

THE STATUE OF JUSTICE.

Commissioner W. M. Bickford Makes a Statement to the World's Fair Board.

He Says It Adversely Affects More Than a Million of Cash.

Designs For Placing the State's Exhibit in the Mines and Mining and Agricultural Buildings.

At the meeting of the board of World's fair managers of Montana yesterday Commissioner Bickford made a statement in regard to the silver statue. "You will remember," he said, "that when the matter was brought to the attention of the board I wrote a letter to each one, asking his opinion as to the advisability of entering into the arrangement. I received, I may say, no unfavorable reply. Acting on what I understood to be the sense of the board, I sent a copy of a contract to Chicago. When the board met the contract had not been signed, but everything had been arranged. After the meeting I went to Chicago and found that J. O. Harvey and Frank D. Hiebee, the projectors of the statue, had gone ahead on the matter, and expected to give a public exhibition of the clay model about ten days later. There was so much published in the papers, and so many conflicting reports, and so much jealousy among rival artesses, that Harvey decided to give all the facts and have the press present at a reception. I took two prominent Montana men, one of them Gov. Toole, to the studio of Sculptor Parks, and they were delighted with the clay model. On the 19th of December a reception was given to the press, and I have 200 clippings from papers speaking in the most complimentary way of the statue. The result has been to advertise Montana from one end of the country to the other, and the foreign papers have taken it up. Director Skiff, of the mines and mining department, says it will have the effect of drawing people to that building, and no one will go there without seeing the silver statue. The chief of the other department, the most unflattering praise of it. Once cast it will prove an advertisement, not only for Montana, but for the World's fair itself. They told me in Chicago we could not get the same amount of advertising for a million in cash."

Commissioner Bickford also spoke of the matter of preparing the space allotted Montana in the various buildings. He would take, he was informed, from sixty to ninety days to prepare the plan and put the exhibit in position. It was useless to go ahead, however, and spend any money until they found out whether the legislature was going to allow them enough to carry the exhibition to a successful conclusion. He thought not $50,000 would be required. A resolution has been passed calling for the appointment of a joint committee of two from the senate and three from the house, to inquire into the needs of the Montana exhibit and at once. Nothing had been done with the resolution, owing to the senatorial question. The board appointed T. E. Collins, W. M. Bickford, Thos. Joyce, James G. Ramsey and Mrs. J. G. Richards a committee to prepare an estimate of the probable cost of the Montana exhibit.

The board examined plans for a pavilion in which to place the Montana exhibit in the mines and mining building. The design, which it is estimated will cost between $5,000 and $6,500, is for a glass roofed, open sided pavilion, covering the entire space allotted Montana, thirty-seven feet wide and sixty feet long. Another design will cost between $5,400 and $6,300 and another about $8,700. The designs were referred to the committee on mines and minerals.

Designs for the placing of the state's agricultural exhibit were referred to the committee having in charge that branch of the matter. The state is allotted a space twenty-eight feet wide and eighty-six feet long in the agricultural building. The board will meet again to-day, as it is desirable to complete all arrangements for placing the Montana exhibit.

NOT A REBAN MODEL.

A Minneapolis Woman Claims That It is a Representation of Her Form.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—After all the talk about the now famous Reban silver statue, and when it was thought that the peerless Ada Reban had triumphed over her rivals who wished to pose as models for the heroic figure, the theatrical world is convulsed over startling disclosures. Ada's classic proportions, her graceful outlines, her fat, chubby hand and Limerick contour will not be reproduced in silver. Another equally as fair as "our Ada," and whose form is "just too sweet for anything," has knocked Reban's claims into a cocked hat. Jennie Acton will not be forced to pass harsh criticisms upon the silver statue when they view it, for aside from the head and features, which are perfect reproductions of those of Miss Reban, the proportions were taken from the plump and rounded body of a certain Miss De Lambert.

"I am really the woman who posed six hours a day for several weeks while Sculptor Parks and his assistants transferred the proportions of my body to his clay model," she said. "Miss Reban's enthusiastic theatrical friends may rest assured that only the fair Ada's head measurements appear in the clay." And the pretty little woman glanced over her small glasses as a trace of a smile crept over her face. "I don't want to be mean, but Mr. Parks has not treated me right in telling his friends that the measurements of the model were all those of Miss Reban. My home is in Minneapolis, and several of my friends from that city, the sculptor wished a model. My friends declared that I would make a good poser, and just as I was about to accept of the offer I visited 1848 Michigan avenue to offer myself to Sculptor Parks as a model. That was in August. He said that he had had nearly 200 applicants, but that they had defects which made them unfit to pose in the place of Ada Reban. Oddly enough, he eyed me over and engaged me as a good compensation to pose. Now, I'm in a position to say that the only Reban measurements about that Park model were those of the head. My little five foot one and a half inches of body and my outline furnished the form for that statue. Minneapolis people generally like to be heard, and I'll just stand out for my share of the honor in that silver statue from Montana. Poor Mrs. Bessie will feel relieved when she discovers that her rival, Ada Reban, furnished so little of the line measurements of that statue. It may be a source of delight for my Minneapolis friends to think that a young woman from the state of Minnesota had actually outwitted the Montana rival, and even Ada Reban, who the country thought had been immortalized, in that silver statue from Montana. Ada doesn't know what a rare treat she missed in not posing as her own model. No doubt she has been forced to tell her friends just how troublesome it was to stand on a pedestal for my friends and engaged me. I don't want to remain for hours with my clothing is fraught with very few shivers." And the plump little woman paused to ask a few questions about the popular opinion of the silver statue. "I think Ada is too 'beefy,' as they say, for a model. What I have seen of her arm is up to the standard, but I think her hips are entirely too broad. Funny thing about Ada. In her stage costumes she always takes good care to show as little of her arms and bust as possible."

BUILDING ASSOCIATION LEAGUE.

The First Annual Meeting and the Election of Officers.

The first annual meeting of the State League of Building and Loan associations of Montana which convened in Helena Wednesday afternoon yesterday, after a most successful session. Five associations were represented, the Missoula by Will Kennedy, E. A. Winstanley, F. C. Stoddard, D. D. Borsari, J. L. Bloane and J. M. Evans; the Chisago, of Butte, by S. V. Kemper, Wm. Thompson, F. P. Irvine and G. F. Bartlett; the Yellowstone, of Billings, by Chas. Spear and Geo. M. Hays; the Pioneer, of Bozeman, by Geo. L. Ramsay and B. E. Valle; and the Home by John Stedman, A. J. Steele, N. B. Holter, A. H. Clements, W. H. Little and W. E. Norris. H. J. Mall, of the People's, of Great Falls, was also present. Afternoon and evening sessions were held the first day, and yesterday a morning session. The president's address landed in a masterly manner the principal topics of interest to building and loan associations of this state. The principal subject of discussion was how to be prepared and introduced in the legislature, securing many desirable points much needed. Among other salient points advocated were the abolition of double taxation; that is, taxing both mortgage and mortgage on the same value, and to throw a safeguard around honest investors and borrowers; also to have provision for an inspection of associations.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: John Stedman, of Helena, president; A. H. Barrett, of Butte, first vice-president; E. A. Winstanley, of Missoula, second vice-president; S. V. Kemper, of Butte, secretary; George L. Ramsay, of Bozeman, treasurer. The executive committee is composed of John Stedman, E. V. Kemper, C. F. Stoddard, A. B. Clements and F. P. Irvine. The auditing committee is N. B. Holter, G. F. Bartlett and Charles Spear. The next annual meeting will be held at Butte.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Helena Cab and Transfer company has this day and date been sold and delivered by me to Messrs. Fisher and Johnson, of Helena. They will assume entire control and management of the business. All indebtedness existing on and prior to Jan. 1, 1893, and all accounts up to said date will be received and adjusted by me, the undersigned. I respectfully thank the patrons of the company for favors extended, the last few years and the continuance of their good will for the new firm. The management will continue under the immediate supervision of Mr. Jacob Fisher.

Jos. Davis.

The greatest mark down sale ever attempted in Helena begins Saturday, Jan. 14, 1893, at Sande Bros.

Grand Opportunity.

Twenty thousand dollars worth of choice groceries to be sacrificed, commencing Saturday, Jan. 14, we will offer the above amount of groceries at private sale and continue from day to day until closed out. Remember the place, corner Sixth avenue and Water street, in the store formerly occupied by the A. R. Gates Grocery company. Dealers in the city and adjacent towns and mining camps will find this a splendid opportunity to lay in their winter stock. These goods must be closed out within the next thirty days.

ALL ABOUT A CHICKEN.

The Rooster Which Cost the Unsuccessful Litigant $53.

Some time ago Thomas Middlebrook entered two game roosters for a fight at Marysville. Thinking that public interest in the event might be dampened by the knowledge that the same man owned both combatants, he got a man named Monroe to enter one of the chickens under his name. The fight came off and the Monroe fowl was badly whipped. Monroe took the disabled fighter to Peter Fox to be doctored and sold that gentleman to keep the chicken until spring, or sell it when it got well and give him another for it when he called. The chicken got well, and Fox, who rightfully concluded he had authority to dispose of it, sold it to E. J. Giennan. The latter paid $2 for the fowl. Meeting Middlebrook one day Giennan mentioned to him that he had gotten for quite a bargain the rooster which got whipped at Marysville. Middlebrook at once went to the place where the rooster was, opened the coop, and snatched off with the chicken. When Giennan heard of this he had a warrant sworn out for Middlebrook's arrest, and put up security for the costs in case there was no conviction. The case was tried yesterday, and as Middlebrook proved his ownership, the jury acquitted him, and the prosecuting witness paid the costs, $53.63. The defendant was allowed to retain the bird.

RECORD OF THE COURTS

The Jury Gave Raftery a Verdict Without Leaving Their Seats.

Robert Williams Is to Be Tried for Forging an Order for $10.

Suits Filed and Judgments Entered—Incorporation of the Montana Land and Water Company.

The case of J. B. Raftery against Grant & Whalen, the contractors for the new high school building came to an abrupt and satisfactory conclusion in the district court yesterday. The parties to the suit had gone through all the preliminary part of a law suit and called for a jury. After the twelve men were sworn to well and truly try the case several questions were put to the attorneys. It turned out that the litigant had no use for a jury. Raftery sued the contractors for $185 for laying some stiling in the high school building. When questioned in the court room yesterday the attorney for the defendants said that his clients had made a tender of the amount to the plaintiff and had afterwards withdrawn it. He said his clients were willing to confess judgment for the amount. This offer was accepted, and the court instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for the plaintiff for $185, which they did without leaving their seats. County Attorney Nolan filed an information yesterday charging Robert Williams with forging the name of Recce Roberts to an order on a saloon for $10. Williams was arrested a week ago, and had a hearing before Police Justice Gage, who fixed his bond at $300. Williams was ordered to plead at 10 a. m. to-day.

A suit was filed by A. M. Holter & Bro. against A. T. Newbury to recover $64 balance due on a promissory note.

The following judgments were entered in favor of the plaintiffs: J. V. Card et al. vs. the Star Mining and Reduction company, $1,423.73. M. Farley vs. same, $2,127.70.

Judge Beck will call the calendar in department No. 2 on Jan. 14. All cases filed in the clerk's office prior to Jan. 1, 1893, and not yet disposed of, will be called up for final settlement. The calendar in department No. 1 will be called by Judge Hunt on Jan. 23.

The supreme court has adjourned until to-morrow at 10 a. m.

County Clerk's Office.

The following papers were filed yesterday: Articles of Incorporation of the Montana Land and Water company by Z. T. Burton, S. W. Langhorne, F. L. Reese, W. R. Votaw and C. W. Burton. The capital stock is $1,000,000. The headquarters of the company will be at Poncha, Choteau county. Deeds—George W. Graham to H. E. Raymond, lot 10, block 75, Northern Pacific addition, $500; H. E. Raymond to Elmer Hill, part of lot 6, section 31, township 10, north of range 3 west, $1,000; Mary A. Vestal to W. B. Fisher, a frame house near the Belmont mill, $500.

Location notices—Iron Mountain lode, Stemple district, by John A. Rathbone; Harrison lode, near the head of Nelson gulch, by W. G. Williams; annual representation, Gladstone No. 1, by C. O. Bissoneau.

In comparison with the colossal clearing sale at Sande Bros. all other sales will sink into insignificance.

THEIR NEW OFFICERS.

Montana Camp Woodmen of the World Install Them.

First Montana camp, Woodmen of the World, located at the depot had a public installation of officers last evening. Their hall was beautifully decorated and reminded one on entering it that they were in reality in a forest. The hall was crowded with Woodmen and their friends. The evening's entertainment opened with a lesson in woodcraft, which was highly entertaining, and gave to the public a good insight into the principles and objects of the order. After which the following officers were installed: Council, C. L. Sauer, L. Adviser, A. B. Avery; Treasurer, Geo. Cottingham; clerk, Geo. A. Boyer; secretary, T. Lockland; watchman, M. Manley; warden, Chas. Van Allen; boys, C. G. Stubbs, I. Smith, Ira Hunsberger; medical examiner, Dr. I. M. Armstrong. After the installation the following programme was rendered: Miss Ann Russell, a solo; F. E. Adams, a solo; Mr. A. B. Avery, a recitation; a duet by Miss Lottie Adams and F. E. Adams. Then everyone was invited to the stove room below the hall and a bouillabaisse banquet was partaken of after which dancing was in order. Grand camp, Woodmen of the World, will give a public installation Saturday evening in A. O. U. W. hall, at 8:30.
