CAUGHT ON THE RUN ABOUT TOWN

There was another good natured crowd in town yesterday. Its members were well fed and well cared for otherwise, and the expressions which were heard on every side were favorable to Missoula. In some way there appears to have been circulated in Butte the report that Missoula is not able to care for the crowds and that there are no accommodations here for anybody. Nothing could be further from the truth of the situation. There has been no time when there was not a room for everybody to sleep in and the provisions for feeding the visitors have been at all times adequate. One of the Butte visitors said yesterday: "We have been told that it was impossible for us to get a place to eat or sleep. We have been amazed at the conditions which we find here, they are so pleasant and everything is so comfortable. I am sure everybody is getting good treatment. We have had no trouble at all."

One of yesterday's visitors was P. R. Day, a Seattle newspaper man. He had come expecting to find a woeful town, and what he thought when he got here is best told in his own words. "You have the prettiest town I have ever seen," said Mr. Day in the Missoulian office yesterday morning. "It is splendidly built and its location is ideal. I have been hospitably received and pleasantly entertained. I have heard no words of complaint from any of the visitors with whom I have mingled, and there have been many of them who have spoken words of praise for your town. This climate is wonderful; I like the air here, it is so bracing and so clear. The nights are fine for sleeping, and I don't wonder you are enthusiastic over your country and your city. Missoula is a revelation to me. I certainly would like to remain in this country. You have a right to boast and to boast hard for what you have here; there is enough to make good anything you say and all that you wish."

PLEASANT COMMENT.

W. A. Mick, an eastern visitor, who came here yesterday from Spokane, said that Missoula is ALL ARE GETTING AS MUCH BENEFIT THE SAME from the registration crowd as the cities to the west. "I heard a great deal of complaint," said he, "from the Spokane business men that there is no money being spent by the crowds which are coming to register. I don't think the registrars are staying any longer in Spokane than they are here, except that there are many of them who spend ten cents to go to Coeur d'Alene City on the electric cars to register there. As soon as they get back they take the first opportunity they can get to leave town."

Henry Buck was the director of ceremonies for a party of Bitter Rooters who came down from Stevensville yesterday morning and took the train for the coast, bound for Alaska. In the party were Henry Buck, Howe Lancaster, two of the Mendallin brothers and their niece, Miss Dixon, James Buck, Bert Carter, Bob Smith and D. C. Luckridge. "I don't know how far we shall go," said Mr. Buck. "We are going as far as White Horse rapids, anyway, and we may go further than that into the interior. We are not seeking gold, the Bitter Root furnishes enough of that for us, but we are going for a good time, and I am sure that we'll find that. The length of our stay depends entirely upon our whim. When we have had enough we will come back."

D. V. Bean was happier yesterday than he has been since his arrival from the Bitter Root. The home folks sent him material for exhibit that was more in keeping with the resources of the valley than anything he had received before, and he had it spread out to fine advantage. There were great bunches of roses; there were bunches of berries, bushes, laden with ripening fruit; there were apple tree limbs and there were bunches of hay and grain. Then there was a mass of the red-bellied trout that made the fishermen look interested as soon as they sighted the beauties. It was a good day at the chamber of commerce rooms, and there were many admiring visitors during the day. Mr. Bean has added to his already great popularity here by the judicious distribution of the trout amongst his friends here.

BEAN IS HAPPY.

Down from the upper Rattlesnake yesterday morning, there came a box of delicious strawberries to FRED POE in the mountain town of Poon. With the berries came a note: "Strawberries grow in the upper Rattlesnake valley, also. Please sample these and see if you don't think so, too." The berries were sampled and the unanimous opinion of those who were in on the sampling is that there is nothing finer in the berry line than these which come from the sun-kissed slopes of the Rattlesnake where they ripen late and come to tickle the palate after the season has closed elsewhere. Mr. Poe has made good and the Rattlesnake is listed in the prize berry-producing districts. He has the thanks of The Missoulian office, and the hope here is that his berry season may linger into winter.

MAYOR REVOKES TWO LICENSES

licenses formerly held by Alderman Bayes.

The council first took up a lot of minor petitions and committee reports which have been pending for some time and disposed of them. The most important of these was the report of the streets and alleys committee on the petition for the opening of a crossing at South Fourth street over the Bitter Root track. The committee found that the petition was worthy of consideration, and recommended that the Western Montana Flouring company be instructed to move their building which is used as a boiler house and which at present blocks the street, and that a crossing be built there at once. The report was adopted. On recommendation of the light and water committee lights were ordered placed at the corner of Brooks and Franklin streets and at the corner of Morris street and University avenue.

C. B. Hall then appeared before the council in the interest of the Higgins estate and asked for an extension of time on the order for a sidewalk around the property belonging to the estate. The administrator is all through with his work, Mr. Hall stated, and it will simplify matters if an extension be granted until September 1. Mr. Hall's petition was acted upon favorably by the council.

The suggestions of the city treasurer regarding his duties were then read. Mr. Hatheway reminded the council that it was the usual custom of the city to have the books of the treasurer audited every year, and asked that it be done at once. The council, acting upon his suggestions, appointed J. W. Lister as auditor. The treasurer also suggested that a tax be placed upon public dance halls and backstreet stands in the city. This recommendation was referred to the ordinance committee.

NEW HORSES.

The mayor then reported verbally on the horse trading deal which he had made in the interest of the fire department last week, and which brought in three horses at an aggregate cost of $725. The mayor's action was approved by the council and warrants were ordered drawn to the sellers.

The mayor also asked that old "Dan," the faithful old fire horse, so well known to Missoula people, and that has served in his official capacity for eight years, be given a six weeks' vacation in a soft pasture until he can cover from the strain of his long service.

Superintendent Inch of the Missoula Light & Water company then appeared before the council, asking that in justice to the street railway company the grades of the streets on the south side over which the line is to pass be made official in order to prevent delay. A long discussion followed, in which letters from C. W. Swearingen of Great Falls were read regarding grades, and finally the city engineer was ordered to make the sidewalk grades on South Third, South Fifth, South Higgins avenue, Morris and Connel streets the official grades of these streets.

A petition from several persons asking permission to erect booths in Greenough park were referred to the park commission.

The city property committee reported favorably in regard to the 24th

REMAINS OF VICTIMS BROUGHT TO THE CITY

The remains of Y. Oishi and U. Aizetoto, the two Japs killed at the east end of the tunnel at Garrison several days ago, were brought to the city last night on No. 23, accompanied by H. Arhai, assistant foreman of the camp in which the men were working. These men are the ones struck while trying to get out of the way of a freight, the accident happening because they did not see the passenger coming. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the Lucy Chapel and will be a double one. Interment will be in the Missoula cemetery.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS.

The Missoula county high school board met yesterday morning in an important session. A school tax of 1.2 mills was ordered levied and it was also voted to advertise for bids on 200 tons of coal. The board also decided to build sidewalks around the new high school building and discussed other routine matters.

ADJUTANT TO RETURN.

Adjutant Pierce Dowell, formerly connected with the Salvation army here, but more recently in Butte and Billings, will return to Missoula today and in connection with Major Durand and Mrs. Durand will conduct a series of special services on the street and at the Salvation Army hall.

COMMISSIONERS MEET.

AS MAD AS HORNETS WERE THEY

STRANGERS HOLD INDIGNATION MEETING AND "GET EVEN" WITH NOTARIES.

Mad as wet hornets. That mildly describes the state of mind of about 300 landseekers from the west who arrived in Missoula late last night and discovered that they could not register immediately and take the next train back home. They were furious and at the call of two or three good talkers the highly indignant strangers gathered in one grand episode of protest upon the depot platform and poured oratorical tobacco upon Missoula and Missoula notaries. They waxed exceedingly warm in their denunciation of such methods of doing business and became so fervid in expounding the inconvenience they were forced to endure that the depot policeman thought an incipient riot had started.

Bussling into the midst of the indignant throng with his brass buttons and glittering star of authority the policeman called for order. He impressively informed the gathering of Missoula's reputation for peace and quiet, intimated that the visitors were disturbing the peace and requested the assembled gathering to disperse without further comment.

Alas for the policeman's good intentions. His intimation only served to heap more coals upon the fire of anger and in a jiffy he found himself being hustled out of the crowd. The assemblage finally voted not to spend a cent in the city except for a meal, not even breakfast, and to walk the streets all night rather than give the hotels the price of a bed. And thus they got even with the notaries who choose to sleep a wink at night.

FIRE DESTROYS MANY FENCE POSTS

BLAZE OF UNKNOWN ORIGIN CONSUMES 4000 POLES FOR BISON RESERVE FENCE.

A disastrous fire and one that will delay the completion of the fence around the bison reserve, at Ravalli, occurred last Saturday. 4000 cedar posts, which were lying on the ground going up in smoke. The posts, which were only recently crosscut, were lying in a pile near the crosscutting tank, and all fires around the tank had been banked, and the watchman had just gone to his supper, not over 100 feet away, when the whole pile burst into flames, and was consumed. The only explanation of the cause of the conflagration is that during the day the crosscut had probably become more or less volatilized, and a match thrown near by some careless smoker, was all that was needed to start the combustion.

As only a little over 10000 of the posts will be needed to build the fence, the fire means that nearly one-half the total number was destroyed. As new posts will have to be ordered from Spokane and new oil from Chicago, it will be at least three weeks before the stockade can now be completed. But as no particular time has been set for the end of construction, and as work was far advanced, there will not be any appreciable delay in the final completion. The fence will be ready by early fall to receive the buffalo.

ROSS VISITS MISSOULA.

After an absence from the state of 18 years, James B. Ross, formerly a resident of Helena and now city collector of Maplewood, a suburb of St. Louis, Mo., arrived in Missoula yesterday and registered for a homestead in the Flathead reservation. Mr. Ross says he went over the Flathead 16 years ago and has been waiting patiently since then for a chance to file upon lands there. He is enthusiastic over the country and full of praise for Missoula and the wonderful growth it has had since the last time he saw the city.

WATCH IS "PINCHED" AND THIEF GETS AWAY

Quite a rumpus was raised last night about 9 o'clock when a stranger in the city, an old man, was adroitly relieved of his gold watch by a clever young man, who tore wildly down the alley behind the First National bank, chased by a howling mob, only to make his escape somewhere in the neighborhood of the island. A thorough search of the island and environs, made by the police and sheriff's office, failed to disclose any clue to the hiding place of the thief. The old man was lost in the shuffle and did not give his name to the officers.

BUSINESS MEN'S SPECIAL.

Superintendent Rapelle of the Northern Pacific left yesterday for Butte from which place he will accompany the Business Men's special, which is to be run over the division today. The train, consisting of seven cars, has been gotten together in the interests of a party of Butte commercial men who wish to register for the three reservation openings. Superintendent Rapelle will go with the train over the division.
