"BIG VAL" TO AWAIT DISTRICT COURT TRIAL

Justice of the Peace William Dyson yesterday afternoon hearing the case of Val Blindauer, who was charged with permitting gambling in his place of business. Blindauer was arrested several weeks ago, it being alleged that he permitted the playing of solo for money in the headquarters saloon on West Front street, of which he was the proprietor. At the same time several other men were taken into custody for taking part in the games. Since that time Blindauer's saloon license has been revoked by the city council.

The hearing was held in the district court room and of the 16 witnesses subpoenaed less than half were put on the stand. At the conclusion of the hearing, the court bound Blindauer over to the district court. His bonds of $500 were continued.

NOTES OF WALLACE

Special to The Daily Missoulian.

Wallace, Sept. 1.—To people not personally acquainted with President W. T. Taft, President E. A. Hudson of the Bear Top Mining company and a resident of Toledo, Ohio, is enough of a likeness to the president to be frequently mistaken for the portly Washington gentleman. Mr. Hudson says that his western trip has been enlivened by incidents in which he was mistaken for the president traveling incognito. He simply smiles and looks wise until someone asks for an office and then he refers the applicant to his private secretary. Mr. Hudson has the swordfish, bull, smile, mustache and eyebrows of the president and the good nature of a well.

The Federal Mining & Smelting company will pay a dividend on the preferred stock of the company September 15, of $1.75 a share, a total of $210,000.

The annual session of the Idaho State Auditors' association began here Wednesday morning. Mayor Hanson delivered the address of welcome and C. D. Gosnell state insurance commissioner, responded. The convention covers three days. A visit to various mines and a banquet will be features of the entertainment side.

A rick drilling match with five or more teams entered will mark the Labor day celebration in Burke, given under the auspices of the Miners' unions of the district. Prizes of $125 and $50 will be offered.

Jack Pollock who owns a half interest in eight placer claims situated on Trout Creek on the Montana side of the divide says that within a year the placers will be operated on a large scale. The ground has been under development getting ready for extensive operations, for the past 11 years. The bed rock is being opened at depths of from 15 to 30 feet.

In the action involving many millions of dollars begun by the January Mining company, supposedly a branch of the Federal company, against the Funker Hill & Sullivan Mining company, owners of the largest lead producer in the world, the defendant has filed an answer asking that the Federal be made a party defendant. The January company asks $7,500,000 for ore taken from veins worked by the Bunker Hill, but alleged to belong to the January company. The Federal is a branch of the American Smelting & Refining company and owns large properties in the Coeur d'Alenes.

Three shifts working eight hours each have been put on at the Bullion mine near Saffers and will sink the shaft 100 feet deep from the 160-foot level.

Manager H. P. Samuels of the Success, the only zinc-producing mine in the Coeur d'Alenes, states that since zinc has risen to $5.80 per hundred pounds in New York, the mine will resume shipments to the smelters. The mine has already made several men wealthy. Mr. Samuels is interested heavily in the Monitor mine.

POPULAR RAILROADER DIES SUDDENLY

J. H. BABINGTON OF PARADISE SUCCUMBS TO OPERATION FOR APPENDICITIS.

J. H. Babington died yesterday at the Northern Pacific hospital, following an operation for appendicitis. The young man, only 24 years of age, was well known all over the state in railroad circles, and the news of his death yesterday came as a shock to all who knew him. He came here five or six years ago and took a position in the office of Frank Hartman, roadmaster for the Northern Pacific. He went to Paradise when Frank Hartman was transferred there, however, and was working there when taken with his last illness. He was not thought to be seriously ill until Saturday last, when he was brought to the hospital at Missoula, and from that time he grew steadily worse, his death following an unsuccessful operation performed Tuesday.

Although he was intimately acquainted with many of the clerks in the local offices, none of them recall having heard him speak of his parents, the only thing which they know of them being that they live in St. Paul. He has a brother living in Helena, however, and he was notified of his death yesterday. He will arrive here late in the afternoon today. It is expected that he will take the body to St. Paul for burial.

Babington was one of the most popular men on the division. His sunny nature and agreeable ways won him friends wherever he went.

Pending the arrival of his brother from Helena no funeral arrangements will be made, and it is not likely that the body will be interred here.

BRAKEMAN ESCAPES BY SEEMING MIRACLE

E. K. Kramer, a brakeman on the Puget Sound, had a narrow escape from serious injury and perhaps death yesterday while riding into town on a freight train. The brakeman was standing on top of a box car when the train came toward the Northern Pacific trestle over the Missoula river, and, either failing to notice how close he was to the bridge or thinking that he could go under it without danger, he remained standing, his head striking the edge of the bridge. He was knocked to the ground, but by a miracle escaped with only a cut in his scalp. He was able to walk to the train and was carried at once to a doctor, who treated his wound.
