CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

PEOPLE YOU KNOW AND SOME OF THE THINGS THEY DO AND SAY.

Morris Schlossberg returned yesterday from an extended eastern trip which took him as far east as Boston and as far south as Baltimore.

MARKET IS GOOD. While he was away Mr. Schlossberg made his purchases for the spring trade, and his new stock has, to a great extent, reached here ahead of him. "I am glad," said he last night, "to be back home again, but I have had a very pleasant trip. The market is good this spring but the manufacturers have been a little timid about loading up heavily with raw materials until the result of the tariff talk is known. The general impression in the east is that there will not be any serious change in the rate of duty, and the uneasiness is to a great extent passing. There are many attractive styles in the market this year, and I think you will agree with me when we get our new stock opened up that it is the best and most attractive that the Schlossberg store has ever offered to its patrons. Much of it is already here and the rest is coming along as fast as possible. We shall start at once to get it placed and there will be much at our store to interest our patrons. I was in New York inauguration day, and it was so stormy that I stayed there and bought pants instead of going to Washington. There were many who were disappointed; there were thousands who had planned to go from New York. I attended to business and gained a day or two which brings me home that much earlier. I am always glad of anything that will do that, as I like to be in Missoula. The prospects seem brighter than ever and I believe this will be the best year the city has ever known. In my purchases I have prepared for a bigger business than we have ever done, and I feel sure that I have acted wisely. Larger purchases have enabled me to buy to my advantage, and the store will soon be announcing some attractive bargains. It will be but a short time now before the entire spring stock is ready for inspection, and I shall be glad to see all of my friends here to look it over."

Charles Dallman reached home early yesterday morning from a trip to Billings and other eastern points, and at once began preparations for the shipment of a lot of nursery stock to the Yellowstone metropolis. The packing of the young trees was begun yesterday, and loading will be started tomorrow. "I had an interesting trip," said Mr. Dallman yesterday, "and it was also highly successful. The Missoula stock is popular across the range and I found a lot of people ready to talk business with me. Our shipments to eastern Montana this year will be larger than ever before in our history and will materially add to the acreage in orchards in the Yellowstone country. Billings is a wonderfully fine city; it is active and progressive and the country around it is developing remarkably. The people down that way are all deeply interested in beet sugar, and the results of their experience as they related it to me have been wonderful. As soon as we have completed this eastern Montana shipment we shall start on the trees for the Bitter Root and other western Montana districts. Our shipping this year will be heavy, and when it is all done there will be less stock left than ever before. Last year we had but very little left, but this season there will be absolutely nothing remaining in our warehouses. I have reserved a little stock for our local retail trade, but that is all that remains now but for orders. The number of trees planted in the valley this year will be the greatest in the history of the valley, and the acreage of orchards will be vastly increased. I told you the other day that I expected that there would be two million trees planted in the valley this spring; now I think that my estimate was too low."

"Discontinue sending paper here; coming home via El Paso, arrive about April 8," was the message which came to The COMING. Missoulian office last night from Colonel McGowan at San Diego. The colonel has been having a comfortable winter; he went to the coast early in the season and he has been basking in the sunlight ever since, except for the brief time that he spent in Montana when he was called back here on a business matter in the middle of the winter. He has eaten oranges and loved it; the golden sunshine until he has had enough and is now ready to come back to old Montana and see how Plains has grown during the winter. He will receive a cordial welcome when he gets home and he will be expected in Missoula as soon as he is acclimated.

Forrest Frazer, superintendent of the Josephine mine, is in the city today. Mr. Frazer has been suffering from a protracted attack of the grip, but for a fortnight he has been at the mine again, and he reports that excellent progress is being made with the new shaft. The hoist is working satisfactorily and the shaft is now down 80 feet. At the 100-foot level a station will be cut and when it will be run to the ore body, which slopes away from the shaft at a depth of 50 feet. There has been considerable ore sacked and a shipment would have been made last week had it not been for the complications at the Panhandle smelter. As soon as the station is cut at the 100 level the crosscut will soon be driven, as the ore is but 40 feet away from the shaft. By that time arrangements will have been completed for treating the ore and there will be shipments

But for us there is no place like old Montana. Where the McIntosh is glowing bright and red.

Chorus—
"Oh, the sunshine sheds its splendor o'er our valley,
O'er her sparkling waters sunbeams dance all day;
In her orchards fair the McIntosh is glowing,
Where the Bitter Root meanders on its way."

"Now gentlemen of New England, Virginia and other apple sections, bring out your posts or prepare to trail hopelessly in the rear. Men may fight or pull wires or resort to the law, but they must all recognize defeat when the poets set people to singing hymns containing truth and jingle. A section that can produce apples good enough to eat, and also good enough to inspire poetry, and then produce the poets to do them justice, deserves full success. Our bashful friends in Vermont must get up on the houseposts and let people know there is no place like the old Green Mountain state."

A RIVALRY DEVELOPS OVER MANGLED FLESH

Special to The Daily Missoulian.
Wallace, March 20.—A rivalry for the gruesome remains of the victims of the powder explosion here has developed between Mrs. Skalbreg and Mrs. Pico, wives of two of the dead. There is a keg containing about 20 pounds of fragments of flesh, and the rivalry is occasioned over where the remains shall be buried. Mrs. Skalbreg wishes to take the remains to California with her and bury them there, believing that most of the flesh is that of her late husband, while Mrs. Pico believes just as strongly that the remains are those of her deceased husband, and as he had always expressed a preference to be buried in Seattle, she wishes to take the remains to that place. An equal division of the fragments was suggested, but met with the approval of neither of the women, and the only course open seems to be sending a searching party for more remains.

It is announced by the management of the destroyed powder works that the mill will not be rebuilt.

DR. BUCHEN DENIES RUMOR.

Dr. Fritz Buchen of Hamilton has requested The Missoulian to deny a rumor that has gained currency in the Bitter Root valley. In some way the report was circulated to the effect that Dr. Buchen sent a man and woman suffering with diphtheria to the Missoula. Dr. Buchen says that the truth of the matter is that he diagnosed the case, and left his office to get some antitoxin. While he was gone the patients left and have not been seen since by the physician. The two, as it was learned yesterday, came to St. Patrick's hospital and said that they had been sent by Dr. Buchen.

FORMER LEGISLATOR GROWS SENSATIONAL

Special to The Daily Missoulian.
Wallace, March 20.—In an address before a public meeting of labor men in this city tonight, H. L. Hughes, formerly a member of the Idaho legislature, and well known in Montana, declared that American capitalists and President Diaz of Mexico are fostering the revolution in Central America that is now attracting attention, with the view that the United States and Mexico will intervene in the affair and divide the countries between themselves, thus giving to Mexico some valuable mining territories which the capitalists plan to operate with poons on the same plan that the mines in Siberia are operated.

The meeting was called for the purpose of raising money to provide three Mexican prisoners now in jail in Los Angeles with attorneys to fight extradition by the Mexican authorities. It is claimed by the laboring men that the prisoners are being sought by Mexico that they may be forced to labor in the mines there. Money was raised, but the amount was not made public.

DEATH AT VICTOR.

Special to The Daily Missoulian.
Hamilton, March 20.—Mrs. Vance, who has been living at the home of her mother, Mrs. Beaulieu of Victor, died at 2 o'clock this morning after a brief illness. Her death was due to a complication of diseases. Besides her mother, Mrs. Vance leaves a sister, Mrs. Jeff Davis of Stevensville, besides a number of other relatives in the valley. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Corvallis.

OFFICIALS MUST STAY IN THEIR TERRITORIES

Washington, March 20.—Territorial officials in Alaska, Arizona, New Mexico, Hawaii and Porto Rico will receive a shock in a few days when they receive an official order from Secretary of the Interior Ballinger informing them that in the future they must remain in their territories except in cases of emergency.

Secretary Ballinger called at the White House today and his contemplated order received the approval of President Taft. The order is intended to put an end to governors and other territorial officials coming to Washington during the session of congress, and spending many months here lobbying for their measures for statehood.

CONDITION VERY SERIOUS.

It was reported at an early hour this morning that the condition of Charles E. Schoonover, who is ill at St. Patrick's hospital with typhoid fever, was very serious. He was expected, however, to pull through the night.

Notice.
To those who contemplate joining the Fraternal Order of Eagles, there will be an initiation of 50 members or more on the third Tuesday in April. W. S. HORD, Secretary.

Opera Glasses

In all lines of goods there is usually one maker whose product stands at the top as regards beauty and quality. In opera glasses that one seems to be Lemaire of Paris. Besides the beauty of finish and the durability of the gilding, the quality of the lenses is such as to make the glasses a very great help to vision, instead of being purely ornamental. We carry them in pearl and morocco, with and without attached handles.

Without handles, morocco, $7.50 to $9.
Without handles, pearl, $12.
With handles, morocco, $12 to $18.
With handles, pearl, $23 to $40.
