

REVIEW OF THE EVENTS OF THE WEEK ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD,

MICHIGAN PLAYER ON HOW TO KICK

EDWARD LAWRENCE, THE CRACK FULLBACK, GIVES SOME POINTERS ON KICKING A GOAL.

SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN. Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 29.—Edward Lawrence, the crack fullback of the Michigan university football team, has given some excellent advice on how to kick a goal which will prove of interest to football players and followers of the game all over the country.

"That is an implied question that I would rather not answer, because it is agreed by all football men that goal kicking is not a very difficult task when once you have the swing of it. I can tell you better how the goal kicking ought to be done, and if it happens that I can follow my own advice and make a success of that part of the game, then you may call my advice all right if you want to."

"The strength after the ball is well placed is the important thing. A great many people would be excellent goal kickers were it not for the fact that they get nervous in their effort to be sure to kick the ball rightly. No, sir, if the ball is placed correctly and you put the finger behind it you can kick it over with a pretty rocky kick. Every one has his own way, but the best kickers will tell you that the man holding the ball is doing about as much toward making the kick a good one as they themselves, and I firmly believe it to be true."

"The man holding the ball must not simply keep it in position, but he must hold it so that it will take a hard kick to get it away from his hand. This will help get the ball sailing in the right direction in case the kicker misses the spot on the ball he intends to hit. A square-toed shoe is, of course, necessary and a metal strip on the bottom with no give in it whatever. It is very easy to learn to swing the upper portion of the leg always the same way, but from the knee down, especially in the ankle, the leg is pretty liable to prove false. To swing the leg from the hip and knee joints, keeping the ankle and foot rigid, is my method of kicking. Plenty of swinging the leg this way, even when one is not kicking the ball, is the best kind of practice."

The various contestants will be handicapped according to their known ability at live rocks. Besides the turkey shoot there will be a contest for the Cascade county challenge cup, presented to the club by Messrs. Benner and P. J. Gallagher of Helena. It is now held by W. J. Cummings of Sand Coulee.

A child of Mrs. Geo. T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to relieve him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Keller, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises and sprains. For sale by Paxson & Rockefeller, Newbro Drug Co., Christie & Leys, Newton Bros.

MCCARTHY EXPECTS TO WIN OUT

Walkerville Boy Is Ready to Put Up the Fight of His Life Against Lafontise—Jerry Is Willing to Take On Edgar Dayton. Willie B. Goode's Gossip.

Jerry McCarthy and his trainer came into Butte for an hour or two this morning and left at 1 o'clock. Jerry is doing his best to get into shape for a hard pace, as he knows well what he is going against. In talking to me this morning Jerry said: "I am working hard and am in good condition and feeling as good as I ever did in my life."

"Of course I expect to win this match and so rounds will surely decide a winner and there will be no kick on either side. I must win this match as it means much to me. By besting Lafontise I can get on with the best man in the country of

to be suffering from some sort of a voodoo spell at critical moments. Mike Sheehan was around last night to practice and get into shape for the championship games. The result of Sheehan's first game was a crackjack score in which he finished with six straight strikes.

There is talk of a match race between Peter Breen's gray trotter, Addison, and Carlote as soon as the going gets good. Both Addison and County Attorney are being worked out this winter and will be placed in fine condition for the spring races, when the enthusiastic owner of the my weight and this is my highest ambition. I will be back in Butte December 3, and I'm going to put up the best bout of my life and hope to come out of the match a welter champion and with a license to meet men with national reputations."

While in Butte this morning Jerry consented to meet Edgar Dayton, "the Marysville Kid," when Jeffries and Fitzsimmons appear here and to agree to knock out the local lightweight inside of 10 rounds or forfeit the purse. The bout will probably be put on as a preliminary to the big fellows and will be certain to prove a great attraction.

Dummy Rowan is training at the Butte gymnasium for his go with Frank Dunn, December 18. Rowan is working hard to get down to weight and looks to be in good condition now. Dunn is working every day and expects to win out in what may prove the stiffest contest he has had in a long time.

Since the big battle between the canines Thursday night there is added interest being taken in that sport and several would-be champions of the state have been unearthed. In the 32-pound class Murphy's Prince is offered for any amount up to $500.

Some time ago I received a letter from Pony asking for a match with a 32-pound dog. No reply was received from the answer sent, but if those Pony sports still have faith in their dog it is a good opportunity to make a match, as the challenge is open to any dog in the state at 31 pounds, give or take a pound. It's up to Pony.

My colored friend, Br'er Isaac Hayes, is stepping around in a manner most chesty. The cause of Isaac's "pneumotical" attitude is his appointment as boxing instructor at the Butte gym.

The hasn't any pupils as yet, but there's bound to be a class for him to demonstrate how easy it is to dispose of carpenters and miners. The only fear I have is that Isaac may forget himself some day and reach out one of those horrible swings toward one of his pupils—and then there won't be any pupil.

Isn't it about time that Manager Mort White was getting his team of "crack-jack" bowlers into shape for team work preparatory to the championship match? Some of the team are bowling regularly, but they have had no practice together and there has been a lack of general practice, which won't show up well for the big games.

There were fair averages made last night on the Thornton alloys, and it looks as if most of the boys in the winter league are going to make good. In this event it's going to be a close race with half a dozen teams in the first money toward the end of the series.

Last night the Thorntons made a good average all the way through and Mischewich of the Montanas showed his old-time speed and control, but with two coils had a difficult time in keeping close to the winners. Sample of the Thorntons hasn't played his usual game for some time and seems crack pair expects to clean up a few of the good ones. Both the match with Jib for County Attorney and the Carlote match have been made practically and the date will be fixed as soon as the track either in Anaconda or Butte is good enough for fast going.

Jerry McCarthy is hard at work at Gregson Springs, training for the battle of his life with Mose Lafontise. Upon the result of this match depends the welterweight championship of the state, and there's a whole lot of people on the hill who think the belt will rest in Walkerville after the 4th of December. McCarthy is being backed at even money, although there are some Lafontise enthusiasts who are talking of odds against Jerry.

It has been settled practically that "Doc" Flynn and Howard Opie will go on for a preliminary and box to a decision. This event also will be worth the popular price of admission which will be charged by the Broadway management, and I look for a great crowd at the mill.

A number of Anaconda sports will come over for the match, and arrangements are being made to take care of another crowd from Helena. No bout of recent days has attracted so much interest as the Lafontise-McCarthy mill. Both lads have a big following and the feeling among personal friends is running high.

There are still several towns to hear from on the proposition to organize a state bowling league at a meeting to be held in Butte, December 10. It is now assured that there will be at least six towns in the league, which was the original number asked for, but I am confident there will be a sufficient addition to this representation to warrant the organization of a league on a basis of 10 or 12 towns. In case the larger number come into the first organization it will be proposed to divide the league into two sections, divided geographically in order to hold down the transportation expenses and save the time necessary in traveling about the circuit. Then the two clubs standing highest in the sub-divisions would play off for the state and league championship.

This plan is meeting with favor, always considering that there will be a full representation at the meeting, and may be adopted when the schedule is made up. So far as Butte is concerned there will be two memberships for this city owing to the opening of the new alleys which will at once put out a team for the honors of local championship as well as try for the state trophy.

ANOTHER RECORD SMASHED

E. S. Kelley of Decatur, Ill., Lowers the World's Mark for Long Dive. BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. Springfield, Ill., Nov. 29.—In the Y. M. C. BIG LEAGUES WOULD LIKE PEACE

National and American Seem to Be Drifting Toward Amicable Relations Once More—Plan by Which Trouble Could Be Adjusted.

SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN. New York City, Nov. 29.—Although to all outward appearances the National and American Baseball Leagues are still at logger heads and, while Ban Johnson is still fighting for an entrance into New York City, it is apparent to a close observer of baseball affairs that there is a more or less underlying current tending to a settlement of the difficulties which have kept the two organizations at sword's points.

No steps have been taken toward this end, it is true, but it is known that the more conservative club managers are desirous of bringing about a state of peace, realizing as they do that the bitter warfare is detrimental to the sport. A plan has been informally discussed, which if put into effect will result in the amalgamation of the two leagues, the re-establishment of a 12-club circuit, the elimination of numerous dead ends in the game and a compact with the minor leagues already handed together for the absolute government of the game and a general reduction of players' salaries.

The way the baseball situation stands today shows that the American league has gained the upper-hand without question in Boston and Philadelphia. National league men admit this without hesitation. The competition in Chicago and St. Louis is practically an even break. In Chicago, although the American league team has won two championships and was a factor in this year's race up to the last two weeks, the National League team has all along held an advantage in the superior location of its grounds. Then, too, that the good playing of Selee's team, the National League club in Chicago, stood off Comiskey's team in point of money making and stand ready to begin another year in good shape.

In St. Louis neither team lost money, but at the same time it cannot be said that either finished the campaign with a balance on the right side of the ledger. The National League's strongholds are New York and Pittsburgh, where from present indications the American League would experience difficulty in locating teams that could put up a successful fight for patronage. Cincinnati in new hands can be counted upon as a splendid ball town next year, while Cleveland with its great team, which made money the past season, is a baseball certainty for several seasons to come, at least. The only city in the two circuits which appears to be a weak sister is Baltimore, but conditions there are such that a revival of the interest can easily be accomplished if the right sort of a team is located under the present management.

Amalgamation Planned. In order to put through the amalgamation of the two circuits it has been planned to eliminate Soden, Conant and Billings in Boston and John I. Rogers in Philadelphia. This can be done either by means of a freeze-out game or by a legitimate purchase of their holdings. A combination of the interests in Chicago and St. Louis under a re-organization of the capital stock of both clubs will make the sailing easy. Then according to the plan the new circuit will be made up as follows: In the East, Boston with the present American League club; New York with the National League club under John T. Brush; Brooklyn with the National League club under Hanlon and Ebbets; Philadelphia with the American League club under Ben Shibe and A. J. Reach, who is Shibe's business partner and at present is a part owner of the National League club with John I. Rogers; Baltimore and Washington with the present American League clubs.

In St. Louis a combination of the two clubs with the elimination of either side and the team made up of the pick of the players that represented that city this year. Pittsburgh with the present National League champions under Barney Dreyfus; Cincinnati with the National League club under Messrs. Herman and Fleischman; Cleveland with the American League club under T. J. Kilfoyle and C. W. Somers; and Detroit with the American League club, owned by Messrs. Angus & Co.

A Combination. A combination of this kind would provide a surplus of players that would make the 12 teams equally balanced and afford a championship race of greater interest than ever before. Salaries could be generally reduced, the territory could be controlled without fear of opposition and the bickering which have disgusted the baseball public for the past two years would come to an end. This new league, acting in consort with the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues would then control the situation absolutely, just as the National league, with its 12-club circuit did from 1891 to 1899. With these events in view it would be well to look out for a series of peace gatherings which will be held in New York City between now and early spring. The magnates realize that money talks and that the time has arrived when the ball players' dictatorship must come to an end.

PITCHER CHESBRO FOUND BY DONOVAN

MANAGER OF CARDINALS CLAIMS CREDIT FOR UNEARTHING THE GREAT TWIRLER PHENOM.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. St. Louis, Nov. 29.—Manager Pat Donovan of the St. Louis Cardinals claims the credit of having discovered "Jack" Chesbro, one of the pitching finds of the past baseball season. Here is the story Donovan tells of how he came to make the great discovery of a really remarkable twirler:

"It was the last summer I was in charge at Pittsburg. Chesbro was a member of the Richmond club of the now defunct Atlantic association. His cleverness as a mystifier of batters was 'tipped' off to me and I went over to his town to get a sample of his work."

"I saw him work but three innings of a game, but he showed himself to have a nice, free and easy motion and was ever keeping the ball up and on the inside. I got dead stuck on his looks and bought his release for $1,500."

"We started on a trip, and I opened Chesbro at New York. He lost after a red-hot duel. In Boston he was returned the loser after another tough contest. "We got back to Pittsburg after experiencing a miserably unsuccessful tour of the circuit. I advertised that Chesbro would open for us, gave out a number of interviews, telling of his clever twirling in the East and of the poor luck he had experienced."

"The result was that one of the banner week-day assemblages of the season turned out. He pitched another masterly game and this time made connections. "Chesbro has been successful ever since, and I, his discoverer, am proud of his great triumphs."

HELENA GIRLS ARE GOOD BASKETBALL PLAYERS

Fort Shaw Indian Girls Find the High School Team of the Capital City Too Strong for Them.

SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN. Helena, Nov. 29.—The girls' basketball team from the Fort Shaw Indian school played the team of the Helena High School last night, the game resulting in a victory for the local maidens by the score of 15 to 6. The Indian girls fought an uphill game, but were unable to make material progress against the superior playing of the Helena girls.

The game was marked throughout by sensational plays on both sides and the big crowd of spectators cheered alike the good work of the locals and the visitors. Each member of the Fort Shaw team put up her best game, but the experience of the Helena girls proved too much for them. The line-up of the two teams was as follows: Helena—Lucy Stevens, center; Winnie Cooney and Elsie Abrahamson, forwards; Maud Sagle and Polly Eckle, guards.

Fort Shaw Girls—Josephine Langley, center—Belle Johnson and Emma Sanzavere, forwards; Minnie Burton and Nettie Wirth, guards.

JUDGE NOT A MAN BY HIS CLOTHING

TOM O'ROURKE AND KID BROAD WENT UP AGAINST A GENTEEL CHAP WITH A STIFF PUNCH.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. Chicago, Nov. 29.—A follower of the racing game who has just returned from New York brings with him a good story on Tom O'Rourke, the pugilistic manager and owner of a cafe in Upper Broadway, and "Kid" Broad, the fighter. The story only goes to show that one cannot judge a man by the clothes he wears. A fellow may seem a bit duds and unable to squeeze anything more substantial than a cigarette, and yet be a terror when it comes to fighting. O'Rourke and Broad ran across such an individual a few nights ago.

"A pair of smooth fellows dropped into O'Rourke's one night last week," said the story teller, "and got tangled up with a 'sucker' whom they fleeced out of some coin. The 'sucker' squealed to O'Rourke, and remembering who the two chaps were with whom the stranger was mixed up, he called 'Kid' Broad and said:

"Come on, 'Kid,' let's go across the street and take a few punches at those fellows who seem to think they can work my customers."

"The 'Kid' and Tom left the place and found the two strangers in a neighboring saloon. Without warning they pitched into them and had both floored in a jiffy. At this juncture a little, sickly looking chap, with one of those short coats and wide trousers, stepped up and mildly inquired why the two men were being assaulted. O'Rourke waved him aside with a warning, but he had no sooner done so than the mild-looking chap let go his right and sent O'Rourke to the floor. 'Kid' Broad 'cut in,' and he followed O'Rourke to the floor.

"Both got up, but had no sooner regained their feet than they went down again in front of the clean-cut blows of the mild-looking fellow. This time both the 'Kid' and O'Rourke were stunned, and when they came to they left the place.

"The crowd stood aghast watching the mild-looking fellow, whose linen was not deranged in the slightest, and, pulling a handkerchief from his pocket, he carefully dusted his trousers, while he remarked:

"Why, they told me there were some fighters around here." "O'Rourke sent for the mild-looking chap the following day and congratulated him on his hitting proclivities, while 'Kid' Broad deferred that performance until he recovered from a badly bruised face and head."

HARNESS HORSES DO SOME HIGH STEPPING

Many youngsters acquired fast marks during the harness racing season just concluded. A review of the accomplishments of the year shows that trotters and pacers have been stepping in remarkable time, and there is no gainsaying the fact that for downright sensationalism and good racing the season has proved a leader. Dan Patch and Cresceus made strenuous efforts to dethrone the old mile records without accomplishing their tasks, yet they have gone fast and have shaved off the marks of their classes.

Although it must be admitted that the sport is gradually drifting toward commercialism, which measures all success by dollars and cents, the higher and chief interest in the trotting horse still concerns his speed and the source from which it springs rather than the amount of money he has won. Nearly a hundred and fifty horses have trotted in 2:15 or better during the season of 1902.

A feature that is always interesting to horsemen is the records of the stallions. Reports are as yet incomplete, but they show Ashland Wilkes to be on top with 14 winners, while next to him comes the wonderful stallion, Astell, with 13. Gambetta Wilkes is third with 11.

The best records for the year are recorded as follows:

CORNELL UNIVERSITY MAY NOT ENTER A CREW

Rumor of Proposed Action by Henley Regatta Stewards Causes Famous Old College to Hesitate.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. London, Nov. 29.—In view of the possibility that the stewards of the Henley regatta will, at their meeting on December 12, propose a new rule aiming to exclude from participation in the contests crews which have been coached by professionals within a month of the opening of the regatta, it is understood that friends of Cornell university here will advise Cornell that its entry is not wanted. It is said here that Cornell is likely to abide by that advice and not enter a crew.
