Georgetown, Colo., Aug. 11.—Judge Frank Owens has issued an injunction to every member of the Citizens' Protective League restraining them from interfering with the 18 members of the Idaho Springs miners' union who were driven out of town just after the blowing up of the compressor of the Sun and Moon.

Immediately after the issuance of the temporary restraining order attorneys representing the 18 miners and the Western Federation of Miners offered criminal complaints against the members of the Citizens' Protective League of Idaho Springs.

Warrants against each of them were issued and the sheriff was instructed to start at once and arrest all of them that he could find and send them at once to Georgetown to appear before Judge Owens.

SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST JUSTICE

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER MEILL AT HAVRE SAID TO HAVE TAKEN A BRIBE.

TO APPEAR BEFORE JUDGE

Meill Must Go Before Knowles in the Federal Court and Show Cause Why He Shall Retain Office.

SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN. Havre, Aug. 11.—Justice of the Peace H. J. Meill of Havre, who is also United States commissioner here, has been summoned to Helena by Judge Knowles of the federal court, to show cause why his appointment as a federal officer should not be revoked.

Meill is one of the prominent men of this section. He was chief clerk to Superintendent J. A. Mayer of the Montana Central, in the headquarters' office in Great Falls for years and chief clerk of the Fifth legislative session.

It is not generally believed here that the charges against him are well founded.

Alleged Crookedness.

Briefly, it is alleged that Meill is guilty of crookedness in relation to the arrest of a certain Chinaman charged with forgery. This Oriental, whose name is Sing, is said to have confessed.

It is alleged that he was released on payment of $150 to another Chinaman, Lui, of whom he had taken $50 fraudulently, and $150.50 to the court and to the chief of police.

A check for $50 had been mailed to Quong Lui from Washington. The address was not legible and the letter fell into the hands of Tom Sing, who, it is said, forged Quong Lui's name and drew the money.

Fled to Canada.

Tom Sing fled to Assiniboine, but was arrested and returned. It is said that when he appeared before Justice Meill, the latter dismissed his case on the above terms.

The story reached the ears of the authorities in Washington; hence Judge Knowles' summons to the commissioner to appear in the federal court.

BAGGAGEMEN TO HANDLE THE MAIL

POSTMASTER GENERAL PAYNE WILL TRY A NOVEL EXPERIMENT IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

PLAN TO DISTRIBUTE PAPERS

Railroad Employees Are to Be Sworn in as Government Agents for the Time Being.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. Washington, Aug. 11.—Postmaster General Payne has decided to make the experiment of employing baggagemen on trains which are not provided with mail clerks to take care of and deliver open newspaper mail.

This decision has been reached after much consideration and in response to a petition filed by many of the leading newspaper publishers of the country, who asked the postoffice department to provide facilities for distributing open bundles of papers along the lines on trains which carry only closed pouches.

There are a large number of such trains, and as the department is not represented by an employe on them, the postmaster general declined to assume responsibility for papers not included in the pouches. Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenburger then suggested the expedient of employing the baggagemen to take charge of the mail in open pouches and the suggestion was adopted.

The plan contemplates that the baggagemasters shall be sworn in as postoffice employes and that they shall be paid for their services.

It is intended that they shall deliver the papers to those to whom they are addressed at points along the line from the car doors, thus saving much time, which would be lost in case the papers were inclosed in the pouches, as this would necessitate their being taken to the local postoffice.

Since that time all trace of her has been lost.

The missing woman was 45 years of age, of medium height, had light hair and light gray eyes and was rather stout. She came to Butte from Denver in 1898. In Denver she worked as a domestic. ## ELEPHANT CHASED INTO SEA

Steamer Passengers and Fishermen Are Startled by Strange Spectacle.

New York, Aug. 11.—An elephant at large, swimming in Long Island sound, was a sight that startled passengers on steamers and numerous fishermen in small boats today.

The big beast was some distance from shore and swam apparently with the ease, if not the grace, of a seal. There were several rowboats in pursuit and many attempts were made to capture him without avail.

The small boats were not overturned was due entirely to the docile disposition of the beast. The elephant was Basil, the largest of the herd in the zoo at Glen island, which early in the day took into his mammoth head the idea of crossing over to the Long Island shore.

Basil was tied to a stake outside the elephant sheds while his stall was being cleaned. He amused himself by affectionately encircling the stake with his trunk.

Then he gave it a quick jerk and the stake traveled high in the air. Basil did not move for an instant or two. Then he looked toward the sound, where the water was cool and tempting.

He made direct for it and waded in. The keepers came at him with hooks and spears. Basil filled his trunk with water and drenched them time and time again. They prodded him with hooks, but their labor was futile.

Finally ropes were secured, but when the men endeavored to throw them over his head the elephant struck out into the deep water of the sound.

A telephone message was sent to the Glen island office in town to dispatch a tugboat. It was argued that when Basil became tired and hungry he would return, but it was necessary that he be followed to prevent harm from befalling him.

Off David's island a steamer passed. The passengers were greatly interested in the novel scene.

A steam launch then joined in the chase. There were two keepers in it and they managed to get ahead of him and, by waving their arms in front of him, got him to turn and head for shore, his strength apparently not failing, for twice he turned and circled about.

When the elephant reached shore he came up and shook himself after the fashion of a dog, and then started for his stall in the elephant sheds.

The Lincoln, Menoken, Automobile, Tuscarora and Press clubs have also taken like action.

FIVE-CENT ASSESSMENT MADE

Printers Will Contribute to Fund in Aid of Los Angeles Brothers.

Washington, Aug. 11.—When the delegates to the International Typographical union met today the report of the committee on laws was presented.

Among the changes recommended was a suggestion to make permanent the monthly assessment of 5 cents per capita for a defense fund as provided by the Cincinnati convention. The subject aroused considerable debate, but ultimately was adopted.

There was also considerable discussion of a proposition to permit local unions to fix the time allowed to apprentices to learn the use of typesetting machines at three months.

A substitute providing that no one who is not a member of the order shall be permitted to learn the use of the machines in the union offices, was lost, 72 to 94.

A proposition to make the time for learning the machine six months was also voted down.

The report of the committee on this proposition was then adopted.

HAULED DOWN OLD GLORY

Canadians Took a Few Shots at the American Flag.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 11.—The steamer Varuna, with a large excursion party on board, went into the Canadian port of Trenton flying two flags, the Union Jack at the stern and the Stars and Stripes on her main flagstaff, which reached beyond the wheelhouse.

Some young men protested against the United States flag having a higher position than the Union Jack. Their protests not being heeded—one of them secured a rifle, fired three or four shots at the flag-staff on which the United States flag flew, when the offending emblem was hauled down.

The Varuna had just come in from the Thousand Islands, in which locality both flags are displayed on vessels.
