There were 30 men at work yesterday on the new court house and this number will be increased during the week. Next Monday there will be no less than 75 and perhaps there will be more for it is second story will be laid then and for three or four days it will take a lot of hand labor to move all of the material. Contractor Oliver was here yesterday and will remain through the week. With him was C. T. W. Hollister of the Washington Brick and Tile company, which is furnishing the terra cotta, and the two men spent the day in looking carefully over the material on the ground. All of the terra cotta for the first story is here and all but two carloads of the upper stories; these two carloads will be here this week and all of the other material will be on hand when it is needed. "Everything is here now," said Mr. Oliver last night to a Missoulian man, "except the last of the terra cotta and a few other things that we shall not need for two or three months. Everything has been ordered and will be delivered before it is needed in the work. The commissioners have decided to substitute the Italian marble for the interior work, where Tennessee marble had been selected at first. This will be here when it is needed, about three months from now. As far as I can see, the work is in fine shape and there is not a feature of it that will be delayed. We shall work every man possible and the construction will be rushed from now until it is finished."

Colonel McGowan was amongst yesterday's arrivals. The colonel is, as ever, a herald with PLAINS IS GOOD NEWS and this time he tells of the rapid progress of the improvements that are being made at Plains and of the good prospects which exist as to other things which are to come. "The valley is in fine shape," said he last night. "The season is advancing well and I think our trees and crops are a little ahead of yours. Plains is growing rapidly and substantially; the town is doing more business this year than has ever been done there before in its history and we are making preparations for a further increase. It is a fact that there are many people looking toward our part of the state for homes and they are certain to find what they want. We have everything that could be desired in the way of pleasant homes and fertile farms down our way; the people are coming."

V. M. Rhoades and family, with Dr. and Mrs. Reiland as guests, formed a pleasant automobile party that ran up to Hamilton Sunday morning and back in the afternoon. The trip was a pleasant one and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who participated. It was the first good opportunity that Mr. Rhoades has had to try his machine on a long run and he has come home fully convinced that he has the best wheel in the world. Dr. Reiland, who is something of an expert judge of automobiles, is of the same opinion. "It was a fine run," said the doctor last night. "The machine did splendidly; it took all the hills on the high gear and ran as smoothly as a watch. The incidental bursting of a tire occurred four times on the trip, but it was soon mended and the slight delay gave us opportunity to enjoy the landscape which we had not fully appreciated when we were moving. The valley looks fine and nobody ever had an opportunity to more thoroughly enjoy it than we did on that Sunday trip."

It is not very often that people get any pleasure out of the trip along the flat just south of the Van Buren street bridge, especially when the road is in the dusty condition in which the heavy traffic has placed it during the past few days, but there are a few people who happened to go past the ball ground at just the right time yesterday afternoon who will not go along the road again for some time without a good laugh at the incident which they witnessed there. Yesterday afternoon the high school boys played ball against a town team, and during the height of the excitement when the rooting was strong, a farmer, a very old specimen of the Josh Perkins type, happened to go past with a wagon load of empty barrels on his way back to the farm. Whether the excitement caused him to wonder as to the cause or whether the sight of the ball grounds took him back to his boyhood days, he stopped for a little while to watch the game. Now the fence around the ball park is rather uncomfortably high for sight-seeing purposes, and so Reuben, trusting to the steadiness of the old horse, which never had, and which apparently wasn't able to run away, stood on his Uptoes on the edge of the seat and looked over the fence. Now if he had been in the country and there had been nothing more than a threshing machine or a herd of cattle to bother the horse, all would have been well, but, alas, Dobbin wasn't used to city life and automobiles, and thereby hangs the tale. One of these big, silent machines came across the bridge at the regulation speed, of course, and came upon Dobbin unawares, and poor Dobbin jumped; not much of a jump, but enough to jar the farmer. And there was Reuben, on his uptoes on the edge of a barrel with a lot of empty barrels behind him, and jared just enough to make him lose his balance. The result can be imagined. And it came, all right. When the smoke cleared away all there was in sight was a barrel, a head and two feet in the back of a rig with the horse ready to run. Then Reuben yelled, and there he erred. The grandstand, full of eager rooters, turned as one man and yelled. Reuben couldn't see the joke, and waved his feet and cried for help, until at last someone, having recovered from laughter, came and pulled the old man out. He was cordially invited to stay and see the game out, but he refused, and did not even thank his rescuers, without a look back, but with a few muttered remarks, presumably about the weather, he drove off.

CHAMPION HAMILTON TEAM DEFEATED

called out on strikes. Mains went out, Fullerton to Henderson, and Wilson died, Gertz to Henderson. One run. Hamilton—The Bitter Root lads finally found their batting eyes and started a slaughter. Gertz singled to center, and McElroy did likewise. Nelson placed another beauty in the mid-air garden, and Gertz scored. Whiteman handled Fullerton's fly. Henderson singled to center, and McElroy scored. At this point a peculiar thing happened. With two on bases, Whiteman hit a spherer over third and the ball was lost under an automobile long enough to allow Williams to score behind his own team. Helman flew out to Ferguson, Nicholson was hit by the pitcher and stole second, but Nicholson fanned. Five runs. In this half of the inning Catcher Williams of Missoula was hit on the little finger of his right hand and the digit was broken at the first joint, but he gamely continued in the game. The accident, however, unnerved Mains and he was decidedly unsteady. Sixth inning: Missoula—Hart singled to right and took third on Smith's double to center. Gleason hit to short, and Hart was caught at the plate. A moment later Smith was caught off third base and retired. Gray drew a base on balls, Gleason taking third. Ferguson fanned. No runs. Hamilton—Gertz went out, Smith to Gleason. McElroy got a two-bagger to left. Nelson doubled to left center, McElroy taking third. Smith relieved Mains in the box at this juncture, the latter going to third base. Fullerton hit to third, but McElroy was caught at the plate. Henderson was out, Smith to Gleason. No runs. It was a tight hole, but was easily passed over.

Fumbles Ball.

Seventh inning: Missoula—Williams fumbled Kelly's infield hit and he was safe at first. Whiteman hit to Williams, who obligingly fumbled for the second time and Kelly scored. Mike going to third. Mains singled and Whiteman tallied. Williams singled to right and Mains scored on an error at the plate. Hart went out, Fullerton to Henderson. Smith grounded to second and Williams was grabbed at the home station on a close decision. Gleason fanned, ending the spasm. Three runs. Hamilton—Williams doubled to left. Helman hit a grass cutter to Hart, which the second baseman allowed to get by him, Helman scoring. Nicholson singled to left and Nichols followed suit. Helman scoring. Mains again went into the box and Smith went back to third. Gertz hit into Gleason's hands and Nicholson was caught at third. McElroy went out, Mains to Gleason. Two runs.

Eighth inning: Missoula—Gray was easy for Fullerton and Henderson. Ferguson singled to left, and Kelly hit into a double play, Williams to Fullerton to Henderson. No run.

Ninth inning: Missoula—Whiteman skied to left. Mains reached second when McElroy dropped his fly. Williams singled, scoring Mains. Hart went out on an easy fly to Williams. Smith put one in the same place, but this time Williams dropped the ball and Smith went to second. Gleason went out, Helman to Henderson. One run.

Hamilton—Williams fouled out to the Helman flew out to short and Nicholson fanned, ending the game with Missoula on the long end of a 10 to 7 score.

Breaks the Record.

Bloomington, Ill., May 31.—Bloomington and Decatur of the Three-I league broke the world's professional record for long baseball games in a contest that went 26 innings today. Decatur winning, 2 to 1. The first 10 innings were played in a steady drizzle. The grounds were muddy and slippery, but the fielding on both sides was phenomenal. Decatur won in the 26th inning, when Fisher was hit by a pitched ball and Purcell made a three-base hit.
