CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

R. E. Glass of the East Missoula Land company spent a busy day in Missoula yesterday, on business connected with the BEST ON THE LINE. He found time, however, to make a pleasant call at the office of The Missoulian, where he expressed his surprise at the development that has taken place in Missoula since he was last here, 90 days ago. "I want you to say this for me," said he, "that Missoula is the best town on the line of the Northern Pacific today from St. Paul to Seattle, bar none. There is more business here than in any other town I have seen this spring and I have been on the go pretty nearly all the time. There is more building here and there are more people moving about; it is wonderful and it is hard for a man to believe unless he sees it himself. I have never changed my opinion of Missoula, but it is gratifying to me to see things coming out so soon as I expected they would. I have no doubt as to the future of this city; it will be good always. You have such vast resources back of you and there are so many lines of railway preparing to reach you through new territory that there will always be business here and plenty of it. And when I say that Missoula is the best town on the road I speak advisedly; I have seen most of the others and I know what they are and what they are doing. Missoula is all right and is getting more so all the time."

Chief May, as building inspector, has had another unusually busy month in the issue of permits for new buildings. "I have MORE NEW BUILDINGS," he said, "not counted up yet, but there have been more, I think than I have ever issued before in a month. There are buildings going up everywhere in town and there is not a day that there are not one or more permits issued; the south side is busy in this line, but there are good buildings and many of them going up in other parts of the city. The fees this month will exceed a hundred dollars by a wide margin. There would not be half the trouble connected with this work if the people properly understood the ordinance; it has never been published and there are many who do not know there is such an ordinance; this makes it necessary to hunt up the owners of new houses and explain the matter to them, or else mail them a notice that their building operations will be stopped unless they get out a permit. And then they come around to ask what it is all about. The provisions of the ordinance should be made clear; there should be copies of it to hand out to these people; then they would understand and not believe that they are being held up without authority. There are so many permits asked for that there is not much time to hunt up others who are trying to build without a permit. April and May will show the largest amount of new building that this city ever saw in any two months in its history."

Word has been received that County Treasurer Kennedy is on his way home and will arrive here tomorrow or next day. Mr. Kennedy has been in the east for the sake of his health; it is said that he is returning much improved. His friends here will accord him a cordial welcome and will hope that the improvement is permanent. He has been visiting his brother Lynn in Colorado for a while since he left the east, and the change in climate and scene appears to have done him a lot of good.

Judge Reeves and Mrs. Reeves are visiting in the city from their home in Kentucky. Judge Reeves has received a welcome from his friends that left no room for any doubt as to his sincerity. He is out here for a visit with his three daughters; at present he and Mrs. Reeves are staying with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McKeown at their home on South Third street. Judge Reeves is not feeling very well, but he insists that he is not sick. After a short visit in Montana he and his wife will continue their westward journey and will visit the Seattle exposition before they return to their home in the east. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stewart came down from Hamilton yesterday to meet the judge.

In connection with the arrival of Judge and Mrs. Reeves, they are telling a good story at the expense of A. W. McKeown, who was at the station to meet his father-in-law. There was a group of relatives that gave an idea of how well represented Kentucky is in this city. There were the McKeowns, the Halls, the Thrallkells and their cousins—a regular Kentucky welcome was there for the arriving visitors. "Blondie" was on the job, all right. He shook hands as much as anybody else and then he watched the others shake hands; that shake business seemed to have a peculiar fascination for him and he was sorry when it was over. But when everybody had shaken with everybody else there was nothing for him to do but start for the carriage with the grips. "This he did, his hand shaking that of some invidious friend all the way. When he spied the cabman his face lighted with a smile that was as indecipherable as of the man who uses the right kind of breakfast food. He dropped his hand and had his hand shaken, "Blondie" rushed up to the man as he stood by his back and, seizing his hand, nearly shook his arm off before he waked up. The cabman didn't know what was up and thought he had a lunatic on his hands. "Blondie" has a good deal of a hand-grasp and the cabman's hand is sore from the pinch he got; but he didn't notice it at the time; he was too much concerned about getting away from the crazy man.

At a meeting of the trades and labor council last night the last of the difficulty with the Shapard hotel and the unions was settled by the signing of an agreement on the part of the council. Mr. Shapard having previously signified his acceptance. The difficulty was of 15 months' standing, and arose over a disagreement between Mr. Shapard and the Cooks and Waiters' union. Everything is all right now, however, and there has been a complete withdrawal of any "unfair" charge against the Shapard hotel or its proprietor. The members of the trades council last night expressed their complete satisfaction over the way the matter has been adjusted, and their pleasure in removing their objections to the hotel.

Special to The Daily Missoulian. Helena, May 27.—R. Tappan Tannatt, professor of engineering at the Montana agricultural college, was given a hearing today before a committee of the state board of education, consisting of O. W. McConnell, Attorney General Gulon and C. P. Chisholm, on charges preferred against him by the Carey land act board. This action was taken by the board following criticisms made of some of its official acts by Professor Tannatt. W. S. Hartman of Bozeman represented him at the hearing. The committee will report to the state board of education at its meeting here June 7.

LOT BUYERS BECOME OWNERS

PEOPLE INTERESTED IN EAST MISSOULA ADDITION DIVIDE HOLDINGS.

The lot buyers of the East Missoula addition divided their undivided interests in the property yesterday. They welcomed the bright, sunshiny afternoon which succeeded a rainy morning and went to the grounds in a body. Practically all who were not present were represented by proxy.

Altogether 71 lots were represented, and the property was divided to the satisfaction of the interested ones present, which was natural, considering that the distribution was in the hands of trustees elected by the lot buyers. The sun was just sinking from sight as the ownership of the last lot was decided.

Until the trustees of the lot buyers check over their work, it is not possible to print a list of lot owners, but there is one thing absolutely certain and that is the fact that everybody received a square deal and that all who attended were satisfied with both the procedure and results.

Lot buyers were present from at least 50 towns of Montana and Washington. Among those who now own homes in East Missoula are J. D. Miles of Livingston, and Mrs. Annie Hammond of South Butte.

The street railway surveyors were at work in the East Missoula addition early in the week, and it is evident that street car service is to be an accomplished fact of the not distant future.

One pleasant feature of the day was the general favorable expression of opinion on the part of lot buyers who spoke of Missoula and its prospects. All were willing to go on record as sincere, pure buyers of the metropolis of the McIntosh Red.

The East Missoula addition has been the means of attracting to this city a large number of representative business men from all over the state, and they have seen the city under favorable conditions.

At the conclusion of the lot buyers' meeting, Mr. Ridgway, of the East Missoula Land company, entertained a party of lot buyers in Ye Olde Inn.

Port Eads, La., May 27.—After a quick run down the river from New Orleans, the battleship Mississippi went through South pass successfully today and put out to sea. The Mississippi will probably arrive at Pensacola tomorrow morning.

NERVY THIEF ROBS J. R. RANKIN'S HOME

Soon after midnight last night a thief got into the residence of John R. Rankin, on the corner of Main and Madison streets, and after prowling through the house, went upstairs to the bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. Rankin, where he got away with two gold watches, leaving by the window on the first floor.

According to the story told the police, Mrs. Rankin awoke, thinking that she heard a noise, and was just in time to see a man disappearing. Officer Theriault was called and made an examination, it being found that the thief had opened a window on the ground floor, going from there to where the people were sleeping. He had taken the watches from a small box in which were a number of smaller articles, which rattled and caused the awakening of Mrs. Rankin and the disappearance of the thief. Just a glimpse of the man was obtained—not enough to give a good description. Efforts will be made today to locate the watches and the man.

CANTATA RENDERED BY CHOIR

"SAUL" IS SUNG BY MEMBERS OF METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHORUS.

With a good-sized crowd and good music the First Methodist choir made a success out of their production of the Cantata "Saul," at the church last night. The theme of the cantata was the life of Saul as the king of Israel from the time of his appointing as king until the advent of David brought a close to his career. The libretto was written by W. B. Perkins and was set to music by C. M. Gabriel. The music is all of the very highest, and was delivered by the choir in good style. The choir was assisted in singing by a chorus of young ladies. The following members of the choir took part in the number:

Soloists—Mrs. W. N. Hassler, soprano; Mrs. C. R. Perry, soprano; Mrs. T. H. Dunstan, soprano; Mrs. J. H. Inch, alto; Mrs. G. A. McAllister, alto; George Miller, tenor; C. R. Perry, tenor; W. E. Hassler, tenor; George Tippet, basso.
