CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

PEOPLE YOU KNOW AND SOME OF THE THINGS THEY DO AND SAY.

Amongst those who discussed the comment of The Missoulian upon the conditions in the so-called lodging houses yesterday was Chief of Police Smith. The chief was frank in his talk and said that the problem of dealing with these places is serious and presents many difficulties. "We hear a good deal about these places," said he, "and we are pretty certain that a good deal that we hear is true. We are hampered, however, by the difficulty of securing evidence that will satisfy a court that the keepers and inmates of these lodging houses are what we believe them to be. There is a lot that is suspicious in what we see about these places, but it is not possible to make a case stick when all the evidence is suspicion. I believe that the officers should be advised and directed by the city and county attorneys; if they can devise any way of reaching these people and of cleaning out the lodging houses, we are ready to do the work. But we have no right, we are told, to go into a lodging house and break into a room. We would get into trouble and would do no good. I am certain that there is much truth in what is said about these houses and I would like to be able to get hold of evidence that would convict whoever is guilty in the matter; but we have not yet been able to discover how to do it. If we can get the evidence we will do the rest. I want that understood."

Speaking yesterday of the way the scattering of the West Front street dwellers has availed, a well-known citizen of the city told a little story that is to the point. This man's home is very central; it is not more than three blocks from the business center of town, and it is on a street that is eminently respectable. This is the tale which this man unfolded: "One night not so very long ago the door bell rang and my wife went to answer it. There were two men on the porch who asked a question that should not be asked in a respectable place. They had evidently lost their bearings."

Another man, an old resident, said yesterday in this same connection: "There are other places that are scattered as much as the lodging house district from this scattering. Over on the north side, where I live, there are some of West Front street's former population located, and they seem to be there to stay. They came soon after the scattering and were established in a couple of days after West Front street was broken; when others returned to the street they remained across the track and they are still there. It is a bad situation."

Aus Hartley is back from a trip to Salmon City, and he tells some interesting stories about conditions across the range in Idaho. He went in from Red Rock famous old mining district. "The trip was not bad," said Mr. Hartley yesterday. "The Pittsburg company which is building a railway into the camp to connect with the Short Line at Ar-misted is grading fast and the road is making a good showing. But the company is having a hard time with its right-of-way arrangements. The old-timers in the Salmon country have been fooled so often on the railway proposition that they are skeptical; they will give right of way, they say. If they can be sure the road is coming. But there will be no deeds given till these old-timers see the cars and hear the engine. The grading work is being done under some provisional arrangement, but the company will get no deed for some of its right of way until the trains run in. The country is about the most remote in the west, I guess. There are boys and girls there 16 years old who have never seen a railway train. That is unusual in the west. The country over there is prosperous, considering its location as to railroads, and I believe it will be a great district when the road gets in. The townspeople at Salmon are looking forward to it with great expectations."

"Jump, Joe, jump. If you can't make it in one jump you can in two." This was the cry that echoed out through the Flint creek valley yesterday. Joe Grenier was the man at whom the advice was directed, and he took the two jumps; the first one landed him in the middle of a big ditch that carried three feet of water; the second took him to the side opposite to where a bull stood, looking wonderingly at the performance. The chances are that the bull is still speculating as to what ailed Joe. Mr. Grenier was showing a ranch to some prospective buyers; he encountered a bunch of cattle and got nervous; when the bull appeared Joe stamped. The result was that he hit the middle of that well-filled ditch; his shape produced a marked effect; the water went so high, some of it, that it was yet coming down when the train left. The rest of the water was concealed about Joe's clothing.

The work of preparation for the annual performance by the high school seniors is making excellent progress. Under the direction of Mrs. Bandmann the youthful actors are attaining a degree of proficiency which is surprising to those who have witnessed the recent rehearsals. The play this year, "An Unequal Match," is of somewhat different character from the selections made for the high school seniors in previous years. It is a classic comedy from the pen of Tom Taylor, the famous English author and humorist. It was Tom Taylor who edited "Punch" during the period of our civil war and who attacked Lincoln so savagely, making what reparation he could when he found how he had erred in his estimate of the man. It was Tom Taylor who dramatized "Narcisse" for Mr. Bandmann and gave the role in which he won his greatest fame. "An Unequal Match" ranks amongst the best of his productions. Some of the best English actors have essayed its parts. The piece was presented in Missoula some years ago by Marie Wainwright, which is evidence of its high character. "The performance by the high school students will be excellent," was the comment of one who witnessed the last rehearsal. "The work of the students is high class and the play is well chosen." The high school orchestra will furnish the music and will add to the enjoyment of those who attend. The next sale will begin Saturday and will doubtless attract a large attendance.

WORK ON NEW BRIDGE WILL PROCEED

HIGH WATER WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH PIER 10—BIG PUMP SECURED.

The high water will not interfere with the work on pier 10 of the new bridge and this will be carried on without delay. Big 10-inch pumps were installed there yesterday and the work on the up-stream foundation of this pier will be taken up with a vengeance. The piling has already been driven in the down-stream footing and it is believed that the increased pumping facilities will enable this work to proceed, as the ground at this pier is higher than at the north end, where the workmen were driven away from pier 3, Monday.

If the water gives an opportunity the work at pier 3 will be taken up again and rushed. Pier 10, however, is more important at this time, as the steel is to be delivered at the south end of the bridge and the erectors will work northward from that end. The situation on the bridge is not as serious as it looks to the spectator; while it is true that the work on the north end has been postponed indefinitely by the high water, it is also true that these piers will be the last ones needed in the construction. If the new pumping equipment is able to handle the situation at pier 10, there will be, the bridge men say, but little delay in the remainder of the work.

Engineer White, supervisory of the work, was sanguine yesterday afternoon in his belief that the work at pier 10 will be successfully carried through now that the added pumps have been secured by Superintendent Sweet. It is the earnest hope of all concerned that his view is correct.

UNIVERSITY ALUMNI IN SESSION

IMPORTANT MEETING OF GRADUATES IS HELD—NEWS OF MISSOULA SOCIETY.

The University of Montana Alumni association held an enthusiastic meeting at the home of its president, Mrs. W. D. Hanks, on East Pine street last night. Alumni representing most of the classes which have graduated from the university were present and took an active part in the discussion of plans for the betterment of the organization. Committees were appointed to take charge of the annual banquet to be given in honor of the graduating class on June 9, the evening preceding commencement day. It is probable that the banquet will be held in the gymnasium this year, since it is expected that more than the usual amount of space will be required. A special committee was appointed to arrange for the entertainment of the alumni by their class organizations.

As-You-Like-It Club.
 The As-You-Like-It club held an interesting meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Lection-Smith, on East Main street. Election of officers occupied the early part of the afternoon, and was as follows: Miss Taylor, president; Mrs. W. B. Sneed, secretary; Mrs. W. H. Hines, secretary and treasurer. Miss Taylor read a paper on "The Chaparral," which proved most interesting. A large number of members were present.

Beta Phi Chapter Entertains.
 The Beta Phi chapter of the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity entertained a few friends in an informal manner at Miss Marjorie Ross' home on Gerald avenue last evening. Cards and music made the time pass quickly and pleasantly, and at 10:30 refreshments were served.

Personals.
 Miss Thula Toole and Hart Willis have gone to Hamilton to be guests at a house party being given by Mr. and Mrs. Finley Torrence.
 Misses Bess McEain and Frances Jones of Anaconda, who have been the guests of Miss Thula Toole, are visiting friends in Hamilton.
 Miss Harriet Armstrong left last evening for a short visit in St. Paul.

FINISHING UP.

R. del P. Smith has returned from Chicago, where he was called upon business connected with the completion of the sale of the Blair ranches in Nevada valley. He is now in the upper Clearwater attending to the final details of the transfer. The advent of the railway in the Blackfoot valley has made the land so valuable that Mr. Smith more than doubled his price, and the people who are interested in the sale are anxious to get more land.

HELL GATE LODGE INITIATES CLASS

This morning there are just 11 more Elks in the world—at least in Missoula—than there were when yesterday's sun set. "Howdy," for last evening Hell Gate Lodge No. 283 initiated a class in its new quarters in the Harnois theater building. It was a lively looking bunch of candidates before the ceremonies of the evening began, and all of the 11 were richer in experience before the night was half over, not to mention the fact that they were permitted to wear the antlers. The ritualistic work was performed by a team consisting of Thomas P. Conlon, Fred Smith and Ralph Adams.

INSANE PASSENGER TAKEN FROM TRAIN

The county officials were called upon to take care of a demented man who, with his two sisters, boarded train No. 5 at Warm Springs last night. The man, whose name is J. J. Potts, has been in the asylum for several months but was believed to be much improved mentally, and his relatives, who live in Spokane, desired to have him nearer home. He was conveyed to the Washington city last night and suddenly became violent and it was decided to put him off here for care. The man, who is 32 years of age, will probably be returned to Warm Springs today.

JAP LABORER FALLS FROM TRAIN AND DIES

Late yesterday afternoon word was received by the local Northern Pacific officials from Clinton that a Japanese section laborer had fallen from some train and been killed. The message conveyed no other information and it is impossible to learn what train the man fell from. Coroner Kendrick went to Clinton on No. 15 last night and returned on No. 5 with the body. The head of the dead man shows many cuts and bruises, as though made by violent contact with rocks. No inquest has been held as yet.

STATEMENT FROM MR. WOLCOTT.

Editor Missoulian: In answer to the Herald's statements in regard to the management of the pavilion, I wish to state that I closed the 10-cent dances last fall, as I did not consider this the proper sort of a dance. Furthermore, I can prove that I have announced that no more 10-cent dances will be given at the pavilion. Before tonight's issue of the Herald was published I announced to at least 400 people that I would conduct admission dances and that the admission would be so fixed that undesirable people cannot gain entrance.
