

FALSE IMPRISONMENT.

A Suit Against Sheriff Jeffers, County Attorney Nolan and Other Officers.

One of the Prisoners Walked Out of Court While on Trial.

A Divorce is Denied Two Well-Known Residents of Helena in Judge Buck's Court.

S. W. Manning, who now lives at Logan, Gallatin county, has a suit for $5,000 damages against C. M. Jeffers, sheriff of Lewis and Clarke, C. B. Nolan, county attorney, Er-Chief of Police T. J. Cronin, and L. D. Beary, ex-sergeant of the Helena police force. Manning alleges false imprisonment. He was arrested with a man named A. M. Walsh last summer. The charge against Walsh was obtaining money under false pretenses, originally, by having checks cashed signed by W. S. Manning. Manning was arrested as an accomplice, and it afterwards developed that he had no connection with the crime, but was detained as a witness for twenty-one days. The defendants claim that at the time, the particular part of the state constitution which provides that witnesses shall not be detained, but that their depositions shall be taken, was not operative and that the legislature had taken no action to put it in force. Walsh, it will be remembered, was the man who was indicted by the grand jury and was left in the court room without a guard and escaped, so that he was never tried for the crime. He is now at large. The defendants claim that Manning was a pal of Walsh's, as he attempted to get bail for the latter and in other ways manifested his solidarity. At the time Manning was held for a witness Col. Nolan says he was perfectly willing to remain in jail to accommodate Walsh as he would get $2 per day and his board while being detained. The county attorney maintains that the only thing which prevented the fastening of the crime on Manning was the effect of the forgery of the name of W. S. Manning instead of S. W. Manning being, and if it had not been for that he could have implicated him in the crime. The case was called for trial in Judge Buck's court yesterday afternoon. As the plaintiff got on the stand the attorneys got into an argument as to the admission of certain testimony about a conversation which Manning had at the time of his arrest with Beary. The case will come up again to-morrow morning at ten o'clock. K. G. Davis represents Manning and Col. Nolan the defendants. Heloise Judge Sande and several members of the police force are witnesses for the defense.

THE DIVORCE NOT GRANTED.

Two Well Known Helena People Who Want to be Separated.

George J. Heilig, proprietor of the Rialto meat market on South Main street, has been trying to get a divorce from his wife Josephine, who is a daughter of his former partner, Mr. Taupphaus. Mr. Heilig gave as his grounds for a divorce that his wife deserted him last May. At the hearing of the case before Judge Buck yesterday Mrs. Heilig admitted the desertion and said she could not live happily with her husband since the death of their child. She also desires a separation. The Montana statute says that a wife must be absent one year before a divorce can be obtained. Mr. Heilig's attorney tried to get a decree for his client upon the peculiar construction of the statute, the desertion having taken place last May. He said it was a new point. The court here interrupted him long enough to say that he hoped it would not be brought up again. His honor said it appeared that there had been collusion and fraud between the parties, and for that reason he did not propose to grant a divorce in his court on that ground. He disclaimed any reflection upon the attorneys.

startling!

Sara Bernhardt is reported as saying that she was surprised at the number of American ladies who continually visit fashionable watering places, the best hotels, the leading theaters, and yet are so seldom seen wearing that most essential of all general costumes, an elegant black silk dress. For an afternoon call, a matinee, or the great dining hall of a fine hotel, or the street appearance of a swell watering place it is, according to Bernhardt's idea, the very quintessence of perfection in gait dress. No one will question the great actresses' authority, as every one is acquainted with their opportunities as a critic. Although the demand for black gross grain silks may have lessened some the last year or so, they can never become a back number. Their solid richness and modest gentility will always cause them to retain a strong hold on the affections of a fashionable public. As we have just mentioned, the demand having lessened a little, at least for the present, many merchants find themselves overstocked. As an instance, the New York Dry Goods Store with this week, make, according to the figures mentioned in their advertisement of to-day, a tremendous cut in prices—prices, as we understand them, way below eastern wholesale. One can imagine the surprise of the ladies of Helena at getting fifteen yards of six different qualities of elegant black silk, every yard guaranteed, at the wonderfully low prices of $11.95, $14.50, $16.50, $20.50, $22.50—silks valued at per yard from $1.50 to $2.50. We know the New York store. We know that they mean business. We predict for them a great business week.

AN IMPORTANT CALLING.

A Business Which Comes Near to Every One in Helena.

There is no business which has more to do with the good or ill of a community than that of the plumber or gasfitter. If you build a house and the plumbing is badly done it will make an unhealthy abiding place for yourself and family, or if you try to dispose of it or sell it a defect of this kind will take hundreds of dollars off the selling price. If it is an office building or a hotel and plumbing and roof gasfiting will cause even more loss and inconvenience. But there is no necessity of Helena being a sufferer in this respect. There is one firm in town which works on sanitary principles, and all of its work is guaranteed. This firm is that of Donoghue & McCarthy, successors to N. Walsh, 34 Park avenue. Mr. Donoghue was for a number of years in Mr. Walsh's employ, and some of the best plumbing in Helena was done under his supervision. Mr. McCarthy has been in the business a number of years, and has experience in every branch of his trade gained in the large cities of the east, as well as in Helena. Together these gentlemen make a strong team in their line, and anyone who wants good work, reasonable prices and satisfaction can do no better than give them a call.

They keep always on hand a full supply of goods used in their business, of the best manufacturers, employ only the best workmen, and all of their contracts are carried out under their personal supervision. They have made a study of sanitary work, and when they say a job is completed it is as near perfect as it can be made.

Staff Captain Halpin, of the Salvation Army, Visits the Capital.

Staff Captain William Halpin, of the Salvation Army, conducted a meeting at the barracks last night. The captain and Mrs. Halpin are making a tour of the district, their headquarters being at Portland. The barracks were full of members of the army, friends of the cause, and others drawn thither by curiosity. The services were of the usual kind, except that the large attendance seemed to inspire the army to renewed efforts to fill its ranks. Captain and Mrs. Halpin both made addresses. The latter is a very earnest talker and the captain is an able exhorter. They leave Tuesday for Butte.

The party went by team from here to Canyon Ferry, on the Missouri north of Helena, where they took a boat and made a leisurely trip down the river as far as Great Falls. Narrow Escape of Mother and Child.

Mrs. Charles Brown, wife of a locomotive engineer on the Northern Pacific, had a very narrow escape from serious injury yesterday afternoon. She was in the rear Pullman of the west bound Northern Pacific passenger at the station bidding some friends good-bye. Just before the train started she attempted to get to the rear platform to slight. The aisle was blocked with passengers and the train was in motion before she reached the platform. With her baby in her arms Mrs. Brown jumped from the train, falling upon her child as she struck the ground. The infant's forehead was badly bruised and its nose swollen. Mrs. Brown's injuries consisted of bruises and scratches on her arms. Dr. E. S. Kellogg attended the mother and child. He says their injuries are not serious and that the mother and babe will soon be all right again.

THE NEIHART TROUBLE.

Another Version of the Fight Between the Miners and the Railroad.

The Hudson Company's Smelter Damaged by a Sub-Contractor's Blast.

Until $5,000 Damages Are Paid the Injured Concern Declares Work of Construction Must Stop.

Another version of the trouble between the miners of Neihart and the railroad company is given by the Rocky Mountain Husbandman. It says: The progress of the railroad to Neihart has been checked somewhat by the proceedings instituted last week by the Hudson Mining company to prevent the railroad company from constructing their line over the mining company's ground, which came about as follows: Assent having been obtained to pass over the Hudson Mining company's ground, a force of men were at work about two weeks since grading and blasting off a point of rock just opposite the smelter. Two blasts were set off simultaneously, one containing about twelve kegs of black powder and the other several hundred pounds of giant powder. These tremendous explosions knocked down the stack of the Hudson Mining company's smelter, the face of the furnace, roof of the building and broke considerable of the machinery, immense stones being hurled in the smelter building fully five feet in diameter. J. C. E. Barker, superintendent of the Hudson company's property, demanded that these damages be repaired, but only a few days after the occurrence the sub-contractor died, and Mr. Barker then made his demands on the original contractors and refused to allow the work of grading to proceed until the damage matter was settled. But the contractors undertook to force a passage over the land by proceeding with the work. On Thursday last Mr. Barker appeared on the ground with about sixty men and proceeded to tear up the track as fast as the railroad crew could put it down and finally had the foreman of the construction corps arrested. The railroad grade is nearly finished and ties are being laid into Neihart except over the 2,000 feet of Hudson Mining company's ground and the track is laid and ballasted up to their line and the road will be completed into town; only two and one-half miles distant, as soon as legal proceedings can be had to clear a right of way on the ground in question. But as an injunction has been sued out in advances of right of way proceedings the railroad company will have to give bond for the damages claimed by the Hudson people, which, by the way, was nearly if not quite as formidable a corporation as the contractors. The Hudson Mining company claims damages to the amount of $5,000, and as arrangements were being made to start the smelter on the 15th of November there will be an additional damage of $250 per day set up if it is not repaired by that date. The railroad contractor also claims to be under an expense of $1,000 per day during the present delay for which he proposes to hold the Hudson Mining company responsible. Should these two giant corporations lock horns in earnest there will probably be an interesting law suit.

The special sale at Miss Mitchell's, Grandon block, will not be missed. Rare bargains in trimmed hats.

MISS KATE R. METZ, of Newark, Ohio, is principal of Typewriting and Assistant in Shorthand. Miss Metz comes well recommended by the celebrated shorthand man, Jerome B. Howard, of Cincinnati, Ohio. Students who come under her supervision will find her an excellent lady and well fitted to give instruction in the department which she has in charge.
