

WARNING IS ISSUED BY INSPECTOR

M. L. DEAN ISSUES BULLETIN TELLING OF DANGERS IN IMPORTED FRUIT.

"Read the Law," is the title of the latest bulletin issued by Inspector-at-Large M. L. Dean. It is self explanatory.

"The time is near at hand when the new box fruits will begin to arrive in Montana. It is often the case that they are infested with some of the insect pests or diseases and great precaution should be taken by all dealers against the spread of the pests by infested packages.

"One provision of the law seems to have been overlooked by merchants in some sections as we find eggs, groceries and other merchandise sent out to the ranches in empty fruit crates and boxes. This is a very easy way to spread disease and carry the troublesome insects.

"The law of Montana is very plain on this point. Section seven says:

"For the further prevention of the spread of diseases dangerous to fruit and fruit trees, it shall be unlawful for any person, or persons, dealer, or dealers, to allow, or cause to be used the second time any crate, box, barrel, package or wrapping once having contained fruit or nursery stock, and that the destruction of the same must be made in its entirety, and that the fruiting of such crate, box, barrel, package or wrapping in possession of any person or persons, dealer or dealers, other than the consignee, shall be considered prima facie evidence of a violation of this act.

"Any member of the board of officer thereof, is hereby authorized to seize and destroy by burning without breaking such crate, box, barrel, package or wrapping wherever found, and to prosecute said violator or violators."

"It is hoped that the merchants of this section will destroy all packages and not allow any contamination by their carelessness.

"The fruit interests of Montana are of too great a value to be jeopardized by carelessness, and the law must be enforced.

M. L. DEAN, Inspector-at-Large.

GIVES NEW THEORY ABOUT MOON

SCIENTIST CLAIMS THAT ORB WAS CAPTURED FROM SPACE BY THE EARTH.

San Francisco, June 25.—Announcement was made tonight by Professor T. J. See, astronomer in charge of the naval observatory at Mare Island, that he has mathematically proved a discovery that the moon is a planet captured by the earth from space and not a detached portion of our globe. He rejects entirely the long accepted theories of Laplace and Sir George Darwin ascribing earthly origin to the moon and asserts that his discovery is supported by rigorous mathematical proof based on the motions of Eris, Poincaré and Darwin.

Professor See's announcement was made in a paper presented to the meeting of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific Coast and in a further development of his discovery promulgated last January that all planets and satellites are captured bodies, which have since had their orbits reduced in size and rounded up under the secular action of the nebular resisting medium once prevailing the solar system. In his former paper presenting this theory Professor See showed how these bodies, which once revolved around the sun like the comets now do, had made circuits close about the planets. In the neighborhood of a planet like Jupiter the sphere of the sun's control was shown to have an extension or protuberance on it, like the neck of a bottle, or hour glass, with very unequal bulbs, and when the small bodies moving about the sun came into this neck they could revolve about Jupiter, and in many cases such a return to their paths about the sun. In other cases after revolving about Jupiter they would be captured by the action of the nebular resisting medium about the planet, and there stay forever as satellites.

Perfect Circles. By revolving around the planet for a long time their orbits would be rounded up into almost perfect circles and made smaller and smaller until they became just like the satellite orbits now observed to be. Such, he says, has been the origin of the satellite generally, and the rings of Saturn have had a similar origin by the capture of waste nebulousity once circulating around the sun. When this matter is once brought in near the planet it cannot again escape, but must stay there permanently, because in the space near the planet the planet's attraction is supreme. In the case of the terrestrial moon, however, more than usual uncertainty existed as to how this large satellite originated, and a special investigation of the problem had to be made. The moon's mass is relatively very large, about one-eighth of the earth's mass, and then Darwin's argument that the moon had once been a part of the earth had to be overcome. This, Professor See says, he has done with entire success, and tonight he announced that he had proved mathematically that our moon, too, had been captured and had come to us from the heavenly spaces.

Like Mercury. It was, he says, originally a planet like Mercury, but not quite so large, and moved about the sun at nearly the same distance as the earth. Then it came between the sun and the earth in such a way as to enter the neck of the space resembling a bottle neck projecting from the sun's sphere of control and enclosing the earth. This neck was quite small and narrow, but the bulb of space enclosing the earth and constituting its sphere of attraction was of considerable size. When the moon had once left the sun's control and gone into the bulb about the earth it met with some resistance, and the neck became closed, so that the moon was "bottled up" under the earth's control and could not escape. Hence it has remained with the earth ever since and will always abide with us.

By revolving about the earth in the space controlled by our planet the moon has met with considerable resistance, and its orbit has become smaller and also rounder and rounder. Thus it has come nearer and nearer the earth, but never has been closer than at present. "Thus," he concludes, "Darwin's theory of the moon's detachment from the earth is overturned and an entirely new theory developed, which has the support of all the highest mathematical science now known."

Solves Problem. In a second paper communicated to the Astronomical Society of the Pacific tonight, Professor See explained the famous outstanding inequality of six seconds in the secular acceleration of the moon's mean motion. He said this perturbation in the moon's motion had been discovered by Halley in the time of Newton. It was partially explained by Laplace in 1877, but gravely alone would not account for the observed acceleration since the time of the Chaldeans, 720 B. C., and the outstanding difference had perplexed the greatest mathematicians for more than a century. Having discovered that the moon was originally captured, and was still slowly nearing the earth, Professor See said he had removed the last difficulty and the result would be a decided improvement in astronomy.

OFFICERS ARE BUSY JUST NOW

NEW CRIMINAL CODE IN WASHINGTON IS KEEPING ALL ON THE ALERT.

Spokane, June 24.—Peace officers of the various cities and counties in Washington are experiencing what they mildly term "a monkey and nut-brown" over the new criminal code, which classifies as misdemeanors such things as "tipping," cigarette smoking or having them in possession, screening saloon windows and the presence of women in places where liquors are served. Many outside of Spokane county have been arrested and fined for smoking the little paper sticks. There are numerous opinions as to the constitutionality of the law, but the chief questions involved are: Had the commission created in 1908 by Governor Mead authority to frame a new code, and may a bill contain many subjects, when the constitution clearly provides that no bill shall contain more than one, and that must be expressed in the title. Prominent lawyers in Spokane say that if the anti-tipping law is constitutional, then Herman D. Hunt, a justice of the peace at North Yakima, is technically guilty. From the fact that he accepted a cent's change in a case where a cigarette smoker was fined $10 and costs, amounting to $12.50, and tendering $12, remarked as he left the court room: "Judge, you may keep the change."

Leaders of the bar agree that many provisions of the code are unconstitutional, and George E. Vanderveer, chairman of the commission responsible for the law, which was pushed through during the closing hours of the last legislature, believes that some changes should be made during the extra session now sitting at Olympia. Many members are disposed to repeal the law in its entirety, as they look upon it as a monstrosity, designed especially for the county prosecutors, who, it has developed, are preparing to urge even more drastic measures than are now contained in the code.

NOTES OF WALLACE

Wallace, June 25. Ten inches of carbonate ore has been opened up at the Maine-Standard property on Moon creek. Assay returns give 240 ounces in silver and 10 ounces in gold to the ton besides values in lead.

Orders for Reinder stock keep pouring in on local brokers, the strike expected in a short time being responsible for the activity. Some stringers of ore have been coming into the face of the crosscut tunnel now in 2,800 feet but according to survey it is yet 150 feet in the ledge. Before the vein is cut the tunnel will have to run through a 75-foot dyke which traverses the property.

The mill for the Potosi property near Delta is being hauled in and will be installed at once. The Potosi is a gold quartz proposition and considerable ore has been blocked out. A rock-drilling contest with no less than five two-men teams of miners entered will be the feature of the Fourth of July celebration in Wallace. Prizes of $300 and $100 have been offered for the teams taking first and second place.

An innovation on the Coeur d'Alene national forest this summer is a cowpoker car which has just arrived and will be used for fire patrol purposes during the fire season. The car will make daily runs over the Idaho Northern railroad along the North Fork river from Enaville to Murray, a distance of 30 miles. The railroad winds through the heart of the forest. The patrolman in charge of the car will follow the trains every day so as to discover any incipient blazes caused by sparks from the engine smokestack.

The suggestion made by First Knight Enright, Grand Commander George A. Mathard at the sixth annual convocation of the grand commandery of Knights Templar of Idaho held in Wallace this week to the effect that steps be taken to have Idaho well represented at the triennial convocation in Chicago in August, 1910, was heartily endorsed by the grand commandery delegates. It was decided that all necessary expenses be allowed for the occasion.

Thomas H. Caley of Princeton, Minn. has purchased from Peter Larson of this city a tenth interest in mining claims in the Kreska district for $800.

The increasing number of cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria in Wallace has resulted in the health officer imposing a stricter quarantine than ever, with the result that a special officer has been hired to keep the children off the streets.

The raise being driven on the property on the Coeur d'Alene north Fork, the old French property, is up 250 feet. The distance between the levels is set for so that a vast amount of stope ground will be given. A number of shipments have been made from the mine and these will be continued when the raise is through.

Another of the mines of the North side will enter the ranks of the shipper in a few days. The Bear Top has started its mill and will continue steadily. The ore is being brought out on the No. 3 level. The mill has a capacity of 100 tons a day. The property has the unique record of having been brought to the shipping point without a single assessment being levied on the stock.

DIPLOMATIC PREACHER EFFECTS A REFORM

Spokane, June 24.—Rev. Dr. S. Willis McFadden, formerly of Iowa, now pastor of First Presbyterian church, is a hero in the eyes of several hundred male members of that congregation. He has accomplished a great reform without offending the reformed, and, as a result, there is every reason to believe he has added to his many admirers. In response to a score or more of letters, in which the writers indicated they attended church services to see the expounder of the gospel and "not just hear a voice in the distance," Dr. McFadden requested the matrons, young women and girls to remove their peach baskets, merry wads and other types of hats. He explained that from his point of vantage in the pulpit the veritable sea of fanciful creations of the milliner's art did not interfere in the least with himself or the discourse, but that he simply made the request to oblige the men. The women save the point and there was a prolonged rustle of silks and clatter of dagger pins. The pastor thanked the women on behalf of the men, many of whom clapped their hands in show of gratitude, and the services proceeded.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY WOMEN

WOMAN'S AMERICAN BAPTIST HOME MISSION SOCIETY HOLDS ELECTION.

Portland, June 25.—Expressing supreme confidence in the honor, loyalty, fairness and chivalry of their fathers, husbands and sons and in their denominational brethren, the members of the Woman's American Baptist Home Mission society today by unanimous vote decided to ask to become a co-operating organization with the Northern Baptist convention. This means that should the Northern Baptist convention, which opens its annual convention in this city tonight, accept the request of the Woman's American Baptist Home Mission society that the latter body will become an integral part of the controlling body of the Baptists north of the Mason and Dixon line.

Following this important piece of legislation, the work of selecting officers to govern the society for the next fiscal year was taken up and resulted in the selection of the following: President (democratic), Mrs. J. N. Crooks, Chicago; president, Mrs. John N. Naveson, Chicago; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Katherine S. Westfall, Chicago; recording secretary, Mrs. William H. Baker, Washington, D. C.; field secretary, Mrs. A. C. Reynolds, Boston; acting editorial secretary, Miss Francis W. Schuyler, Chicago; treasurer, Mrs. A. H. Barber, Chicago; vice presidents for the various states were also elected.
