

SAMPSON-SCHLEY CONTROVERSY

Echo of Differences Between Admirals in Case Now Before the United States Supreme Court—Old Question as to Whether or Not Schley Had Anything to Do With It.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Oct. 28.—There was a brief reminder of the Sampson-Schley controversy in the supreme court of the United States yesterday when the case of the

THE LATE ADMIRAL SAMPSON.

United States versus W. T. Sampson, rear admiral, et al., was called for argument.

It involves the distribution of prize money, because of the capture of the Spanish cruiser Infanta Maria Theresa in the battle off Santiago.

Chief Justice Fuller suggested the necessity of substituting some other name for that of Admiral Sampson in view of the admiral's death. Attorney General Hoyt, for the government, responded that the parties to the controversy had supposed that the court might make the suggestion later in the case and that for the present the argument could continue under present title.

Chief Justice Fuller manifested a disposition to demur to this suggestion, urging that the name of some other officer could be used—"that of," he said, "Admiral Schley or some one else."

The name of Admiral Schley did not appear to meet the approval of the attorneys present representing the naval officers, one of them, James H. Hayden, responding that there would be some difficulty in making a substitution.

"If," he said, "there is to be a substitution, there remains but one man who was an officer of the fleet and that is Captain Chadwick, who was Admiral Sampson's chief of staff. Admiral Schley's duties were limited to the command of a division of the fleet."

"I had thought it possible," responded the chief justice, "that it might be a question of rank or title."

To this suggestion Mr. Hayden responded: "If Admiral Sampson had not been present and in command there, Admiral Schley would have been in command of the fleet, but as he was present and in command—" the sentence was not completed. Justice Harlan interrupted: "Present where?"

The chief justice seemed quite interested in the turn the case had taken. His hands were raised, as was his voice, slightly when he asked: "Is that point involved in this case?"

He was assured that it was not, and the counsel took the subject of naming a new litigant under advisement.

UNION MEN WILL BE ELIGIBLE

THIS ORGANIZATION OF CHICAGO GIRLS WILL MARRY NO MAN WITHOUT PAPERS.

UNIQUE MOVEMENT MEETS WITH UNEXPECTED SUCCESS

But it is Not All Nonsense and the Girls Will Effect Real Good, to Themselves and Others, if Their Plans Are Carried Out, and Get Substantial Union Men for Husbands, to Boot!

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Oct. 28.—The Windy City, which always takes the lead in freaks of all kinds, has sprung a new sensation that will startle the old planet to its very foundations.

The realm of romance has been invaded and now love will have to carry a union card if it intends to be recognized among the wage-earning maids of this city. Three young women have organized a club which now numbers 100 members. They are all working women, and any man who wants to lead one of them to the altar will have to show his card before his eligibility is recognized.

When the purposes of the order were first announced, Nellie Mahoney, Mammie Dillon and Kittie Hall, the promoters, and the few others who had the courage to unite with them, were laughed at and even jeered. The idea of mixing up love and unionism seemed too funny; in fact, the whole matter was treated as a joke by the working girls of Chicago.

They Are All Right. Now it is apparent that the three young women build better than they knew, for there are no three girls in the country who have as many offers of marriage from substantial workmen.

The trio speaks of the stacks of love letters and photographs they have received as "silly," which treatment of the situation serves to make more acute the envy of the girls who thought the movement a joke.

The loyalty of Miss Mahoney and her associates to the cause of union labor, by which they announced, two weeks ago, that thereafter they would have nothing to do with young men who did not carry union cards in their pockets, has had its reward, and they are the leaders of a cult that bids fair to grow to permanency and great proportions.

Every Girl Wants to Join. There is at this time a tremendous demand for membership in the Union League club. A small army of girls was initiated at the first meeting of the club last week, and twice as many have applied to come into the fold this week.

The girls are anxious to impress upon all they meet that the pledge which all members must take not to associate with non-union men is only incidental to the work of their new organization. They expect to accomplish great things by it, and are already discussing one plan for making their organization popular.

It is their intention to establish their headquarters in a furnished flat, which of course must have been built by union men and contain nothing but union-made furniture. In this flat members of the organization who are out of work or sick will be cared for by other members. At the same time the flat will be utilized as the meeting place of the club and the place where all business of the organization will be transacted.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Oct. 28.—The Herald prints a dispatch from Trenton, N. J., in which the former President Cleveland is quoted as saying: "I feel very much interested in my party this year, but do not want to take an active and prominent part in the struggle. I consented with reluctance to make a speech at Morristown next week, because circumstances were represented to me as being exceptional and it was thought I could do some good, but the fact that I consented has gone out and has brought down on me an avalanche of applications for me to make speeches or to write letters or otherwise get into the fight. This I cannot do. There are other democrats who are coming forward and I am quite content to stay in retirement and enjoy the repose of home life."

SOUTHERN CHINA SEEMS VERY HARD PROPOSITION

According to This Missionary, Chances for Christianizing the Natives Are Exceedingly Slim.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 28.—It will take a hundred years or more of hard work and the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars to civilize Southern China.

This statement is made by Henry W. Huntzell, a Methodist Episcopal missionary sent out by the Chicago mission two years ago to the Shooing station in China. He is now on his way back to Chicago on account of ill health.

"In Southern China murder is as frequent as are meals and it is called custom instead of crime. Natives have little or no moral laws. There is a marriage law, but it is only for the protection of male inhabitants. A southern Chinese woman once married to a man can never desert him. A man can have as many wives as he likes.

"Slave traffic is rampant in all parts of the southern provinces. Fathers dispose of their daughters and wives in the same manner as in this country we dispose of live stock. Notwithstanding conditions, within three years since our mission was opened we have made 260 converts. We have established two schools and our meetings are well attended."

CATCH UP RIFLES AND LET 'ER RIP!

PROPRIETOR OF A SHOOTING GALLERY IS VISITED BY A BUNCH WHO WANT TO DO HIM UP.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Oct. 28.—Two men shot through the legs are in Bellevue hospital, and one man is locked up, as the result of a fusillade of bullets fired in a shooting gallery in a basement in Ninety-eighth street and Third avenue. The prisoner sought the protection of a policeman after he had been chased up Third avenue and up Fourteenth street by a crowd who were shouting, "Tracey, the outlaw, kill him."

With a rifle over his shoulder, his face cut and bloody, his collar ripped off and his shirt torn, the man, when captured, said he was David Wemmer, proprietor of the shooting gallery, and declared he had shot no one.

One of the injured men, William Saunders, was passing the gallery when the bullets began to fly into the streets. Louis Ressler, the second wounded man, Wemmer declared, was the cause of the trouble. The shooting gallery man explained to the police that he had quarreled with his wife recently and that she had left home. In his search for her he inquired at the home of one of his acquaintances.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Oct. 28.—This week will probably see the end of the International Coffee commission's sessions here. A report of the committee on production has been adopted unanimously. The report of the committee on distribution was submitted. It proposes the imposition of heavy penalties for those who are detected changing the brands on coffee bags; inducing the various governments to extend the use of coffee and to open new markets; obtain the abolition of domestic duties on coffee and permitting the sale of coffee at auction when advisable in markets where this is not practiced. As purely domestic features of these recommendations, it was suggested, first, to develop transportation facilities so as to increase international commerce in coffee; second, to adopt better means of protection for coffee in bad condition; third, to establish regulations for the classifications and indelible marking of each bag of coffee with the name of the country where it is produced.

Comment in the lobbies on Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's voyage to South Africa indicates that Premier Balfour expects the passage of the measure long before Christmas, owing to the weakness of the opposition, otherwise he would not have spared his chief lieutenant.

Mrs. Chamberlain being intensely interested in her husband's work, will accompany him. The announcement of the colonial secretary's proposed visit to South Africa has aroused extraordinary interest in Cape Town, and is the sole topic of conversation.

It is hailed with enthusiasm as marking an entirely new departure in the relations between Great Britain and her colonies.
