AN OILY RASCAL.

Something About Orth Stain, who Once Guilted Helena People. BRUNSWICK, Ga., Oct. 16.—Orth Stain, who is now living in clover at the guest of the Young Men's Christian association of Atlanta, has a brilliant career in Florida, just before coming to Georgia, Walter A. Way, of Orlando, Fla., who was here to-day, was Stain's attorney when the journalist was on trial for forgery.

Stain told his attorney that he had forged $10,000 of Harper's paper. He agreed to pay his attorney a handsome fee for his services, but said he would have to communicate with one of his gang, of whom there were nine in New York city, and that the members of the gang always divided their spoils equally and were sworn to aid each other when in trouble.

JAY COOKE, JR.

Thinks There is No Fear of a Financial Panic. Chicago, Oct. 16.—"English capitalists, bankers and financiers are always very solicitous about our welfare over here," said Jay Cooke, Jr., the Philadelphia banker, at the Auditorium. "Mr. Giffen, of the London board of trade, says, I see, that we will have a financial crisis here in the United States by next February. Mr. Giffen need not worry about us. We are in better financial condition to-day than England is, and if I am not mistaken there will be a financial crisis in England before there is one here."

"The English are so fearful about our welfare. They were equally concerned last year, and now they are fretting about the tariff should break us all up. It did not do so, and now they are fretting about the tariff. Mr. Giffen says we will be choked up with silver, does he? Well, he needn't worry. All our silver certificates represent so many dollars worth of merchandise, silver bullion, that they will sell for as much as the amount of the certificates in gold in any financial center of the world. Mr. Giffen, in common with others, makes the mistake of thinking that our silver certificates represent so many coined dollars. They do not. They represent bullion."

"There is not too much silver, you haven't got any more silver than you can use, have you? Neither have I. Neither have anybody. We won't choke with silver. We have millions of greenbacks outstanding, but yet they don't choke us. Where did the English send for gold recently when they were hard up? Way, to the United States. And now it is all coming back in payment for breadstuffs that England has to buy from us and my thinking England will find herself in a crisis here they get through sending gold over here. No, our foreign friends have no occasion to lose sleep fretting over our financial condition. There is none of them so well off as I think American railway securities will continue to improve. It is being demonstrated that they are as a rule able to withstand any amount almost of financial depression. The prices prevailing hitherto for railway securities have been too low and the market is beginning to approximate the actual worth of the securities."

Heard From. SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 16.—The apprehension felt for the safety of Lieut. Russell and party was allayed to-day by the receipt of a letter from him, bearing date of Sept. 23. The ascent of Mount St. Elias was attempted, but unsuccessful. The party reached a height of 14,000 feet, leaving a thousand feet yet to be surmounted.

Three Children Cremated. HELENA, Ark., Oct. 16.—News has been received here of the burning to death of three children on the Crews plantation, across the river in Mississippi. The parents of the children had left them in a house while they went out in the field to work.

Things Worth Remembering. That it is dangerous to stand near a tall tree or spire during a thunder storm; that the southwest corner of the collar is the cyclone safety point; that there is no medicine so universally applicable to all diseases as fresh air and sunshine; that blowing out the gas, before retiring is funny; to everybody except the man who tries it; that you may swear as hard as you please, but it will not remove greasy spots; that the Wisconsin Central is the best route to Milwaukee, Chicago, and points east and south. For tickets, etc., apply to any ticket agent.

Gladsome bells that long have rung. That the prince of peace has come. Can you pardon the blunders of the prison. While he was in the Florida penitentiary the state was offered $300 a year for his services as an engraver.

Will Out-Eiffel Eiffel. An American Tower at the Columbian Exposition, 1,125 Feet High. Chicago, Oct. 16.—The Stars and Stripes, it was decided to-day, are to way 1,125 feet above ground during the World's fair, from an American tower that will out-Eiffel the Paris tower. The builder is to be Andrew Carnegie, of Pittsburgh. Over 25,000 people will be accommodated in the tower at one time, and two of the many elevators are to start from the ground and run more than 1,000 feet without change of step, directly to the lookout landing. The width of the tower at the foundation level is to be 440 feet in each direction. The Keystone Bridge company, of Pittsburgh, one of Carnegie's concerns, has agreed to construct the steel portion of the tower and have it completed Feb. 1, 1893. The actual cost of the tower is estimated at a million and a half, $200,000 less than the Eiffel tower, the difference being in the greater simplicity in design and the use of standard and merchantable sizes of steel. There are to be three landings, the first 200 feet from the ground, will accommodate at one time on the colonnade four or five thousand people. Inside the colonnade is space sufficient to build four hotels, or restaurants, besides numerous booths for the sale of different articles. The second landing is desired as a grand promenade in day time and dancing hall in the evening and will accommodate 6,000 people. The upper landing, 1,000 feet from the ground, will accommodate 1,300 to 1,500 people, and above this there will be offices for the signal service, scientific investigation, etc. Above this is to be a circular electric railway carrying electric lights by night and signals by day. Above this will be a platform to be provided with the most powerful reflector ever constructed, surrounded by a flagstaff.

Sparks From the Wires. It is not definitely settled when Secretary Blaine will leave for Washington. The German Evangelical conference at Indianapolis created an annual conference for Japan. The Tennessee, Neb., National bank was closed Friday by Bank Examiner Griffith. The failure is not considered to be a bad one.

The twenty-fourth convention of the general council of the Lutheran Church of North America convened at Buffalo, N. Y., Friday morning. The International Medical congress completed its work Friday and adjourned. Dr. W. F. Peffer, of Pennsylvania university, was chosen president. Cleaveland & Fletcher, of Gainesville, Tex., whole and retail hardware and agricultural implements, failed. Assets, $2,235,000; liabilities, $300,000.

Geo. Dyer, under arrest in Eastville, Va., for the murder of Mrs. Fannie Fadden, of Cape Charles, Va., has been taken from jail and hanged by a mob. A New York paper states that ex-President Hoey sold out all his Adams Express stock before he entered into the deal which has cost him his position. The annual convention of missionary societies of the Christian churches of the United States began in Allegheny City, Pa., Friday and will continue for a week. It is alleged that the shortage of County Auditor Lavelle, of Washington, Ind., in school funds will probably amount to $95,000, as that sum is not accounted for. Brother Andrew Dinker, first and oldest member of the Benedictine Order of the Roman Catholic church in the United States, died Friday morning, aged 79, at Pittsburg, Pa. Madame Astle, alias Georgiana Short-house, the notorious English abortionist, was convicted at Denver, and will probably be sent to the penitentiary, which is three years in the penitentiary. Lieut. Bushner and three members of the revenue cutter Walcott, left Friday harbor last Monday for Port Townsend in a launch and since then nothing has been heard from them. It is feared the men are lost. It is designed by the Grand Army of the Republic to erect in Washington, D. C., a monument to Gen. Grant. The necessary money to pay for the monument is being raised by popular subscription among the Grand Army posts of the country. The schooner Rebecca Taulano, of Boston, carrying a crew of seven men, is doubtless lost with all on board in the Atlantic. The Newport News, Va., Sept. 25, for Galveston with a crew of four, and has never been heard from since. Comrades in the Grave. FORT RECOVERY, O., Oct. 16.—The bodies of 900 soldiers, who fell in the battle of Fort Recovery, including that of Gen. Butler, were interred with impressive ceremonies in one immense grave to-day. Over 50,000 people were present.
