NEW RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION CERTAIN IN MISSOULA TERRITORY THIS YEAR

Gossip Regarding the Surveying Operations That Are Going on All Sides and Definite Information Concerning Some of the Plans as They Are Developing This Month in the Field.

Yesterday's purchases of right-of-way strips along the Blackfoot by the C. M. & P. S. strengthens the confidence which exists in the construction of the line up the Big Blackfoot canyon by this company. There is no doubt of the serious intentions of this company in its survey work up that canyon and on into the Clearwater country. The Missoulian has positive assurance from high authority that this and other branch lines are to be built and built soon. But the acquisition of right-of-way at this time adds to the certainty, and the Blackfoot branch will soon be a reality.

Up in the Blackfoot country the Northern Pacific has parties of surveyors not less actively engaged than their rivals; these parties are working with the same energy, and it is expected that there will soon be definite developments in this direction. The Northern Pacific work up the Bitter Root, which was thoroughly outlined in The Missoulian last week, is being prosecuted with vigor; there is no time to be lost here, and the line from Florence to Hamilton on the east side of the river is assuming definite direction.

Word from the reservation is that there is but one small party of the Hill surveyors left on the work of locating the Kallispell line; this party is finishing some of the detail work, and when this is out of the way the preliminary work on this line will be completed. The line is definitely located and it is understood that the map has been sent to headquarters for approval. It is said that this line will be the first to be constructed of all that are being surveyed this spring.

The Harriman survey over the Lolo pass is progressing. Engineer Mills and his party are working on this side of the range, and on the Idaho side of the divide there is even greater activity. The Lewiston Tribune of last Friday, which was received here yesterday, gave considerable information as to the survey work that is being done in the vicinity of the Clearwater valley. The Tribune has this to say about the work that is going on over there:

"Yesterday afternoon a large crew of railroad surveyors reached Koooskia on the Clearwater train and will immediately start work along the middle fork of the Clearwater. The first report was to the effect that they were Northern Pacific men, but later advices held the view that the crew was sent to Koooskia by the O. R. & N. They reached Arrow on the regular Lewiston-bound train from Spokane and transferred immediately to the Clearwater train. There are considerable distance up that stream has already been accomplished. There was rumor yesterday that the men appearing at Koooskia are representing the Milwaukee road, but there seems little foundation for such a view. However, there is foundation for the view that the Milwaukee will have surveyors on the Reed creek section of the North Fork in a short time, indicating that the company plans a line along the North Fork extending to a connection with its new road in Montana.

"The developments of yesterday, resulting in the surveyors being rushed into the Middle Fork district, give every promise of providing in a few days other important moves dealing with the transportation situation in the Lewiston region, which situation is becoming more interesting with the passing of each day."

EAGLES SOAR ALOFT AND SCREAM

MISSOULA AERIE DOES ITSELF PROUD AND ENTERTAINS MANY GUESTS.

Yesterday was a great day for eagles. Itain bothered them not at all; snow was merely an inspiration; wind was just an encouragement, and they didn't care. Early what the weather was. They looked at the clouds and got out their rubber wings and went at the celebration of the occasion that assembled so many of them in Missoula yesterday. The trains brought a fine collection of birds; they came from all quarters, and they were flying strongly. They flew straight to the aerie, and when they had the Missoula brand affixed, they were turned loose. They came from the Bitter Root in numbers, with Judge Myers at the head of the Red Apple delegation; they came from Garrison and way stations, with Ed Melville in the lead until they struck Missoula, when they lost the gentle Edward but that's another story. They came from Anaconda and they came from Butte; they were here from all directions to see the initiatory work of the Missoula lodge, and every one of them said last night that he had had had the time of his life and had learned more about the Eagles than he ever knew before, which was all to the credit of the Missoula aerie.

Melville of Garrison.

As to what happened to Melville—it was not much. He just got into jail before he had been in town two minutes. He was the gallant leader of the bunch from Garrison, and he led them well all the way down the canyon; there was not one who fell out of the train, and every one kept on the right of way all the 75 miles; such was the care and so great was the solicitude with which Ed watched over them. It was a splendid record. But the sheriff's office had received a telegram to arrest the best looking man on the train when it arrived from the east; he was described in detail; his ruddy cheeks and his luxuriant mustache; his blue eyes and his black clothes; his eagle badge and his winning smile. With this description the sheriff's office had no trouble in locating the man. Ed had no sooner stopped from the train than he was grabbed and hurried to the county jail. There he lay for more than an hour. Then he was bailed out.

This was merely a specimen of the pranks that were played all day. An Eagle was not safe anywhere. As a matter of fact, not many of them seemed to care whether they were safe or not; they knew they would come out all right in the end, and they went their ways in calm and placid enjoyment of whatever came up.

Initiation.

The formal exercises of the day began at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Union theater, with the regular

BUYERS IN MISSOULA OPERATIONS ARE FASTIDIOUS

A VETERAN MERCHANT NOTES A CHANGE IN THE TASTES OF HIS CUSTOMERS.

"There is a marked change in the way Missoula people buy," remarked Morris Schlossberg yesterday afternoon, as he watched his checking clerks unload a lot of men's hats and other wearing apparel. "This year I notice it more than ever; there is a general demand for better goods than there used to be, we are selling more high-grade clothing, both for men and women, than we were a year ago, and when you look back further than that the difference seems even greater. We have bought a better stock this year than we ever had before, as we learned last year that we would need it."

"We are selling this year many of our own brands, goods that are made to our order and that are marked with our store brand when they are made. This has become necessary in many of our lines, as we find it best to have good goods identified with our store. The western market is always more particular, and it is coming to be more and more the case that the manufacturers wait for the western merchant's orders before they make up the goods; they can't sell much of the eastern stock goods out in the west."

"It is a fact, and there are plenty of people in the business, east and west, who will bear me out in this, that the western retail business has surprised the eastern wholesalers and manufacturers for the past two years. When other sections were buying light we bought heavy; when they were not buying at all in many cases, we were buying as usual. And that is why you can go into our stores here in the west and find more and better goods than can be found in the east in the stores of cities many times the size of this."

"We have started a little sale this week and we shall keep it up for the rest of the month. The weather today was a little against us, but we have done a good business; the sales are better than I had any idea they would be when I saw the storm this morning. We are offering inducements to the people that will overcome the effect of the weather, and we are, as I have said, offering the very best goods that can be found in the markets, east or west."

BUYERS IN MISSOULA OPERATIONS ARE DANGEROUS

AS A RESULT OF AN OPERATION FOR CROSS EYES PATIENT IS PARALYZED.

Albuquerque, N. M., April 12.—As a result of an operation for cross eyes by a physician of Topeka, James Peacock, night clerk at the Santa Fe office, is completely paralyzed. After the operation one side of his face began to twitch and the features became drawn. The paralysis slowly spread and yesterday it rendered his limbs useless.

Operations for cross eyes and closed eyes are criminal. Dr. Dodd has treated hundreds of such cases successfully. He may be consulted free at his office in the Missoula hotel. More than 50 patients have been fitted to their entire satisfaction by Dr. Dodd during the past two weeks. Their names furnished to anyone as references. They are among the best people in and around Missoula. His method of examining eyes and fitting glasses is so far superior to either the paralyzed muscle or test type guess method that there is absolutely no comparison. He guarantees satisfaction to every patient.

THE WEATHER

After two days of ideal weather, the weather man says fit to "slip" a poor one over us. The day opened by being cold and stormy and closed by being stormy and cold, with very wet snow. The observations:

Maximum 38
Minimum 30

At 6 a. m.
Barometer 38
Barometer 24.59

At 6 p. m.
Thermometer 33
Barometer 24.71

RETURNS WITH PRISONER.

Sheriff Graham returned yesterday from Wallace with George Hubbard, who is to face an embezzlement charge. Hubbard is accused of taking $630 belonging to the Wallace Steam Laundry company, for which concern he was agent at Taft.

Rheumatism.

More than nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles, due to cold or damp weather or chronic rheumatism. In such cases no internal treatment is required. The free application of Chamberlain's Liniment is all that is needed, and it is certain to give quick relief. Give it a trial and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain and soreness. Price, 25 cents; large size 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

M'DOWELL IS BURIED.

The funeral of E. W. McDowell, who died several days ago at the Northern Pacific hospital, was held yesterday afternoon from Laury's chapel. Rev. J. W. Taft of the Methodist church officiated. Interment was in Missoula cemetery.

Notice.

On and after this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by wife, HARRY GILBERTSON, Missoula, April 10, 1909.

COPIES ARE FILED.

Yesterday certified copies of the incorporation papers of the Missoula Street Railway company were filed in the office of the county clerk. The originals were filed in Butte several weeks ago, as announced in The Missoulian at that time.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our deep gratitude to our neighbors and friends who showed us so much kindness during the time of our recent bereavement; especially would we thank Rev. J. W. Taft of Missoula.
