BITTER ROOT RIVER TO HAVE NEW BRIDGE

It is announced by the officials of district No. 1 of the forest service, that the construction of a bridge over the Bitter Root river, about 12 miles above Darby, will be commenced this fall, the work to be completed by early winter. According to the plans as now drawn up, the bridge will be a wooden one, 120 feet in length, with two truss spans and two approaches. It will be made the regulation width to allow the passage of wagons and any other conveyances. This crossing of the west fork is expected to be a popular one, as the two nearest bridges now in use are located five and 25 miles south of Darby, so that another bridge between the two will be a means of avoiding long detours to get across the river.

FORESTRY OFFICIALS PRAY FOR RAIN

FIRES STILL RAGING IN BITTER ROOT AND IN WASHINGTON AND IDAHO.

District Forester W. B. Greeley yesterday received a letter from R. H. Rutledge, one of the local forest service officials who is helping to fight the fires in the Kaniku national forest, stating that the fire which was reported several days ago to be raging in the Priest lake country in Idaho, has been checked on two sides, stopping its advance in two directions, but as yet the blaze is not under complete control. The conflagration, a large one, has burned over an area of 18 or 20 sections or square miles, although most of the timber destroyed was comparatively valueless. The load burned over is part of an old burn, which was swept by fire two or three years ago, and the timber destroyed consisted chiefly of partly burned and dead trees, together with old stumps and brush. In the vast area covered by the blaze, the land was completely devastated, with the exception of some tracts of green timber and swamp land. At present there is a force of 100 rangers, guards and laborers combating the progress of the flames, acting under the direction of Assistant District Forester F. A. Sillcox. Besides Mr. Sillcox, there are two other officials from the district offices on the scene, Mr. Rutledge and T. O. Whitte. The latter is chief of the section of accounts and is on the scene to handle the finances of the work.

The other fire reported on the Kaniku forest, on the west side of the range on the Pend d'Oreille river, in Washington, is under control, but as yet the local officials have not been advised as to the extent of the blaze nor the amount of damage done. Supervisor W. W. White, of the Bitter Root national forest, who was called to Lost Horse creek in the upper end of the Bitter Root valley, last Monday, to fight a fire in that region, has not reported to the district offices as to the extent and cause of the blaze. It is presumed that he is still very busy.

There are fires raging on many of the forests of District No. 1 and the officials are praying most ardently for rain. Fires are still in progress in the Absaroka forest and at the south end of the Bitter Root and, unless rain should come soon, much damage may result to the government's timber.

HAS ENTERED NO CONTRACT.

Special to The Daily Missoulian.

Wallace, Aug. 31.—B. E. O'Neill, chairman of the republican state central committee, has issued a statement in which he denies widely published reports to the effect that he has entered a compact with Senator Borah to sidetrack Governor Brady at the next convention. O'Neill asserts that his friendship for the governor is too strong to permit of any such action, and that under the direct primary law now in effect there would be no opportunity to pursue such a course.

ATTEMPT TO BURN HOUSES.

Special to The Daily Missoulian.

Wallace, Aug. 31.—What is believed to have been an attempt to burn the houses of James White and William Lively by incendiaries today was made when oil was poured over the out-buildings and then ignited. Neighbors discovered the flames and the fire was extinguished before any serious damage had been done.

OFFICER SUCCUMBS.

BUFFALO TO ARRIVE IN OCTOBER

FENCE AROUND BISON RESERVE TO BE COMPLETED THE LAST OF THE MONTH.

Chief Engineer J. P. Martin of district No. 1 of the forest service has received a letter from the Bison society in New York, stating that the buffaloes which are to be placed in the new bison range now under construction on the reservation at Ravalli will be shipped from New York and Kalspell in time to reach the range on October 1, by which time the fence will be completed.

At present there are about six miles of wire strung on the stockade, with eight or nine miles of poles erected. There will be six gates in various parts of the stockade.

The animals will be shipped from New York and Kalspell, and will be about 40 in number, many of them having been presented by the New York Zoological society. It may be that the animals from the Conrad herd at Kalspell will be taken overland in wagons to Ravalli, but this is thought hardly feasible. Through cooperation with the Northern Pacific railway it has been planned to run a short spur track alongside of the fence at Ravalli, and from this there will be chutes built leading to the big gate in the stockade. The animals will be taken in the cars over this spur and run into the chutes, after which it will be comparatively easy to get them to enter the stockade.

The buffaloes, after their arrival, will be taken care of by an experienced man, who will act under the United States biological survey. For his use a warden's house will be built, together with barns and other necessary buildings. It is promised that the fence will be completed in plenty of time to receive the animals.

"Frauds Upon the Public" is what some physicians have called patent medicines, and it is undeniably true that some are frauds and some are even worse, because they are injurious. On the other hand, there are many patent medicines such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and others, which are of real worth, and are recommended by physicians of recognized standing.
