A QUEER MAIL CONTRACT.

Willing to Work for Nothing and Pay for the Privilege.

There is a man up in Sugar Grove, Penn., who is so anxious to engage in the government employ that he wants to work for nothing and pay $53 a year for the privilege, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. His name is Frank Rickers, and he asks to carry the United States mails from Sugar Grove to Jamestown, N. Y., and back, nine and one-quarter miles, six times a week, and he wants to pay $53 a year for the contract. Under the present contract the mails are being carried on this route at a cost of one cent a year. When the bids were invited for the next four years Rickers and another bidder each offered to do the work for one cent. They must have compared notes, however, for before the bids were opened, Rickers' opponent submitted a supplemental bid, offering to pay $50 a year for the contract, Rickers then offered $30; his opponent raised to $40; Rickers finally raised to $24, at which figure the contract will be awarded. The willingness of these men to work for nothing and pay for the privilege is explained by the fact that the mail carrier can make a handsome profit by carrying passengers, baggage, express packages and light freight. The government mail carrier throughout the country where the service is done at a cost to the government far below the actual expense of doing the work if nothing but mail was carried, and yet the contractor, as a rule, and the business profit on account of the other business they are enabled to carry with it. The route from Sugar Grove to Jamestown is the only one on which the government actually receives money from the contractors.
