BAD ROADS AND EGGS GRAND SAENGERBUND AND MAYER PLANNED

A COMBINATION THAT ILLUSTRATES THE PERIL OF TRAVELING IN THE VALLEY. MAENNERCHOR ARRANGES FOR MUSIC FESTIVAL IN MISSOULA IN SEPTEMBER.

"Two miles I walked and two miles back for those hard-boiled eggs." Cartoonist Mayer came down from Hamilton Wednesday night in an automobile, reaching here early Thursday morning, after a series of experiences which have compelled him to forewear automobile travel between Hamilton and Missoula. After this he will ride on the trains. All of his troubles he attributes to the roads; he says they are bad, very bad, and that there is no use in trying to do any automobile traveling until there is an effective good-roads movement from one end of the valley to the other.

"I had the two back seats all to myself," said Mr. Mayer, "and when we hit one of those rough places in the road I went into the air away up, and always I was afraid when I came down the automobile would not be there. And then the tires burst. That was the worst. And the chauffeur and his assistant they pumped and they pumped and they pumped and they jacked up the machine. Two miles we were from any house, and there must we wait till the thing was fixed. Two hours they worked and it was not fixed.

"I could not help them, and they got hungry. Go get some hard-boiled eggs," they said to me. And two miles I walk and then two miles back to get them hard-boiled eggs. To the farmhouse I walked, and there was the man at the door. I asked him if he had any hard-boiled eggs, and he told me that he had a sore face and could not talk, and that I should go around to the barn where his wife was.

"I went to the barn where his wife was. She was milking her cow, but she did not do it well, for when I got into the yard the cow went sideways and then sideways at me. Did you ever see a flying Dutchman? That was men when the cow came endways at me. I got to the fence first, and I asked the woman to calm the cow some more, and then would she get me some hard-boiled eggs.

"So we went back to the house, and I sat in the parlor while the woman got the hard-boiled eggs. Pretty soon she came in and asked me how long she must cook those hard-boiled eggs. And then I had to wait some more. When the hard-boiled eggs were cooked then I asked for some bread. I paid her for the bread and the eggs, and then I went back. It was two miles again back. That was a bad walk.

"And when I gave the hard-boiled eggs and the bread to the chauffeur and the other man, he asked me where was the butter, and there was none. I thought she would put in the butter, but she didn't. And the bread was rye bread, and it was hard-boiled, too. That was a bad business. And they cursed me for that.

"And it was two hours more after that when we got the tire fixed. I wish if you would put in your paper an editorial about the bad roads. It is but a few cents from each man to fix those roads and get them good, but it is no good now, and it is a disgrace to this Bitter Root and Missoula country. There can never be a good country without good roads."

AGENT FOR WIRELESS PLEADS NOT GUILTY. L. R. LaLonde, who was brought back from Billings early yesterday morning by Sheriff Graham, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Dyson late yesterday afternoon and pleaded not guilty to the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

LaLonde is agent for the United Wireless Telegraph & Telephone company, whose offices are at Seattle, and had sold some stock in this concern to several people in this city. He is said to have sold about $3,200 worth of stock to C. W. Christian, a well-known man of this city, and in doing so is alleged to have misrepresented the patent rights of the company.

In preparation for this annual event the German societies all over the state are in earnest practice, and there will be splendid music. In special training for the event, besides the Missoula Maennerchor, are the Germania Verein of Helena, the Liederkranz of Butte, the Gesangverein of Anaconda and others; it is also expected that the Gesangverein of Billings and Great Falls will participate, although definite assurance has not been received from them.

An interesting and novel feature of the program this year will be three mixed choruses; these have never been heard in Montana before, and the addition of women's voices to the choruses will prove a delightful innovation. Many of the prominent lady singers of Missoula are interested in this work and are regularly in practice for the concert.

What Others Think Of Missoula Electric Power Resource. Below is printed an exact copy of a letter received by the Missoula Light and Water company from the Otis Electric company, the largest elevator manufacturing concern in the world. OTIS ELEVATOR COMPANY. Salt Lake City, May 3, 1909. Mr. S. R. Inch, Manager Light Department, Missoula Light & Water Company, Missoula, Montana. Dear Sir: Your letter of April 28th was referred to me only my return from an eastern trip, and I thank you for the information given as to the power conditions. From the best data which we have, Missoula has more elevators, both in number and in horse-power capacity, than any city of similar size in the United States. This data is, of course, taken from our own records, and applies to our own installations, but the writer feels sure that it is correct, even when all other manufacturers are considered. We, in this office, are quite proud of the fact that in a town of fifteen thousand there are installed and under contract 12 modern electric elevators. Yours very truly, OTIS ELEVATOR COMPANY, J. FRANK ELAM, Manager Rocky Mountain Department. MISSOULA LIGHT & WATER CO.
