—There were five or six candidates in the field here for road supervisor.

—Anderson Bros. have their mammoth warehouse well filled with goods.

—Gohrett & Richard-on have the contract for plastering the skating rink.

—Thos. Cooney's family arrived from the Missouri valley during the past week.

—Messrs. Blessing & Whitney will complete the Higgins building this week.

—E. C. Swope, of Martinsdale, made the Springs a short visit during the past week.

—The beautiful fall weather will greatly facilitate work in mining districts.

—Mt. Edith and the surrounding mountains have put on their winter's garb.

—The Smith river valley round-up will complete their labors and disband this week.

—Mrs. Sprague and Miss Crawford are very busy. They find the millinery business brisk.

—The P. & H. stage line appears to be doing a splendid business, carrying freight and passengers.

—Alex. Gibson and L. D. Burt are preparing to remove the remains of their children to the new cemetery.

—Mrs. Kirchman has removed to town for the winter, for the purpose of sending her children to school.

—In two years from this date White Sulphur Springs will be connected with the rest of the world by rail.

—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lyons, Mrs. P. J. Moore and Miss Mina Robertson spent several days in town this week.

—Mrs. Wiltse, of the Grand Central hotel, is a most obliging landlady, sets a good table and is doing her share of the trade.

—The Musselshell round-up has completed its work in that region. The cowboys returned to Smith river Sunday last.

—Mrs. D. W. Curtis returned to Helena last week much improved by the use of the waters here, and much pleased with her visit.

—Dan Jackson, who has a ranch at the foot of Mount Edith, is in the dairy business. He proposes to make a fine dairy farm of it.

—There have been a large increase of settlers along the shields river tributaries this year. They are in much need of school facilities.

—A. E. Tuller, a leading wool grower of the Musselshell who went East last winter, is expected to return to Martinsdale some time during this month.

—Wm. Woolsey has reduced the fare between White Sulphur Springs and Livingston to $6. His coaches go through in one day and are doing a good business.

—The Flat Willow, lower Judith and Armell's creek round-ups completed their labors last week. The beaves collected by them will be shipped by rail at Billings this week.

—The last of the beaves gathered on the Musselshell range this fall have been driven to Billings by Messrs. Freese, Collins and Gordon, and will be shipped to Chicago this week.

—Chas. W. Ballard, until recently a typo in this office, writes from his old home in Indianola, Iowa, that he safely arrived, received a cordial welcome and is having a royal time.

—A large amount of freight was received by Spencer, Mayn & Heitman last week. They seem determined to get in a full supply of goods for winter before the severe weather sets in.

—The coach travel into and out of the Springs is brisk. The four or five lines centering here all have a good carrying trade of both passengers and express, and their proprietors are well pleased.

—The public school is rapidly increasing in numbers. A large number of new desks had to be added last week. The teachers, Mr. Cusick and Miss Diefendorf, give good satisfaction and are well liked, both by the children and their parents.

—The skating rink was closed Monday last for repairs. The new maple floor is to be put down, the hall to be wainscotted and plastered, with an arched ceiling, and other improvements calculated to enhance the comfort and beauty of the place added.

—The social hop at the Springs hotel last Friday evening was a very pleasant event. Every one seemed to enjoy it hugely. The turnout was good, the music splendid, the deans gallant, and the ladies unusually charming.

—The Apollo Singing Society met Friday evening last at the home of the Catlin Bros. This society is becoming quite a musical institution and is proving quite advantageous to those skilled in elementary rudiments of music.

—A letter from W. H. Wells, at Musselshell, dated Nov. 1st, stated that no poll books had been received, and that no election could be held. About 20 votes were lost by the failure to establish a precinct at that point. Musselshell is the station at the lower crossing on the road from Fort Maginnis to Junction.

—Last Thursday evening one of B. F. Potts' coaches, which was heavily loaded, met with a mishap, resulting in breaking the tongue, causing a delay of one day for repairs. It is making good time now, however.

—We learn that the statement of the Tran. chant, week before last, to the effect that Andrew Cooper had lost his reasoning powers and was not expected to live, is not true. Mr. Cooper is living in Helena and enjoying good health.

—Miss Alice Nichols commenced a private school here Monday last. People from abroad who wish to educate their children can now have their choice between a private and a public school. Miss Nichols is a most excellent teacher and will no doubt succeed in building up an institution of learning that will be a credit to the Springs and do honor to its founder. She has our heartiest wish for success in her enterprise.

—There should by all means be a division of the school districts in eastern Meagher county, so that the settlers in the neighborhood of Lavina can have the benefit of a school. There is quite a settlement near Lavina and it is entitled to a share of the school funds. A petition for the formation of a district should be circulated, signed by the heads of families and forwarded to the superintendent without delay.

—Rev. M. J. Hall returned Friday last from Butte, where he had been in attendance at the late session of the Grand Lodge I. O. G. T. The meeting, he says, was one of the most pleasant he has attended. He was charmed by the attention shown members by the citizens of Butte. Diamond lodge should feel highly honored at his election to the high position of representative of the Territory to the Right Grand Lodge.

—Last week the Commissioners held a special meeting for the purpose of receiving the work on the east division of Cook's Pass wagon road. They made a trip over the road and were well pleased with the manner in which the contractors—Messrs. Tierney, Marks and Berry—had done their work. Owing to some of the grading, teams having strayed away, work had been delayed and the contract was not completed. However the Commissioners were so well satisfied with the work that the contractors were doing that they made no hesitation in stating that the road would be accepted.

"ET TU BRUTE."

Of all the gallant knights of Montana's famous hosts that have marched for these long years in bachelor ranks, none bore a shield more proof against Cupid's dart; none stood prouder and moved with a steadier tread, or seemed more sternly resolved to brave life through to the end alone, than our esteemed friend, D. B. Hall, editor of the San River Sun, who pulled down his ensign, delivered up his sword, bowed his proud head and was led, a willing captor, to the nuptial altar by the charming young Chicago beauty, Miss S. C. Booth, Thursday, Oct. 23, 1884. Good-bye, old fellow; we are proud of you, proud that you did not go over to the benedicts in the weak and piping days of boyhood, when the majority of mankind fall into the lymeneal way, but braved it through many a conquest and only yielded upon meeting a foeman worthy your steel. We love a valiant soldier, even though he has fallen, and will extend to him the eulogies he has often been want to heap upon those whose mad example he has at last been decoyed into imitating. We congratulate the young lady upon her success in storming the fort so often besieged in vain, and trust that time may prove—as we believe it will—that she may never have to hire a hall or be rent a booth, and as they glide along may they find the sea smooth, the winds fair, and the little god with his bow and quiver of poisoned darts—that is making such havoc in bachelor ranks—ever at the helm guiding them safely on life's journey.
