

THE

INDEPENDENT

HELENA.

THE INDEPENDENT, in every point that goes to make up a metropolitan daily of the highest class, is unexcelled. Its continued and uninterrupted popularity for a quarter of a century has established it firmly in the hearts of the people of Montana. It is delivered daily to more homes in Helena, in proportion to the population of the city, than any other paper in any other city in the west. It is read by nine-tenths of the families in the city. It also has a great many subscribers in every city, town and camp in the state. It has the news service of the Associated Press and the United Press and also has an extensive special service by its own correspondents at all important points in Montana. It also uses the best productions of the high-class syndicates that furnish illustrated and special articles. THE INDEPENDENT is democratic in politics, fair and candid in its treatment of all political and economic questions. Its reports of all local and state happenings are free from partisan bias or misrepresentation. Its politics do not affect its fidelity to its readers in printing the news. While THE INDEPENDENT aims to print all the news it can get, it prefers to print only pleasant news, and private brawls and scandals are handled with care when they must be printed, and all objectionable features reduced to a minimum. It is particularly, therefore, the family paper of Montana.

THE INDEPENDENT solicits your advertising: Because it completely covers the entire State of Montana. Because it will guarantee to prove a larger bona fide daily circulation than any other paper in the state. Because it is the paper for the people and the one that brings the best results. Because it is a legitimate business enterprise, and as such works for the advantage of its patrons. Because its charges for advertising matter are reasonable. Because with its equipment of lightning presses and the best of modern facilities, THE INDEPENDENT is prepared to give a dollar's worth for a dollar. Because advertising in its columns has paid others and it will pay you. Because columns and pages in other Montana papers will not reach the readers of THE INDEPENDENT. Because it is the oldest morning daily in the state and is the best advertising medium. Because its circulation is constantly increasing. Because it leads in news gathering, influence, enterprise, and the purchasing power of its readers. Because it is a clean, sharp, spicy local newspaper. Because it is printed at the capital of the state and the county seat of the county. Because its readers are of the purchasing class and its columns are patronized by reputable dealers. Because all kinds of matter appearing in its columns have weight with its readers. Because if you want to reach the people of Montana it can be done to better advantage in THE INDEPENDENT than through any other medium.

If you want the news, read THE INDEPENDENT.

MONTANASTATE HEADQUARTERS.

For Visitors to the World's Fair—331 Michigan Avenue.

This club has the endorsement and approval of Gov. J. E. Rickards, the board of World's fair managers for Montana and many other leading and reputable citizens.

The citizens of the state of Montana are aware of the fact that its progress and development for the past fifteen years has been second to none in the union. Owing to the fact that we have never had a commissioner of immigration, and that no concerted action has been made to advertise the advantages and resources of this country to the capitalists of the east or the citizens of the old world, but comparatively few outside of our own territorial limitations are adequately impressed with our importance.

It is now thought advisable to make a united effort to call the attention of capital to the advantages to be derived from investments in Montana.

Many of the states of the union have erected, within the confines of Jackson park, Chicago, a state building as headquarters for their citizens. Most of these buildings are small in size, and under favorable circumstances would attract but little attention, and when placed in the immediate neighborhood of those magnificent architectural piles which go to make up the buildings of the World's Columbian exposition, and which are the wonder and admiration of all who have seen them, they will pass unnoticed.

It is probably understood by all that each of these state buildings is within the grounds of the World's Columbian exposition, and that admission to them is to be obtained only after payment of the regular entrance fee.

It is the design of the Montana State Headquarters club to provide a convenient location where may be made a suitable display of the minerals and other resources of our state, and from which may be distributed advertising matter calculated to awaken interest in our various business enterprises, which advertising matter, by a rule of the local board of the World's Columbian exposition, cannot be distributed within the grounds, to provide the members of this club with many needed conveniences for themselves and their friends.

The projectors have secured the magnificent residence, 331 Michigan avenue, past the windows of which all processions, military and civic, must march, and which is convenient and easily accessible from the World's Columbian exposition, and from the business center. Certificate holders will be entitled to all these privileges and advantages of the same, a few only of which we enumerate.

There will be provided a large reception room, upon the ground floor, where the citizens of Montana are expected to register, giving their home and Chicago addresses. All mail and telegrams may be addressed to certificate holders in care of the club. Stations and conveniences for the answering of the same will be provided free of charge. The leading newspapers of this state, as well as eastern newspapers, will be constantly on file, and for stenographers will be in attendance, and a telegraph office, telephones and American District Messenger service will be established within the building.

Hotel and lodging house accommodations will be procured for members at the best rates obtainable.

A ladies' parlor and retiring room, in charge of competent female attendants, will be free to the patrons of the club, as will also the privileges of the buffet. In short, it is designed to furnish all the conveniences and surroundings of a first-class hotel, with the exception of meals.

Certificates of membership will be issued at the uniform price of $10, entitling the holder thereof to all privileges of the club during their entire stay in the city of Chicago.

Certificates are to be non-assessable, and the owners thereof will, in no way, be held for any debts of the club.

A bureau of information will be established and maintained in the city, and different points of interest in the city and guides will be sent when desired. Excursions will be arranged for the lake at reasonable rates, and seats at the theaters secured, in advance, with no trouble to members.

If from sickness or other causes the certificate holder is unable to visit Chicago, upon the surrender of the certificate a new one will be issued, without extra expense, to any one whom the original holder may designate. Montana has already attracted the attention of the civilized world by its unique and artistic advertisement, its "Silver State Justice," and it is expected that her citizens will heartily co-operate in making the Montana State Headquarters club the admiration and envy of the dwellers of all the other states. With your co-operation this can be accomplished. Certificates of membership can be had by remitting $10 to James Barnes, Jr., & Co., Merchants hotel, Helena, Mont. For further particulars address James Barnes, Jr., & Co., Great Falls, Mont., or Helena, Mont.

IF YOU REPOSED CONFIDENCE

In a trusted friend whose judgment was conceded to be good in matters of finance and investment, and he should advise you of a legitimate and judicious way to make money, wouldn't you naturally avail yourself of the chance? You would not only accept the suggestion, but you would feel very grateful. Suppose you regard us in the light of such a friend, filled with good intentions to serve you and in every way qualified to do so. Let us make known to the reading masses YOUR capabilities to serve the purchasing public, making a feature of your especial claim of whatever nature, and the best of results will follow. ADVERTISE ALL THE TIME—make no ridiculous distinction between dull times and good times—but never insert an advertisement of any nature, kind or description that has not been carefully prepared, and that says only what you want to say, and says only what you CAN and WILL do to the letter.
