Philadelphia, Jan. 6.—Harry Gill, the champion all-round athlete, will be a member of the professional American athletic congress which will tour England, Ireland and Scotland and probably the European continent.

Gill's performance at the A. A. U. championship was the best ever recorded in that event. He is a Canadian and is sure to be popular on the other side.

Start First of June. As Keene is now trainer at the University of Maine, it is very probable that the tour will not begin till well after the first week in June.

ENGLISH WINNERS ON TURF IN 1902

NUMBER OF BRITISH MADE GOOD CLEANUP—FRENCHMAN MADE THE HIGHEST.

The winnings of 1902 of prominent owners on the turf in England and France have been figured up and they make the winnings of the American owners look rather small.

English Big Winners. Nine English owners won $50,000 and upwards, Colonel McCalmont following Mr. Sievier with $90,575; Sir J. B. Maple, with $89,560; Arthur James, with $82,925; the Duke of Portland, with $71,525; J. Grubbins, with $68,495; the Duke of Devonshire, with $66,785; Sir James Muller, with $55,475, and Sir R. W. Griffith, with $53,175.

The next name on the list to strike attention from an American standpoint is that of W. C. Whitney, who ranks sixteenth, with $27,800 to his credit, a drop, indeed, from his $99,600 of the previous year, when he ranked second.

Crocker Got $8,925. Then in alphabetical order Richard Crocker won four races with $8,925; Lord Dunraven seven, worth $9,995; George Edwards, manager of the Gaiety theater, 11, worth $23,720; Frank G. Amer, 17, worth $20,760 (Mr. G. is a rich American member of the London stock exchange); Mrs. Langtry, six, worth $6,400; Foxhall Keene, two, worth $2,755, and James R. Keene, two, worth $2,755, and the young Duke of Westminster, two, worth $7,210.

CAUTION!

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Bosche's German Syrup.

turn at the end of the summer, but Marsh, Gill, Kanaly and others can make a lot of money by staying over there and looking after the meets.

A schedule has been mapped out and the first games will be in Scotland in the middle of June. Already they have dates for seven meets in July and for a half dozen in August.

Harvard-Yale Meet. Harvard will try hard to beat Yale in the dual meet in the spring. The meet will be held at New Haven, which will give the Blue a big advantage.

Burke spoke highly yesterday of Captain Lightner of the Harvard team, and said that his work at the last intercollegiate meet stamped him as a good man.

KING GRAFT KILLS GAME IN CHICAGO

CANNOT HOLD A FIGHT DOWN IN THE WINDY CITY WITHOUT PUTTING UP FOR IT.

The fighting game is getting down to pretty low ebb in Chicago. Hardly a club of any pretension that hasn't internal squabbles and petty bickerings.

It appears as if King Graft, like Poe's Mask of the Red Death, is sweeping everything before him. The minute the dole is not apportioned equally, there is a hue and a howl, and a cry and a snarl and then: "I'll stop your d--d club if you don't take care of me."

Down in Salt Lake--Before the Days of His National Prominence, "Pompador Jim" Spent a Spell in the Utah Metropolis Under the Name of Jim Dillon and Had a Fine Old Time There.

SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN. Salt Lake, Jan. 10.—James J. Corbett, the famous heavyweight, masqueraded in Salt Lake under the name of Jim Dillon in 1886. At that time, however, he was comparatively little known, though traveling across the continent in one of the greatest athletic combinations ever seen on the road.

John F. Davidson, One of the Fastest Men in the World, Tells the Proper Way to Act on Runners--Some of the Essential Principles of Successful Skating and How to Manage Them.

With a long, cold January and February likely there is apt to be a lot of skating in this part of the country, and what John F. Davidson, one of the world's fastest skaters, has to say will be of interest.

There is an art in speed skating as well as in fancy skating, though the followers of each sport are unwilling to admit this to be true of the other.

The rink skater has greater difficulties to contend with than the outdoor exponent of the sport, in that he has many turns to negotiate. Usually these turns are very short. In turning a corner at high speed the skater leans to the side he is turning, at an angle of sometimes 20 degrees, and it's an art to keep his feet, requiring great skill.

At the end of the stroke he thrusts his skate strongly against the ice sideways and backwards, gripping the surface with the inside edge of the blade of the skate, and thus obtains the impetus necessary for driving him along during the next stroke. Meanwhile the other leg has been brought back from the final thrust of the previous stroke toward and over the middle line, and has been drawn well under the body.

Just before the front thrust the skater ceases to balance himself on the outside edge, his skate curves outward, but his weight does not follow it, and he comes upon the flat of his skate and then finishes on the inside edge.

To make a vigorous backward thrust with the leg, and at the same time to place the other leg on the middle line and receive upon it with steady balance, the weight of the body thus driven forward, and to run upon it along this line, is a feat requiring much practice and skill.

Too much importance cannot be attached to the length and steadiness of the stroke in speed work and the swing of the body in harmony with the stroke.
