CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

PEOPLE YOU KNOW AND SOME OF THE THINGS THEY SAY AND DO.

Speaking yesterday afternoon of the occupation license tax, P. M. Reilly of the Retail Merchants' association said to the Missoulian man: "We have decided to pay the occupation tax. The city has had a severe trial as a result of last year's flood and other connected circumstances, and we feel that it is our duty to respond to the call of the council for the revenue that will be derived from the payment of this tax. We are yet of the opinion that the tax is not fair to us and that it is in the nature of a double levy; but we are going ahead with the payment of it without further resistance, and we hope that our position will not be misunderstood. There are many vexing problems connected with the question of city revenue; there will always be injustice done to somebody in the matter of a levy; in this matter nobody is particularly to blame; it is the fault of our system. But under present conditions we shall pay the special tax and try to look pleasant."

"And now I see the city is planning to build a sewer on Stevens street between Cedar and Main," said Charles E. Johnson yesterday afternoon. "I don't know just how to figure this thing out. Over on the south side we want to build sewers ourselves for the sake of the health of our side of the river; but we do not seem to be able to do it, though we have asked for the privilege. We have been paying interest on the sewer bonds for the north side of the river for a good many years and we have not made any serious kick. But I am one who is on record as opposed to having the whole city taxed for the construction of any more sewers for the benefit of a limited section. If there are any sewers to be built, let those who are benefited by them pay for them. On the south side we are willing to do this, but we cannot get the privilege. Why is it that we are not allowed to build for ourselves and not are to be taxed for sewer work that will not benefit us at all? That is the question that we have been asking for a long time; we have not been answered, but I am going to force an answer if there is any further attempt made to compel us to pay for more north side sewers."

Tyler B. Thompson was another man with a protest yesterday, and he delivered it emphatically and succinctly. "Down on our street," said he, "we have two aldermen and the mayor. As far as representation in the council is concerned we are well fixed. One of our aldermen lives on the north side of the street and the mayor and the other alderman live on the south side of the highway. It should be easy for us to get our troubles remedied with such excellent local representation. But practically we are out of it. The arrangement is one of those things that figures out all right but does not work when it comes to putting it into practice. The present trouble is this, that the Elks' hall excavation, which was done last fall, left a great pile of gravel in the street and completely blocked the way for pedestrians on the north side of the street. It was pretty bad all winter, but now that we are in the midst of spring showers and spring thaws, we are blocked completely unless we wade out into the mud in the street. Yesterday I saw a woman trying to get around this obstruction, and she slipped on the loose gravel and fell. There has been trouble all winter. There should be a footwalk constructed around the pile of gravel and it should be kept free and open so that people can travel on the north side of the street. I don't know whether it is the business of the contractor or of the Elks, but I do know that the city should make somebody do it, and I wish you would express my sentiments unmistakably."

"No," said Dr. McCall last night, "I haven't the grip and I haven't been in an accident. I've been moving; that's all. Tonight we are in our new house, and I hope we shall be settled some day. Just at present, however, we are camping in our new quarters, with things pretty badly mixed. It seems a little strange; we have not moved since we were fairly settled—and now we have pulled up stakes and are located in a house of our own. As I have said, we are some mixed tonight, but in a short time we shall be settled and we hope that our friends will remember the new number." Dr. McCall has just completed the construction of a commodious house at 221 East Cedar, and last night he spent there. The new building is designed for a hospital in addition to the living apartments of the doctor's family. There are 18 rooms in the new building and it is admirably arranged.

Lee Dysart of Spokane, who is to act as superintendent of construction on the new court house, is in the city with Mrs. Dysart, and is preparing for the start of the spring work on the big building. The last of the material is expected here this week and there will be a large force of men engaged as soon as everything is ready. The fact that all of the material will be on the ground when the work is started means it is reasonably sure that there will be no delay in the construction work when it is under way. There will be every effort made to hurry the work as fast as is consistent with good work, and the court house will rise rapidly.

Leo F. McDonald has succeeded T. J. D. Jenkins as manager of the furniture and carpet department of the Missoula Mercantile company. Poor health has compelled Mr. Jenkins to retire from active business for a while, and he will seek health on the coast. Mr. McDonald, who assumed charge of the department yesterday, is an experienced man in house furnishing. In the eastern cities where he received his experience he

FAREWELL BANQUET TO WHITE

FRIENDS GIVE DEPARTING SALESMAN A PLEASANT SEND-OFF AT THE INN.

One of the most delightful dinner parties ever given at Ye Olde Inn was the midnight banquet last night in honor of Vincent White, who is about to leave Missoula to take up his residence in Kalispell. The affair was in the nature of a farewell, and was a cordial testimonial of esteem as was ever tendered. It was well into the morning hours when the stirrup cup was drunk and those assembled about the table sang "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" with an earnestness that left no doubt of the sincerity of the expressed wishes for Mr. White's long life and continued prosperity.

Captain Fairweather was toastmaster and graced the head of the table with his very presence. His cleverness was never more in evidence than during the hours of the speech-making, and his sallies called forth responses that were brimful of sentiment and good humor. There were funny speeches and there were bright, sparkling speeches and there were speeches that were subdued with the regret that was in the mind of each one over the prospective departure of a right good fellow who has been a comrade for years. Mr. White goes to Kalispell to take charge of the wholesale department of the hardware section of the Missoula Mercantile company's store at that place. He has been in Missoula for years and has enjoyed deserved popularity amongst his associates and friends. He is not, however, a stranger in Kalispell, as he was stationed there for some time before coming to Missoula. He returns to the Flathead country bearing the best wishes of all who have known him here.

Those present at the banquet last night were: Messrs. Vincent White, William Fairweather, Frank Dennison, (the Harris), H. E. Freese, Rude Cowler, R. D. Pursey, Horace Allen, E. B. Ford, Jack Clifton, Ward Rathburn, Lewis Pearly, E. H. Boos, H. J. Morrison, John Westerman, William Field, George Heimback, Owen Kelley, Beverly McLeod and Howard Schroeder. The Olde Inn management exerted itself to make the occasion a success and its efforts were successful to a marked degree. The table was handsomely decorated and the banquet room never looked better than when the guests assembled. The entire affair was highly creditable and thoroughly enjoyable.

MISS CYR RETURNS.

Miss Cyr, manager of the suit and cloak department of the Missoula Mercantile company, has returned from her eastern trip. While away, Miss Cyr selected her spring stock and she promises the ladies of Missoula the handsomest showing of ready-to-wear garments ever displayed here.

MISSOULA EAGLE BAND GIVES CONCERT TODAY

In the case that yesterday's weather is repeated today the concert of the Missoula Eagle band will be given in the open. If the sun refuses to shine and the mercury to remain close to the top of the tube, the concert will be held in the Union theater. In either case the program will start at 3 o'clock. The following selections will be rendered by the entire membership of the band:
March, "Chicago Marine Band" (Brooks).
Overture, "Barber of Seville" (Rossini).
"Valse Backland," J. K. Witzman.
Selection, "Fauc" (Gosund).
Potpourri, "A Night in Berlin" (Hartman).
Descriptive, "The Mill in the Forest" (Ellenberg).
"Paw-wow," Witzman.
"Star Spangled Banner."

BACK FROM THE EAST.

Miss Doherty who is at the head of the cloak and suit department of the Donohue store, has returned from New York and Chicago, where she assisted in the selection of the spring stock for her department. Miss Doherty announces that the styles this spring are especially attractive and promises the ladies of the city a wonderfully fine showing of garments when the new stock is opened up.
Miss Cema Anderson, head milliner at the Donohue store, is also back from the east, where she spent weeks in the establishments of the leading designers of women's headwear. She has selected an unusually elaborate stock for her patrons and is positive that her selections will meet with approval.

THE WEATHER

Yesterday March added another pearl to its string of fine days. There was nothing to mar the perfection of the atmospheric conditions; the sun shone and the thermometer stood close to the 50-degree mark most of the time. The observations:

Minimum 27
At 6 a. m.
Thermometer 29
Barometer 26.86
At 6 p. m.

SUBMITS REPORT.

Rome, March 13.—Lloyd C. Griscom, American ambassador, has submitted to the Italian foreign office the report received from the American consul at Palermo of the assassination of Lieutenant Petrosino and has urged that the greatest energy be employed to discover the murderers and to bring about their punishment.
Premier Giolitti has personally interested himself in the measure undertaken by the police to capture the assassins.

DECLINES TO SERVE WITHOUT STENOGRAPHER

Spokane, March 13.—Declaring that no public good can possibly result from their labors, since the court has denied them a stenographer, the grand jury empaneled to probe the Root-Gordon supreme court scandal have petitioned Judge Huncke "to discharge them from further service." They assert that without an accurate report of testimony "they will be powerless to check or prevent the commission of perjury by witnesses appearing before them and without any reasonable hope of discovering the truth." They protest that they do not desire to show disrespect to the court or to shirk their duty, but insist that "further deliberations under such instructions could only result in needless public expense and useless personal sacrifice."
Judge Huncke made no ruling today on the request for dismissal.

AGREES TO THE PLAN.

Havana, March 13.—The house agreed today to a recommendation submitted by President Gomez that in view of the serious condition of the treasury the president be authorized to spend at his discretion the export tax on cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, sugar and liquors imposed by President Palma to secure the payment and interest on the $15,000,000,000 army pay loan.

VICTIM OF ACCIDENT LIES BESIDE SUICIDE

San Francisco, March 13.—Lying in the morgue tonight are the bodies of Timothy and Daniel Danly, brothers, the one a suicide, the other having met his death accidentally while searching for his brother. While Timothy was ending his life by cutting his throat, Daniel was slowly being asphyxiated.
Timothy rushed into a butcher shop on Sixth street last night and seized a sharp knife, cut his throat with it, dying some time later. Daniel, hearing that his brother had been drinking heavily, started out early yesterday morning to search for him and take him in charge. Unable to find him he rented a room in a lodging house on Howard street for the night and retired. This morning he was found dead in bed as the result of gas escaping from a jet.

SAYS HUNTING TRIP WILL END FATALLY

New York, March 13.—Dr. Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago repeated tonight at the dinner of the New York Schoolmasters' association his former assertion that former President Roosevelt would not survive the malarial climate of Africa. Dr. Starr said:
"To a man of Mr. Roosevelt's years, with no experience in the tropics, it is little short of suicide. I cannot understand why his advisers have allowed one to go on with the plans. "Roosevelt will never survive the fevers that are bound to afflict him if he reaches the interior."
