KALISPELL. Kalispell is a young and growing city of over 2,000 inhabitants in which the first building was erected in May, 1891. It is the geographical center of the Flathead valley, and a division point on the main line of the Pacific extension of the Great Northern railroad. Several miles of side track, a round house, coal yards, and a freight depot have already been built, and a handsome two story brick and stone passenger depot, which when completed, will be the finest on the line of this road west of St. Paul, is now under construction. Steamers ply on the waters of Flathead lake and river reach the head of navigation at Kalispell, thus affording transportation facilities to the Northern Pacific railroad. The construction of a new railroad has been commenced from the mining center of the state to the immense coal fields in the northern part of the Flathead valley, which passing through Kalispell, will give her cheap and direct communication with Butte, Helena and all points south, and open a ready market for products of the valley, all of which, from her geographical location, will necessarily center at Kalispell; while the natural grades from the mines and coal fields of the surrounding country, the cheap and unlimited supply of fuel, together with the great water power at her very doors, will make Kalispell the smelting center of this portion of the state. It is already the supply point for the army of miners and prospectors operating in the North and South forks and the Kootenai mining regions, and with her three strong national banks, she can have no rival as the financial center of the whole Flathead region. According to published statistics, no city of her size in the United States can boast of so fine a system of water works and electric light. The system comprises seven miles of pipe, hydrants at every street intersection, and pumps with a capacity equal to those of the Butte system. The total cost of the plant is upwards of $125,000. A brick brewery has just been completed with a capacity of 1,500 barrels per month, having the latest improved machinery, and operated by men of long standing and successful experience in their line. Numerous substantial brick business blocks have been constructed within the past season, and many fine residences are now going up throughout the town. Liberal inducements will be offered to manufacturers. Following is a list of industries which would find Kalispell a most promising point at which to locate: Sash and door factory, furniture factory, pottery works, tub, bucket and box factory, paper mill, starch factory.

The Richest in Minerals and Most Fertile Agricultural Region in the Northwest is THE GREAT FLATHEAD COUNTRY, RESOURCES. Agriculture, Mineral, Coal, Oil, Lumber, Stone, Lime, Fire Clay. The area of the Flathead country is more than one hundred miles square. The Flathead Valley is twenty-five by fifty miles, abounding in the finest agricultural land. In the heart of the Valley and on the main line of the Great Northern Railroad is located KALISPELL. The largest town in the valley, surrounded on all sides by a rich farming country which does not depend upon irrigation and produces a crop every year. KALISPELL is the geographical center of the valley, contiguous to cheap wood, coal, cheap water power, lumber and mill sites. The agricultural, mineral and coal lands are equally distributed around Kalispell, the key to the great Flathead country. FOR INFORMATION WRITE TO C. E. CONRAD, Manager of the Kalispell Townsite Company.

THE FLATHEAD VALLEY. The Flathead valley, ten years ago almost unknown region, the home of the savage and wild beast, to-day is the most productive section of the north-west, yielding per acre double the output of Kansas, Iowa or the Dakotas, and is the only section west of the Mississippi river which can rival the celebrated River Valley of the North in the superior quality of its cereals. It is the only agricultural section in the state of Montana, where crops can be raised without irrigation. Vegetables of all kinds are grown in abundance, while apples, plums, peaches, cherries, pears, and the small fruits such as strawberries, blackberries, gooseberries, raspberries are being raised successfully. With a ready market for all products of the soil in the rich mineral districts to the east, west & south, the farmers of the Flathead valley will soon be classed among the wealthiest and most influential of this new country. What averages thirty five bushels per acre, oats sixty bushels, barley forty bushels, rye thirty bushels, potatoes 400 bushels, cabbage ten tons per acre, rutabagas thirty tons per acre. The Flathead river, with its tributaries—the North, South and Middle forks—the Stillwater and Whitefish rivers, with their numerous branches, making a total of over 600 miles of logging streams, all of which converge at Kalispell, flow through vast forests of pine, tamarack, fir, larch and cedar. Under the recent law enacted by congress these boundless tracts of timber land can be purchased at $2.50 per acre. According to the state auditor's report, of the 103,489,283 feet of lumber sawed in the state during the year 1891, 100,000,000 was sawed in M. S. county, thus demonstrating this portion of the state's supremacy in the lumber industry. In the northern portion of the valley are hidden vast measures of a superior quality of coal towards which the railroads are already building, and the development of this resource alone will render this section the Pittsburg of the north-west. Adjoining these immense bodies of coal are large tracts of oil land, which give promise of equalling the rich petroleum fields of Pennsylvania. Natural gas has also been discovered in this region. Underlying a large portion of the valley is a thirty-foot stratum of the finest quality of fire clay is found, which offers exceptional opportunities for the manufacturer of pottery, and affords the brick-maker a convenient and unlimited supply for his kilns. Common and pressed brick of a most superior quality have been made from this clay, and numerous handsome buildings throughout the valley stand as monuments to this industry. Montana's mineral output, which now surpasses that of any other state in the union, will be largely augmented by the development of the hidden resources in the mountain ranges surrounding the Flathead valley. Rich veins of gold, silver, copper and lead, which have already been discovered, are attracting the attention of the capitalists who have invested largely in mining properties throughout this section, and are rapidly pushing their development.
