sent in another right uppercut to the head and Eddie came in with left to the kidneys. Corbett planted his right twice to the face and then jarred the Californian with three hard rights and lefts to the same place. Hanlon came back like a fiend and as the bell sounded nearly put the champion out of business by a succession of rights and lefts to the face. Hanlon's right eye is badly cut and was bleeding profusely. It was anybody's fight in this round.

right to the head, but Hanlon went after left man, who had his hands full blocking the Californian's hard body blows. Corbett sent right twice to the face and slipped to the floor. When he got up Hanlon put in left and right to the jaw. Corbett put left uppercut to the jaw, but Hanlon responded with hard right to the wind and right to the kidneys. Hanlon blocked two right uppercuts to the head and went in with right and left to body. Corbett displayed much skill in this round in laying on Hanlon and keeping his stomach out of danger of the Californian's wicked blows. Most of Hanlon's punches which landed did no damage to speak of.

Round 18—Corbett rushed in with left to the face. He tried it again, but was blocked. Hanlon landed three right and lefts and Corbett clinched to avoid punishment. He forced Corbett to the ropes with rights and lefts to the face, the champion taking terrific punishment. Hanlon sent straight left to the face with right. Corbett sent in hard right and Hanlon sent the champion to the floor with a succession of blows to face and body. So many blows were landed on Corbett that it was wonderful how he rallied. Hanlon kept up this work until the sound of the gong, which saved the champion from defeat. Corbett's ability to assimilate the punishment was a revelation.

Round 19—Corbett, as usual, came up refreshed and sent right to jaw. Hanlon danced around Corbett and succeeded in landing right and left to jaw. They mixed it and Hanlon sent straight left hard to the face. Hanlon tried with right and left for the body, but failed to connect. Corbett fought back strongly, but most of his blows lacked force. Eddie sent right to the body and Corbett went in with right and left swing to the head, steady-ly the Californian. Corbett again tried with hard right for the jaw, but was blocked. Hanlon sent the champion back with rights and lefts to the body and the sound of the gong was a welcome one to the champion. Hanlon tried to finish Corbett in this round, but was unequal to the task, the pace having left its effect on him.

Round 20—Corbett went in hammer and tongs, but his blows were blocked. Hanlon put his left to the jaw, and two rights to the body in a mixup; but Corbett came back with right to the head and then crossed to the jaw with left. Hanlon straightened the champion with hard right to the jaw and followed it with another rain of blows to the jaw. He sent Corbett to the ropes and put his right hard to the stomach. The bell again came to the champion's rescue, but he went to his corner walking straight. Both men displayed much gameness, the champion particularly.

Round 17—Corbett uppercut Hanlon with right to the jaw and Eddie sent him back with a left to the face. Corbett swung got in right to the jaw. Corbett swung

THINKS CUSICK IS INSANE (Continued from Page One.) cowbells and waves umbrellas. What sort of insanity would you call that? "I think that might be called enthusiastic insanity."

"What do you think of a member of the Rod and Gun club who is devoted to that sport, or to a man who gets excited over horse races?" "Well, they might be educated up to such points, so that it would be the most important matter of their lives to them."

SERGEANT DAWSON IS PUT ON THE STAND At 11 o'clock a short recess was taken, and then Sergeant Dawson was put on again by the state as the first witness in rebuttal. The sergeant declared his belief to be that Cusick was sane when he arrested him after the shooting. There was a lively contest between Mr. Booth and the officer over the question of when he had first formed his opinion as to Cusick's sanity.

Dr. Ironsides, in rebuttal, also gave his opinion as being that Cusick was sane when he talked to him. Policeman Edward Hamilton was put on the stand for the first time by the state to relate the circumstances leading up to and surrounding Cusick's arrest and his struggle with the officers. The policeman declared that Cusick had attempted to interfere during the arrest of a prisoner, and had threatened to "fix" Hamilton and Barshaw and have them removed from that beat.

Hamilton testified that he had struck Cusick but once, although Cusick had struck him once and again had kicked him in the nose. Cusick was arrested on the orders of Police Captain Everts and charged with vagrancy. In the cross-examination, which was not completed at the noon adjournment, Mr. Booth sought to show that Hamilton had been in trouble while a policeman in Great Falls because of beatings given men arrested; but this was denied emphatically by the witness.

The cross-examination was rigid and occasioned several times between the opposing counsel. The story in substance was the same as has been repeatedly given as the police side of the case, and went to show that Cusick was the aggressor in striking the officers and in refusing to submit to arrest. Tim Keefe was called in rebuttal at the opening of the afternoon session. Keefe was with Baggs at the time of the shooting, and he testified this afternoon that he was convinced Cusick was sane at the
