MRS. H. F. JOHNSON

Gives a Halloween Party in Honor of Mrs. Whiteway.

Mrs. H. F. Johnson of South Wyoming street gave a Halloween party last week complimentary to Miss Flossie Whiteway. The house was made as "spooky" as possible, with jack o'lanterns and similar blood-curdling devices. Candles were lit in carrot candlesticks, large jack o'lanterns decorated the table, red and white cabbages scooped out were receptacles for marshmallows and chocolate bon-bons, and scooped out turnips held nuts and fruits. Then, to make matters more ghastly, a spiritualistic seance was held, and in a darkened room a hollow cabbage head containing alcohol was set on fire, giving a weird appearance and uncanny light, while the medium called up from the other world the spirits of departed friends.

Fortune-telling by palmistry and phrenology entertained the party after the lights were turned on and the fright overcome. Refreshments consisting in part of pumpkin pie and cider, doughnuts and coffee, were then served, and the strange and unearthly sights of the evening were remembered with pleasure as the following guests took their leave: Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Berger, Mr. and Mrs. A. Carpenter, the Misses Puderman, Cook, E. Sullivan, M. Mahoney of Anaconda, and Bretherton; Messrs. Castle, Klock, Kingsbury, Armitage, Ward, Fraser, Reynolds, Richards and J. Brink.

SCHOOL OF MINES

Boys Are Present at Two Highly Enjoyable Functions.

Professor and Mrs. Winchell of South Excelsior avenue celebrated the victory of the School of Mines football team over their substitutes by giving the victors and their substitutes a grand banquet on Monday evening.

The team's colors, copper and green, were carried out in the decorations. Ribbons of these hues were garlanded from the chandelier to corners of the room. On the table were trailing ferns and vines interspersed with red roses, giving a beautiful effect to the table appointments.

Twenty young men, hale and hearty, sat down to the bounteous spread, to which they did full justice. Following are the toasts and the names of those who responded to them:

"Our Football Team," Capt. S. A. Young; "Our Worthy Captain," Owen F. Brinton; "The Missoula Game," L. C. Ste-

dent. A folder was handed to each guest, who was required to fill in as many answers as possible, and to the one giving the greatest number of correct names a prize was awarded. Here are a few queries properly answered:

"A conjunction," Orr; "Not aged," Young; "To care for," Foster; "A Jewish coin," Tallant; "Letter tumble," Kuphal (Q fall); "A walking stick," Kane; "From Dublin Gulch," Ireland.

Guests: L. McRae, H. Tallant, H. A. Kuphal, H. Magee, J. VanGundy, H. McGuane, A. Ireland, J. Duling, A. Balmforth, P. Pinley, L. Bender, Foster, the Misses M. Burt, A. Kemper, L. Kemper, S. Arnold, M. Arnold, M. Denny, C. Penaluna, C. Clark, I. Little, Kit and Nell Fair.

This evening the sophomores of the Butte School of Mines will accept the hospitality of Professor and Mrs. Winchell, when they will be entertained with a guessing contest on "Persons and Things at a Butte Baseball Game." Twenty-seven pictures are placed on the wall of the room, each representing a person or thing, and the lucky one who answers the greatest number correctly secures a prize.

This evening the home of Mrs. Winchell will be prettily decorated with red roses, carnations, palms and ferns, and delicious refreshments served, and before the young guests depart a game of nose will be played that will create an immense amount of amusement.

The merry companies are always delighted at the hospitality of Professor and Mrs. Winchell, and after saying good night give their college yell in lusty tones that awake the sleepers in the neighboring blocks.

Guests: Brinton, S. A. Young, P. D. Pratt, A. Schloesser, G. Archibald, C. Corey, N. Hammond, J. Duthie, H. Hume, J. Elford, L. Kane, Orr, L. Muckel, L. C. Stevenson, H. Warfield, R. Farnham, the Misses M. Stuart, C. Russel, E. Meiklejohn, H. Daft, P. Reed, I. Little, L. Kemper, E. Wright, D. Shiveley, M. Fair, C. Fair, E. Hayes, T. Olds, C. Clark, M. Denny and G. Stevenson.

THE Homer club met at the home of Mrs. F. E. Shaw Monday afternoon, when the interesting study of Russia was resumed. Mrs. E. B. Weirick led with a most entertaining paper on "Peter the Great," a subject that brought out an analysis of the character of the founder of the great Russian empire that was greatly appreciated. An historical character, with a domineering spirit, strong impulses and highly ambitious tendencies for personal aggrandizement and for the good of his people during a reign of thirty-five years, necessarily gives much for the historian to chronicle.

Mrs. Weirick in her able paper depicts Peter in the several roles that made his life one that can be studied from so many standpoints, and from which so much can be learned, because of the success that crowned his efforts. In her opening remarks Mrs. Weirick says: "We have to forget the coarseness, brutality and savage passions of his nature—the incidents in which he out-Neroed Nero—and reflects upon his courage, his tireless energy, his inflexible will, which was never dismayed by any difficulty nor appalled by any danger." Nevertheless Mrs. Weirick describes the leading events of his wonderful career, exposes his faults and the many bloody scenes in his life, which will never be forgotten, as well as the marvelous achievements and startling innovations of this great leader. This paper was listened to with rapt attention and showed a most careful study of one of the most interesting and unique characters in all history.

Mrs. Margaret Cunningham related what she saw in St. Petersburg and the impressions produced by the sights from the harbor of that fine city, with gilded domes glittering in the sun, pleasure yachts at anchor and cathedral bells pealing forth in ringing tones, showing the vast difference between the condition of the rich and that of the poor; described the art galleries, summer palace fountains, cathedrals and other objects interesting to sightseers.

Mrs. Shaw followed with a talk on the vast undertaking of Peter the Great in the building of St. Petersburg, of its climate, size, importance, wealth, grandeur and characteristic features which make it so different from any other city in the world.

Mrs. Kunkel had a very instructive paper on "The Hermitage," the great picture gallery and museum founded by Catherine II. and its priceless gems, paintings and other works of art.

After refreshments were served the club adjourned to meet again on Monday next with Mrs. Shaw and resume the study of Russia.

Executive Board of Woman's.

The executive board of the Woman's club met Tuesday afternoon at Elks' hall, when a general discussion on lines of club work, club members and things appertaining thereto was about the only pleasure or duty for that session.

West Side Shakespeare.

The West Side Shakespeare club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. J. P. Cutting of West Copper street. The club members answered roll call with original couplets and verses, after which they finished reading "The Tempest." Discussion followed and proved most interesting. The meet again next Tuesday with Mrs. A. J. Daum in Meaderville.

The Saturday Nighters.

The Saturday Night club at its last meeting indulged in Halloween amusements at the home of Mrs. H. A. Towle on South Excelsior avenue, having an experience with spooks, ghosts and things infernal from the beginning of the program until the end. Tonight the club meets with Miss Ethel Wood on South Crystal street, when Miss Humphreys will review "By Order of the Prophet." Current topics will also be a feature of the meeting.

The Nemow Club.

The Nemow club was entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. J. B. Patterson of the West side. The members of this sewing club are now busy making Christmas presents with which to make glad the hearts of many friends during the festive season. During that afternoon their needles plied assiduously, and while they were busy with this work many a tale was told, incidents mentioned and happenings discussed. Then refreshments were served, bringing to a close a pleasant and profitable afternoon that passed away before it was deemed to have commenced.

The Woman's Club.

The Woman's club at its meeting Wednesday afternoon had a most interesting program. Mrs. Atwater was first on the list with a talk on the current literature for children. A favorite magazine and its usual make-up, past history and future prospects furnished the theme for quite a discussion, and while some were in favor of wiping out such classics as "Mother Goose," there were others who resented the innovation.

Among those who expressed their opinions on this and kindred subjects were Mrs. B. C. Hastings, Mrs. M. Cunningham, Mrs. J. W. Gunn, Mrs. J. W. Murphy, Mrs. Buzzo and Mrs. A. H. Wetley. Mrs. C. C. Rueger, who invariably has a most happy way of handling a subject, made a further record for herself in her paper on Japan. This time she had a Theosophical way of expressing herself when describing the trip to that Eastern country and the stop-over at the Hawaiian islands.

This added a spice to the otherwise good notations of her impressions of what she saw and information gathered on that delightful journey.

Miss Belle Dummivan took up an educational proposition, contrasting the advantages of English-speaking people in American colleges with the disadvantages of the Chinese.

Mrs. Spencer Wortman, chairman of the membership committee, called a special meeting for this morning at 10:30 at her home, No. 314 West Galena street.

The Atlas Club.

The Atlas club met on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Crabtree of No. 670 South Montana street. Once a month this club devotes part of its time to current topics, and this being the appointed day, wireless telegraphy and other things new and interesting were brought up and discussed by the members present. Mrs. Charles Passmore took for the subject of her paper, "Frederick William, 1648-1688," starting from the time when Germany secured her religious freedom by the Peace of Westphalia and taking in the eventful period when the foundation of the Prussian monarchy was laid in 1675.

Mrs. Morrison's paper on "The Dawn of Modern Literature," starts from the same period, 1648, giving in detail the progress made and drawing similitudes with the happenings in previous centuries.

The club meets next Friday afternoon with Mrs. J. M. Hinkle of West Broadway.

Mrs. Frank Grosvenor,

No. 212 Twenty-first St., Galveston, Tex.

GALVESTON, TEX., March 13, 1902.

For three years after my marriage I felt peculiar bearing-down pains such as I had never experienced before. I tried different remedies but found it was only money wasted. I then consulted a physician who treated me for two months and then said my ovaries were diseased and that I would never get well unless I had an operation. I knew that would mean that I would never have a child and I dreaded the ordeal. I changed physicians but found this did not help me any, and I was in despair.

My sister-in-law then visited me and when I told her of my trouble she said: "If you had used common sense and Wine of Cardui you would not have been in such a plight." She had used it in her own home and it had carried her through three times when she had children. I sent for some at once and took it faithfully and now find to my great joy that it was all she claimed for it.

New strength and with it new hope came back to me and it seemed as if every dose gave me new life. Within three months I was changed from a dragged out mortal weary of life to a hearty, healthy woman full of ambition and life. No operation was needed and better than all I became the mother of a little girl, the pride and joy of the household. I have had two other children since without a particle of trouble. I am well and never take any medicine but Wine of Cardui. I only wish that other poor sick women could know of this life-giving medicine and would take it without spending time and money on doctors, who don't cure.

WINE OF CARDUI, the simple remedy which Mrs. Grosvenor advises you to take has transformed her from a sick, discouraged woman to the bright, happy, healthy person you see in this portrait. Instead of languishing on a bed of sickness Mrs. Grosvenor is now equipped for any duty of womanhood. There are some chronic cases which no medicine can cure but nineteen out of every twenty sufferers today may have the health Mrs. Grosvenor has if they will only take the Wine of Cardui treatment as Mrs. Grosvenor took it. This vegetable Wine regulates the menstrual flow, making this important function both healthful and painless. The bearing-down pains which make life a torture stop when Wine of Cardui is used and
