

LUCKLESS HYPATIA AND HER STRUGGLE

MRS. ELLA KNOWLES HASKELL TELLS OF BEAUTIFUL WOMAN WHOM FANATICS SLEW.

HER TRULY TERRIBLE DEATH

Torn to Pieces by Alexandria Mob, Whom Cyril Had Incited on to Its Deed of Fanaticism.

The address of Mrs. Knowles Haskell in the open meeting of the Theosophical society last night was listened to by an audience which packed the headquarters of the society.

The subject was "Hypatia, the Last of the Greek Philosophers," and was treated logically and concisely. The speaker began her address with a sketch of the conditions existing in the fifth century, the time in which Hypatia lived.

Many of the stirring events existing at that time were lightly touched on to give a background to the individuals who stood out most prominently in making the history of the century.

Among these with Hypatia were Cyril, the bishop of Alexandria; Orestes, the governor, each of whom took an active part in the events chronicled in history.

Beautiful and Gifted.

"Hypatia," stated the speaker, "was the daughter of an illustrious scholar, a philosopher and mathematician who flourished in Alexandria in the latter part of the fourth century. She was gifted with rare beauty and famous for her great ability in mathematics and philosophy. She was a follower of Pythagoras and Plato; in Athens she had attended the lectures of the ablest instructors and on returning to her native city, Alexandria, which was then the religious-philosophical battleground of the world, was invited by the magistrates to give lectures in philosophy, thus succeeding to the line of illustrious teachers who had made the school of Alexandria one of the most noted in the world."

"The eclectic school of philosophy of Alexandria was considered the greatest in the world, and within the sacred precincts of the museum, following an illustrious line of great teachers, Hypatia was invited to give instruction. Her purity and elevation of soul are said to have impressed all with whom she came in contact, as well as the great eloquence with which she charmed her hearers. She was possessed of the rare endowments of genius and numbered among her friends some of the greatest men of the day."

Mrs. Haskell further stated that during this period the church of Christ, then in a crude condition, was largely influenced in Alexandria by Cyril, the then bishop. Cyril was one whose heart responded more to the whisper of ambition than to the loving counsel of the Christ-teacher.

He saw in Hypatia a menace to his will to rule the religion of the world and plotted her destruction.

This came about through the attack of a mob said to have been incited by Cyril and his close followers. But the speaker hastened to say that Cyril was a fanatic and ruled his church according to his own conception of church rule, not according to the advice of the more truly religious in the Christian church.

The Outrage.

The mob snatched Hypatia from her chariot and carried her to the foot of the altar in the Christian church and there tore her to pieces. This horrible deed took place in March, 415 A. D.

"Her name and fame have lasted through 15 centuries," said the speaker, "and the wisdom of her philosophical teaching still touches the hearts of those who understand the mighty truths thus concealed. In this century much of it lives in our daily lives and common proverbs which are taken as guides to modern conduct."

"The wisdom religion, of which she was the advocate in a different guise, is taught today under the name of theosophy and numbers among its followers some of the greatest thinkers of modern times."

BELIEVE FAMILY WERE ALL KILLED

THINK OUTSIDER BENT ON ROBBERY MURDERED ALLEGED ENGLISH LORD AND RELATIVES.

DIAMONDS HAVE DISAPPEARED

Question as to Whether Coape or His Wife Died First Raised, as it Will Affect Inheritance.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 6.—The estate of the A. P. F. Coape, the alleged English lord who killed himself, his wife and sister-in-law on October 4 at Lumberton, is appraised at $10,000.

Certain diamonds which Coape is declared to have had disappeared, either taken when the body was discovered or disposed of by Coape, possibly in contemplation of suicide.

The disappearance has given rise to the report that the family was murdered by an outsider bent on robbery. A very close question has arisen as to whether his wife or Coape died first, on which depends the descent of the property left, and that is the contention on the part of Mrs. Coape's relatives that she survived her husband, while the opposite theory is held by Coape's relatives.

OVERHANGING TRACK

MOUNTAIN LOOSENED BY HEAVY RAINS MAY BURY RIGHT OF WAY OF A RAILROAD.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Astoria, Ore., Nov. 6.—As a result of the heavy rains a landslide has occurred at Bugby's Point quarry near this place and the Astoria and Columbia river track is covered with several thousand tons of rock, with the prospects that it will be still further covered by the fall of a hanging mountain which is being loosened by an exceptionally heavy rainstorm. Owing to the condition of the track traffic will be stopped for several days. Bugby's Point is the quarry where the rock for the United States government jetty at the mouth of the Columbia river is being obtained and where a mountain was blown to pieces by the 60-ton blasts of giant powder last week. The landslides are the direct result of the blasts.

HICKS-BEACH DOES NOT AGREE WITH CHAMBERLAIN

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. Manchester, Eng., Nov. 6.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, formerly chancellor of the exchequer, addressing a meeting of business men here yesterday, said retaliation was a method of dealing with unfair competition.

The great question was whether the guiding principle of the customs tariff should be free imports or protection. The speaker further said that he refused to accept Mr. Chamberlain's policy, which he believed would injure the United Kingdom and substitute for the existing good will friction between Great Britain and her colonies.

He was not a "little Englander," but, on the contrary, he considered the welfare of the empire as a whole.

WORK OF TRAIN WRECKERS

Little Doubt That Dastards Caused the Santa Fe Disasters.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. Topeka, Kan., Nov. 6.—General Manager Mudge of the Santa Fe has returned from Colorado, where he went to investigate the wreck of the Santa Fe passenger train near Fowler. Mr. Mudge says:

"It was as clear a case of train wrecking as I have ever seen. The spikes had been pulled for two whole rail lengths. When the train struck this place most of the cars remained upright, and for this reason not many of the passengers were hurt."

"We have offered a reward of $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of the wreckers. This is a large sum and will stimulate the Western officers in their search for the men. We confidently expect to catch them before long, as we have several important clues already."

GERMAN PHYSICIAN MAY CURE CANCER

TEUTONIC SAVANT HAS EXPERIMENTED WITH PARASITE CAUSING THE DISEASE.

IS SOMEWHAT CONDITIONAL

If No Vital Organ Has Been Affected and the Serum Only Works, Wonders May Be Effected.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

London, Nov. 6.—A new treatment of cancer which is believed to mark an advance in the treatment of the dreaded growth, has been explained before a meeting of the Abernathan society at St. Bartholomew's hospital by Dr. Johnson, who has been investigating the methods of Dr. Otto Schmidt of Cologne.

"Dr. Schmidt's opinion," he said, "is that cancer is conditional on the presence in the patient of a cancer parasite, which produces a structural change in the cells of the part affected. The difficulty has been to decide which, if any, of them is the cause of cancer. Dr. Schmidt believes that he has isolated the specific parasite."

"With this parasite Dr. Schmidt has done two things—he seems to have sterilized it; second, he has injected it into animals and has used a serum which has the power of destroying cancer cells. Sterilized parasite he used for one treatment. Animal serum he used for his second treatment. Successful use of the discovery depends upon arrest of the process, removal of the growth and the fact that no vital organ has been seriously injured."

W. H. Bryant, president of the League for Honest Elections, has consulted with several of the ablest attorneys of this city and it was the consensus of opinion that such a proceeding should be adopted.
