

the others contested. Pretty red carnations and ferns were tastefully arranged throughout the house, but the table with a birthday cake and eight candles and its many tempting accessories that children love to have, was simply irresistible and the little ones thoroughly enjoyed the prepared treat, wishing the young host many happy returns of the day.

EMMA BUOL ENTERTAINS.

Twenty-four of Her Young Friends Pass Enjoyable Time at Her Home.

Miss Emma Buol entertained about 24 of her young friends on Thursday evening at her home on Quattz and Idaho in honor of Miss Bess Skyrme. When the party were assembled the hostess handed each guest a slip of paper on which was written the name of a popular song. It might be perfectly familiar, but when they were asked to illustrate the songs it was different. However, nothing daunted, these artists went to work with a will, and their several productions were posted up for the guests to surmise or guess from the pictures the names of songs they were supposed to portray. "Coming Through the Rye" was illustrated by Adolph Heilbronner with a man carrying a barrel of rye through a field of rye. "A Hot Time in the Old Town" showed satan surrounded by flames. For "I'm Tired, so Very Tired," a man was pictured in bed after a night out.

Miss Bess Skyrme, for the best illustration, received a copy of "Mississippi Bubble." John Corrette, for giving the largest number of correct answers, was awarded "The Virginians."

The parlors were decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, the dining-room with vari-colored asters. After awarding the prizes refreshments were served and the young people tripped to the lively music until the late hour recalled them from their dreams to the stern necessity of retiring.

Those enjoying the evening were: The Misses Skyrme, Driscoll, McDonald, Fisher, Ritter, Tilton, K. Sullivan, L. Horgan, M. Reinhardt, T. Russel, Wharton; Messrs. Davidson, Corrette, O'Brien, Berry, Workman, Heilbronner, Tallant, Davis, Morrison, M. W. Smith, Ritter and Dr. Kennedy.

INFORMAL DANCE

Given by Miss Henningsen at the Home of Her Brother.

Miss Hilga Henningsen gave an informal dancing party on Friday evening at the home of her brother on South Wyoming street. The large rooms had been cleared of unnecessary furniture and on the highly polished floors the young people danced until the early hours of morning.

Yellow chrysanthemums, yellow ribbons and smilax made a decoration that was charmingly pretty. About midnight the music stopped to give the fair dancers and their gallant escorts the opportunity of indulging in a delicious supper that had been prepared and awaited the pleasure of the guests: Misses Ella Redwein, Floyd Patterson, Mary Patterson, Gertrude Seyde, Gladys Bowen, Lella Russel, Theo Russel, Elsa Russel, Bessie Wells, Agnes Wall, Helga Henningsen, Marie Mallon, Winnifred Bretherton, Allie Treglow, Ruby Hill, Mrs. Robert McArthur, Messrs. Jack Murray, Jack Richards, Fred Gomer, Will Klein, Benjamin Putnam, B. Turner, Frank Haskins, Will Wall, Erwin Kuhl, Walter Henningsen, George Makins, Harry Tanner, Victor Samsel, Robert McArthur, Bert Gossella and Dr. Cowperthwaite.

By Faithful Lodge.

One of the most enjoyable card parties of the season was that given by Faithful Lodge, D. of H., on Monday evening, in their hall on East Broadway. The room was filled with tables, at which the merry players vied with each other in a good natured manner, each eager to score the highest point to win the prizes, of which there were six. An excellent lunch was served, which was enjoyed by all. The prize winners were: First prize for ladies, an elegant point lace handkerchief, was won by Miss Mabel Peterson; second prize, half a dozen dainty china plates, won by Mrs. McSherry; third prize, a china pitcher, won by Mrs. Juhenville. The gentlemen's first prize, a fountain pen, was won by Mr. Pace; second prize, a fancy shaving mug, won by Mr. Juhenville; third prize, a bunch of fine cigars, won by J. F. Nelson.

The Needlework Guild.

The Needlework Guild of America met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. John Noyes. The ladies present were: Mrs. R. Burton, Mrs. J. M. White, Mrs. A. S. Christie, Mrs. C. Moore, Mrs. J. S. Hammond, Mrs. A. H. Jones, Mrs. Roach, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. F. Mitchell and Mrs. A. H. White. These reported what they had done in collecting new and suitable garments for the worthy poor during the coming winter.

On Tuesday afternoon, December 2, there will be an exhibition of these garments at the Paul Clark home, so the public or persons interested in charitable work may see and appreciate what the guild is doing to alleviate suffering by the just distribution of warm garments. Membership in the guild can be obtained by the giving of two new garments each year, and it is hoped that many who have taken no interest in this work will identify themselves with the good cause by contributing as suggested. The president, Mrs. John Noyes, will be glad to receive any contributions and give any information that may be required.

Miss Bess Skyrme.

Miss Bess Skyrme, who leaves next week to attend school in New York, was the guest of honor on a straw ride out to the Five-Mile House on Monday night, tendered by a few of her friends. The evening was fine, the snow just right, so the sleigh drawn by spirited horses conveyed the precious freight safely to and from the objective point and everyone was happy.

Upon returning to town the party drove to Morris' where supper was served and a pleasant evening brought to a close. The hosts were Messrs. M. O'Brien, J. Corrette, J. Wertman, A. Berry, A. Heilbronner, who invited the Misses M. Driscoll, H. Dait, E. Buol, H. Tilton, Irma Charles and the chaperon, Mrs. D. Callahan.

The next meeting will be held on December 19 with Mrs. C. H. Moore when chapter officers will be elected.

Guessing Contest

Another guessing contest was that of Miss Kate L. Clark on Thursday evening at Mrs. W. Shores' home on West Copper street. It was geographical and personal. Pretty prizes being given for the most successful in each. The decorations were in green and white carried out by table appointments and plants. Place cards, Cowboy Russell's sketches with couplets, went to the following guests: Mrs. Raleigh, Mrs. W. W. Wishon, Mrs. John D. Haines, Mrs. Magraw, Mrs. Longley, Mrs. Ed Passmore, Mrs. Ellis Passmore, Mrs. John Passmore, Mrs. Charles S. Passmore, Mrs. R. G. Young, Mrs. T. J. Trull, Mrs. William Shore, Mrs. A. A. McMillan, Mrs. Febles.

Mrs. D. W. Tilton.

Mrs. D. W. Tilton of West Broadway had an informal progressive whist party last evening complimentary to Mrs. A. P. Hall of Virginia City. There were four tables of players, refreshments were served after the game and the night spent most enjoyably by Mr. and Mrs. F. Harrington, Mrs. A. P. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. McBride, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. J. Denny, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Knight, Mrs. K. Tuberville, Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Blackburn and Rev. S. Blackiston.

The Genial Sol Levy.

The genial Sol Levy gladdened the hearts of 25 children on Thursday night by taking over to the Paul Clark home a big lot of sugar and making candy for them. The eyes of the children were as large as saucers as they eagerly watched the interesting work and Sol's treat made a red letter day in the lives of the poor little ones.

In Clubdom

Woman's Club Met Wednesday.

The Woman's club met on Wednesday afternoon in their handsome quarters in Elks' hall. Much interest was evinced in the announcement that Prof. R. G. Young would make an address, so the members were ready and willing to take advantage of an opportunity to hear a good speaker talk learnedly on an interesting subject.

After being introduced by Mrs. Green Majors, the professor, taking for his subject "Education and Illiteracy as Related to Crime," gave, as was expected, a scholarly talk, giving facts and figures to prove that education lessens crime, while the want of it has the reverse effect. What is needed is more education, more moulding of the young minds to the life-work that is before them.

Green Majors, who was also a guest of the club, made a very interesting talk on "Phrenology." He examined the heads of several children and showed why they were adapted to one business or profession and who would make a better success in other lines.

Some of the club women present were told certain things that were interesting, and if his suggestions could be followed they might be shining lights in professions their fondest hopes never gave a suggestion even in a dream.

Atlas Yesterday Convened.

The Atlas club met on Friday afternoon with Mrs. J. A. Johnston of South Main street, who, taking up the history of Germany, read a paper on "Joseph I, Charles VI, 1705-1740." This was followed by one on "Lessing," read by Mrs. J. C. Febles. Both of these were highly interesting and received with marked attention. The club will meet next Friday with Mrs. J. L. Holmes on West Park street, when a musical program with "Mozart and Beethoven" as the theme will, like a magnet, draw the musical devotees to the shrine.

West Side Shakespeare.

The West Side Shakespeare club met on Tuesday evening with Mrs. D. A. Dickson of West Copper street, when the members present read the first act of "Coriolanus," "Growth of Rome Up to This Time," was the subject of a very interesting paper by Miss M. J. Coffin. After the business ses-

DEER LODGE.

SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN.
Deer Lodge, Nov. 22.—An annual event of much pleasure to that deserving lady, Mrs. Kinneman, as well as to her neighbors and friends, was celebrated last Saturday afternoon. It was the occasion of her birthday, and as has been the custom for a number of years, neighbors and friends called en masse at her home to pay their respects. It is needless to say there was a merry house full, and at the proper time refreshments, which had been taken along in baskets, were partaken of.

Vincent Wallis, who with his parents left Deer Lodge for Chicago in the summer of '96, arrived here Sunday night on a visit to his sister, Mrs. Robert Staggs, and family and old-time friends. "Vince" was a boy when he left here, but he now has a growth of hair on his upper lip. He says his parents and family are prosperous in Chicago, and he, as a plumber, came secured to a larger extent than the others, securing as a prize a little peanut Chinaman made by Mrs. Mitchell.

It wore a long queue made of black sewing silk, yellow satin trousers and a black silk jacket and was cutely cunning. Altogether the night was a success, combining artistic music with a proper seasoning of frivolity and spicy reading. This club will meet tonight with Mrs. C. C. Rueger on Lexington Hill.
