REV. G. B. DARROW IS A MONTANA PIONEER

REV. G. B. DARROW,

Montana Pioneer Who Is Going Back to England Spend His Declining Days in His New Home.

Among the clergymen who have seen the growth of Butte from its humblest beginning, there is none better known than the Rev. G. B. Darrow, who left last Monday evening for his former home at Montville, Conn. For fifteen years he has been actively connected with the Baptist church in Butte.

Ten years ago he went into the Flat-head country and took up a soldier's right to a tract of government land. The Rev. Darrow was a chaplain in the Union army, which entitled him to the entry. His ranch is now in a flourishing condition. Dr. Darrow is 82 years old, but that did not deter him from undertaking the long trip across the continent unaccompanied. He will spend the remainder of his days in Connecticut with friends. His only daughter, Mrs. Juli Jackson, died some years ago in Butte.

Lennox's old cell securely and put him in a new one.

The deputies then left the jail, Jailer Tucker having locked the men in their cells. The saws and the rest of the plunder were taken to the sheriff's office, where they are now locked in the safe with a number of curios and relics of other jailbreaks.

Whether the intention of those who were attempting to escape was to beat the jailer with the stocking containing the poker chips or not is not apparent. It would certainly have made a very effective weapon, heavy and convenient to handle. There is no doubt, however, that the pepper was to be thrown in the face of the jailer when he came, called on some excuse by one of the prisoners.

Neither is it known whether Lennox's intention was to attempt to liberate his partner, Martin, in the cell below, after having overpowered the jailer and taken his keys away from him. This would have been an easy thing to do.

NICE, LARGE HOLE CUT IN MR. LENNOX'S CEEL

The piece marked out for cutting on the roof of Lennox's cell is about twenty inches square. Two opposite sides had been almost cut through. The plates are seven-eighths of an inch thick, and not less than three-fourths of an inch had been cut into with the acid and the saws. Having once cut through it would be an easy matter to get the watchspring saws to work, and these are known to go through steel with the assistance of the acid like a knife through cheese.

It is not considered probable by the officers that the prisoners would have made the attempt to escape last evening. There was no soap and dirt in the places cut into the steel, from which it might be inferred that the work was to be concluded last evening. More probable, however, was the theory that they intended to cover up the work before morning and make their escape some other night.

This is the third attempt at jailbreak during Sheriff Furey's term of office—Dempsey's in July, 1901, in which he was successful, releasing two other prisoners at the same time, both of whom were later captured, and the attempt made by Dick Felker, who killed his brother-in-law, Cunningham. He had cut through the roof, making a hole like the one just discovered, only that his was made with a drill. He afterwards cut the bars on one of the east windows and was letting himself down on a rope made of blanket strips, when Deputy Sheriff James Fitzsimmons, who had gone out in the back yard to look after the horses, found him dangling in mid-air.

Felker is now serving a ten-year sentence in Deer Lodge. Dempsey never was found. Rumors of his having been seen at different points came in, but from the night he threw the red pepper in Deputy Grant's face until today he has successfully evaded the law and the officers of the state of Montana.

Lennox's attorney has applied for a new trial, and it is believed the application will be heard in Judge McClernan's court very soon.

Extra precautions are being taken to insure the detention of the prisoners concerned in the attempt to escape. Lennox, the man convicted of murder, has been shackled with an "Oregon boot," which is nothing less than a 10-pound lump of iron attached to the ankle and which prevents the man wearing it doing any race track stunts across the country.

The sheriff's office is adopting every precaution now that the desperate character of the attempt has fully developed. No visitors are allowed at the jail, and another thorough search will be made by the jailers and deputies this afternoon in order to discover, if possible, any tools or weapons overlooked in the first hasty search.

STRIKE COMMISSION GETS AT IT

transporting coal to market, what justice can there be in denying to the miner the right to be paid for his labor upon the same basis?

"The anthracite companies, not satisfied with an extra legal ton of from 2,740 to 3,190 pounds, have a system of docking, through which they appropriate an additional part of the miner's earnings. A miner is docked all the way from 500 to 1,000 pounds upon a car, as a penalty for loading impurities for which he has already been penalized to the extent of from 700 to 900 pounds in excess measure of weight; in other words, he is punished twice for the same offense.

SIMILAR SYSTEM ONCE USED IN OTHER FIELDS

"A system somewhat similar but less unjust obtained in a portion of the bituminous coal fields many years ago, but the miners are now paid by weight upon the basis of a legal ton; they are not only permitted but are encouraged by the operators to employ check weighmen to see that the product of their labor is properly weighed and a correct record made thereof."

Mr. Mitchell then took up the fourth demand of the miners for a trade agreement with the necessary machinery for the adjustment of local grievances. He outlined the history and policy of the United Mine Workers of America and explained that by its constitution anthracite and bituminous mine workers had home rule for the local government of local affairs.

"The only manner," he said, "in which the national organization is permitted to interfere is that, before a strike is inaugurated by the district organization, the approval of the president of the national union must be obtained, but the president of the national organization has no authority to inaugurate a strike. Thus the coal mine operators are afforded a greater measure of protection against strikes than they would have under a separate and independent organization."

TOBACCO WAR IN GERMANY

American Concern Promises to Monopolize the Business in That Country.
Berlin, Nov. 14.—An active tobacco war is in progress in Germany. It is a three-sided contest. The most formidable adversary is a large American company which is declared to have bought up the James Matz factories of Dresden and set domestic tobacco interest agog by purchasing all the Turkish leaf in store at Dresden, in order to secure a monopoly of the supply.

Inasmuch as the German tobacco market and its supply is not a monopoly, as in France, Russia and other countries, the fight for control promises to be a keen one.

DOINGS IN COURTS OF CITY THIS DAY

NUMBERS OF SMALL MATTERS ENGAGE ATTENTION OF OFFICIALS IN DISTRICT DEPARTMENT.

Sheriff Padley, of Beaverhead county, has notified the district court of Silver Bow county that he has attached the property of the Greenwood Mining & Milling company, in accordance with an order recently issued by Judge Clancy. The attachment originates in the action brought against the defendants by Henry Kutpenberg, who holds certain paper of the Greenwood company on which he is trying to recover.

Suit for divorce is entered in the district court by Emma R. Edwards from George W. Edwards. In her complaint Mrs. Edwards sets forth that she was married to Edwards in Kansas in December, 1883. The defendant has failed to provide for his family during the past year and leads a life of idleness. There are three children, aged 21, 19 and 17 respectively.

In the action of the Glendale Transportation company against the Greenwood Mining & Milling company, the defendants have filed a demurrer with Clerk Roberts of the district court on the grounds that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause for action. B. S. Thresher is counsellor for the Greenwood Mining & Milling company.

Alvin D. Sheldon, G. D. Watt and Joseph Sheldon have filed their answer with the district court to the complaint made against them by A. J. Palmer as the administrator of the estate of Francis H. Palmer. A general denial of the allegations is made and the court is petitioned to dismiss the case and award costs for the action to the defendants.

HEARING OF JUDGE WILLIAM CLANCY

Curt convened at 2:15. Attorney C. F. Kelley asked that his name be entered as special counsel for the state. He stated as his reason that County Attorney Breen had not been securing sufficient evidence in the case. Attorney Thresher, who appeared for Judge Clancy, objected to Mr. Kelley's request, and County Attorney Breen stated what he considered his position. Justice O'Connor denied the request.

SAMUEL M. ROBERTS IS FIRST WITNESS CALLED

Samuel M. Roberts, clerk of the district court, was the first witness called. He testified to taking an acknowledgment from Judge Clancy in his official capacity, but he did not know the nature of the acknowledgment nor the date on which he received it.

A. W. Brouse was the next witness. He testified to a remarkable lack of knowledge concerning the publication of the Reveille. He saw the affidavit and gave it to one of the printers to set up, but he did not know where it came from, what it contained, nor did he read it until after it was published in the paper. When asked by County Attorney Breen, who gave it to him, he hesitated for a few minutes and finally answered that he got it from one of the printers.

"What is his name?" said the county attorney.

"His name is Snook," said Brouse desperately. Brouse did not know where Snook got it or anything further about it. His wife was next called. She stated that she was a type machine operator. She recognized the article signed by Judge Clancy, but did not remember whether she set it up or read the proof.

There was no cross-examination of any of the witnesses by Attorney Thresher.

B. H. Walker, who said he was a newspaper man, was the next witness. At a late hour this afternoon the trial was still in progress. About one week before election day some enemy of Judge Clancy induced him to sign and permit the publication of an affidavit in which he charged Daniel J. Hennessy with an attempt to bribe him. Undoubtedly the idea of the men who secured the judge's consent to the making and publication of this affidavit was that it would have an influence on the election of the county in favor of the fusion or Heinze ticket. They supposed that it would be a great card and would influence many votes.

Walker did not know anything. His ignorance was appalling. While he was called as a witness was not apparent.

Frank Shaw proved a most important witness. He had asked Judge Clancy today to get a three-fourths interest in a lease on the Wild Bill claim, as he could get one-fourth interest. He suggested to the judge that he see Mr. Daly in the matter. Judge Clancy told the witness later that he was unable to see Mr. Daly, that he had tried to see him several times. He stated that he had seen Mr. Scallon and was convinced that he could not get the lease.

For the first time Attorney Thresher commenced cross-examination. It had been evident from the objection which he made to every question of the county attorney during the examination of the previous witnesses that his defense would be an effort to take the same course as in the O'Farrell case and try to sneak out of it by attempting to prove that Judge Clancy had not been connected with the affidavit.

ELECTION DODGE WORKED HARM TO THE PLOTTERS

These men were no friends of Judge Clancy and in all his public career Judge Clancy never did a more foolish act. Whatever effect the publication of the document may have had on the minds of the voters so far as the then pending election was concerned, it has served but one purpose since, and that is to cast discredit and suspicion upon the misguided man who made the allegation.

Plain common people who have but little idea of the technicalities of the law have always been of the opinion that the way for a dignified judge to do when improperly approached is to take prompt and vigorous action right there and then. Common people who are unfamiliar with the law seem to think that the thing for Judge Clancy to have done was to drop Mr. Hennessy from his office window in the second story of the courthouse to the pavement below and then ordered the sheriff to lock up and safely keep the remains.

It does not appear from the judge's own statement that he even became indignant and therefore the public generally laugh at the judge's affidavit and sneer at the judge.

Mr. Hennessy acted in an entirely different manner. When that gentleman found out that he was accused of committing the crime he took prompt action to have his accuser brought to trial. He did not wait for two or three years. In fact he did not wait a day. He proceeded at once to probe the whole absurd story to the bottom and the result was that Judge Clancy must answer to a charge of criminal libel.
