

IS NOW READY FOR THIRD READING

SECOND READING OF TARIFF BILL IS SUCCESSFULLY COMPLETED.

REAL PROGRESS IS MADE

When Measure Is Again Taken Up for Consideration by the Senate It Will Be for the Final Action Upon Will Be for the Final Action Upon Free List Items Disposed of.

Washington, June 12.—Having completed consideration of items of the tariff bill that had been passed over under objections by senators during its second reading, the adjournment of the senate today marked an important period in the progress of the measure.

When the bill is again taken up it will be on its third reading for the final disposition of items upon which the most pronounced objections have been made. In completing the second reading of the bill a number of items in the free list were disposed of. Works of art over 25 years old and collections illustrating the progress of the arts over 100 years old, which were placed on the free list by the committee on finance, were retained there by a vote of 53 to 15. A fight was made on this amendment on the ground that it would allow wealthy men to decorate their homes with European oil paintings and other artistic products of the old world without the payment of duty and that it would permit the entry of many art collections now stored abroad without any benefit to the revenues of the government. The amendment was defended by both republicans and democrats on the ground that its result would be both educational and refining and that works of art of the age indicated would not come into competition with the products of American painters and sculptors. This will permit the great art collection made by J. Pierpont Morgan at an expense of many millions of dollars and now stored in London, to be brought here.

The starch industry received protection by a reversal of the recommendations made by the committee by which tallow and lard would be subject to a duty of 1 cent a pound when not imported for food. Senator Nelson opened the fight upon the free admission of these products on the ground that they were used largely by cotton cloth and all clothing industries in competition with starch made from potatoes and corn. He was supported by Senator Cummins. Both senators were taken to task by Senator Aldrich for attempting to reverse the tariff upward, the Rhode Island senator claiming that if the committee had suggested a duty on products that could not be raised in this country for the purpose of protecting other products when they came in competition, it would have been roundly denounced for such action.

JURY INDICTS SEVENTEEN STRIKERS

ALLEGED LEADERS OF STRIKE MOVEMENT IN HAWAII ACCUSED OF CONSPIRACY.

PROMPT ACTION BY COURT

Disclosure of Supposed Plot to Wrest Control of Islands From the Whites and Place It in the Hands of the Japanese Results in Hasty Summoning of Grand Jury to Investigate.

Honolulu, June 12.—Seventeen Japanese leaders in the strike of the Japanese plantation laborers, of whom about 8,000 are out, were indicted by the grand jury late this afternoon on charges of having conspired to incite disorder in the Hawaiian islands. This action promptly followed the somewhat sensational disclosures yesterday when a search of the offices of the Higher Wage association and the Japanese newspaper Jiji by the authorities revealed incendiary letters, reports and other correspondence tending to show that a conspiracy was in prospective formation among certain Japanese to wrest the control of affairs in the islands from the whites.

So important was the discovery of what appeared to be a plot among some of the strike leaders regarded by the authorities, that the grand jury was hastily summoned today and the documentary evidence seized in the raids laid before that body. The deliberations of the inquisitorial body, which summoned and interrogated numerous witnesses during the day, was followed by the finding of true bills against 17 strike leaders.

The investigation and hearing of evidence was completed today and the grand jury decided to convene again tomorrow (Sunday) and resume its inquiry.

Enough Powder.

Among the correspondence between strikers and some of their leaders, seized by the officers in their search, of which translations were submitted to the grand jury, is the following: "The Japanese strikers are facing the planters with enough powder, lead and food to make victory sure in the end. Now is the time to exile the name of your nation and tint with blood the flag of the Rising Sun. Against those who oppose our action we must be ready with hammer of iron and rain of blood to make the obstinate and blind planters reflect and to exterminate Someterio Sheba, the traitor editor of the Shimpoo, and his followers. We must prepare. "If higher wages are not obtained by the sword my visit Sheba at any time and he should provide for the livelihood of his family which will be left."

Denounces Arrests. The Nippu, the organ of the strikers, denounces the arrest of the leaders and declares that should any extraordinary thing happen it will not be the fault of the peaceful strikers, but that the whole blame will rest on the capitalists and authorities who have resorted to oppression.

Bonds for the appearance of the arrested leaders were quickly furnished and the 17 men were released.

Knows Nothing of It. Ann Arbor, Mich., June 12.—Baron Kogoro Takahira, Japanese ambassador, tonight declared he knows nothing of the reported conspiracy among Japanese in Hawaii to wrest control of affairs from white residents.

"There is no Japanese party in the islands," said the ambassador, "and there can be none because Japanese there have no political rights to vote. "The only trouble that I know of is a dispute as to wages, which I hope will be settled soon. It is a strike of Japanese employes of the sugar planters who have been getting $15 per month wages and ask for a few dollars more."
