IT CAN BE DONE.

There is no contradiction to our assertion that the city can be cleared of the male vampires who infest the bad lands if there is a determination on the part of the officers to do the work. It is a poor comment upon the quality of the work of our officers that this city harbors men who have been run out of other Montana cities, men whose presence would not be tolerated for a moment in Butte or Wallace or any one of a dozen towns that might be named. It is no excuse for the officers to say that they cannot secure evidence to convict these creatures; in other cities the officers are able to get rid of them; why not here? It is a fact that there are more of these wretches wandering about this city than ever before; it is also a fact that they are bolder and more brazen than ever; they flaunt their hideous presence in the faces of our women and our children; they defy law and they outrage decency. We had plenty of promises before election; now let us have some of their fulfillment.

MISSOULA COUNTY MINES.

There are indications which seem certain, pointing to the advent of some of Missoula county's mineral properties into the class of producers. In all departments of mining there has been good development this summer. Gold and copper, silver and lead, coal and placer—all these lines of mining operation have been active this year and as the season closes there are favorable reports from all sides. Missoula's mineral wealth is vast; around Saltese on the west and near Clinton on the east there are properties that have been proved to be valuable; there are indications that this year's work has made real mines of some of them. There have been some remarkable developments in placer ground this summer in Missoula county; another spring will certainly find the flood water at work upon some new bedrock of wonderful value. In coal prospecting there has been systematic work for the first time and at least two properties are nearing a condition when they can market good coal. The outlook is bright.

AT SARATOGA.

To rehabilitate the democratic party in New York and to restore friendly relations between the old-line democrats who dominated the party councils in the days of Tilden and Cleveland and the faction now dominant in its affairs, so as to render it a militant fighting force in time for the next state campaign, is the program mapped out by the leaders of the "peace conference," which assembles today for a two days' session at Saratoga, famous for political gatherings. Representatives of virtually every assembly district in the state are on hand, and plans will be made to draw back to the party many democrats who have not been active since the McKinley campaign. The aims and purposes of the conference, as set forth in the official call, are: "To have a full and frank discussion of party conditions and policies, among which latter may be specified the following: Economy in administration of federal and state governments; home rule not only by the states in federal matters but by municipalities in state matters; tariff reduction primarily by abolishing the protection of special interests which at present dominate and threaten the integrity of our system of government; fuller and freer expression and absolute legal protection for the party voters and their duly authorized representatives in the exercise of their functions in primary elections and party conventions; also to formulate a declaration of principles giving a clearer meaning to the party name in New York and to be the basis of conhesion to the democratic masses in the different counties for the fall elections." Though the men enlisted in the "peace" movement disclaim any factional object, the personnel of the conference is such as to strengthen the reports already in circulation that the real purpose of the movement is to bring about the rehabilitation of the party by squeezing the so-called radical element. Bryan and Bryanism are not to be discussed, but it is, nevertheless, significant that practically all of those figuring as leaders in the conference movement are identified with the conservative wing of the party in New York state, which has always been lukewarm in its support of the Nebraskan. The attitude of the conference toward the leaders of the democratic party in New York city remains obscure. Neither Mayor McClellan, Leader Murphy of Tammany nor Patrick McCarron of Brooklyn is taking part in the movement, and it is doubtful if they were invited to participate. On the other hand, several of those who are known to be bitter political opponents of the three men named are among the most conspicuous figures in the conference.

We do not share the opinion that the man whose lawn-sprinkler wets the sidewalk should engage the attention of the police to the exclusion of the secretaries of West Front street.

ESCAPED PRISONER RETURNS TO JAIL

Topeka, Sept. 8.—Franklin D. Agner, the United States prisoner from Oklahoma, charged with counterfeiting, who escaped from the county jail on September 1, appeared at the jail today and voluntarily surrendered to the sheriff. When Agner escaped he left a letter to the sheriff, in which he said he was not guilty of counterfeiting, and he intended to go home and arrange for a lawyer and provide for his family, as his wife was ill. He said he would return as soon as arrangements could be made. The officers say they have little evidence against him on the charge of counterfeiting, but he may be prosecuted for breaking jail.

NOTES OF WALLACE

Special to The Daily Missoulian. Wallace, Idaho, Sept. 8.—In the rock-drilling contest at Burke St. German and Hall of Osburn obtained first prize by drilling 31 3/16 inches in the hardest sort of rock in 15 minutes. Both are experienced men and have won many prizes.

Emil Vaucamp, the much-persecuted lessee of buildings in the redlight district, has been freed from further prosecution by dismissal of three cases against him pending in the district court. Vaucamp has paid over $400 in fines already and is ready to be good. He was charged in several instances with conducting his place without a license.

Frank Ferguson, employed in the Standard mine, was fined $150 today on his pleading guilty to battery committed on Joseph Martin of Burke last winter. The trouble occurred over a card game and Ferguson shot Martin in the hand.

CONSERVATION PLAN INDORSED

BARON SHIBUSAWA MAKES POINTED COMMENT RELATIVE TO FORESTS.

Tacoma, Sept. 8.—"Rich as your supply of timber is, I wonder if you can go on cutting it down ruthlessly and have it forever?" commented Baron Shibusawa, president of the First National bank of Japan, in responding to a toast given today at the Tacoma Commercial club luncheon in honor of the honorary commercial commissioners and trade experts from Japan. The remarks of the leader of the Japanese party amounted to a forcible indorsement of the government's conservation policy.

"We have a tradition in our country," said Baron Shibusawa, "that a land rich in one way is deficient in another. Oriental philosophy is not sufficient to explain the phenomena we have seen here, where you appear to be rich in everything.

"There is an old legend in Japan of an animal with the head of a monkey to denote intelligence, the body of a tiger to denote strength, and the tail of a snake to denote cunning. This monster was 'Nuye.' Your people are as the 'Nuye.' You have intelligence, strength and cunning ingenuity and sagacity. It may be that you will restore your timber as you cut it. I cannot say."

VALUABLE RELICS WILLED TO STATE

Helena, Mont., Sept. 8.—Governor Norris today received a letter, from A. W. Goldsmith at Cincinnati, executor of the estate of H. L. Frank, stating that the family had decided to present to the state the exceptionally large and valuable collection of animal heads, gathered by Mr. Frank during his lifetime. The letter requested that the collection be placed on exhibition at the capitol, and Frank being its contractor, this will be done.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Louisville, Ky.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has truly done me a world of good and I cannot praise it enough. I suffered from irregularities, dizziness, nervousness, and a severe female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored me to perfect health and kept me from the operating table. I will never be without this medicine in the house."—Mrs. SAM'L LEE, 3223 Fourth St., Louisville, Ky.

Another Operation Avoided. Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from female troubles, and my doctor said an operation was my only chance, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me without an operation."—LENA V. HENRY, R. F. D. 8.

SWEET PEA CARNIVAL TO BE HELD

EXTENSIVE PREPARATIONS ARE UNDER WAY FOR FAIR AT BOZEMAN, MONT.

Special to The Daily Missoulian.

Bozeman, Sept. 8.—The most extensive preparations are now in progress here for the annual Sweet Pea carnival that have ever been attempted for any previous carnival. The event will be held this year on September 15 and 16. This will be the fifth annual carnival. A grand triumphal arch is now being erected on Main street. This stand, 35 feet in height, will be lathed, plastered and calomined. It will be hung from top to bottom with fresh sweet peas. Hundreds of lights will illuminate it, and on either side will be large welcome signs. Two grand pillars will be built at the ends, and each of these topped with a sheaf of choicest Gallatin valley grain. Nine blocks of Main street will be strung this week with colors and flowers. The decorations will be the grandest ever seen at any event in Montana. Millions of sweet peas are now being grown in the city, and will be given away to visitors during the carnival. The carnival queen will be crowned on the evening of September 15. Her name will be kept a secret until that time. George D. Pease, a well-known Bozeman attorney, will conduct the coronation ceremonies. He will not know who the queen is until he is ready to open the ceremonies. The special carnival song published in New York will be sung by a male quartet of 40 voices when the queen is crowned. A specially organized band will play the accompaniment. The song was written by T. Byron Story, son of Bozeman's only millionaire, and the music was composed by Louis L. Howard, leader of the regimental band at the state college here.

The carnival this year will be held during the week of the Interstate fair. The fair opens on September 13 and closes on September 18. Both events are being made of state-wide importance this year. Already assurances have been received that at least 2,000 visitors will be in Bozeman during the week. Half a million dollars will be spent on the two events. The livestock show of the Minnesota state fair will arrive in Bozeman next Monday and remain during the week as part of the exhibit at the fair. The show is on the way to Seattle for the exposition. The stop in Bozeman will be the only one made in Montana. The state convention of Montana blacksmiths will also be held here on the second day of the carnival. On Monday the state college will open for its year's work.

ATTACKS PRESIDENT OF THEOSOPHISTS

Denver, Sept. 8.—The basic principle of theosophy received a severe jolt today when theosophists of Denver received pamphlets sent out by I. H. Fussell, secretary of Mrs. Catherine Tingley of the Point Loma, Cal., society, attacking Mrs. Annie Besant, president of the General Theosophical society, who will lecture here Thursday night. The pamphlets bear the title "Mrs. Annie Besant and the Moral Code—A Protest," and accuses Mrs. Besant of upholding immorality, especially her support of C. W. Ledbetter, her associate. Mrs. Besant became head of the Theosophical society on the death of Madam Blavatsky, its founder, while Mrs. Tingley heads an offshoot of the parent organization.

GIRL COMES HOME A NERVOUS WRECK

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Suffering from a nervous collapse as the result of the shattering of the first romance of her life, Miss Olga Menn, daughter of D. Rudolph Menn, the girl for whose sake Baron Oscar Rothschild is said to have killed himself, arrived home today, accompanied by her mother. When questioned regarding the reported engagement of her daughter to Baron Rothschild, Mrs. Menn declared that it was true that the two had been engaged.

AROUSES INTEREST.

Puerto Cortez, Spanish Honduras, Sept. 2, via New Orleans, Sept. 8.—Much interest has been created in Honduras by a rumor that the United States was preparing to establish a protectorate over this republic. The rumor appears to have had its basis in the appointment of representatives from this government to America for a refunding of the foreign debt of Honduras with bankers of New York.

TRIAL FLIGHTS.

Brescia, Italy, Sept. 8.—Several of the aviators who have assembled here for the aeroplane races beginning today made trial flights this morning. M. Bleriot, while testing collided with a tree. The propeller of his machine was broken.

Glenn H. Curtiss, the American who won the international cup at Reims, was cleared when he made his first appearance on the course.

Nipped by Jack Frost is something liable to happen to any one in this bitter weather. A frost-bitten ear or finger or toe, sometimes a bad case of chilblains. Don't wait until the accident happens to get a remedy, but get it now for application right away. Ballard's Snow Liniment cures frost bite, chilblains, rheumatism, aches or pains of all kinds.
