BISHOP'S COTERIE OF BOXERS LEAVE

PROMOTER, HERRERA AND BILLY WOODS ARE OFF FOR SUNNY CALIFORNIA.

MATCH WITH JACK CORDELL

Aurelio Will Try to Add the Amateur Lightweight of the Coast to His String of Victims.

Biddy Bishop, Aurelio Herrera and Billy Woods left last evening over the Short Line for San Francisco, where they will spend the winter.

Herrera has a match with Jack Cordell before a club in Oakland, November 17. Cordell is the amateur lightweight of the coast and is said to be a hard, game fighter. This will be his first appearance in the professional ring.

Although practically unknown to the professional ring, Cordell has a splendid reputation as a boxer out on the coast and is expected to give the Mexican a run for his money.

In regard to the proposed match with Eddie Hanlon, Bishop said that he knew nothing definite.

"I posted a forfeit for a match with Hanlon and this has been covered. I have heard nothing further about the matter, but I shall doubtless know all about it when I arrive in San Francisco."

Billy Woods has been partly promised a match with Joe Walcott before the Colma club, situated a short distance from Oakland. It will be remembered that Woods once boxed a 20-round draw with the Barbadoes Demon and by many was thought to have had a shade the better of the argument.

When Woods was working with Herrera, Bishop endeavored to get a match for the colored fighter, but he was regarded as too hard a game by most fighters.

Bishop thinks he has a coming winder in Woods. The boxer is only 22 years of age, of excellent habits and a cleverness at the boxing game seldom seen.

There are many who have seen him box who predict that he is the logical successor to Joe Walcott when that worthy is retired by time or a severe beating or two.

NEW RECORD IN BOWLING

Chicago, Nov. 6.—A new bowling record was made last night in the tournament of the Muoro league when the "Sunset" team of five men made a score of 1,119. Thirty strikes and 16 spares were marked in the game. The performance is a world's record under the new rules of the American Bowling congress. The previous record was 1,105.

SIDE LIGHTS ON THE DAY'S SPORT NEWS

The Missoula Football team, which arrives tonight, will be taken in charge by the School of Mines students and given a rousing welcome. The visitors will be royally entertained while in Butte and, although it is hoped that victory will perch on the banners of the home team tomorrow, nothing will be left undone to make the pigskin kickers from Missoula feel at home while here.

Not since the School of Mines was opened a few years ago has there been such enthusiasm shown as there is this year. The organization of a fast football team has done much to foster this feeling. Then, too, the public is beginning to realize that the School of Mines is fast forging to the front among the technical schools of the West.

Bozeman is showing a great deal of football spirit this season. Besides a strong eleven at the Agricultural college, the Gallatin county High School is in the field with a fast bunch and the militia company is also in the game. Tomorrow the Gallatin County High School plays the Park County High School at Bozeman, and Sunday the militia company will play a team of regular soldiers from Fort Yellowstone.

About 1,000 persons saw the wrestling match yesterday at Kalispell when Jack O'Neill won from the Turk, Young Youseff. The first fall was taken by the Turk in 10 minutes, and O'Neill took the next two and the match. The match was for $100 a side. After it was all over the Turk announced that he would wager $500 that he could throw O'Neill. The challenge will be taken. The bout was according to catch-as-catch-can rules.

Prize fighting has been tabooed by the city council of Los Angeles. At a recent meeting of the council it was decided to put a stop to the matches being held in that city.

That a quietus has been dealt the fighting game in Los Angeles is a heavy blow to pugilism. Now there remains but one real open port for bouts of 20 rounds—San Francisco. Although it will be an acquisition to the latter's strong box, it will be a bad thing generally for the fighters.

Tom McCarey of the Century club, associated with James F. Morley, owner of the Los Angeles Pacific Coast league baseball team, practically controls the fist affairs of that city. They have spent many thousands of dollars in building up the fighting proposition there and but recently signed a 10 years' lease on Hazzard's pavilion. Frequently they have experienced trouble with the city council of Los Angeles, but the matter has always been quieted.

The only available place outside of the city limits where the ring shows could be made to pay is a plot near Agricultural park. As the place has been considered before, it is not unlikely that McCarey will build a pavilion there, unless the council should retract. Boston has brought boxing down to a 15-round limit, New York 10 and Philadelphia six.

A match of more than ordinary interest has been made at Oakland. It is a 20-round contest between Louis Long of Oakland and Frank Rafael of San Francisco. They are to meet at 1:30 p.m. at 6 o'clock on the day of the fight. The contest will take place some time the latter part of this month.

Long is at present in Seattle with his manager, Billy Lavigne, and did not hesi-

TWO NEW RECORDS ARE MADE

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. Dourdon, France, Nov. 6.—At a cycle meet here yesterday two world records were made. Dubray, with a 100-horsepower machine, covering a kilometre in 26 2/5 seconds. Limberjack, with a motor cycle, covered the same distance in 34 1/5 seconds.

tate to signify his willingness to meet Rafael.

Long is going out of his class to meet Rafael as he can fight at 122 pounds, but it is a case of have to or go without a match. He has met and defeated the best in his weight on the coast and has to go into the lightweight class for a match. Rafael is a clever boxer and will give the Oakland boy all he wants to do, when they come together.

Long recently fought a 20-round draw with Herrera.

"When Eddie Hanlon says he was never knocked down he lies. I knocked him down in our first fight. I will knock him down and out when I meet him again."

"Hanlon is a great big bluffer. That boy can't lick a man like myself who knows how to fight him. Swings and uppercuts will bring Hanlon to his knees. Make no mistake about that."

In these words Abe Attell has made plain his determination to force Hanlon into a match just as soon as his hand heals.

Abe's left hand was shattered by a pane of glass some months ago and is healing slowly. The bandages are off, but the mitt is badly swollen and discolored. Attell is busy planning matches and assuring his friends that his hand will not bother him long.

Robert Fitzsimmons has started training for his 20-round battle with George Gardner that will be fought in San Francisco the latter part of this month. The blacksmith is conditioning himself and is rapidly ridding himself of superfluous flesh. He has Joe Kennedy to work with and the two each day engage in some hard battling.

Kennedy acted as sparring partner for Jeffries when the latter prepared for two championship contests fought in this city. Joe is used to hard knocks and is fairly clever with his hands. Jim Casey, who is called the "Irish giant," is also working with Fitzsimmons. Bob uses Casey for rough work on the canvas. He is able to throw Casey around as if he were a small boy. The Cornishman's strength is remarkable. Fitz goes out on the road each day and his wind is already good. His eye is clear and bright and he is as active and full of fight as in the days when he made the best men in the country acknowledge his fighting ability.

George Gardner is training in Sausalito. He has Dave Barry to box with and uses the hills for strengthening his legs and improving his wind. Gardner is gaining strength and is keeping to his original weight. He possesses great confidence and feels certain that he will win the Fitzsimmons of the light heavyweight championship. Gardner has improved wonderfully since last seen in Frisco. His victories over clever Jack Root have made him feel certain that he can defeat any man in the world at his weight.

Jimmy Britt and Charley Seiger are working faithfully for their coming 20-round bout. It will be remembered that Britt injured his foot while preparing for Seiger last month and the battle was postponed until November 10. Britt has recovered the use of his foot and is doing hard work at Croll's gardens, Alameda. He is down to weight and expects to go into the ring in perfect condition. Britt admits that Seiger is a dangerous customer in the ring and he is leaving no stone unturned to be in the best possible shape. Seiger proved that he could make 133 pounds at 6 o'clock and fight strong. This has boosted his chances and his friends are now ready to back him to beat Britt.

SCHOOL OF MINES AND THE U. OF M.

FOOTBALL BOYS WILL LINE UP AT COLUMBIA GARDENS TOMORROW AFTERNOON.

The husky youths who compose the School of Mines football team will line up against the University of Montana eleven tomorrow at Columbia Gardens. It will be the big game of the season in Butte. Both teams have been practicing hard for the event and are about evenly matched.

The home team recently took a fall out of the Missoula bunch and is confident of doing it again. What is planned to do to that stalwart aggregation from the Garden City is a shame to tell. There is just the shadow of a suspicion, however, that the Missoula boys have something up their sleeves to spring at this meeting, which may cause a revision of the story of the game.

Since that little episode at Missoula the University team has been going through a thorough overhauling. Hard, grueling work has been handed out until they have begun to like lumps and knocks.

It is said that they have a mass play that acts like a steam snow plow in action. When it gets started, the opposing line withers up like tissue paper before the flame.

The University boys will arrive tonight and after a good sleep will be ready to don the habiliments of the warrior.

The line of battle of the School of Mines will be something like this: Center, O. Brinton; guards, C. Brinton and McGee; tackles, Pratt and Balmforth; ends, Dinsing and Tallant; quarterback, Kane; half-backs, Corey and Young; full back, Bretherton; substitutes, A. Young, Hammer, Farnham, Schloesser and Melkejohn.

And this is a husky line, too, if anybody should inquire about it. A stonewall is a joke, compared with it. The School of Mines has long passed through the stage where the principles of the game were drilled into the players. They have a number of strategic plays that are designed to strike terror to the heart of the opposition.

A. F. OF L. TO MEET

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. New York, Nov. 6.—The convention of the American Federation of Labor, which opens on next Monday in Boston will be requested by the structural workers' officials to settle the troubles existing in the structural iron industry and bring about the signing of an arbitration agreement by the union housecarpenters and bridgemen and the iron league.

The plan for appealing to the federation was decided upon at a conference between the executive committee of the International Association of Bridge and Ironworkers and the United Housecarpenters and Bridgemen's union in this city.

The trouble, which has been continuous during the entire building season, threatened a few days ago to result in a general strike of ironworkers in many large cities.

STRANGE SENSATIONS

Experienced During a Trip on a Submarine Torpedo Boat.

When the boat is first closed there is a slight sensation of pressure in the ears, and voices sound far away. Occasionally a slight dizziness in a forward direction hints that the boat is going down. Otherwise we sit in the living space, chat, laugh, move about as will wonder where we are and what the people above the surface think about it. If you have ever made a trip in a closed launch on a rainy day and in smooth water you have had about the equivalent.

It is rather more interesting in the conning tower, especially as there is a bit of dirt under a valve seat and the steersman is sitting under a shower bath. From the force with which the slender stream spurts in you realize for the first time that you are under a column of 25 feet of water. The steersman swears softly and the water runs off his back into a bucket. You begin to lose old illusions and understand new things. You do not see the wonders of submarine life. There is an oblong patch of opaque green; that is your submarine view. Then the boat rises and you see broken water, then the surface. A plunge and there is the wall of impenetrable green. Captain Lake says 30 feet is the limit of sight under the most favorable conditions. Here you are running, and the diffused and broken light gives you only this patch of green.

Now the boat is running submerged and on a compass course. There is nothing to be seen by the watchers above but the steel flag cutting the surface. Now we rise, and the watchers may see a ripple such as might follow the fin of a shark. The omniscience is out of water. Simply the idea of the finder of a camera, at the end of a tube three feet above the conning tower, but it gives the true image in the submerged chamber, front, back and on both sides, with an enlarged image on a central glass. Captain Lake turns the omniscience until the object of aim is in the central glass, and holds it steady on the crossed lines in the center. A line across the compass follows the movement of the omniscience; the steersman has only to make his course identical with the direction of this line. It is a matter of so many minutes' running with the electrical motive power, and the submarine has arrived beside the vessel which has been mirrored in the omniscience.

Given 55 minutes of active work in the space and with the complement described, without oxygen other than that contained in the boat when she was first closed in, without use of any part of the compressed air in the reservoirs, add the fact of entire absence of discomfort in breathing, and something becomes damaged in connection with accepted theories as to the necessity of a frequently renewed atmosphere.—Harper's Weekly.

MISSISSIPPI MOB TAKES A NEGRO FROM JAIL AND HANGS HIM HIGH.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. New Orleans, Nov. 6.—Sam Adams, a young negro, who criminally assaulted Mrs. Peter Laduss at Corpus Christi, Miss., yesterday, escaped, but was captured and last night a mob took him from a jail which had been guarded by armed men, and hanged him to a tree.

FEAR OF TOAD

Shown at Scent of Snake's Blood Said to Be Remarkable.

As I was walking along a path through the woods this afternoon at about sunset, writes a Malden doctor, I noticed a toad who was out getting his evening meal off the insects that hovered about the path. I stopped to pass the time of day with him by touching him with my cane. I first touched the end of his nose—he put up his forefoot and deprecatingly pushed it away; this performance we went through with a few times when he decided that he had enough of that kind of fooling and hopped nonchalantly off. I started along the path and had gone but a dozen steps when I saw a striped snake lying in the path, he, too, like the toad, out for his evening meal.

I have a strong dislike for snakes, so I promptly killed this one and crushed its head with the end of my cane. A few steps further along the path I came across another hungry toad. I advanced the cane to his nose, but before it had touched him his attitude had wholly changed. When I saw him first he was sitting with his nose well up in the air, keeping watch for any insect that might come near enough for him to seize with his tongue; now, before the cane had quite touched him, he cowered down, trying to bury his nose in the dust, and make himself as small and compact as possible. I withdrew my stick, but he did not change his position.

I approached it to his nose again and he shrank away from it before it had touched him; I then, after the lapse of a few moments, touched the other end of him, very lightly, with the cane. It had barely touched him when he gave a vigorous jump, and he no sooner struck the ground than he gave another big jump, and he kept jumping as fast as he could for several yards. The whole conduct of this second toad showed great fear of my cane, whereas the first toad scarcely took any notice of it at all, and that only in a mildly deprecatory manner. The reason was that the second toad smelled "snake" on the cane, and that was enough for him. I have watched a snake eat a toad. The process of getting a toad into the snake's mouth occupied over an hour, and from the horrible experience that the toad went through with, the slow but steady surrender, millimetre by millimetre, into the snake's maw, I should think toads would have a great dread of snakes, as indeed they have. When I advanced my cane to this toad I did not think of his smelling the snake I had just killed, but when I saw him shrink away in abject fear, I saw reason in an instant, and thought it may have caused the toad a few moments of dread, I touched him behind wishing to see how he would act, and I saw the toad cover a few yards of path faster than I had ever seen one before.—Boston Transcript.

FIRE BOAT

On Wheels Will Be Used to Overcome Stubborn Blazes.

Chief Yates of the Schenectady fire department is the inventor of a new piece of fire-fighting apparatus, which will soon be put to the test in that city. A local paper describes it as a fireboat on wheels. It consists of a big monitor, such as is used on board the fireboats of the large cities, but in this case it is mounted on two wheels, so that it can be pushed wherever it may be desired by a couple of men. The nozzle has the additional feature that a curtain or shield of water is projected therefrom in all directions, making a perfect envelope around the firemen who may occasionally be compelled to go to the machine and direct its operations. As a rule, however, after it has been placed properly, it needs attention only once in a while, when the direction of the stream has to be changed. A similar piece of apparatus is in use in some of the departments, but that of Chief Yates is said to be a great improvement over all of them. It will take an active part in the review of the fire department of Schenectady to be held at an early date.—Philadelphia Record.

SURE INDICATIONS OF BAD BLOOD

OLD SORES, ULCERS, ABSCESSES

The best evidence of a bad condition of the blood and unhealthy state of the system, is an old festering sore, running ulcer, or abscess. They show the bodily impurities are not passing out through the proper channels, but are left in the system to clog and poison the blood. So thoroughly does the poison permeate the system that every little scratch, cut or bruise inflames and festers. Everything about an old sore or ulcer suggests disease. They affect the general health, they require constant attention, and are a source of anxiety and trouble all the time, and in some cases highly offensive. There is danger, too, of these places becoming cancerous if not treated promptly and in the right way. Washes, salves and ointments are good for external use, but they can't stop the discharge or change the condition of the blood, and for this reason the sore never heals permanently.

Not until the blood is purged of impurities and the system cleansed of all harmful substances should the ulcer heal, or the effect upon the system might prove disastrous. S. S. S. goes into the circulation and searches out and removes the cause of the old sore and invigorates and builds up the polluted, sluggish blood again, and as the poisonous matter is driven from the system the sore begins to heal, new flesh forms and the place is soon covered over with fresh skin and the sore is gone for all time. Where the constitution is debilitated from the effects of chronic sores, ulcers, abscesses, carbuncles, boils or other severe skin eruptions, S. S. S. will build it up again and stimulate and strengthen all parts of the system. S. S. S. contains no strong minerals, but is guaranteed entirely vegetable. It is unequalled as a Blood Purifier and invigorating tonic. Do not depend upon local remedies alone. Get your blood right, and as it forces out the poison the sore must heal, because nothing is left in the system for it to feed upon. Write us should you desire medical advice, which is given without charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

FROM CALF OF THE LEG TO ANKLE

A SOLID SORE.

New Castle, Pa., July 20, 1903. Three years ago a common boil appeared on the calf of my limb. Not yielding to simple home remedies, I consulted a physician, who prescribed a poultice, flax seed, supposedly. By some fearful mistake I was given corrosive sublimate, and after having it on for a few minutes I could endure the pain no longer, so took off the application and found that my limb from the calf to the ankle was in an awful condition. I immediately sent for another physician, who told me I had been poisoned. My limb from the calf to the ankle was a solid inflamed sore. I was advised to begin S. S. S., and improved rapidly under its use, but about this time I had an attack of typhoid fever, and this settled in the original sore. This, of course, caused a back set, but having confidence in the ability of S. S. S., I began it again as soon as I was over the fever, and to make a long story short, was completely and permanently cured. Two years have elapsed, and I have never had a return of the trouble. MRS.
