THE PENNSYLVANIA CASE

Helena Court Returns Verdict in the Litigation Between the B. & M. and the Montana Ore Purchasing Company-- Partially Reverses the Lower Court's Decision

SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN.
Helena, Dec. 24.—The state supreme court today partially reversed and partially reaffirmed the judgment that Judge William Clancy of the district court of Silver Bow county rendered in the famous Pennsylvania mining case of Butte, which involved the question of extralateral rights; in other words, the right to follow a vein of ore from its apex to its conclusion so far as possible and to mine it irrespective of the side lines of the claim.

The title of the case was the Montana Ore Purchasing company against the Boston & Montana, and is said to involve ore valued at $2,000,000 or $3,000,000.

The case was argued January 22, 1902, by the leading mining counsel in the West. There were five attorneys who appeared for the Montana Ore Purchasing company and three for the Boston and Montana, or Amalgamated. The district court of Silver Bow county held that the Montana Ore Purchasing company, which owns the Rarus mine, a claim adjoining the Pennsylvania, and part of the Johnston, another adjoining claim, had the right under the extralateral right law of the United States to pursue into the Pennsylvania ground three veins of the ore which had their apex, or came nearest to the surface, in the Johnston portion owned by the Montana Ore Purchasing company.

The supreme court in an exhaustive decision prepared by Chief Justice Brantly holds that a jury trial, which was an important factor in the case, is not necessary in a case wherein it is sought to quiet title to mining property.

The effect of the decision is that the holding of the district court of Silver Bow is modified in a very material point in that it is directed that the west plane of the portion owned by the Montana Ore Purchasing company, and running through a point marked by the supreme court. This cuts the Montana Ore Purchasing company out of a large part of the valuable ore in the Pennsylvania, which Judge Clancy had allowed it, and reduces very materially the length of ground it may mine.

The lower court granted costs to the Montana Ore Purchasing company, amounting to $258. This, the supreme court disallows entirely.

Associate Justice Piggott dissented upon the question of a jury trial.

It is expected the Amalgamated company will appeal the case to the supreme court of the United States.

FULL CORNUCOPIA OF BIG DIMENSION

FILLED WITH CANDY WILL BE GIVEN TO OYSTER BAY CHILDREN BY MRS. ROOSEVELT.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, Dec. 24.—Her friends say here this afternoon that Mrs. Roosevelt has given instructions for the purchase of a barrel of candies in New York. This amount of sweets is to be made up into cornucopias, and on Christmas morning every child at Oyster Bay will be made happy by the presentation of one of these cornucopias.

Archie and Kermit Roosevelt, with Philander Knox, Jr., have arranged to give a Christmas tree in the basement of the attorney general's residence, at which their guests, all boys, will be bidden, not only from the world of fashion, but from the highways and byways of Washington. On this Christmas week the three boys have been busy for a week past, and have lavishly expended their pocket money.

When the idea was first started it was with the idea of having their school friends bidden to the holiday festivity. Then broadening out the young philanthropists decided to include all the boys who were less favored of fortune than themselves and were otherwise likely to go without presents at Christmas. For those whom they especially wish to reward the finest presents from the tree have been reserved, but as to what manner of gifts these are to be the three boys are sworn to secrecy, and will not, even to their parents, reveal it. It is to be a great, beautiful surprise all around.

JAMES M. HINKLE FILES HIS REPORT

REAL PROPERTY OF THE LATE CON HAYES AMOUNTS TO $21,000 AND PERSONAL TO $5,000.

James M. Hinkle, who was appointed appraiser of the estate of Cornelius Hayes, deceased, by Judge McClerman, in order to determine whether the estate fell under the law of inheritance taxes, has filed his report with Clerk Roberts of the district court.

The report states that the real property, including the Ford ranch in Deer Lodge county and one-half interest in the Oregon Springs property, amounts to $21,000, and that the personal property would reach $5,000.

According to the law on inheritance taxes, the property of an estate to the value of $7,500 is exempt, and as the personal property of the Hayes estate does not exceed that amount, the estate is exempt from the payment of the inheritance tax.

The property will be divided between Norah C. Hayes, the widow of the deceased; May Hayes, a daughter, aged 10; Ethel Hayes, aged 6 years, and Con Hayes, Jr. aged 4.

LEAGUE FAIRLY LAUNCHED

Meeting of Men Financially Interested in Scheme Held in Seattle and the Rival Organization to the Pacific Northwests Now an Assured Fact.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Seattle, Dec. 24.—At a meeting of the men who are financially interested in the Seattle baseball team that is to be a member of the new Pacific Coast league, held at the Butler hotel last night, final arrangements were completed, and it may now be said that the new league has been fairly launched. The meeting was attended by some of the most prominent business men in the city of Seattle, who have invested their money in the enterprise, and who propose to see the season through regardless of expense.

Mr. Henry Harris of San Francisco and Park Wilson of Los Angeles were also at the meeting. Articles of incorporation will be filed today, and just as soon as they can be returned from Olympia, a board of directors will be elected. Work on the new grounds will be started by the 1st of January. At least $5,000 will be expended in the construction of the new park. At the meeting last night Park

Wilson was hired to manage and captain the new team. He left for Los Angeles last night to get his wife and family.

Wilson will not only manage and captain the team, but he will also be the mainstay behind the bat. Following is a list of the financial backers of the new team: Phil F. Kelly, George B. Lamming, Perry Polson, J. C. Lane, George W. Dilling, Lou Cohen, Fred E. Fisher, Scott Calhoun and R. M. Kinnear.

The first real meeting of the new Pacific Coast League will be held in San Francisco next Monday afternoon.

Mr. Harris, who left Seattle for San Francisco this morning, said: "It was just as I told you yesterday, there was not the slightest trouble at our meeting yesterday, afternoon and last night. The Seattle men who are back of the new team merely wanted my advice as to the articles of incorporation and matters of similar nature. We are in baseball to stay. We are not seeking trouble nor a fight, but we are ready for one or both if the Pacific Northwest League so wishes."

POPE PLEASURES THE KAISER

Will Organize Pro-German Theological School at Strasburg.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Rome, Dec. 24.—The long-standing difference between Emperor William and the vatican respecting the training of candidates for the priesthood of Alsace-Lorraine was satisfactorily adjusted today.

Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state, in behalf of the pope, and Baron Von Hertling, representing the emperor, agreed that the vatican shall organize a theological school in connection with the University of Strasburg under the same rules as those at Bonn and Breslau. The appointment of the faculty will be subject to the approval of the bishop of Strasburg.

The existing seminary at Strasburg, to whose pro-French influence the emperor objected, remains intact, but will be distinct from the new school.

WILL PELEE ERUPT?

periods would be regular enough to admit of prediction is extremely doubtful. So eminent a student of volcanic action as Professor Israel C. Russell thinks that it is too soon to write a final report on the activity of Pelee and Souffriere, but it is not likely that he or any equally reputable expert would be willing to try to forecast further developments. Still, a good many curious people will be impressed by Dr. Jagger's guesses, and will keep an eye on the West Indies December 30.

The tidal theory is backed up by a few such coincidences as these: The great explosion of May 8 occurred at the time of new moon. The premonitory rumblings that initiated the whole chapter of trouble at Martinique were heard on April 23, when there was a full moon. A second violent outbreak occurred on May 21, when the moon was again full. The marked renewal of activity in La Souffriere on October 15 antedated another full moon by a little more than 24 hours. Here is another fact which may possibly have some significance. The moon's distance from the earth varies a good deal. She is said to be "in perigee" when closest to the earth. Perigees recur at intervals of about 27 1/2 days, while the lunar month is 29 1/2 days long. Whenever a perigee coincides with either a new or full moon higher tides result, because the moon's pull is more powerful than at other times. Now, there was a combination of new moon and perigee on May 8, the day when St. Pierre was destroyed. A full moon on November 15, occurring about 36 hours before a perigee, was itself attended with exceptional activity at Stromboli, which began on November 13. But a still closer coincidence in point of time arose this month, perigee following the full moon of December 14 by only eight or nine hours, and on that occasion, apparently, nothing happened in Martinique or St. Vincent.

It Does Not Always Work.

Unfortunately for the lunar theory, some of the most violent demonstrations are observed at the wrong time. The outbreak of Santa Maria, in Guatemala, on October 23, came just half way between a full and new moon. The renewal of Pelee's activity on July 10 and 11 was similarly misplaced. A concurrence of perigee and new moon on August 1 to 3 seems to have passed without any notable volcanic outbreak, although mild earthquakes were felt in California during the closing days of July.

Ocean tides are due primarily to the moon's attraction. The sun, too, exerts some influence, although this, owing to the great distance of that body, is much smaller than the moon's. Therefore, when the sun and moon are working together the tides are higher than when the sun pulls at right angles to the direction of the moon's attraction. In one case the solar influence is added to the lunar. In the other it is subtracted therefrom. It is a somewhat curious fact that a bulging mass of water is always raised on the other side of the earth as well as on the same side as the moon and sun. The practical effect is the same, whether the sun and moon are on the same side or on opposite sides. The former situation gives rise to a new moon tide and the latter a full moon tide.

Gravity Acts on Earth.

If the intensely hot and theoretically soft interior of the earth is acted upon by gravitation as the open ocean, and in a disposition to form tides exists inside as well as outside of the crust, two things might be reasonably expected. Manifestations would occur at weak spots in the shell, and these would be most conspicuous when a perigee fell on the same day as a new or full moon. But proof of that internal tidal tendency is needed before it can be accepted. Certainly none has been afforded thus far this month, when it might have been looked for with some reason.

Moreover, it must be remembered that in some ways the interior of the earth acts like a perfectly rigid mass.

London, Dec. 24.—Lieut. Gordon Carter of the First Life guards, the "swiftest" regiment in the British army, has risen from the ranks to the position of second in command of their corps. He has thus attained a position no guardsman who joined as trooper ever held before, guards and troopers often get commissions, but never heretofore in their own corps.

Colonel Carter is the son of a farmer. He served in the ranks seven years. In 1880 he received a commission as riding master and was made a lieutenant in 1881. From that time until 1891 he served as adjutant, being made a captain in 1887. He was appointed major in 1895 and got brevet rank as lieutenant colonel in 1900.

In the Boer war he served with a composite battalion of the household cavalry with no little distinction. He was often mentioned in despatches and has six clasps to his medal.

WRIT OF ERROR IN CASE OF A. BURRELL

MATTER WILL BE TAKEN DIRECT TO THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Helena, Dec. 24.—Application was made in the supreme court today for a writ of error in the case of Archie Burrell of Great Falls. It is proposed now to take the case direct to the supreme court of the United States, hence today's application.

MISSOULA LAUNDRY PEOPLE ON STRIKE

GARDEN CITY PEOPLE HAVE LITTLE CHANCE TO GET THEIR CLEAN CLOTHES FOR XMAS.

SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN.
Missoula, Dec. 24.—Missoula is in the throes of a laundry strike and the chances for getting one's clean clothes out of the washhouse in time for Christmas grows slim.

At a meeting of the Laundry Workers' union last night it was decided to adopt a new and slightly higher wage scale. This morning the scale was presented to the proprietors of the three laundries doing business in Missoula and each one refused to grant the increase. A walkout followed at once. About 25 people are in the strike.

The Florence hotel maintains its own laundry, which is in the strike, and in case the proprietors persist in their refusal to grant the new scale it is possible that the members of the Waiters' union employed in the hotel will go out on a sympathetic strike. The members of that union are considering the matter this afternoon.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 24.—While Joseph Hoffman, the pianist, was in the midst of a Mozart composition at a concert he was giving here before the nobility a young woman who is his fervid admirer rose from her seat, rushed to the platform, threw her arms around him, insisted he should take a bouquet she carried and, turning to the astonished audience, shrieked: "You should not divinely. Human applause is not what this divinely-gifted man wants."

A great commotion followed and Hoffman, pale as death, could play no more. His mad votary was led away by force and placed in an asylum.

STAGE PEERESSES ARE HAPPY

Countess Clancarty and Marchioness of Headfort Are Good Examples.

London, Dec. 24.—Countess Clancarty, formerly Belle Bilton of music hall fame, who lives almost the entire year on her husband's estates in Ireland, is even more beautiful than on her wedding day.

When Earl Clancarty insisted on marrying the stage beauty his father fought the match bitterly, but there seem to be none but happy results of the marriage. The Countess of Clancarty was the first of the three actresses now peeresses to win her title. A number of chorus girls and players have married younger sons of peers, but only three lords, the Earl of Orkney, the Marquis of Headfort and the Earl Clancarty have taken their wives from the stage.
