NEW TRAIN SERVICE FOR SPOKANE

"LIMITED" LEAVES SPOKANE AT 7 P. M.; REACHES SEATTLE
AT 9 NEXT MORNING.

To serve better the traveling public between Spokane and Puget sound points arrangements have been completed for a new train on the Northern Pacific between there and the Sound, which will provide for a 14-hour service beginning March 28. The train will be known as the "Spokane Limited."

The new service will be a night train, enabling Spokane people to make the trip at night, arriving in Seattle in the morning, transact their business and return the same evening, being away from Spokane but one business day. The new train will leave Spokane at 7 p. m., arriving in Seattle the following morning at 9. The leaving time at Seattle will be 7 p. m., arriving in Spokane at 9 a. m. This new schedule will reduce the Northern Pacific's running time between Spokane, Tacoma and Seattle about two hours.

The equipment will be up to the standard of the North Coast Limited and will carry a day coach, Pullman standard sleepers and an observation car. Passengers will be served breakfast before reaching the Sound, which will enable them to put in a full day in the coast cities.

SECOND OF LENTEN SERVICES HELD

REV. D. S. BAYLEY PREACHES
INTERESTING SERMON AT METHODIST CHURCH.

The second of the series of Lenten services in the Methodist church was held last night when, as announced, Rev. Mr. Bayley of the Congregational church preached from the text: "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." The theme was "The Badge of Discipleship."

Mr. Bayley emphasized the thought that those claiming discipleship with Jesus Christ must make good their claim. He declared that love was the universal language and that where it really existed it would manifest itself. A distinction was made between ordinary love and Christian love. The latter will lead its possessor to manifest it after the manner in which Jesus showed his love toward men.

One—it would manifest itself in helpfulness. Jesus went about doing good, helping people. Two.—In showing friendship. The speaker here drew attention to the fact that Missoula, with its numerous strangers and homeless and friendless ones, offered large opportunity for the manifestation of genuine Christian friendship.

Three.—Long-suffering forbearance one toward the other and especially toward those whose life and conduct made it hard to hear with them was another way in which our Christian discipleship should be proven. Four.—And again where this love spoken of in the text really existed it would express itself in seeking for others the best things, and the best thing possible to seek for any person was to make that person acquainted with Jesus Christ, and this every disciple of Christ should consider his supreme duty and highest privilege. The address was practical throughout and left a splendid impression.

There will be no service tonight as the right of way is given to the service in the Presbyterian church, when Rev. J. H. Maclean will be inducted into the pastorate of that church. On Thursday night the meetings in the Methodist church will be continued and Rev. W. H. Bagby will preach.

HEAVY JUDGMENTS.

Chicago, March 23.—Judgments for $1,000,000 against the Chicago Chronicle in favor of John R. Walsh, majority stockholder of the newspaper which suspended publication at the time of Mr. Walsh's bank, the Chicago National, failed, are attacked in a bill filed by Celia C. Russell here today. The bill asks that the appointment of W. I. Dickinson, assistant treasurer of the company, as receiver, be set aside, charging the whole transaction is tainted with collusion. Judgments for $55,000 were entered against the Chronicle company today in favor of the plaintiff.

MISSOULA ANGLERS ORGANIZE

LOCAL FISHERMEN MEET AND ELECT OFFICERS FOR A PER-MANENT ASSOCIATION.

The enthusiasm engendered at the meeting of the local anglers last Sunday proves to have been of a permanent nature and has resulted in the formation of the Missoula Anglers association, with regularly chosen officers to administer its affairs.

At a meeting held last night in the office of Woody & Woody, and at which there was an exceptional turnout, Frank Darbee was elected president, G. A. Wolff, vice president, and Paul Reinhard, secretary-treasurer. Instructions were given to the secretary to issue broadsheet invitations to all Missoula fishermen, and those in the vicinity of this city, to join the club and co-operate in an effort to secure all the fish fry possible with which to stock the streams in this neighborhood. The movement was the net result of correspondence with W. M. Bickford who, last season, supplied Missoula with several large consignments of fry from the stock at the Columbia gardens at Butte. Now that the permanent organization of anglers has been perfected, a regulation will be made on the state department to supply a large stock of eastern brook trout fry with which to stock the Bitter Root river and adjacent streams. No requisition has as yet been made on the state hatchery and the hope is expressed that a consignment of a million fry can be obtained.

In sending out invitations to prospective members of the anglers' club the secretary has been instructed to correspond with the fishermen all along the Bitter Root river in an effort to get them to assist in making the organization a strong one. Every member of the new club is denominated a committee of one to further the cause and is expected to unceasingly boost for the success of the organization.

INTEREST DISPLAYED IN DRY FARMING

MONTANA RANCHERS TO USE
SEED SELECTED FOR NEW MODE OF AGRICULTURE.

Special to The Daily Missoulian.
Billings, March 23.—More than six months in advance of the fourth dry congress so much interest in this movement has been created here that a number of premiums have been offered for exhibits of dry farm products and all the agricultural counties of the state are represented in the inquiries for space in the exposition hall.

All over Montana farmers are preparing to plant selected seed with a view to raising crops that will win in competition with those from all parts of the world and the outlook is bright for making the exposition that will be held in connection with the dry farming congress next October the greatest display of arid land crops ever assembled in the world. In this actual, practical manner the value of the dry farming congress is demonstrated. This congress is essentially educational. It aims to teach the men and women who settle upon the homesteads of the west how to cultivate their land so as to reap the richest harvest with the minimum rainfall. During the last meeting of the dry farming congress at Cheyenne farmers told how they had raised crops and proved their assertions by exhibiting grains, grasses and vegetables grown without artificial irrigation. The benefit of this experience is being brought home to the farmers of Montana and they are securing acclimated seed and studying the methods of cultivation by which other dry farmers have succeeded. The farmers of this state now promise to make Montana the banner state in this most promising branch of agriculture. The impetus thus given to the development of the state will be augmented as the harvests are garnered and, not only Montana, but all the states of the so-called arid west will share in the ever increasing benefit that cannot fail to accrue from growing population and consequent extension of the producing area.

In furthering this movement the dry farming congress and the Billings chamber of commerce plan a missionary campaign during the spring and summer and experienced men will visit all the agricultural sections of the state to investigate the conditions on the so-called dry farms, stimulate interest among the tillers of the soil and encourage greater industry by giving instructions in dry farming methods and supplying selected acclimated seed where desired to farmers who want to raise crops for competition at the international exposition at Billings next October.

Dr. W. X. Sudduth, who is in charge of assembling the Montana exhibit for the exposition, has received several consignments of millet and several varieties of Canada peas from H. N. Vinal, scientific assistant in the bureau of plant industry, United States department of agriculture. These seeds are to be used by farmers in growing crops, samples of which will be exhibited at the dry farming congress exposition. In this manner the federal government has given evidence of its approval of the work of the dry farming congress and manifested in a substantial way its desire to aid in the agricultural development of the west.

The preliminary work in connection with the coming congress is in the hands of a committee of business men with F. B. Moss, president of the First National bank of Billings, at its head. This committee has called a state convention to meet March 27, when the board of control of the congress will be organized. This board will be composed of progressive business men and farmers representative of every section of Montana. It is desired to have every thriving community in the state represented on this board of control, which will conduct all the preparations for the congress.

John T. Burns, secretary-treasurer of the dry farming congress, who recently visited Billings and Helena, has sent his assistant, George E. Swan, to Denver, to this city and the latter has taken charge of the publicity work of the congress. Mr. Swan is now making a tour of the state in the interests of the Billings convention. Immediately upon the organization of the board of control, headquarters will be opened at Billings and preparation for the coming congress will be carried energetically to completion. Through this headquarters Billings will be put in communication with all the western states and the national capital of this and more than half a score of foreign countries, for the congress is international in its scope and the approaching convention will be attended by delegates representing many nations. Several foreign countries including Mexico, Australia, Canada and Russia already have promised to send exhibits to be displayed at Billings.

FOR OLYMPIC ELK

Washington, March 23.—Slopes of Mount Olympia and the adjacent summits of the Olympic mountains in Washington are to be set aside as a national reserve forest for the protection and preservation of the Olympic elk, otherwise known as "cervus Roosevelti," according to a proclamation issued by President Roosevelt before he left office.

The territory is within the Olympic national forest and embraces objects of unusual scientific interest and is in a region which from time immemorial has formed the summer range and breeding grounds of the Olympic elk, a species peculiar to the mountains and rapidly decreasing in number.

HEARING TO RESUME IN SALT LAKE CITY

St. Louis, March 23.—The hearing of testimony in the government suit to dissolve the merger of the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific railroads was adjourned this afternoon by Special Examiner Sylvester Williams, to be resumed April 27 in Salt Lake City. Mr. Harriman's attorneys today did not deny there has been amalgamation of the stock interests, but they said there has been no violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, as the government charges.

Since the merger all competition has disappeared and both roads use the same office, it was testified.
