CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

Somewhat less vigorously than they left home, but with some reserve strength, the Missoula FLYING EAGLES are flying home from the state convention in Butte. There were a few of them on the noon train yesterday, some more flapped their wings into town when the night train pulled down the canyon and there were yet others on the early morning train today, but the bunch will arrive today or tonight. Amongst those who came yesterday was Alderman Jensen of the Fourth ward, who had to get back early on account of some city business which is in his hands. All things considered, Mr. Jensen looked fine. Talking to a Missoulian man yesterday afternoon, he said: "I have been in a good many cities and have attended a good many conventions, but I never was in a city anywhere at any time where there was such a splendid demonstration in behalf of a convention as there was in Butte yesterday and the day before when the big camp turned itself loose to entertain the eagles. In the first place, the decorations of the business district were specially fine; there had been a great deal of money spent on this work; I don't see how the merchants can get their money back. The illumination and the parade last night were grand, the sight was worth going a long way to see. I have seen a lot of such things but that disappointed anything that I ever saw anywhere else. The Missoula bunch has been boosting well for their home town; Charlie Datman has been distributing hundreds of carnations every day and for a city that didn't want anything but a good time, Missoula was in the lead set all the time. Most of the Butte people treated us finely, the Butte Miner gave us the first of it once or twice but the citizens gave us everything. It was the best celebration I ever saw. I am glad I went and I am sorry I had to leave before the show was over. It was a great occasion."
