

DOINGS OF SOCIETY

THE past week has been a quiet one. Many receptions and other forms of gaiety were planned for the holiday season but the death of Mrs. W. A. Clark, Jr., blighted most of the budding festivity. Still, different little circles have enjoyed small entertainments, for Butte is too large a town to be completely inert socially. Among the bits of news that are of general interest are the following:

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hanson have moved into the Newbro house on West Broadway.

Miss Clara Belle Corbin, who spent Christmas at her home in Missoula, returned to Butte on Saturday. Miss Corbin is living at the Montana.

Miss Elizabeth Brown of the High School is back, after passing her vacation in Salt Lake City.

Mr. Joseph Gilbert of the "Labor World," has accepted a position in Anaconda.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blair have moved to Missoula.

Mr. Leancy of the High School is in town again after a visit with his mother in Boston.

Miss Nason, Miss O'Rourke and some other teachers have taken a house on South Washington street.

Miss Adelaide Ogier, who has been visiting her sister, Miss Fannie Ogier, since last October, returned to her home in San Jose on Thursday.

John Dickson has got to the eastern part of the state on business.

The Misses Ogier entertained Miss Sim and Mr. William Green at dinner on Wednesday evening at the Montana.

Miss Mildred Teller, the sister of Mrs. M. G. McNevin, left Butte on Tuesday for her home in Montreal, Canada. Miss Teller has been the guest of Mrs. McNevin for the past year.

Mrs. J. R. E. Sievers is the happy mother of a little boy just three weeks of age.

Mrs. Robert Wood, who has been in Canada for several months, is at home again.

Mr. Vernon E. Matlack, the well known musician, left here on Saturday night for Chicago, his former home, where he will stay for about ten days. During Mr. Matlack's absence, one of his pupils, Mrs. Samuel Croup, will fill his place as organist of St. John's church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Paine, who have been in Butte for the last four years, started for Highlands, California, on Thursday. During their residence here Mr. and Mrs. Paine have made many friends who will deeply regret their absence. For the past week Mr. and Mrs. Paine have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Vail at their home on West Granite street. During that time many social courtesies have been given them.

LANGUAGE THAT WOULD NOT LOOK VERY WELL

In Print, Hurler at County Attorney by Coterie of Youth Confined for the Nonce at the Jail.

As the county attorney was passing the corridor leading into the wing of the county jail, where a number of boys are confined, yesterday afternoon several of the youngsters hurled epithets at him that would not look well in print. The county attorney hurried to the barred door leading into the wing and told the boys in plain language that if they did not behave themselves they would be confined in a less agreeable place.

Mr. Breen literally read the riot act to the youths and gave them to understand that they must behave themselves even in jail.

The unusual number of boys confined in the Silver Bow county jail at this time, charged with offenses on the part of the citizens of Butte. It is said that not in years have so many boys fallen within the toils of the law.

IN CLUBDOM

THE Monday Evening Club held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. W. J. Christie. The evening was taken up with reviews of magazine articles and books.

Miss Una Madden spoke of Mark Twain's new story, "Was It Heaven or Hell?" that appeared in the Christmas number of Harper's. A discussion of Rev. A. H. Henry's novel, "By Order of the Prophet," followed. The club was of the opinion that the book was one of merit and that harsh criticisms of it are unjust.

When the program for the evening was finished Mrs. Christie talked of the biennial meeting of the women's clubs in Los Angeles.

Before the members present went their several ways they were refreshed with hot coffee and cakes.

The Mistletoe Club.

On Monday afternoon the members of the Mistletoe club enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. William Bailey. Mrs. John Moore won the first prize, a handsome china tea set, and the second prize, a half dozen cups and saucers, was won by Mrs. Bailey.
