lady was endeavoring to turn around. Thomas stepped out of Roach & Smith's and grasped the horse by the bridle and Lawson, coming along on his bicycle, dropped off and lifted the rear part of the buggy from its cramped position. Thomas then went back to his cigar case and Lawson mounted his wheel and hiked out for the foundry.

For the Like of "Florodora" Was Never Seen on the American Stage, So the Advance Man Says.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Oct. 8.—The world's stage has never known a success to equal that which has been accorded "Florodora," the now famous musical comedy holding the longest continuous record in the metropolis, and the distinction of having broken more box office standards throughout the country last season than any other attraction traveling. "Florodora" is by Owen Hall and Leslie Stuart, and was first presented in London, England, where it ran for more than two years.

It was then brought to this country by Messrs. John C. Fisher and Thomas W. Ryley, and was produced on the stage of the Hyperion theater, New Haven, Conn., for two nights and a matinee, before being brought to New York City, where at the Casino and New York theaters, it ran continuously for more than a year and a half, without interruption—in all 535 performances.

Work is to be Commenced on Plans by Architect T. W. Everett.

[SPECIAL TO INTER MOUNTAIN.] Anaconda, Oct. 8.—Work will soon be commenced on the addition to the St. Peter's Catholic church. The increase in the size of the congregation attending the services at the church has made such a move necessary.

The plans have been drawn up by Architect Frank W. Everett of Butte. The bids for the work may be submitted up to October 15, immediately after which the award will be made and the work pushed to rapid completion.

It is interesting to note that this is an increase of almost 100 per cent over the sprinkling district last year.

BUTTE NEWS.

FIRE CHIEF STIRS UP HORNET'S NEST

INNOCENT REMARK BY SANGER SET OTHER CITIES TO SAYING THINGS ABOUT US.

Fire Chief Peter Sanger is sore and the cause of his chafed feelings are two articles that appeared in the morning papers.

A recent issue of the Inter Mountain contained the statement that the delegates from Butte to the state convention of firemen in Billings would make an effort to have the next annual convention meet in Butte. Chief Sanger was quoted as saying that Butte would be an excellent place for such a convention as it is the largest city in the state and the fire department here is naturally the best equipped.

And now comes Fire Chief Mentrum of Anaconda and takes exception to what Butte's fire chief had to say. "I feel myself called on to refute Chief Sanger's statements," the Anaconda chief is quoted as saying in the morning papers. Then the chief from the Deer Lodge metropolis goes ahead to show that Butte is not what it's cracked up to be and that the fire department here could be shown a few tricks by the Anaconda department.

"I didn't mean to stir up a hornet's nest," said Chief Sanger this afternoon. "I said that Butte is the best place in the state for a convention of state firemen, and if we get the convention to come here, I can make my statement good. Of course, that is not saying that there are no other good cities in Montana, but Butte, by reason of its size, would be the best place for the holding of a convention."

The menu cards were very elaborate and underscored British and American flags bore portraits of Mr. Duke and of Sir William Henry Willson, chairman of the Imperial Tobacco company.

ROOSEVELT IS ABLE TO GET OUT AND SEE THE GRAND ARMY MEN ON PARADE.

VETERANS CHEER AS THEY PASS PRESIDENT'S STAND

Continuous Cheering From Citizens and Old Soldiers as Roosevelt's Carriage Passes Through Crowds Mad With Excitement and Enthusiasm—Doings in Washington Convention Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Oct. 8.—President Roosevelt today reviewed the Grand Army parade in his carriage. He was carried down stairs from his room on the second floor of the temporary White House in an invalid chair and amid the cheers of a large crowd was placed in his carriage, in which there was a board to support his injured leg. He was accompanied by Secretary Cortelyou and Colonel Bingham, his military aide.

His carriage was guarded by a platoon of mounted police under command of Major Sylvester, superintendent of police. As the carriage appeared on the avenue, the president was greeted with loud cheers. The president stopped at the reviewing stand for a moment until the marshals of the parade and Rawlins post of Minneapolis, the right of the line, had passed and then drove down the avenue to the Peace monument at the foot of the capitol. The veterans faced the carriage as the president drove up and saluted him. There was continuous cheering of the crowds as the president drove along.

The Vets on Parade. The remnants of the magnificent armies of Grant, Sherman, Thomas, Slocum and Sheridan, which participated in the grand review at the close of the civil war, again today passed up the historic Pennsylvania avenue. The 10 years that have passed since the former review of the Grand Army here in 1896 have sadly decimated the ranks of the old heroes. Most of the prominent figures in the parade on that memorable occasion, including General Benjamin F. Butler, who rode in a carriage, being even then too feeble to walk; ex-President Hayes, who marched on foot with his old comrades; General Rosecrans; ex-Governor Powell, the loyal governor of the "Mountain State" and "Uncle Jerry" Rusk, have gone to their last bivouac.

But those who still remained trudged valiantly today to the sound of drum and fife. Proudly aloft they held their tattered battle flags and the vast multitude through which they passed greeted them with cheers that fairly drowned the blare of the bands.

It was an ideal autumn day and swarming crowds were abroad early, lining the sidewalks and overflowing the grandstands along the line of march. Windows, roofs and every nook of vantage from which the parade could be seen were black with people.

The procession moved in the order prescribed by Chief Marshal General A. Noel Blakeman. It was preceded by mounted police and this was followed in turn by a drum corps composed of survivors of the civil war musicians. Then came a mounted escort of citizens of Washington among whom rode General Blakeman. He was accompanied by his aides, riding in files of eight front, and these were followed by the marine band. General E. W. Torrence, commander-in-chief, occupied a carriage.

He was preceded by his personal escort, consisting of John A. Rawlins Post of the department of Minnesota, and accompanied by his personal staff and the executive committee of the Grand Army, immediately followed by the escort of the Grand Army, consisting of the first regiment of Sons of Veterans and a reserve of the Pennsylvania division, and then came the various organizations of the Grand Army itself, led by the department of Illinois, with Commander H. M. Trimble in command.

Among the departments in line were the following: California and Nevada, Commander W. G. Hawley; Colorado and Wyoming, Commander W. J. Huff; Oregon, Commander M. L. Pratt; Washington and Alaska, Commander B. C. Bedell; Utah, Commander W. M. Bostaph; Montana, Commander A. N. Bull; Idaho, Commander George M. Parsons; Arizona, Commander C. F. Schumacher.
