F. B. Alexander first came into real prominence in 1904, when he ranked seventh among the tennis players of the world, and this summer is a prominent figure in the many events.

Flat Cyclone for a race at any distance. This challenge has been accepted by Christie, whose new 120 horse power, front-drive speed creation has been attracting attention throughout the country, and by Kilpatrick, who made so many records last year in his Hotchkiss 100 horse power. Details of the race will be arranged by the Motor Racing association, and it is likely that this high-speed contest will be as much a feature of the meeting as the 24-hour race, which starts at 10 o'clock tomorrow night.

LARNED STILL HOLDS TITLE

THE CHAMPION DEFEATS ALL CONTESTANTS ON NEW-PORT COURTS.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 27.—The title of singles lawn tennis champion of the United States still rests with William A. Larned of Summit, N. J. He successfully defended it today against the winner of the 20th annual all-owners contest on the Newport courts, against William A. Clothier of Philadelphia. The sets were required, the champion taking the first two and the last and the scores were 6-1, 6-2, 5-7, 1-6, 6-1.

This is the fifth time in his long career on the American courts and the third time in succession that Larned has won the championship. Larned won his first cup in 1897 and now has won two of the three legs on the second. In his progress through the all-owners tournament this year, his strongest opponents were Karl B. Behr, from whom he won the final round in his championship year, and Maurice McLoughlin of California.

Larned scored eight aces and 60 places to five aces and 35 places by Clothier. Larned made 33 outs, 32 nets and seven double faults, while Clothier's errors consisted of 41 outs, 41 nets and two double faults.

LEAGUE'S SECRETARY

John H. Farrell, secretary National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Who is the busiest man in baseball? Without any doubt it is John H. Farrell, secretary of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. Of this branch of baseball management much has been heard that the governing board of the sport. But fans who are wont to look upon the major leagues as the great part of baseball are greatly in the wrong.

The number of men engaged in minor league baseball of course far outlasts the number in the big league, and from a numerical standpoint the minor organizations far exceed the big boys, and it is John H. Farrell who has to keep his entire minor league organization in line, for the secretary of the national association is the working power.

Mr. Farrell is also chairman of the national board of arbitration. Last year he gathered evidence and wrote decisions in 437 disputes. These decisions carried many thousands of dollars. Mr. Farrell has jurisdiction over more than 6,200 players. Each week there is a bulletin issued from Farrell's office. It contains the names of minor players released, purchased, signed, loans accepted, reinstated, drafted and suspended, and when it is considered, the minor leaguers charge berths with frequency, some idea of the magnitude of this work can be gained. A collection of these bulletins would amount to a good sized library. They vary from small sheets in the fall to sheets three feet wide and two feet long in the spring months, containing columns after columns of names of players who have changed locations or taken some step from Maine to California.

If Farrell had no more work than the president of a minor league he would feel lonesome, for in addition to all this detail work as to the movements of players, he is called upon to settle many differences over salary and other matters. The secretary's office is the grand clearing house that carries in players, just as many clearing houses look after the business of the world. Every contract signed between player and owner is forwarded to the secretary for approval and record so that they can be referred to instantly.

In addition to the duties of his national position, John H. Farrell is also president of one of the best minor leagues in the country, the New York State, but so well has he systematized the work that few make-ups in the national association occur.

The Electric Sign Is Indorsed by Visitors

THEY WILL GO BACK TO THEIR HOMES AND TALK ABOUT IT

LOTS OF IT.—They stood at the Florence corner one night and looked up the avenue along the lengthy line of illuminated signs. There were four of them and they were strangers in the city; they talked enthusiastically of some of the things they had seen here and were particularly interested in the electric signs. "I'll bet you," said one of them, "that there is more electric power represented in those signs on that one street than is used in our whole city at home." Wherever he came from, that young man is the sort of visitor that Missoula likes to have. He is representative of the people, as a whole, who are registering. And it is worth while to have this sort of fellows stop with us, if it is only for a day. They learn something about us and they like us and go away with good words on their tongues for Missoula and her people. There can be no mistake made in the proper treatment of the strangers who are with us this summer. It is to the lasting credit of the people of the city, especially of the hotel men, that visitors are going home well pleased.
