

FROM THE POINT OF VIEW

What the State Committees Think of the Political Outlook in Montana.

Their Ideas All Seem to Differ as to the Outcome.

Chairman Kenyon is Hopeful of the Democratic Legislative Ticket—Republicans Will not Control.

Chairman W. R. Kenyon, of the democratic state committee, arrived in Helena last night from Butte, and will leave for the latter place to-day. Mr. Kenyon was seen by an Independent reporter last night and asked regarding the political outlook in Montana for next Tuesday. "The capital fight," he said, "has overshadowed politics in Montana this year. All the prominent speakers have been on the stump in the capital campaign, and this has prevented the parties making an active canvass. With the capital question absorbing so much attention, it has been hard to arrive at any definite estimates as to political results. On the state ticket, however, it may be stated that the result is doubtful; and as to the legislature, we are hopeful of having a clear majority, and are pretty sure of at least preventing the republicans controlling that body."

A special dispatch from Butte to the Independent last night says:

"W. R. Kenyon, chairman of the democratic state central committee, is not in town. At democratic headquarters a small plurality for Corbett is expected. Smith is not considered in the race at all. The committee is figuring on solid delegations from Havill, Missoula and Deer Lodge counties and count on those from Silver Bow being enough to make the legislature democratic. There is no doubt that six and probably eight representatives will be elected from this county."

"Lee Manly, chairman of the republican county central committee, is also out of the city. Committee members figure the legislature forty-seven republicans, twenty-three democrats and twelve populists. They count on Hartman having the vote of both Corbett and Smith, of 1,000, and count on Smith receiving more votes than Corbett. They count nine out of twelve republicans in this county, and a vote for Hartman equal to the vote of both Corbett and Smith. "At populist headquarters the election of both Smith and Reeves is claimed. Hartman is given second place and Corbett is not considered in the race. The populists figure on between fifteen and twenty representatives in the legislature and claim they will surely have the balance of power."

JUST LIKE HOME.

Experience of a Kansan With a Big Ocean Swell.

Detroit Free Press. The man from Kansas was making a trip across the Atlantic, and during the passage the weather was extremely boisterous. One morning when it was blowing great guns, the Kansan appeared on the deck. Nobody was in sight except the captain. "Go below, there," he shouted. The passenger looked around to see who he was talking to. "You mean me?" he yelled back when he saw there was no one else in sight. "Of course I do; go below," and the captain came alongside. "Well, I guess not," protested the Kansan. "I'm here to see how one of your 'mountain-high' waves and 'terrible gales' compares with what we have in Kansas in the way of cyclones. This ain't a patching to what I've seen out our way."

Before the captain could offer further objection a big green wave came curling over the place where the passenger stood, and the next thing he knew he was swept off his feet and carried aft by ropes and boats and all the paraphernalia of a ship's deck landed in a heap in one corner, where he was saved from being washed overboard. When they got him out he had a broken leg, a twisted shoulder, a sprained wrist, his face looked as if it had been dragged backward through a briar patch and he was unconscious. They carried him to the captain's room and after much effort restored him to consciousness. He gazed around a minute in bewildered way, his eyes fell on the captain. "By grave, cap," he said, feebly, "that reminded me of home, only it was a darn sight wetter."

HIS HEAD CRUSHED.

Matthew Tostevan Meets Death on His Plover Claim.

The body of Matthew Tostevan, whose death near Butler on Friday was announced in the Independent yesterday morning, reached Helena during the afternoon and was taken to the undertaking establishment of E. L. Flaherty. From that place it will be taken to the Episcopal church to-morrow morning, and the funeral service held there, beginning at ten o'clock. Mr. Tostevan was an old man, in his thirtieth year, coming here in 1886 with Richard Hoback, T. J. Tietjen, George White and others. He was about 60 years of age and unmarried. Some time ago Mr. Tostevan and his brother, P. Tostevan, bought a placer claim near the long trestle of the Northern Pacific, about two miles and a half from Butler. On Friday he was digging under a bank, while his brother went to shut off the water. When the brother returned he found Matthew dead with his head crushed between two big stones. A rock had fallen from the bank on his head, which was crushed all out of shape. Coroner Pleasants, after learning all the circumstances, decided an inquest was unnecessary.

Capt. Davis Injured.

Capt. Davis, superintendent of the Hubbard mine, left for Jay Gould yesterday morning. About noon he stopped at Silver, hitching his team near the Great Northern track. He had been out of sight of his horses but a short time when he heard a freight from Helena climbing the grade to Silver. He rushed to his team, which seemed frightened at the approaching train, untied them and attempted to climb into the buggy. The horses, however, started up and Capt. Davis was thrown down and dragged quite a distance. When assist-ance arrived it was found that his right leg had been broken. The captain was brought to Helena on the south bound train, which reached here the middle of the afternoon. The runaway team was caught not far from Silver. The horses were not injured and the buggy was not damaged in the least. Capt. Davis had driven the horses a number of times to Jay Gould, and they had never become frightened before.

Expressed Alarm.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 3.—The state Baptist convention last night unanimously adopted a resolution expressing alarm at the power of the Roman Catholic church over congress and the federal government, and denouncing all legislation giving federal revenues in support of the Roman Catholic or other sectarian schools.

CAME OUT EN MASSE

All Livingston Participated in a Grand Rally.

Special to The Independent. Livingston, Nov. 3.—Livingston turned out en masse to-night and participated in the largest and most enthusiastic capital meeting of the campaign. Early in the evening the local band paraded the streets, displaying a Helena-for-the-capital banner, and was loudly cheered along the line of march. As early as 8 o'clock the opera house was well filled, and when the speaking began a few minutes later all seats were taken and the aisles and entrances were crowded with spectators. Ex-Mayor Talbot presided and the stage was more than filled with citizens of Livingston and Park county. The meeting was opened with a short address by Mr. Talbot, who stated some sound reasons why Helena should remain the capital of Montana. He then introduced the speaker of the evening, Col. Sanders. When Col. Sanders speaks in Livingston, no matter what the topic under discussion may be, he is always met with a good house, but to-night the reception he met was far more unanimous and cordial than he ever before received from a Livingston audience. He began by comparing Helena with Anaconda as regards location, and reminded his hearers that Helena was accessible to all portions of the state; that the two great trunk lines that traverse Montana cross at Helena, and that the people living in nearly every county in the state can reach Helena with less expense and more conveniently than they can Anaconda. He charged that the Anaconda company had frequently attempted to corrupt the law-making power of the state into passing laws in its own interest, and which would be detrimental to a large majority of the people of the state. He stated that ever since the advent of the Anaconda Mining company into the state it had endeavored to dictate the policy of the state government, and at present attempting to buy the state capital that it might be in a position to exert its influence with better effect. He closed with a strong appeal for the voters to look to the best interest of Montana and on Nov. 6 to register their disapproval of corporation rule.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

The east bound express on the Northern Pacific was somewhat late yesterday on account of a slight cave-in in the Mullan tunnel.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Society of Temple Emanuel will meet at the residence of Mrs. H. Town, 536 Ewing street, on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 7.

William Zastrow has resigned from the command of Company C, Montana National Guard. The company at first refused to accept the resignation, but on Capt. Zastrow insisting, they were compelled to do so. The resignation has been sent to Adjutant General Lloyd, who has not yet taken any action.

Messrs. Martin, Sterling, Reed and Kleinschmidt have been appointed a committee to deploy Helena's forces on election day. This committee will have a meeting at the office of F. P. Edwards, 11 p. m. to-day (Sunday) and will be glad to have every one who can go out of town on that day to work in outlying precincts call and tender their services.

William Thomas, a deserter from Company B, Twenty-second infantry, was captured by the police and taken to Fort Keogh yesterday. Thomas left his company while the troops were at the fair grounds. He had just finished a thirty days' sentence in the county jail for larceny, which he committed in order to obtain his discharge. The authorities refused to give him his discharge, however, so he deserted.

A CANTICLE OF NOVEMBER.

Sad, fitful, dwindling days are here! The pale, chill lustre of the sun; And cloudland leaden, dismal, dun,— The faltering pulses of the year.

At sea a ghostly cove-reefed sail; Strains here and there to make the land; Great billows break along the strand, And terrors gather in the gale.

And pelting, passionate gusts of rain Make moan o'er forest, field and fold,— All grewsome gray and dusky gold, A dolorous litany of pain.

The crimson hectic of the leaves That flit and flutter from the trees Like frightened birds abreast the breeze; The rustling of the tawny sheaves;

The fretful murmuring of the rill That hurries on with startled pace; A strange and patient partridge grace That lingers over vale and hill;

All blighted buds and perished bloom— A glory from the garden gone— The year waits solitary, lone, A wanderer in the deepening gloom.

Let earth and heart and head have rest; Life-currents in the veins stand still A little while; there lies no ill In this repose; for rest is best,

And Faith shall better lessons bring Of Him who worketh as He will. Through seeming joy, through seeming ill,

The Holy in prophet of the spring.—Rev. George T. Rider, in Harper's Magazine for November.

Hovas Will Resist.

Paris, Nov. 3.—The French government has received a dispatch from M. Lemiere Devillers, special envoy, sent to Madagascar with the ultimatum of France to the Hova government, announcing that he left Antananarivo, Oct. 26, without receiving the reply of the Hova government to the French demands. Immediately after the French government receives a direct dispatch from M. Lemiere Devillers, giving the final result of his mission, necessary proposals will be submitted to the chambers. Little doubt exists now that the Hovas intend to resist the demands of France.

Plain Talk.

[From the Cleveland Plaindealer.] "There are hundreds and thousands of people in the large cities and towns who cannot afford to pay the prices demanded for the best dairy and creamery butters. Oleomargarine is in every respect better and more healthful than country store butter. Give the middle class, and every class, for that matter, a chance to place on their tables an artificial butter that looks like butter, that tastes better than most dairy butter tastes, and is absolutely nutritious and healthful. Let there be fairness in this matter, and a repeal of all prohibitive laws that work injury and injustice to a large number of people."

Silver Churn Butterine is the latest and most improved butter substitute. It is prepared by superior methods under careful scientific supervision. It is advertised and sold largely throughout the United States, and fastidious housekeepers proclaim it the best table article obtainable.
