MISSOULA'S FUTURE.

"Things look good now with all the railway construction in progress and with the large amount of building going on; but what are you going to do when the work is finished?" This is the question which the pessimist fires at you when you talk of the future of Missoula.

Even the pessimist is unable to find anything wrong with conditions as they exist today; for the gratification of his favorite pastime, worry, he must look to the future and find there some imaginary cause for alarm.

A long time ago the injunction was given by the greatest teacher that the world ever knew, to "take no thought of the morrow." That is the foundation of the gospel of optimism.

It does not mean that we are to ignore the future, but that we are to get out of the present all the good there is in it and not to worry about the day after.

The peace of mind enjoyed by a detected chicken thief is much like the mental state of the republicans who declared against Cannon.

Again the great democratic party, through its matchless leader, asserts its undying friendship for the farmer. But the farmer is wise.

The fact that Harriman is able to attend a San Francisco banquet gives the lie to recent statements that his health is poor.

Willie Whittle made things lively for a while, but was unable to sustain the role as long as Charlie Ross did.

The frolicsome lion and the say gazelle would better look out or they'll catch—well, something hot.

It isn't necessary to say anything about the weather; this kind of weather speaks for itself.

ployer and the employe each paying half the cost and the government adding 50 marks to each widow's pension and 30 marks to that of each orphan. The result of this new scheme will be to increase the amount of workmen's insurance contribution by 30 or 40 per cent. In order to give the insured persons some share in the control of the system, the pension will be fixed by local insurance offices, which will be composed of employers and employes, under the presidency of an official who is an expert actuary.

However, if Champ Clark succeeds in framing a set of rules that will actually govern the democratic caucus, he is entitled to a great measure of credit.

In all the bluster at Washington there is one spot where silence and quiet reign supreme; in the camp of the republican insurgents there is no noise.

Having had Cleveland democrats and Bryan democrats, we shall now watch the performance of the Clark democrats and the Fitzgerald democrats.

The hollowest of all the hollow charges made by the Clark democrats at Washington is that Joe Cannon does anything under false pretense.

If Governor Curry is a sample of New Mexican politicians, it is evident that the territory needs some toning down before it is ready for statehood.

Nobody questions the sincerity of Champ Clark's resolution that "we deplore the action of those democrats who supported the Fitzgerald plan."

The mixture of golden sunshine and silvery water, so perfectly formed in western Montana, makes the Red Apples the best in the world.

If western Montana is prosperous with its present acreage of Red Apple trees, what will it be with that acreage multiplied by ten?

Looks Prosperous. I never saw Missoula looking so prosperous, and this spring weather equals anything that Washington has had this year; when I left there it was not as warm as it is here now.

The contrast between Missoula and Minnesota and Dakota is great; there was snow and ice everywhere as we road through those states. Along the Yellowstone we could see that they were starting their plowing, and when we got to Missoula the warmth of the sunshine told us that spring was really here.

Missoula, the Bitter Root and the Flathead are talked about in the east more than any other section of the west; they are receiving a great deal of attention. There is much inquiry on the trains regarding this section more than there is concerning the coast country. Everybody is deeply interested now in western fruit lands, and I predict a great movement this way this spring.

FOR THE LUNCHEON. Take half a gill of milk, three ounces of cheese cut into small dice, one egg, one ounce of butter, seasoning, toasted and buttered bread. Put the milk into a chafing dish and bring it to the boil. Add the cheese, the egg (previously beaten), season with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Stir, cooking slowly, until quite smooth, or resembling thick cream. Remove the pan from the fire and stir and re-heat. Pour the mixture over round or square slices of toasted and buttered bread and serve quickly. The secret of this Welsh rabbit is careful and continuous stirring, so that it is smooth and creamy.

Cut some flannel into small pieces, and wipe dry with a clean cloth; put four ounces of flour in a basin, with a pinch of salt, and stir into it one tablespoonful of dissolved butter; beat this with a gill of tepid water till it is a thick batter. Just before frying add the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, dip the pieces of flannel into the batter and drop them into a saucepan of boiling fat. Drain on paper, and serve in a pyramid on a fish paper, and garnish with fried parsley and cut lemon.

Call for Republican City Convention.

At a meeting of the republican city central committee, held in the city of Missoula, March 15, 1909, it was ordered that the republican city convention be held at Missoula, March 31, 1909, in the court house, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following offices:

- One mayor. One alderman for the First ward. One alderman for the Second ward. One alderman for the Third ward. One alderman for the Fourth ward. Said convention shall consist of delegates and alternates from the several precincts as follows: First ward 20 Second ward 20 Third ward 20 Fourth ward 20 Total 80

The primaries for the election of these delegates will be held Monday, March 22. All republicans are urged to participate in these meetings. CHARLES F. DORMAN, Chairman. Attest: C. W. HEDGER, Secretary.

IN LITTLE, OLD NEW YORK

New York, March 23.—With justice bound hand and foot by the law's delays and the overwhelming congestion of the courts of this metropolis, sweeping measures for relief are today being undertaken in behalf of the multitude of victims of a stagnant bar. Following the preliminary report of the legislative investigation committee on some of the most notorious cases to which they have had time to probe, a general movement will be organized and by members of the bar to demand adequate means for timely trial in this town, where one judge sits on the bench to hundreds of the accused who must await his leisure behind the bars. To those who are in touch with Manhattan's broken-down vehicles of justice it has been an open secret for a long time that innocent and guilty alike are condemned to a year or more of preliminary imprisonment for nothing more than lack of trial facilities. For the benefit of the gentlemen who make their living on the bench or at the bar, no general proclamation of this disgraceful state of things has ever been made and seemingly silence has been preserved. Today, however, the outrage of the human pen that holds an army of applicants for justice outside the courts is to be cried aloud from one end of the island to the other. Meetings and more consideration will work wonders in this condition that rivals those in Russia.

Dogs Draw.

That no modern fad has supplanted the love of a good dog in the hearts of the people of Gotham is shown today as Madison Square Garden is being cleared of the yelping pack of canine exhibits which thousands of eager New Yorkers have constantly surrounded during this week. Never in the history of this town has more interest been shown in these blue bloods of the annual bench show than is being reported by the fanciers, exhibitors and judges of the three thousand dogs assembled. Record prices were paid for hundreds of prize winners and it is estimated that at least a thousand blooded dogs changed hands in the eager competition for winning show animals. No more striking example of true democracy has ever been seen in this city than the motley crowd that pressed about the kennels. Luxurious society ladies, elbowed coachmen and Bowery boys in the general rush to congratulate and talk over the prize winners. No other attraction can draw the whole people here as surely as the dog.

Steamless Streams.

Shooting through the streets of the downtown district at thirty miles an hour, the huge new auto-truck of the fire department has today taken up the modern method of fighting flames with high water pressure. The sight of this giant racer bearing its mountain of heavy hose and nothing else to blazing skyscrapers is a novelty that is startling all New York. Without steam, coils, boiler or engine this crew of firemen have revolution-

Four Good Reasons for Buying Lots in Hammond Addition

Reason No. 1---Location

There is no more attractive place in Missoula than this addition. It is healthful and beautiful; its situation is commanding and its environment is unsurpassed. Hammond addition is, without exception, the most desirable residence location in the west.

Reason No. 2---Surroundings

By a special clause in the contract for sale, the purchaser of lots in this addition is bound to build a house whose minimum cost is named, and the fact that no lots are sold singly renders it always certain that there will be spacious grounds and attractive houses in this addition. Improved streets complete the charm.

Reason No. 3---Price

These lots are on the market at the same prices at which they were offered a year ago. There has been no increase on account of the improved conditions in the city. They can be bought for from $400 to $600.

Reason No. 4---Terms

Added to the low price of these lots is the fact that we make liberal terms as an inducement. We want to develop this addition into an exclusive residence district. With that end in view we are placing the lots on the market at a low figure and are making the terms such that anybody can buy.

DEATH CLOSSES CAREER

stamped in 1884, with his son, Denver, he came to Thompson Falls and helped to build the first house ever erected at Thompson. Here he stayed and in the 25 years that have elapsed he has continued to reside here, with the exception of about two years that he spent at Pulaski, Ill., with an elder sister, who survives him. During these years he has lived on various tracts of land, some of them now very valuable, always leaving them for another that he thought would be better, until five years ago when he located permanently on a homestead on Prospect creek, about two and one-half miles from town. During his career he had seen the seamy as well as the pleasant side of life and has had riches and has been without the price of a meal. He was a typical pioneer, strong in his likes and dislikes and always in the vanguard of civilization. The two years he spent with his sister in Illinois were pleasant, but he hankered for the free air and the pure water of the mountains and was never contented long away from them. Among the old timers he will be sorely missed.

Mr. Laughlin is survived by his wife, who arrived here this morning from Spokane, and three children, two daughters, Mrs. Grace Hodgville of Butte and Mrs. Dora Daggett of Missoula, and one son, Denver Laughlin of Thompson. The widow of late years has resided with one of the daughters. Mr. Laughlin also has one brother living, Robert Laughlin, who resides at Grindstone, S. D., and one

OVERWORKED

Botson Trained Nurse, Seeing the Good Vinol Did Her Patients, Tried It Herself With Splendid Results.

"I was completely prostrated from overwork. I had no appetite, could not sleep, my kidneys, liver and bowels became inactive, and as I grew weaker I could not retain either medicine or food on my stomach and raised blood. The doctors said my condition was critical.

"As I had seen Vinol prescribed for my patients with such remarkable results, I decided to try it. After the first bottle I began to improve. I continued its use, and soon began to sleep and eat well; every organ in my body was strengthened and became normal, until it seemed good to be alive and I was restored to perfect health and strength.

"I advise all my patients who need strength, rich red blood and flesh tissues to take Vinol, as it is so far superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil, emulsions, or other tonics."—Elizabeth M. Cremon, Boston, Mass. For nine years a nurse in hospital and private cases. The reason that Vinol has such power to heal and strengthen is because it contains, with tonic from all of the curative, medicinal and strength-creating elements of cod liver oil. Try Vinol—your money will be returned if it fails to benefit. Missoula Drug Company, Missoula.
