WHAT'S THE USE?

We talk of a city beautiful and we plant trees to make one; we get lame backs spading a garden and we blister our hands mowing the lawn.

CAUTION URGED.

Henry Clews has hoisted the danger signal, and in his current weekly letter advises extreme caution in crop dealing.

The rapid growth of the Higgins avenue bridge is another of the encouraging signs of the times.

The veterans, returning from Salt Lake, show by their appearance that they were well treated.

Missoula will be bigger and better if her citizens make her so. Talk alone will not do it.

And there is also the lodging-house question to engage the attention of the police.

There is so much business in sight that we know we have not too many railroads.

A Cedar street bridge will add materially to the city's transportation facilities.

And what the city cow doesn't get, the vagrant cayuse gobbles.

Three weeks is long enough.

and that they are the very factors upon which the big operators are calculating to sell, for it is the outsider who usually buys on good news.

BIDDY.

Again the hen, Biddy, not satisfied with an annual output which is greater than the combined production of all the mines of the country, has taken it into her head to make the New York police force ashamed of itself.

If the south-side police will now divert their energies from the bicycle riders to the devastating cows and the marauding cayuses, there will be a grateful public across the river.

Director Newell of the reclamation service is not responsible for the hail-storm that swept over the Yellowstone valley, the Butte Miner to the contrary, notwithstanding.

The electrocution of a Butte man in his bathtub will, unfortunately, tend to discourage the habit of bathing, which was growing in the big town up the river.

Oh, city cow! Oh, city cow! We hate your jangling bell. You spoil our lawns, you break our trees; we wish you were in—well, where it's hotter than here.

When the senate irrigation committee reaches Helena it will be in order to sing that grand national anthem of Last Chance gulch, "How Dry I Am."

The stockholders in the Panhandle smelter will be willing to call the Anderson-Greenough bout a draw if the smelter blows in for real operation.

Paul may plant and Apollon may water, but trees cannot grow if cows and horses are permitted to roam the streets.

A good boost for a city beautiful would be the suppression of the nuisance of wandering stock on the south side.

ST. OLAF BAND BOYS PLAY WELL

YOUNG MUSICIANS WHO WILL BE AT THE HARNOIS TONIGHT ARE ACCOMPLISHED.

Concerning the music of St. Olaf College band, which is to give a concert at the Harnois theater tonight, there has been much pleasant comment since the young musicians started upon their tour.

The audience at the Auditorium last evening was delighted with the fine music by the St. Olaf College band. The organization is composed of 35 members and is on its way from its headquarters in Minnesota to fill an engagement at the exposition at Seattle.

The singing of Professor O. A. Gronseth was a fine feature of the concert. George Mohr is a cornetist of rare ability, and the instrumental duet by himself and Trygve Helseth on the trombone was especially fine.

The following was the program of the evening: "March—'Willow Grove'.... Sorrentino; "Invitation to the Dance".... Webber; "Arbucklerian Polka".... Hartmann; Solo Cornet, Mr. George Mohr.

Mr. Mohr and Mr. Trygve Helseth: "Celebrated Minuet".... Paderewski; (a) "At the Smithy".... Gounod; (b) "Karl na Mari".... Folk-song; Voice, Prof. Oscar A. Gronseth.

Senator Dixon Has Said

That Missoula will soon be the most important railroad center between St. Paul and Seattle, excepting Spokane.

Do you realize what that means?

It means that Missoula will soon have from 30,000 to 40,000 people.

It means that Car Line addition lots for $50 and $60 each—on terms of $5 per month—are an investment that will make you enormous profits.

Better come with us in our auto and see the lowest-priced lots in the northwest to have city water and street car service.
