Well it's here. It arrived early yesterday and the plans are that its sojourn will continue until tomorrow night. The Fourth made its advent known during the daylight hours yesterday by the desultory discharge of explosives by impatient small boys who were too young to read the proclamation of the chief of police. After dark last night it was not light enough to enable anybody to read the proclamation and the festive bomb had things all its own way. The display of red, white and blue was not as general yesterday as is customary here on the Fourth but there was enough of it to remind the man who had no calendar that the day we celebrate was at hand. There will be no formal observance of the day in town today but there will be a big delegation of Missoula people in Frenchtown, where the day is to be observed in regulation style. There are also a good many people going to Butte, where the celebration began yesterday and will continue through Monday. Those who survive the Frenchtown celebration will go to Hamilton tomorrow morning for the line of their lives in the Bitter Root capital. There will be a chance in town for a man to rest, which will be appreciated by the man who takes his comfort in the shade of his own apple tree. And, when the score is counted up, that man will have more points of comfort to his credit than any of the others.

George R. Ogden is in town from Plains. He says the town just the other side of Paradise is getting bigger and better all the time. The summer weather is making things grow there at a great rate and there will be big yields according to present indications. "The biggest crop of the year, however, that Plains has produced is the good feeling that prevails there. 'Things are looking fine,' said Mr. Ogden yesterday afternoon. 'There has never been a time in the history of the town when conditions have been as good as they are at present. There is a great deal of development going on. The election which resulted in the unanimous granting of an electric lighting franchise to the new company formed for the purpose of erecting a plant, was the best thing that ever happened to Plains. It united the people on the side of progress and it gave the town an opportunity to break into the metropolitan class. We are all very much pleased and are hopeful of the result.'

Mayor Logan has received a letter from Stoutsville, Ohio, written by J. F. Baldoser, asking for information regarding the whereabouts of his brother, Will. The letter says that Will Baldoser was last heard from a few months ago, when he wrote from Missoula. Since that time the father of the brothers has died and it is necessary that Will be located in order to settle the estate. On that account the brother at home is anxious to hear from the brother who is lost and he will appreciate any information that will lead to the location of the missing man. If there is anybody amongst the readers of The Missoulian who knows anything about Will Baldoser, the information will be sent to Ohio if it is left at this office. Mr. Baldoser sends his address to the mayor.

Local Harvard men have been having a good deal of quiet enjoyment over the news of the victory of their crews at New London. Jay McCormick is amongst those who find complete satisfaction in the victory and he has been enjoying himself ever since he read the news on the bulletin at The Missoulian office. "All the time I was at Cambridge the crew never won a race," said he, speaking of the winning. "I made up my mind that I was a hoodoo and when, last year, after I had finished my work at Harvard the crew won, I was more convinced that it was all my fault that the boat hadn't won before. Now, this year, comes another victory and now it is a cinch that I was the hoodoo. But it's good to see the wins come, even if I am not there."

D. V. Bean was in town again yesterday but he wasn't bragging so much about the sunshine that he brought down the valley as he was a few months ago. He was willing to admit that he had overdone the thing a little and that it might be that it would be well to shut it off a bit. "The trouble is," said he, "that I have got so in the habit of handing out sunshine that I can't get out of it. You fat fellows may suffer a bit while the sun is working over time, but the crops need it and I guess we'll have to let it go." Mr. Bean went back to Hamilton last night and there followed a refreshing shower that made Missoula cool and clean and comfortable.

Former County Commissioner Gleason was in town yesterday from Florence and was busy most of the day but IS GLAD to find time to call upon a few of his friends before he left on the afternoon valley flyer. Mr. Gleason's principal business in town yesterday was the purchase of material for the construction of extensive additions to his greenhouses at Florence. Speaking of conditions in his part of the valley, Mr. Gleason said: "This is the best growing weather that was ever made. I never saw things thrive as they do this year and there is certain to be a big crop in the valley unless something unforeseen happens. We are all busy getting ready for the harvest."

Charles Schrage was busy yesterday but he was also mighty happy. He was making arrangements for the formal opening of his new hotel and its enlarged cafe. The work of remodeling the Grand Pacific has been difficult but it is about finished now and Mr. Schrage has a model hostelry. His Fourth of July dinner today will be the first served in the enlarged restaurant and the host has laid himself out to make it a memorable meal.

TEMPORARY BRIDGE IS FINISHED

REPAIRS ON WOODEN BRIDGE ARE COMPLETED AFTER TWO WEEKS' WORK.

At last the city has recovered from the effects of another flood season and when the sun rises this morning the city's affairs will, as far as bridge facilities are concerned at least, be running in their usual old channel after two months of turmoil and disturbance. Last night just before sunset the last board was put in place on the remodeled temporary bridge and wagon traffic was started again, after it had been driven up above to the Van Buren street bridge for nearly six weeks. With the completion of the bridge comes also the renewal of foot traffic in an easy form and the long, swaying, unsteady suspension spans which Missoula people have come to know so well during the past year and more have been put on the shelf.

The Burrell Bridge & Construction company has done a good job on the bridge and has made a record in construction, at least in construction under the handicap of having to keep the bridge open to traffic during working hours. Last night work was kept up on the bridge just as long as it was light and the force of carpenters, aided by City Engineer Mayo and Mayor Logan, managed to get the last of the work done before dark.

THE TOBACCO LEAF QUESTION DISCUSSED

Washington, July 3.—The tobacco free leaf question was taken up today by a sub-committee of the senate committee on finance and a number of tobacco manufacturers were heard in opposition to the removal of any of the restrictions governing the sale of tobacco in the leaf. The hearing was upon the Bradley amendment, which would permit the purchaser to sell the leaf without the payment of a tax, and all subsequent purchasers to make similar transfers so long as the tobacco was not manufactured in any form.

The proposition to reduce the tax on smoking and plug tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and snuff was also discussed.

THE FOURTH COMES AHEAD OF TIME

CELEBRATION IN MISSOULA BEGINS ON SATURDAY NIGHT —OTHER DOINGS.

Today is the Fourth of July and tomorrow, due to decree of Uncle Sam, is also the Fourth of July—a little more so, perhaps. Last night was also the Fourth of July in all purposes. From 9 o'clock until the supply of fireworks grew low Higgins avenue was the scene of a brilliant pyrotechnic display—as the July 4 advertisements always say—and there was noise enough to split the weldin, had it been applied properly in any one place. At that, it is considered probable that the dome of heaven was jarred out of place a little.

"Today it will be quiet in Missoula—that is, it should be. According to the proclamation of Chief Vealey the use of explosives on Sunday will be discouraged by the police force. In strict accordance with the rules and regulations, there may be no noise anywhere in Missoula today, excepting on the south side baseball grounds and there only during the time when Deer Lodge and Missoula are struggling.

Frenchtown Today.
The only organized celebration near Missoula today is the one at Frenchtown. The Missoulian has already mentioned the salient features of the program arranged by the people of the valley town and it is enough to say that the events of the day promise to be of considerable interest. A large number from Missoula expect to make the trip to Frenchtown today. The Iron Giants and the second Missoula team will play at 2 o'clock. A purse of $25 is offered and the game will take the place of the Iron Mountain-Frenchtown contest.

At Hamilton.
The greatest legira from Missoula will be on Monday, the date of the most elaborate celebration the valley capital has ever planned. Hundreds will go up the Bitter Root from this city and the Missoula Giants, arrayed against the champions of the valley league, will provide one of the features of the day.

There will also be celebrations today and Monday at Butte and on Monday Dillon and a number of other towns in Montana will observe the holiday in a more formal way.

Tetanus Advice.
It is to be hoped that the rules laid down by the chief of police will tend towards making a saucy Fourth than usual in Missoula, but nevertheless instructions as to what to do when Willie gets his fingers burned are at least of interest. A local physician yesterday formulated the following advice:

Send for a doctor at once. Keep the wound open and, if a physician cannot be secured at once, wash the wound with some antiseptic such as a weak solution of carbolic acid or peroxide of hydrogen. Don't let any dirt get into the wound.

HENEY IS CAUGHT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Castle Rock, Wash., July 3.—The automobile in which Francis J. Heney of San Francisco, former United States Senator Fred Mulkey of Portland and others overturned near here today. One member of the party sustained a broken leg. Heney walked into town and, securing two doctors, returned to the scene of the accident, which occurred while the machine was going at a high rate of speed around a turn. Simultaneously with the location of Heney's hat, which was blown off his head, the car struck some soft earth and overturned. Three of the occupants were pinned under the machine, but Heney saved himself by jumping.

ENGLISH BARONET DISCOVERED DEAD

Yuma, Ariz., July 2.—Papers among the effects of a mysterious stranger found dead at the Southern Pacific station today indicated that the body is that of Sir Arthur Carl Steppney of London, an English baronet of large estates and a scientist of distinction. His mission to Arizona at this season was evidently to increase his entomological collection.

MODERN ISRAELITES COMING.

Victoria, B. C., July 2.—The steamer Ararat of the Canadian-Australian line arrived today from the Antipodes bringing among her passengers members of a religious sect known as Modern Israelites, who brought a collection of animals and birds, including emus, wallabies, kangaroos, sheep, parrots, cockatoos and other birds and animals, which they are taking to Chicago.

TRAIN SERVICE BLOCKED.

SENSATION IS SPRUNG BY GIRL

IRISH LACE MAKER TELLS OF EFFORTS TO PUT HER INTO "WHITE SLAVERY."

Chicago, July 3.—"I want you to be a man at French Lick Springs; he will give you lots of money."

Ella Gingles, the 18-year-old Irish lace maker, testified in Judge Broton's court today that the above remark was made to her by Miss Agnes Barrette, proprietress of a lace store in the Wellington hotel, at the time the Gingles girl was found gagged and bound in the bathroom of the hotel January 5.

"I was taken to a room by Miss Barrette and Mrs. Kenyon," said the girl speaking of a visit prior to the binding and gagging incident. "Later a man came into the room and I cannot tell what else happened. I only know a man of the name of Charlie called up the man in the room."

Miss Gingles claimed on the stand that the larceny charge against her was part of the plot to drive her to going to French Lick Springs. The relating of this story visibly affected the witness.

No attempt was made to bring out the identity of the mysterious man in French Lick Springs, who was supposed to be behind all this plotting.

CHURCH DIVIDENDS ARE PAID IN HEAVEN

Denver, July 2.—"The dividends of ordinary commercial corporations are paid here on earth, but the dividends of church corporations are paid only in heaven," declared Attorney T. J. O'Donnell today in arguing before Judge Riddle in favor of the injunction asked by Bishop N. C. Matz of the Catholic diocese of Colorado, who seeks to oust Father J. P. Carrigan from the pastorate of St. Patrick's church. He declared that the statute under which corporations are formed do not direct how the property of religious organizations shall be controlled. He contended that while St. Patrick's church has a legal entity, no one has the authority to enter it for the purpose of holding services until the bishop of the diocese has spoken; that Bishop Matz, therefore, has the only authority in the matter.
